Council Vetoes Court House Buy

San Rafael isn't going to buy the soon-to-be-abandoned county courthouse, but is willing to work with Marin County on the problem of courthouse square-disposal.

San Rafael city councilmen said last night, in several ways, they weren't interested in buying the property, which the county has offered to sell to the city. (Other San Rafael City Council stories, page 12.)

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the courthouse is scheduled to be abandoned Oct. 1 and the time had come to make a decision.

Councilman Frederick C. Robbins Jr. said the city should work with the county, but he didn't feel a purchase would be justifiable now.

Since the county's appraisal of $750,000 for the property, there has been a change in the market value, with tight money and high interest rates restricting opportunity for development, Bettini contended.

There are vacant stores in downtown San Rafael and it's questionable whether anyone would come in and develop more stores, Bettini said. The county hasn't been able to sell the property, he pointed out.

Bettini said disposal of the property could be a joint venture, "but I can't see why we have to be the vehicle to dispose of it. I can't see taking on the obligation."

The city could remove the buildings, put in parking and maintain and police the area, to be reimbursed upon sale of the property, he said.

The mayor said the city should work with the county because the courthouse is a key parcel downtown, and "possibly

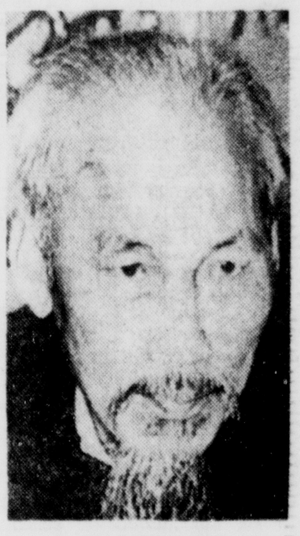
Hanoi Leader Is Said Near Death

Saigon Radio Reports Ho Is Gravely Ill



HO CHI MINH
Reported near death

SAIGON (AP)—North Vietnam announced today that President Ho Chi Minh was gravely ill. The wording of the announcement suggested that the legendary leader of the Communists in wars against France and the United States was at the point of death.

It was considered extremely unlikely that Hanoi's regime would make such an announcement unless there was no hope for the 79-year-old president.

Rumors spread through world capitals that Ho was already dead.

"They would hardly issue such a bulletin unless Ho was already dead or in a coma of some kind," said an official in Saigon.

The announcements from Hanoi on Ho's condition progressed from "developing" to "not stable" to "somewhat grave."

U.S. officials in Washington viewed Hanoi's decision to announce Ho's illness at all as a sign he would not survive.

DROP NEWS

It was also noted that both the Viet Cong radio and Radio Hanoi, which had carried announcements on Ho's conditions early Wednesday, dropped them in their Wednesday night broadcasts.

Informed sources in Saigon believed it unlikely that the death of the veteran revolutionary would bring about any important changes in North Vietnam's war policy.

The wispy-bearded president had been reported ill for months and leadership in North Vietnam is believed to have been exercised by others who are expected to continue in control with no major policy shifts.

FIRST WORD

North Vietnamese officials in Paris gave the first word that illness had felled the aged leader, who devoted most of his life to revolution and the past eight years to defying the military might of the United States.

A few hours later, Hanoi radio said the president's condition was "not stable" and that "his illness is developing and is somewhat grave."

Then came an announcement that Ho's condition was deteriorating and that greatest efforts were being made to care for him

Hanoi did not reveal the nature of Ho's illness, and a North Vietnamese official in Paris commented: "All I can say is what is obvious—the president is an old man."

Arts Council Job To New Yorker

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon today named Nancy Hanks, a New York City expert in arts and museum work, as chairman of the National Council of the Arts.

Her appointment to the $40,000-a-year post came after the Western White House made something of a mystery of it, advising newsmen the day before the President would announce an important appointment this morning. All presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler would say in advance was that it would not be a successor to Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey.

Miss Hanks, 42, a Republican, replaces a prominent New York Democrat, Roger L. Stevens, whose term expired last March.

A native of Miami Beach, Fla., Miss Hanks is now president of the Associated Councils of the Arts, a national nonprofit membership organization concerned with the support and development of the arts in the United States and Canada.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Duke University who has studied at Oxford University in England, she is a member of the Council of the American Association of Museums and a trustee of the Museum of Primitive Art in New York City.

Since 1956, she has served as executive secretary of the Special Studies Project of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund on the Performing Arts.

Ziegler set the stage for the announcement by telling reporters yesterday the President had visitor coming in at 9:45 a.m. today and an important appointment would then be announced. a visitor coming in at 9:45 a.m.

Nixon was also to see Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, due in from the National Governors Conference in Colorado Springs, Colo., with his initial report on a series of fact-finding visits he made to Latin America.

Ziegler said Rockefeller was not expected to go into a more controversial subject—federal welfare payments. Rockefeller introduced a resolution the governors adopted calling for the federal government to foot the

Sausalito's Chaka Denied Permit By Education Board

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

William H. Bradley (Chaka) last night was denied a temporary credential which would have permitted him to teach in the Sausalito School District with opening of the school term Sept.10.

The denial came by 6-0 vote of the Marin County Board of Education, on motion of board member Glen Robinson of Mill Valley. (Other county board of education story, page 8.)

Bradley's was one of 123 applications for temporary certificates filed with the county schools office in advance of the opening of the new school year. Most of them were for certificates for substitute teaching. Others were for new teachers awaiting provisional or standard credentials for which they had submitted required proofs to the California Department of Education.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis recommended that all except Bradley's be approved.

He said the state credentials office was called in routine check of Bradley's application, and "they advised us that it . . . is being held pending a review by the state committee of credentials at its meeting Sept. 22-24. We were also advised that the state committee of credentials reviews only those applications with which there is some significant problem and reason to believe that an application may not be approved."

Hollis said Bradley applied for the temporary credential last Friday. He said he called

SOMETHING TO TAKE IF YOU CAN REMEMBER IT

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A professor of chemistry says he's got the perfect idea to help university students to retain things like history dates and math equations—a memory pill.

Dr. Wendell Jolley of Loma Linda University showed off the memory-enhancing pill, called Ribaminol, at a news conference yesterday.

The drug, which he said stimulates protein synthesis in the brain, was developed over five years at a cost of several million dollars, reported International Chemical and Nuclear Corp. of Newport Beach.

The pill will produced and distributed in Mexico in November and authority has been sought to market it in the United States, the firm said.

Sniper Fire Claims Officer, Negro Girl

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A white policeman and a 15-year-old Negro girl were shot to death last night in an outbreak of sniper fire in Camden, N.J. Sniping incidents with no reported injuries recurred in Hartford, Conn., and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The Camden victims were Patrolman Rande J. Chandler, 22, and Rose McDonald, both apparently hit by the same volley during the second night of disorders in the south Jersey city of 117,000.

Police said Chandler was one of several patrolmen assigned to clear debris that had been thrown into a street. As the patrolman approached, more trash, rocks and bottles began flying and then the shots rang out.

In the same predominantly Negro section Monday night a melee broke out when police tried to break up a fight among a number of juveniles. Policemen were attacked with fists and rocks by the youths.

In Fort Lauderdale, sniper fire crackled again today as National guardsmen and police calmed but failed to stop the violence that has gripped a predominantly Negro area three successive nights.

Police, joined by 100 guardmen, patroled to enforce an overnight curfew banning all but emergency personnel from streets in a 200-block area.

They met scattered looting, rock throwing, firebombing and the sporadic sniping but police said the disturbances were less violent than on Sunday and

Kennedy Inquest Postponed; Parents' Motion Rejected

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — District Court Judge James A. Boyle officially postponed this morning the inquest that was to have begun before him today into the death of Miss Mary Jo Kopechne.

The postponement was ordered in Boston yesterday by Associate Justice Paul C. Reardon of the Massachusetts Supreme Court on a motion by lawyers for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, in whose car Miss Kopechne died.

"I have been ordered not to proceed any further with the inquest 'in re Mary Jo Kopechne,' which was set for hearing this morning," the soft-spoken 62-year-old Boyle said.

And in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., today a judge rejected a motion by the parents of Mary Jo Kopechne to dismiss an autopsy request, but agreed with them that further evidence must be provided before he could grant exhumation of the girl's body.

Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court gave Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass., 20 days to amend his petition to show that an autopsy would resolve "the doubt and suspicion surrounding the death."

Reardon's order called for a hearing by the full seven-justice Supreme Court into constitutional issues raised by Kennedy counsel. No date was set.

The full court normally convenes Oct. 1. Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn said it appeared unlikely that there would be any action for at least two weeks.

Reardon's order was directed at Dist. Judge James A. Boyle, scheduled to conduct the inquest ordered by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis.

The postponement was sought by Kennedy's attorneys because of rules for the inquest set down by Judge Boyle. The lawyers argued Kennedy's constitutional rights would be abridged by Boyle's refusal to permit cross-examination of witnesses.

Pike Reported Lost In Judean Wilderness; Search Is Launched

JERUSALEM (AP) — Searchers today found the passport and wallet of Dr. James Pike, former Episcopal bishop of California, missing in the barren Judean wilderness northwest of the Dead Sea.

Army officials said Pike's belongings were found in a dry river bed or wadi about a mile east of his abandoned car.

The officials said they expected to find Pike soon "dead or alive."

Pike, 56, and his 31-year-old third wife were motoring through the area when their car broke down Monday night. The couple set out on foot to look for help, but Pike collapsed after two hours walking in the heat and sent his wife on alone. She said she left him on a hillside.

After walking all night, Mrs. Pike met some highway guards early yesterday and they took her to Bethlehem.

The police immediately began a search using helicopters and planes. Pike's car was found yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Pike was under a doctor's care at their hotel room in Jerusalem.

In Santa Barbara, Pike's mother, Mrs. Pearl Chambers, said her son and daughter-in-law went to the Holy Land to study the origins of Christianity and the Dead Sea Scrolls for a book he was writing. Pike told friends that he hoped to find documents or ancient records that would provide more information on Christ.

BISHOP JAMES PIKE
Object of search

Pike was brought up in the Roman Catholic faith but became an agnostic during his college days. He took law degrees from the University of California and Yale and then worked for the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington and taught at George Washington University.

He joined the Episcopal Church during World War II when he was a U.S. naval officer. After the war he was ordained from Union Theological Seminary and served as a rector and teacher until 1952, when he was appointed dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York.

Pike was elected bishop coadjutor of San Francisco in 1958. His views on religion became increasingly controversial within a few years and drew criticism and charges of heresy from more conservative members of the Episcopal Church. He challenged the belief in the virgin birth of Christ, questioned literal interpretations of the Bible and was opposed to the Vietnam war.

He resigned his bishopric in 1966 and became a research fel-

Why You Feel Crowded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The migratory urge that has pushed millions of Americans toward the West is far from dead, the Census Bureau's newest population figures show.

Since 1960 the Pacific States have gained more than 22 per cent in population, far outstripping every other region in growth, the bureau said yesterday in estimating the nation's population as of last July 1.

By using complicated methods based on school enrollment data and previous estimates, July 1 had 201,921,000 people—2,072,000 more than one year earlier.

The estimate is 12.6 per cent, or 22,598,000 people higher than the 1960 census figures.

Although California's phenomenal growth has padded its title as the most populous of states by more than a million residents, neighboring Nevada has the highest growth rate percentage.

Nevada has grown by 60.2 per cent since the last census, from 285,000 in 1960 to 457,000 this year.

California gained 3,725,000 people, 23.7 per cent, in the same period.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Low Fat Diet

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — One of the many American males on a low cholesterol diet, it develops, is President Richard M. Nixon.

This information comes from Mrs. Virginia Knauer, his adviser on consumer affairs.

In an article in the Easton Express she said that after she proposed limiting the fat content in hot dogs to 30 per cent she received a call from the President, who said:

"Virginia, I just wanted you to know that I'm with you 100 per cent on the hot dogs. I'm on a low cholesterol diet myself."

Low cholesterol diets usually are aimed at warding off heart disease.

Anti-Park Rioting

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean students continued demonstrations today for the third day denouncing the government's constitutional amendment to allow President Chung Hee Park to seek a third term.

Three more colleges were closed temporarily, increasing to six the number of schools shut down since the fall term began last week.

In Seoul, some 2,000 students of Yonsei University held a campus rally and about half of them marched out in a heavy rain for a street demonstration. Riot police turned them back, but there were no serious clashes.

Copter Session

SEOUL (AP) — The United States and North Korea meet again tomorrow at Panmunjom, to discuss the return of the three American helicopter crewmen shot down Aug. 17, but no one will say whether the Americans are going to supply the apology demanded by the Communists.

Seize Control

TOKYO (AP) — Five hundred riot police seized control of Waseda University from radical students today after several hours of fierce battle.

Police reported they arrested 82 students who resisted them with Molotov cocktails and rocks.

The police were called in by university authorities when two opposing groups refused to leave the campus and appeared headed for a violent clash. The two groups are contending for leadership of a national movement of radical students working to overthrow the pro-Western government of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and opposing the U.S.-Japan security treaty, which comes up for review in 1970.

Computer Errs

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — High school officials here relied on a computer to get classes under way yesterday. The result: They closed the doors an hour after they opened.

A Fairbanks computer firm was to have supplied class lists for the 1,500 students of Lathrop High School, the only one here, but the computer couldn't do it. "Computer error" was blamed. Low Fat Dept.

Dylan To Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Dylan, the folk singer who has been in virtual hiding from his fans since a serious motorcycle accident three years ago, is planning a U.S. concert tour.

Dylan outlined his plans yesterday upon his return from an appearance at a big weekend pop festival on the Isle of Wight, where he was accompanied by a Canadian group, The Band.

'We're going to put the show together," he said. "The Band will probably be with us. We will have some new groups too."

To Halt Welfare

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Santa Barbara County supervisors have voted to end welfare payments to five persons on relief who live abroad.

"They are perpetrating an abuse in the minds of every citizen paying welfare bills," Supervisor Curtis Tunnell said before the vote yesterday.

Three of the recipients live in England, one in Canada and one in the Philippines. The five draw a total of $1,000 a month.

To qualify for welfare a resident must have assets of less than $1,200 and a monthly income below $184.50.

'Bra-less' Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A woman who says she was fired for refusing to wear a brassiere and for advocating a "bra-less Friday" for 2,200 other girls in the plant has filed a $1.4 million suit against General Dynamics, Inc.

Mrs. Jane M. Andre, a 39-year-old divorcee, formerly was a supervising engineer in General Dynamics' welding department at an annual salary of $18,000.

Her suit, filed in superior court yesterday, charged her reputation and character had been damaged by statements made by General Dynamics regarding her suggestion for a bra-less day.

At the time of her dismissal Aug. 14, Mrs. Andre told newsmen she believed in "functional clothes."

Rejoins Family

SAN CLEMENTE, (AP) — President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon's 23-year-old daughter, Tricia, recovered from abdominal pains for which she was treated at Washington's Walter Reed Hospital, rejoined the family at the Western White House yesterday.

Teen Booked In Burglary Probe

A 14-year-old San Anselmo boy was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall yesterday on suspicion of burgling the Harold C. King residence at 51 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo police reported.

Police said Billy Dean Trumble, of 1361 San Anselmo Avenue, was questioned and taken to Juvenile Hall after three other boys implicated him.

King told police $8 in change, a metal box holding foreign currency, a bottle of champagne and three packages of cigarettes were taken. He discovered the break-in and theft on returning home Monday from a weekend trip.

Police reported they reprimanded a 10-year-old boy who admitted entering the King residence with Trumble, but did not arrest or cite him.

VOTER SINCE 1880 DIES AT AGE 110

SALEM, N.J. (AP) — Alexander Tanner, a former slave who said he was 110-years old and voted in every presidential election since 1880, died yesterday.

Last November Tanner appeared at the polls here to vote for Democratic presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey.

Tanner gave 1859 as the year of his birth, somewhere near Lynchburg, Va. He said that although he was born into slavery he had only dim memories of the Civil War era. He said his only recollection of the war was the sight of soldiers going to and returning from battle.

He left Virginia around the turn of the century, settling for a time in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. In 1912 he came to Salem and helped to found the Mount Zion Baptist Church. He was a deacon in the church from 1912 until his death.

Opposition In Portugal Gets Break

LISBON (AP) — The Portuguese government issued a long-awaited decree today, amending a 20-year-old electoral law to allow opposition and government candidates in the Oct. 26 elections to check voter lists.

During the 40-year-old rule of former dictator Antonio Salazar, opposition members were often denied access to the lists of registered voters and complained they were unable to conduct effective campaigns.

The decree was approved on the council of ministers presided over by Premier Marcello Caetano. It also allows representatives of all groups to assist in ballot counting.

The opposition had claimed that previous elections were doctored by the National Union, the country's only recognized political party, and that their results were altered by the government.

The decree, which reflects Caetano's avowed desire to move the country toward a gradual liberalization, was welcomed by the opposition.

Israeli Jets Roar Across Two Frontiers, Hitting Arab Camps

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli jets roared across two frontiers today, hitting Arab gun emplacements in Jordan and Lebanon. To the south, Israeli and Egyptian guns again traded fire across the Suez Canal.

The planes first streaked across the Jordan River to silence an Arab bazooka attack on an early morning border patrol. The Israeli Army said it bombed a former police station in Jordan three miles south of the Sea of Galilee that was occupied by guerrilla gunners.

Later in the day Israeli jets crossed the Lebanese border to hit sources of Arab rocket fire that killed two Israelis and wounded four in Kiryat Shmona last night. The Army said two waves of planes pounded three Al Fatah guerrilla bases on the western slopes of Mount Hermon in a half-hour strike.

It was Israel's first air strike into Lebanon since it was condemned by the U.N. Security Council for an air raid last month.

Lebanon claimed the Israeli jets raided the villages of Kfarshouba, Rashaya el Fekhar, Kfar Hammam and Hebbariyeh. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

Lebanese ground fire hit back at the intruding planes, Beirut radio said, but did not report any Israeli losses.

An army spokesman in Beirut said Lebanese and Israeli artillery positions traded shells twice in the same general area Tuesday night. He reported one Lebanese was wounded and a house damaged in Rashaya el Fekhar.

The Israeli army said one of its soldiers and a civilian tractor driver were wounded on the Suez Canal, where Israeli and Egyptian troops traded small arms and cannon fire.

Most of the firing took place north of Port Taufiq at the southern end of the 103-mile waterway, a spokesman said.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, meanwhile, reports circulated that Secretary-General U Thant had requested Syria to release the two Israeli men still being held after the hijacking of an American jetliner last Friday.

Thant's office did not confirm the report, but a U.N. spokesman said earlier that he had expressed hope the two would be released soon.

Napa Escapee Forces Woman On Wild Ride

A 35-year-old Sausalito man, who was committed to Napa State Hospital by a Superior Court judge on July 28, escaped yesterday and has been identified as the man who later yesterday forced a young Fairfax woman to drive him toward West Marin.

Officers were still searching today for Robert Charles Cohen.

Jeanne Marie Prince, 20, of 7 Crest Road, Fairfax told sheriff's deputies that as she was driving west on the Miracle Mile toward San Anselmo about 5:40 p.m. yesterday when a man called to her from a car alongside hers.

As she slowed at the Hub intersection in San Anselmo, Miss Prince said a passenger from the car entered her auto and asked for a ride. She said she was not frightened until he said he was an escapee from Napa.

When he became "excited" upon seeing a police officer in San Anselmo, she decided to drive to the Fairfax police station but the man grabbed the steering wheel and threatened her, she said.

"If you do anything funny, I'll put my fist through your head," he said, according to Miss Prince.

He then told her he wanted to go to Muir Beach to see his girl friend. However, as they approached Samuel P. Taylor State Park, the man ordered her to stop the car. He handed her her purse and sandals and said he was going to take her car.

Miss Prince, after getting a ride to a sheriff's substation, identified Cohen from pictures Her car was found farther west on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard later in the evening.

Cohen was committed to the mental hospital by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court, who suspended proceedings in his case because of Cohen's mental state.

He was accused of three felonious assault on sheriff's deputies in Marin County Jail where he was awaiting sentencing on two joyriding convictions. After starting several disturbances at the jail, Cohen had been held for a time at San Quentin.

Earlier this year Cohen was shot on the leg when he fled deputies in Muir Beach where he had been found in a stolen car.

1940s, and is reported to have suffered from heart trouble and possible lung complications for more than two years.

Western experts on North Vietnamese affairs who are based here agreed that no immediate significant changes in North Vietnamese policy—either on the battlefield or at the Paris peace talks—could be predicted.

"I think al of them (the North Vietnamese leaders) are dedicated to the struggle in the South and simply might subordinate their own disagreements," said one.

South Vietnamese government officials, including President Nguyen Van Thieu, were said to be keeping in close touch with radio reports. An official silence existed in government circles.

The Saigon government radio reported on the Hanoi announcement at midday without comment.

One Western observer here noted that the Soviet Union did not offer the customary greetings to Ho yesterday which marked North Vietnam's National Day.

Hanoi watchers in Saigon began speculating on the political impact of Ho's illness as soon as it was revealed. There was general agreement on the most likely candidates to succeed him.

Three top-ranking men on North Vietnam's nine-member Politburo were seen as the most probable group from which a successor to Ho would emerge:

Le Duan, 62, first-secretary of the Lao Dong (workers) party, a pragmatic political boss who tends to side with the pro-Soviet element in political disputes but is known as an independent and militant Communist.

Truong Chinh, 61, the chief party theoretician and chairman of the standing committee of the National Assembly. Chinh, whose name means "long march," is identified with the pro-Chinese wing. He has regained considerable influence in the last 18 months after several years in political eclipse because of his role in the disastrous land reform program, in which thousands died in riots, in the 1950s.

—Pham Van Dong, 61, premier of North Vietnam since 1950 and considered by many observers as the most likely heir apparent. He is believed to be the chief government administrator. While a hard-liner in public, Dong has a reputation as a flexible politician who leans toward the pro-Soviet elements.

whole bill for state welfare programs.

Nixon had asked Rockefeller to make the Latin American tour to get some first-hand information that might be useful in future policy-making decision in that area.

Ziegler said he doubted Rockefeller's report would be made public. The trip touched off protest demonstrations in some South American countries and a few of them asked Rockefeller to stay away.

After Rockefeller reports, Nixon was to meet with the 26-member Nixon Foundation, a group he named last May to set up a nonprofit corporation for educational and charitable purposes and to establish a Richard M. Nixon library and museum. The library probably will be built near Nixon's oceanfront home here.

Now incorporated in California, the trustees were gathering for their first meeting, primarily to select a chairman and launch their operations.

The members include Nixon relatives, close personal friends, top administration officials and businessmen backers.

Members of the cabinet were scheduled to fly in tonight for a meeting tomorrow, the second convened here during Nixon's vacation visit. Wives were coming, too, for a cabinet dinner the Nixons are giving tomorrow night.

Monday nights, when 113 persons were arrested.

Forty-seven persons were arrested last night, police said. An estimated 75 persons have been injured in the disorders that began when a Negro woman was shot and wounded as police were breaking up an auto drag race.

Police and 100 state troopers in Hartford used tear gas and wholesale arrests to restore calm Tuesday night after an outbreak of arson and shooting in the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican North End section.

More than 70 stores have been burned or looted and a score of persons, including firemen and police, injured in disturbances which erupted Monday night. More than 250 persons have been arrested, including 162 new arrests between 8 a.m. yesterday and 12:30 a.m. today.

City Mgr. Elisha Freedman said he would decide today whether to continue a citywide overnight curfew—the second such ban for the city in two months.

Mayor Ann Uccello ordered residents of the Connecticut capital off the streets from sunset to sunrise for two nights in June because of violence in the North End.

The curfew at first failed to control the crowds of destructive teen-agers and young adults Tuesday night but the arrests of scores of persons and a light rain brought the situation under control by 11 p.m.

Elsewhere:

A window-breaking spree by a gang of about 150 Negro youths leaving a county fair at Dayton, Ohio, led to 36 arrests and was only brought under control early this morning after police used tear gas.

A television cameraman was arrested on a charge of making obscene remarks to a policeman, and a Penn Central Railroad engineer for allegedly failing to comply with a police signal.

COL. MERVIN M. TAYLOR
New base commander

Hamilton Commander Assigned

Col. Mervin M. Taylor, former vice-commander of the 78th Fighter Wing, has been named base commander of Hamilton Air Force Base.

He replaced Col. Michael J. Stublarec, who recently retired.

Taylor entered the service in 1943 as a midshipman in the naval reserves. In October 1948 he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Force.

He served as a fighter pilot in Korea in 1951, flying 77 combat missions in an F-80 Shooting Star. He also flew 119 combat missions in Southeast Asia in the F-105 Thunderchief.

Taylor has received two Silver Stars, five Distinguished Flying Crosses, a Bronze Star, 20 Air Medals and two Air Force Commendation Medals.

He and his wife Doris with their two daughters, Christine, 20, and Karen, 17, live at 222 Sunset Drive, on the base.

Bettini said the council had an obligation to taxpayers and "can't assume the responsibility to pay $750,000."

"I don't think we should talk purchase," said Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

Councilman John A. Miskimen said the courthouse square has been for sale for some time and real estate speculators have passed it up, and the city wasn't in the business of "speculating in real estate."

Councilmen agreed that disposal of the site isn't the responsibility of the city, but they would be willing to help the county.

They authorized Acting City Mgr. James H. McCown to open discussions with County Administrator Alan Bruce on the courthouse problem.

Architect Robert W.F. Severin of San Rafael has proposed that the city consider placing its proposed community center at the courthouse site.

Severin was at the meeting, prepared to present his plan, but it wasn't on the agenda, so councilmen agreed to listen to his suggestion at their next meeting, Sept. 15.

Councilmen said that although they aren't interested in buying the site, they are still willing to hear proposals for development there.

Man Is Treated For Broken Bone

A Kentfield man was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a broken bone in his face and a cut lip, apparently suffered in a fracas at the Funny Farm tavern, 813 Fourth Street, San Rafael, police said.

James Henry Curtin of 223 Kent Avenue was found lying down, his face covered with blood, at the Courthouse. He told officers he had been beaten.

Witnesses however, said Curtin had threatened to throw a glass at a waitress and had pushed another customer during the fracas.

CHAKA

Supt. Phillip W. Schneider of Sausalito at that time and was told Bradley was not an employee of the district. Yesterday, however, Schneider advised him by letter that he would recommend Bradley's appointment at the Sausalito board meeting next Monday night.

Schneider, arguing against Hollis's recommendation for denial, told the county board, "I really have a feeling there's some kind of game being played."

He said he had been told the state committee would hear Bradley's application Aug. 7, but "for some reason it has been shifted till after school starts."

He said "the only problem is that he's had an arrest. . . We have no way of determining whether it was a felony." Later, he said "it was a civil rights arrest." (Bradley was arrested several times by San Francisco police during sit-in demonstrations a few years ago.)

Robert C. Spain, Hollis's administrative assistant, said the state department of education could not divulge the nature of the difficulty prior to the committee's hearing. To do so, he said, would be a misdemeanor.

Board member James A. Carroll asked Schneider when he decided to employ Bradley for the new school year. Schneider said it was early in July, but "I've offered employment; the board has yet to comfirm."

Last Friday, said Schneider, "I was asked (by Hollis) 'is he an employee.' I had to answer that 'no'."

Under further quizzing by Carroll, Schneider claimed, "There are only two reasons for not granting a credential — a homosexual act or a felony."

Schneider said the temporary credential was asked because "we were criticized last school year for not going through this channel . . . I think he taught four or five weeks last year."

(Bradley was hired last spring after a teacher assigned by the Mill Valley School District to Martin Luther King School in Sausalito refused to remain there. He was hired as an instructional aide — not requiring a credential — but at a teacher's salary. Schneider at that time insisted Bradley was serving under a regular teacher who was assigned to the class as an additional duty.)

Board member Lee C. Richardson Jr. held that if the county board were to issue a temporary certificate and the state then denied Bradley his permanent credential, "it would be our fault that he was allowed to teach for four or five weeks — not yours, not the state commission's."

Carroll said denial of the temporary credential "in my opinion would be to favor the children instead of the teacher." He added, "I don't see this board as a rubber stamp."

Schneider left after Robinson's motion, seconded by Richardson, passed unanimously. Board member Patrick W. Pollock was absent.

low at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara. His position was later eliminated in a reorganization.

After two marriages and two divorces, Pike last December married the former Diane Kennedy. They had collaborated on a book "The Other Side," in which Pike claimed to have communicated with his dead son James Jr., who committed suicide in 1966.

Both the book and the marriage drew censure from Episcopal authorities, and in February the church suspended him from priestly functions. Shortly after Pike announced formation of a new Christian group, the Foundation for Religious Transition, which he said was the answer for those "who have lost hope in organized churches." He and his wife left the church at the same time.

A stop-work order which was prohibiting a Corte Madera homeowner from completing a new room to his house was rescinded last night by the Corte Madera Town Council.

The council voted 3-1 to allow Eugene K. Royal to resume work on the addition at 96 Golden Hind Passage.

The stop-work order, issued by the town's building inspector, was origionally made because Royal's addition turned out to be five feet wider and two feet higher than the plans which were approved by the town's Planning commission.

Attorney Leonard Shaw, representing Royal, admitted that the homeowner had erred in not telling the city about the plan change, but said that since the new plans did meet city specifications the city should now lift the order and allow construction to continue.

Councilman Byron D. White unsuccessfully opposed allowing construction to resume, saying, "I don't believe that Mr. Royal made an innocent mistake. I know he knows as much about the building codes as we do. What he did was a serious violation of the code."

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

PARK GIFT — Accepted a check for $319 from the Redwood Sertoma Club to purchase a merry-go-round for the children's playground in the town park.

FLASHING LIGHT — Approved an agreement with the Northwest Pacific Railroad to place a flashing light on San Clemente Drive where it intersects the railroad tracks. Cost to the city will be about $2,550, Ronald L. Usher, town manager, said.

DRAINAGE EASEMENT — Accepted a drainage easement on Paradise Drive from H. Alfred Hanken.

TOWN VOTER — Named Councilman Holmes S. Norville as the town's voting representative to the League of California Cities.

BROWN ACT — Received a copy of the Ralph M. Brown act from Marin County District Atty. Bruce B. Bales.

MEETING — Authorized William McBride, the town's building inspector, to attend the annual business meeting of the International Conference of Building Officials in Salt Lake City which ends Saturday. Cost to the city is $269.

Dismissal Denied In Marijuana Case

A motion to dismiss a case against Maurice A. Schwartz, 24, of Lagunitas was denied yesterday in Marin Superior Court and he was ordered to stand trial on charges of possessing marijuana and resisting arrest the week of Dec. 15.

He was arrested April 26 on Highway 101 when a car in which he was hitchhiking was stopped by California Highway Patrol officers.

Luggage Firm Must Remove Large Signs

Corte Madera town councilmen last night handed the Koch Luggage Co. some good and bad news.

The town council voted unanimously to approve a building permit, allowing Koch to begin its expansion project, but in the same breath authorized Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis to begin legal action to force Koch to take down two over-sized billboards just off Highway 101.

The two billboards in question each contain 727 square feet, well over the 200 square feet allowed under the town's existing sign ordinance.

The town's planning commission had recommended that the building permit be held up until the signs had been removed or replaced with ones conforming to the ordinance.

One of the signs will have to be either moved or replaced because it is currently standing where the Koch plans to extend its plant.

Councilman Holmes S. Norville said he favored adopting the planning commission's recommendation, adding that by approving the building permit without the signs being removed put the city in the position of "proceeding without any teeth."

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst, however, proposed approving the building permit and then having legal proceedings started to make Koch's signs conform to the ordinance.

"I feel the city may be part culprit," Colthurst said by way of explanation for his approach. "After all, we've let those signs stand for 10 years now."

Councilmen expressed hope that the Koch management would take care of the sign removal before formal court action is necessary.

Mountain View Wants Garbage

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco has expressed a willingness to grant a request by the suburban community of Mountain View for a five years' supply of garbage.

Mountain View wants to fill in 500 acres of land as the site for a regional park. It calculates the site would provide dumping space for San Francisco swill for the next five years.

San Francisco garbage currently is carried to Brisbane, but that community has asked the city to find a new dump. A joint committee of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors voted 5-1 yesterday to consider Mountain View's request.

Russian Ship Bringing Cargo

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Soviet freighter this week will make the first delivery in San Francisco Bay by a Russian ship in 25 years.

And it appears its cargo will help this nation's space program.

The merchant ship Orsha is due to dock Friday to unload a cargo of Titanium sponge, which is used for a variety of air and space components. Japan also exports titanium sponge, but the Soviet product is much cheaper.

The ultimate recipient is being kept secret, but the cargo apparently is for the U.S. government.

Light Sentence For Runaway

A 26-year-old Sausalito man who skipped while awaiting sentencing on a marijuana possession charge even though the recommendation of the probation department had been for a suspended sentence, yesterday was given 20 days in jail.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court told Milford Kelly Parker that he would give him credit for time served, however.

Parker had pleaded guilty in December 1968, to possessing marijuana when arrested Dec. 31, 1967 in a vacant Sausalito apartment. A bench warrant was issued when he failed to appear in court for sentencing in February. He recently was rearrested.

Brothers Accuse Each In Slaying Of Ramon Novarro

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Chicago brothers on trial in the Oct. 30, 1968, slaying of actor of Ramon Novarro each say the other was responsible for the bludgeon death of the silent screen star.

The jury of seven men and five women heard testimony yesterday from Thomas Ferguson, 18, who said he was on the telephone with a girl friend in Chicago while Novarro was being fatally beaten by his brother.

This was in direct contradiction to events related last week by Paul Ferguson, 23. The elder brother maintained in his testimony that he had passed out on a couch from heavy drinking and awakened to find Novarro dead in a bedroom.

The nude and tied body of the 63-year-old actor was found on his bed after an evening the Ferguson brothers say they were dinner guests at Novarro's rambling, Spanish-style home in Studio City.

Thomas testified he was about to conclude his 45-minute phone conversation when he heard noises in the master bedroom. His brother called him into the room, he said, and he saw Novarro beaten, bloodied and lying on the bed.

Thomas said he pulled the actor into the shower in the hope of reviving him, then took him back to the bed. Returning later, he said, he saw Novarro lying on his back on the floor.

"He looked dead," young Ferguson said.

The teen-ager told the jury that his brother, standing nearby, appeared to be in a trance. Thomas acknowledged that it was his idea to make it look like a robbery slaying.

He testified that he secured the electrical cord used to bind the victim's hands behind him and that he also scratched Novarro's neck with a knife to make it appear a woman had clawed him with long fingernails.

Scientists say that if the offspring from one pair of houseflies all survived and reproduced normally for six months, there would be 191,000,000,000,000,000 flies — or enough to cover the earth to a depth of 47 feet.

Hanoi Hinting Of Deadlock Break

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam's delegate to the Paris peace talks hinted last night that a speedup in the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam might break the deadlock in the negotiations.

Hanoi's Xuan Thuy made the suggestion at a North Vietnamese reception. It was the first indication Hanoi might be interested in anything less than a total, unconditional American withdrawal.

"If the Americans continue their withdrawals at the present pace, we can't make an assessment of the situation," Thuy said. "However, if Nixon withdraws his troops rapidly and in considerable numbers, well, we will examine this factor and take it into account."

The ambassador commented during a discussion that began when a newsman asked him what could be done to get the peace negotiations moving. He replied:

"First, the Americans must recognize the principle that they must withdraw their troops. Then they must take out their troops rapidly and truly."

Asked if a pullout of 100,000 men would be adequate as a starter, the ambassador said: "When they do it, we shall examine the problem and we shall take it into account."

President Richard M. Nixon announced June 8 that 25,000 U.S. troops would be pulled out of Vietnam by the end of August. The last contingent left on schedule last Thursday. But the North Vietnamese called the withdrawal of 25,000 men a token pullout and "a sham" and demanded that American disengagement be "total, rapid and unconditional."

The chief U.S. negotiator in Paris, Henry Cabot Lodge, said at the weekly session last Thursday that the President had decided to delay further U.S. withdrawals because North Vietnam had ignored American steps to reduce the level of fighting.

Lodge told Hanoi's peace negotiators that despite the U.S. withdrawal completed so far, and despite last month's directive to cut down on the number of B52s bombing in South Vietnam, 130 regular North Vietnamese battalions and "tens of thousands of agents" were continuing to operate in the South.

Another senior member of Hanoi's peace delegation said last night that North Vietnam would not be willing to make any concessions for a cessation of U.S. B52 raids in South Vietnam.

Talks Open In Bangkok On Troops

BANGKOK (AP) — Thailand and the United States opened formal talks today on the gradual reduction of the 49,000 American servicemen stationed in Thailand. But the number of troops to be withdrawn was not discussed.

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman said after the meeting that he and U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger discussed only "political principles and the relations between the two countries."

Details of withdrawals will be worked out at subsequent meetings, he said. The next is scheduled late next week.

A joint statement issued after the meeting stressed that U.S. troops stationed in Thailand are here to "protect the lives of American and allied fighting men in South Vietnam against the aggressors, rather than assisting Thailand against Communist subversive activities."

"The continued presence of these forces in Thailand will be related to the requirements of the Vietnam War and the security of this area," the statement said. It added, however, that the two countries are agreed "the goal of these talks would be the gradual reduction in the level of U.S. forces."

3-Year-Old Hurt In 12-Foot Fall

A three-year-old Petaluma boy was injured yesterday at 7:10 p.m. when he fell 12 feet from a window ledge to a porch floor.

Vernon Withrow, 24 Seventh Street, was reported in fair condition at Hillcrest Hospital with cuts of the head and face. His parents said they had unlatched the window screen during remodeling.

Massive Red Buildup Choking Saigon Units

SAIGON (AP) — Massive American B52 strikes today hit North Vietnamese battling South Vietnamese forces near the provincial capital of Song Be for the fourth day.

South Vietnamese casualties troops killed, 138 wounded and 17 missing, as well as four American Green Beret advisers wounded.

The enemy resistance was so strong that more than 1,000 troops from the Green Beret mobile strike force of hired tribesmen have been forced into retreat. Only six enemy soldiers were known dead.

The battle is taking place in heavy jungle near the Cambodian border about 85 miles northeast of Saigon.

The fighting was touched off Sunday when a battalion of strike force troops uncovered an enemy base camp. The South Vietnamese were surrounded quickly, attacked from all sides and forced to retreat. They have been unable to move forward since.

American intelligence officers thought at first the camp was the headquarters of an enemy regiment. But now there is speculation that it may be a division field headquarters.

During the night more than 20 B52s pounded the enemy camp bombs. Some strikes were only three miles from the Cambodian border.

A U.S. air cavalry battalion of 400 men which had reinforced the South Vietnamese yesterday was pulled out today after another 400 strike force troops were flown in. But one battered battalion of the strike force also was pulled out, leaving 800 to 1,000 South Vietnamese troops committed to the battle.

Also American air cavalrymen probing the jungles of the enemy's War Zone C, 65 miles northwest of Saigon, ran into a barrage of machine-gun and rifle fire yesterday for the fourth successive day. In a 10-minute fight, 12 enemy and two Americans were reported killed.

More Funds Sought For Tiny Tot Park

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department is seeking about $250 to help it complete the tot lot at Memorial Park.

The department said yesterday it would use the money for tanbark and sand under playground equipment and for concrete for a patio at the edge of the park. Persons or organizations wishing to contribute may call Frank Quinn or Fred Lancelotti. Several hundred dollars has already been donated by civic groups.

Marin Visitor Finds Libya Backward Despite Oil Fields

By JOANNE GRANT

The coup which dethroned the ailing king of Libya Monday may have appeared a typical revolution, but a Marin educator who visited the country last month believes that is an oversimplification.

Daniel J. Thorner, dean of boys at Terra Linda High School since 1963, said he fears the military junta may be linked with Egypt and the more militant Mideast nations which have long coveted the tiny, oil-rich country.

The high-level participants in the coup probably are appealing to Arab nationalism, the only emotional appeal they have, the 35-year-old Sleepy Hollow resident speculated.

Broadcast reports of the formation of a Socialist republic to rid the country of "reactionary and corrupt elements" were seen by Thorner as poor excuses for the takeover.

Thorner was a guest of Occidental Petroleum Corp. of Los Angeles, a firm in which he has a financial interest and which has extensive holdings in the North African nation.

He studied the people and the country and its economic and political history and future extensively before and during his tour, which he made solely because he wanted to see the country.

He talked of various facets of the problems in an interview yesterday.

The 79-year-old king, Idris el Senussi, has ruled since Libya gained independence in 1951 when the country had four college and 16 high school graduates, Thorner explained.

The king is a "very enlightened" monarch in Middle Eastern terms, but "I suppose in our terms the king is probably as corrupt as hell," he said.

DANIEL J. THORNER
Wanted to see country

'Everybody thought something would happen when he died," Thorner said, explaining that the successor, the king's nephew Hassan el-Reda, is considered weak. The crown prince made an abdication speech after the coup was announced.

The king had tried to produce an heir, had even imported a wife from Egypt, but divorced her after two barren years, Thorner said.

The king is enormously wealthy. "It's been said he could make all one-and-a-half-million Libyans millionaires," said Thorner.

He hasn't of course, but he has won good deals on oil leases; has made a sincere effort to improve the nation, and even moved the capital from city to city to try to please everyone.

He has made his presence felt with police and soldiers on every corner, Thorner indicated. The frequent appearance of soldiers, the barbed wire fencing around the airport, the unusually thorough customs check, gave Thorner the impression of a police state.

Oil keeps the country going. The first major strike was in 1965 by Occidental and today the firm pumps more out of seven wells than can be produced in the whole state of California in a day, Thorner said.

Libya gets about half of what's produced by Occidental plus an extra 5 per cent the firm has pledged toward development of the Sahara.

The firm last year found water beneath the desert at Kufra, an oasis 600 miles from the nearest town and the birthplace of the king.

The water supply discovery is equal to Lake Michigan and has been the impetus for developing of agriculture in the barren country which once was the bread basket of the Holy Roman Empire, Thorner said.

A farming program for Libyans has been set to lure the people back to the country and Occidental itself has a vast farming operation. Already the alfalfa fields are producing a crop each month.

Poverty is widespread and the cost of living high, he reported. Most Libyans have little education and work as laborers, in the oil industry.

The technical work is done by Europeans and Americans, he reported, a fact which may save the oil industry from the military. He indicated a larger share of the profits may be asked, however.

A major purpose of Thorner's trip was to confer with educators, in a sort of public relations effort for Occidental.

He found the schools most in need of qualified teachers. Jewish and Christian teachers are not welcome. The only qualification for teachers in that they have finished the grade they are teaching, he said.

The people are simply not trained for carrying on the production of oil, he maintained.

First Candidate Files Papers

Manuel S. Peters has filed for re-election to the Bolinas Fire District board, the Marin County elections office reported yesterday.

Peters is the first candidate to file for the Nov. 4 election, in which 53 seats will be filled in 25 sanitary, fire, community services, public utility, water and soil conservation districts.

Peter's term is the only one expiring on the Bolinas board.

LIBYA JUNTA WANTS ALLIED BASES CLOSED

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Libya's new military government has asked commanders of the American and British military bases in the country to stop training exercises on Libyan soil, Egypt's middle East News Agency reported from Tripoli today.

The report said the commanders of the U.S. Air Force's big Wheelus base outside Tripoli and of the small British bases at Tobruk and El Adem agreed to comply.

The report strengthened belief in the Middle East that closure of the Western bases would be one of the first aims of the leftist junta.

The Arab world's more radical governments were hurrying to recognize the new leftist regime, strengthening belief that he junta would pull away from the West and join them in a more militant stand against Israel.

Lennon Killer Car In East Bay

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A car believed used by the killer of William Lennon, father of the Lennon Sisters singing group, has been found in Berkeley, police here report.

The Plymouth with Iowa license plates was impounded there three days before Lennon was gunned down Aug. 12 in a golf range parking lot.

Police are seeking Chet Young, a former mental patient who reportedly harassed the Lennon family, for the murder. Young was last known to be living in Alameda.

Coup May Add Power To Leftist Arab Bloc

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Libya's coup d'etat is another in a series of upheavals by army officers in the huge Arab world, which is moving it steadily closer to becoming a main arena of confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Arab world upheavals have been following a pattern, and from initial assessments, Libya's seems unlikely to be an exception.

The pattern involves overthrow of a conservative regime by army officers in the name of Arab unity, nationalism and an odd brand of "Arab socialism." The tendency then is to shift to the direction of the Communist world. It would seem paradoxical for army officers, traditionally rightist, to do this, but the factors involved cause it to make sense to the Arabs.

Among the factors are the existence of Israel in the heart of Arabdom, resentment of the West for making that possible, wounded pride, dreams of ancient Arab glories and a large measure of opportunism which causes Arab military men to reach in any direction for help, regardless of long-range risks. These leaders often see nothing illogical in accepting arms and other aid from the Russians while outlawing communism in their own countries.

An enormous Arab area is involved in this progressive orientation toward Moscow. It includes Iraq, Syria, Yemen, Sudan, the United Arab Republic and Algeria. Now the United States and the West will worry that Libya may swing into the procession by the same route—that of the military coup by officers hungry for arms. Possibly the men in the Kremlin are rubbing their hands in anticipation of new dividends for their policies of the past 15 years.

Within grabbing distance now may be a goal which the Russians long have nurtured—a long chain of friendly governments stretching along the Mediterranean and into the Arab East for a distance of almost 3,000 miles, from eastern Morocco to the western frontiers of Iran.

Historically, the Russians have pressed southward seeking warm weather ports and outlets to free them from a sense of isolation. Today that pressure is extended over a wide area. The goal, primarily, would be to counter what Moscow considers a western threat of encirclement with a sort of encirclement of the West in return. The oil of Libya and the Arab East is largely incidental in this. The Russians do not need it. At the moment, Europe does.

The Middle East is quite another matter. Moscow began concentrating much of its attention there in 1955, helped the following year by the British, French and Israeli attack on the Suez Canal Zone.

The 1956 developments set off a chain of events. Syria, influenced by arms-hungry army officers, veered far to the left. Iraq had a bloody upheaval in 1958 in which King Faisal was murdered, and since then a bewildering series of army coups and counter-coups.

Peru is starting a long-range plan to clear 3.2 million acres of jungle and resettle 5,250 families, to be farmers.

Probation, Fine On Possessing Marijuana

Russell M. Guidi, 21, of Fairfax yesterday was placed on six months probation and fined $125 by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court for marijuana possession. He was also given a 30-day suspended jail sentence.

Guidi had earlier admitted possessing the weed last Dec. 10 in Fairfax. Additional drug charges against him were dropped when he pleaded guilty. He and another man were arrested when police smelled marijuana smoke coming from their apartment while searching for someone else.

Education Board Members Question Hiring Practices

Hiring practices of the Marin County superintendent of schools came in for criticism last night from two members of the county board of eudcation.

The board approved hiring of five teachers for special classes operated by the county schools office, but not until members James A. Swenson and Lee C. Richardson Jr. raised several questions about them.

Swenson first questioned the hiring of Meryl Lipton of San Francisco to teach a new class for educationally handicapped at White Hill School in Fairfax, because Lipton's experience consisted of six months of week-end counseling at a boys' school.

"It doesn't sound like a real hot recommendation to me," said Swenson.

Robert C. Spain, administrative consultant, responded that Lipton, who holds a master's degree from Yeshiva University in New York, appeared best qualified of candidates interviewed. There is a dearth of experienced teachers of the educationally handicapped, he said.

Richardson then raised two questions about salaries. He pointed out that, although Lipton has a master's degree, he was being hired at $8,594 per year while Marion Lamorte of San Anselmo, employed to teach a similar class at White Hill, has only a bachelor's degree and three months' experience as a substitute but was to receive $8,921.

Spain said Lamorte was being credited for one year's experience because he served two years in the Peace Corps. However, he said the salary figure might be wrong and he would check into it.

An anomaly in teacher salaries was also pointed out by Richardson, in that two teachers in the county-operated child center are to receive only $604 per month, although both have degrees and one of them, Dane Waide of San Francisco, has six years' experience.

Spain said child center instructors are regarded as "classified employees," even though they may have full teacher credentials.

Sharon Maxwell was hired for the second child center job, and Philip Grossman of San Francisco, at $8,373 per year, to teach a mentally retarded class at Henry C. Hall School in Larkspur.

Swenson also took issue mildly with a memorandum by Deputy Supt. Stanley H. Friese on resignation policy, which resulted from teachers quitting during the contract year. The memorandum merely called attention that the board and superintendent expect a teacher to serve out the contract.

"This is too nice," objected Swenson. "We have a right to say what we expect." He urged that Friese prepare a "firm line" policy for board consideration.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

COMMENDATION — Adopted a resolution commending Mrs. Calvin Terwilliger for working "untiringly in promoting conservation education."

FEDERAL FUNDS — Approved applications for federal funds of $28,207 for special reading and mathematics instruction in Larkspur, Kentfield, Laguna, Shoreline, Bolinas-Stinson and Reed districts; $17,022 for a remedial reading program at St. Vincent's School for Boys, and $7,278 for an instructor for educationally handicapped at Sunny Hills.

COMMITTEES — Continued for another year last year's committee appointments, as follows: Administrative services: Patrick W. Pollock, Arnold Dolcini and Glen Robinson; educational services: James A. Carroll, Marilyn Crowell and Swenson: special services: Richardson, Mrs. Crowell and Swenson.

Pollock was absent from last night's meeting.

Red Hair

HAVANA (AP) — Men's hair styles in Cuba this year call for longer sideburns and the elimination of the square cut across the neck, says the Bureau of Fashion Orientation. The bureau gave this guideline in a new newspaper series and said it would have more fashion advice in the future.

Boy Held As Suspect In Burglary

A 12-year-old San Rafael boy was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall yesterday on suspicion of burglary after witnesses said he entered the Steve Liggett Beauty Supplies store at 1607 Fourth Street, San Rafael, police reported today.

Police said Curtis Ray Jones of 105 Shaver Street was booked after witnesses called police to report a burglary in progress.

Officers said about $6 and a transistor radio were taken after entry had been gained by breaking a window.

Also reported today were four other cases of stealing.

Jonathan S. King of 28 Ridgewood Drive, San Rafael, told police Monday a window had been broken at his home and a hunting knife taken. The burglary occurred sometime during the weekend, police said.

A cash register worth $350 and containing about $100 was taken from Rick's Cleaning Center, 270 Northgate Drive, San Rafael, Monday. Police said the cash register weighed 100 pounds.

Three radiators, three batteries and an automatic transmission were taken from C and L Auto Wrecking during the weekend, an employee, Charles Barner reported Monday. No value was listed.

James Robert Hollingsworth reported yesterday a .22-caliber revolver worth $46 had been taken from a drawer at his home, 311 Prospect Drive during the day. There was no signs of forced entry.

Appeals Invited On Denial Of Transfers

Appeals from refusals by school districts to allow inter-district transfers of pupils were virtually invited last night by the Marin County Board of Education. (Another county board of education story, page 1.)

The matter came up because LeVoy Elder of 123 Drake Avenue, Marin City, appealed the Sausalito School District board's refusal to allow his son, Darrell, an inter-district transfer to attend Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley

However, Deputy Supt. Stanley Friese informed the board that Elder had withdrawn the appeal because, on a recent trip into the Southwest, he arranged for his son to attend school in Mexico.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis, saying, "we have quite a few inquiries from the Sausalito district," then outlined steps to be taken by parents who are refused such transfers by their districts.

Chairman Arnold Dolcini named board member James A. Carroll to head a committee of his own selection to investigate and make recommendations on all appeals of such denials. Hollis predicted there would be several requests for inter-district transfers before the Sausalito board at its meeting next Monday night.

The steps as outlined by Hollis are as follows:

If the local board refuses an inter-district transfer, the parent may file an appeal with the county board. If it grants the appeal, the child may attend school in the district desired immediately.

The same appeal may be taken if the district where the parent wants the child to attend refuses after the district of residence has agreed to a transfer.

There is no appeal beyond the county board.

Arrangements for financial transfers to cover the cost of educating the child in a district to which he is transferred are worked out by the county staff.

Hollis said the county is allowed 30 days to make its investigation. Meanwhile, the child may attend the district requested pending outcome of the appeal.

Lyle O. Wright of the county superintendent's staff reported the Sausalito School District has denied four transfers since July 1 and denied six last school year. In all other school districts in the county, only four such transfers were denied last year, he said.

Emergency Fund Established In Marinwood

Marinwood Homeowners Association agreed last night to be the funding agency for the Marinwood emergency fund, which will be used to help victims of major illness or tragedy such as fires.

Jerry C. Leith, association president, said the role of his group will be to build up the fund to about $2,000/$3,000.

The association last night donated $50 toward the fund, to be added to the $104.54 contributed by the Marinwood Firemen's Association.

The fund was initiated last month at the suggestion of Frank Solomon, a director of the Marinwood Community Services District.

"It will be a continual fund to be used either on a loan basis or as an outright gift, depending on what the board of directors of the fund decide.

The fund's board of directors, not yet named, probably will consist of representatives from various Marinwood organizations such as the Marinwood Firemen's Association, homeowners association, and the community services district.

Marin Seeks Push To Finish Seashore Park

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday called for a joint push by Bay Area counties and cities to get the federal government to complete the purchase of Point Reyes National Seashore before bulldozers begin tearing up the land for subdivisions.

On a motion by Peter Arrigoni Jr. and a second by Louis H. Baar, supervisors approved a resolution asking Congress and President Richard M. Nixon for immediate acquisition of the seashore land. The supervisors decided to call on governmental agencies in the other Bay Area counties to support the petition.

Point Reyes National Seashore was authorized by Congress in 1962. To date only 22,540 acres of a total of 53,480 acres have been acquired. The 25,000 acre Lake Ranch, which is in the heart it is being prepared for sale in 40-acre parcels.

"Not only Marin but the whole Bay Area, the state and the nation want to see the national park completed," declared Arrigoni. "Immediate acquisition is imperative if this, the only National Seashore on the West Coast, is to become a reality."

Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

DISTILLERY PROPERTY — Approved apartment zoning for the 14-acre industrial property formerly occupied by the Sausalito Distillery along Bridgeway, as requested by the City of Sausalito. Sausalito City Planner Eric Borgwardt said the owner wants apartment zoning, and the city intends to annex the area as soon as possible.

AUDITORIUM — Approved an additional $3,900 to increase the resiliency of the stage floor in the new Veterans Memorial Auditorium, which is under construction at the Civic Center.

WEED ABATEMENT — Ordered weed abatement on the property of Emil Passalaqua at the corner of North and Oceanview, Dillon's Beach, because the lot is a fire hazard and a public nuisance.

FAMILY CLINIC — Agreed to pay Dr. R. F. Unzelman of Daly City $45 for each two-hour Family Planning Clinic which he will conduct in San Rafael between now and next June 30. About 10 such clinics will be held, with Marin County Department of Public Health as sponsor.

GNOSS FIELD — Accepted completion of runway extension and lighting at Gnoss Field and agreed to make final payments to Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael on the $115,984 job.

STAFFORD LAKE — Approved filing of an application for $69,650 from the California Park Facilities Act of 1964 to improve Stafford Lake County Park so that it can be opened for public use.

MENTAL HEALTH — Appointed George D. Monardo, former Mill Valley councilman, to the mental health advisory board.

YOUTH COORDINATOR — Authorized the county probation department to borrow a delinquency prevention consultant for a year from the California Youth Authority to work as temporary coordinator for the county's delinquency prevention and youth commissions while the county recruits and trains a permanent coordinator.

WELFARE — Approved plans by the public social services department to start a work incentive program for approximately 100 welfare recipient families. Local cost of $10,000 will be matched by $20,000 in state funds, and $90,000 in federal funds for a total of $120,000 available for work training, child care, transportation and other costs to families in the program.

Betty L. Presley, department director said the program will be started with 40 unemployed fathers and 60 mothers with dependent children. The local share of $10,000 had been earmarked for a similar program totaling only $40,000.

HIGHWAYS — Agreed to issue a formal invitation for the state Highway Commission to hold its Nov. 13-14 meeting at the Marin Civic Center. The commission has never met in Marin, Supervisor Michael Wornum said, and the meeting will be a chance for the county to present its highway problems.

MEDICAL — Approved a 60-day extension of an agreement with McAuley Neurological Hospital in San Francisco for further treatment of a brain-damaged Marin child under care there.

Bernadette Back In Ireland

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — Bernadette Devlin returned from the United States today and said she had raised "a great deal of money" for Roman Catholic victims of last month's religious warfare in Northern Ireland.

The 22-year-old Catholic member of British Parliament refused to say how much money she raised, but she said it was being deposited in American cities and would be transferred to Ireland later.

Miss Devlin promised that the money would not be spent on arms for Northern Ireland's Catholic minority. "I have given my personal guarantee to the people who contributed," she said.

Miss Devlin left New York two days ahead of schedule, canceling a meeting today in Washington with House Speaker John McCormack and other congressmen. Her press secretary said she left early because of fatigue and security conditions.

Fire-Police Protection Policy Aired

Marin County yesterday received the City-County Services Committee's statement of policy on equalizing costs for duplicated services such as fire and police protection in cities and in unincorporated areas.

The document was accepted unanimously by the supervisors as a preliminary statement subject to further study.

The statement points out that duplications exist in such services as police and fire protection because cities provide their own services, and the county also has a fire department and the sheriff's office for unincorporated areas.

THE OBJECTIVES

Among objectives outlined in the policy statement is that unincorporated areas should gradually take over more of the cost of the county's fire department and the sheriff's office because taxpayers in cities and fire districts are already paying for their own services, in addition to supporting the county departments.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar objected to endorsing the statement as a firm policy because the statement contains percentage figures. For example, the statement states that unincorporated areas receive 12 per cent in local services but raise only 7 per cent in revenue.

Residents of unincorporated areas would object to these precise percentages and create controversies, argued Baar.

HARD TO PIN

Supervisors' chairman John F. McInnis agreed that it is impossible to pin down exact percentages of benefits received by unincorporated areas and by cities, and the percentages are only approximations.

Neil R. Brixon, chairman of the Council of Mayors and City Councilmen, called for a timetable for the policy statement to go into effect, but supervisors declined to set any dates.

Sausalito Zoning To Be Discussed

Changes in Sausalito's zoning regulations recommended by William Spangle and Associates will be considered by the Sausalito Planning Commission at its 8 p.m. meeting today at City Hall.

The commission also will take up a request by the Sausalito Yacht Harbor for permission to fill a portion of land on the waterfront.

Ross Assurance On Flood Project Sought

Fearful of another Tamalpais Creek controversy, Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday asked Public Works Director Donald R. Frost and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to get an assurance from the Town of Ross that it would not block the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project through Ross.

Philip B. Lygren, Ross town engineer, assured supervisors that the Ross Town Council merely wanted to retain a veto power over the third phase of the project just in case the Army Crops of Engineers project turned out to be unacceptable. Lygren said Ross has no intention of nit-picking on minor points such as color of concrete or loss of one tree.

Frost, however, warned supervisors that under the present veto power retained by Ross, the town could legally stop the entire third phase by vetoing even the smallest detail in the project. The third phase would extend the Corte Madera project from College Avenue in Kentfield to Shady Lane Bridge in Ross.

The supervisors asked Frost and Maloney to contact Ross officials and get written assurances that the town will not veto the whole project over minor details.

During its second phase, the project ran into delays and court fights when residents of Kent Woodlands objected to a concrete box culvert along Tamalpais Creek and demanded an underground drain along Woodland Avenue. Physical confrontation of construction workers by some residents and students led to arrests of 2 demonstrators and a test trial in Marin Municipal Court set for Sept. 30.

Shoreline Route Study Is Reopened

Marin County supervisors want the state to reopen its studies on the routing of Shoreline Highway from somewhere north of Golden Gate Bridge to West Marin.

Supervisors yesterday began discussing various routes which the county would ask the state Division of Highways to study. However, they decided that the routing details should be turned over to a committee headed by Supervisors Michael Wornum and Louis H. Baar, who in turn will appoint four other citizens to their committee.

This committee will go into specifics and come back with recommendations.

In asking the state for improving Shoreline Highway, supervisors declared they will ask for a series of design criteria so that scenic values will not be destroyed.

Student Leader Gets Two Years

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— Two young men, including the University of Oregon student body president, were sentenced yesterday to two years in federal prison for interfering with draft boards.

The student leader, Kip D. Morgan, 21, of Roseburg, Ore., later was bound over to the federal grand jury on a firearms charge.

Morgan and David G. Gwyther, 21, of Eugene, Ore., were sentenced by U.S. Dist. Judge Robert Belloni to two years in prison on each of three counts with the sentences to run concurrently.

The two men were convicted of disrupting draft board meetings at Eugene and Roseburg to stage mock trials of board members.

Banker To Head Foreign Aid Study

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — Rudolph A. Peterson, president of the Bank of America, will head a presidential task force to study the U.S. foreign aid program.

The San Francisco banking executive met with President Richard M. Nixon yesterday at the Western White House where his appointment was announced.

The Western White House said the full membership of the task force on international development will be "announced shortly."

The announcement of Petersons' appointment noted that in the President's message to Congress on foreign aid, he said a task force of private citizens would make recommendations on the role of the United States in assistance to less developed foreign countries in the 1970s.

"He has directed the group to focus on the underlying rationale of the U.S. aid effort and its relationship to overall U.S. foreign policy," the announcement said.

New Underground

LONDON (AP) I London transport is considering building a new underground line, to be called the "Fleet Line" — for Fleet Street, center of the London newspaper industry. Work on the line will start in 1972 if Parliament approves.

BRUTALITY — Two former prisoners told a Bethesda, Md., news conference yesterday of brutality and torture in a North Vietnamese camp. They are Navy Postal Clerk 3/c Douglas B. Hegdahl, Clark, S. D. (Left), and Lt. Robert F. Frishman, Santee, Calif. (UPI Telephoto)

A Report Of Torture In Hanoi's Prisons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Navy men have given harsh accounts of North Vietnamese prison camp life in a switch of U.S. government tactics to bring pressure on Hanoi concerning prisoner of war treatment.

Few if any details came with the release of other American prisoners, but yesterday, Lt. Robert F. Frishman and seaman Douglas Brent Hegdahl told newsmen of torture, hunger and solitary confinement.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird followed this with a statement saying "North Vietnam has violated even the most fundamental standards of human decency."

Hanoi, Laird said, "consistently has claimed through propaganda statements that our men are being treated humanely." This has been clearly refuted, he said.

Frishman said his story was told because of "a strong obligation to those still back there to get the truth out."

The lieutenant said American prisoners have had their fingernails pulled out, been burned with glowing cigarette ends, beaten, suspended from beams by ropes, and cast into tiny almost airless cells for months on end.

"You resist so long," he said, "but it is only a matter of time before they can make you do anything they want you to do."

Frishman indicated his words may well cause further torture for the friends he left behind.

But, he said, several POW's got together before he left and it was the consensus that he should tell it like it is behind the barbed wire in Hanoi.

From this, Frishman said, he hopes that world opinion may force Hanoi to bring their treatment under the specifications of the Geneva Convention, which North Vietnam has signed.

Hegdahl, 22, said that as an enlisted man he did not suffer as much as the officers, who were mostly airmen. He did spend seven months and 10 days in solitary.

Supersonic Jet

NAGOYA, Japan (UPI)— Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, which built Japan's World War II Zero fighter plane, has completed a mockup of what will be Japan's first supersonic jet. The twin-engine XT2 trainer is scheduled to make its maiden flight in 1971.

Interracial Marriage Surprise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Marriages between Negro men and white women are twice as stable as all-black marriages and slightly more stable than all-white marriages, says a sociologist.

Prof. Thomas T. Monahan of Villanova University told the American Sociological Association yesterday he bases his conclusion on a study of marriage and divorce statistics in Iowa between 1940 and 1967. He said the study covered approximately 8,000 interracial marriages.

Monahan said he also found that matches between white husbands and Negro wives were more stable than all-Negro marriages, but less stable than all-white unions or marriages between Negro men and white women.

Monahan noted the findings "contradict previous public opinion that interracial marriages don't have a chance of succeeding," but he declined to make any long range interpretation on the data from just one state.

"Is Iowa representative? I don't know. This is a problem" since many states don't identify races of marriage partners."

White Sands National Monument in southern New Mexico contains rolling white sand dunes that rise up to 60 feet.

Santa Barbara Pushed To Radical Tactics

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The notorious Santa Barbara oil slicks caused the community's rich to slide over to the tactics of the Left when they saw their legislators drowning in the power waves of the oil companies, according to a sociologist.

Harvey L. Molotch, a professor at U.C. Santa Barbara, told the 64th annual meeting of the American Sociological Convention here yesterday that the citizenry was outraged by the "all-powerful oil lobby", disenchanted by legislators "in the pockets" of the oil companies, and disillusioned by scientists "bought" by oil money.

Finally, Molotch said, the citizens dramatized their fury by sit-downs blocking oil trucks, yacht sail-ins circling off-shore wells, non-negotiatiable demands on City Hall and talk of blowing up oil rigs with high explosives.

From this the sociologist concluded that "radicalism is not a subtle form of mental illness caused by 'rapid technological change' or increasing 'impersonality' in the world— radicals are neither 'immature,' undisciplined,' or anti-intellectual?"

The wealthy, the mature, the educated and the conservative can all become radicals, he said. All they need is an ox to be gored.

Radio Broadcasts To Pay Telephone

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Radio Station WMHE-FM broadcast part of a city council meeting to an exclusive, and unknown audience.

The council meeting was "on the air" before the station and the telephone company determined that the broadcast was being sent to a pay telephone here instead of to the station transmitter.

Two Narrowly Miss Sentences To State Prison

Two 22-year-old San Rafael burglars who first came to the attention of the police when seen carrying a pillowcase full of silverware and jewelry down Greenfield Avenue in San Anselmo narrowly missed going to state prison yesterday.

George Edward Meyers and Paul Danny Cassidy were warned by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court, who gave them suspended prison sentences and a year in the county jail, that this was the "last stop" before prison.

He also told Meyers, who was described as having a serious drug problem, to seek help for his addiction or he would go to prison.

The youths had earlier pleaded guilty to one count of burglary and a second charge was dismissed. They had been arrested carrying articles stolen from a house in San Rafael May 4.

Chamois Hunting

PRAGUE (AP)—In May for the first time this year permission was given to hunt chamois in the North Moravian Hruby Jesenik district which were brought in from the Austrian Alps half a century ago. The news agency C.T.K. said western hunters will be allowed to bag them for hard currency.

COMPUTERS WORRY BAGLEY — William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, (Right) chairman of the special Assembly Committee on Statewide Information Policy, and Charles Smith (left), director of the Office of Management Services, had conflicting views at a Sacramento hearing yesterday on computer memory banks. Daughter Of Thomas Mann Dies

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Erika Mann, eldest daughter of Nobel Prize winning author Thomas Mann, died in Zurich Cantonal Hospital last Wednesday after an operation, it was announced last night. She was 64.

Mann and his family left Germany in 1933 to escape the Nazis. Miss Mann and her brother Klaus toured Europe in a revue "The Pepper Mill" satirizing the Nazis, and then toured Britain and the United States lecturing against Hitler.

Miss Mann moved to the United States in 1936 and during the war was employed by several American newspapers as a war correspondent. After the war she returned to Germany and then settled with her father in Kilchberg, a Swiss village on Lake Zurich.

Mann died in 1955. Her brother Klaus had died in 1949.

Miss Mann was married twice. Her first marriage to Gustav Gruendgens, a German actor, ended in divorce. British poet W. H. Auden was her second husband.

Robber Lets Clerk Wait On Customers

A polite armed robber held up the Short Stop Market at 1410 South Novato Boulevard at 1:10 a.m. today and allowed the clerk to wait on two customers during the holdup, Novato police reported.

The clerk, John H. Page, told police that the robber laid a gun case on the counter and opened it, showing a revolver thought to be .38-caliber. He took all the bills, approximately $65 out of the cash register.

As the robber started tieing up Page with a foot of adhesive tape, a customer came in. So the robber united Page and allowed him to wait on the customer. While this was going on, a second customer came in and Page waited on him also, telling him to call the police, that he was being held up.

The robber was described as about 35 years old, five feet, nine inches tall, weighing about 170 pounds, a Latin type, clean shaven, wearing a white straw hat, medium green jacket and tan Levi pants.

Page said he did not hear the sound of a motor when the robber left.

Questionnaire Tabulation Set

Tabulation of the Fairfax Community Congress questionnaires will begin today at 7 p.m. at the Fairfax Women's Club at 46 Park Road.

Approximately 2,800 questionnaires were mailed to town residents to get their responses to 32 questions about city government, business and schools.

The congress itself will be held Oct. 11 from noon to evening at Manor School, 150 Oak Manor Drive and will use the responses from residents in helping to direct future community programs, according to Joseph Walla, chairman of the questionnaire project committee.

Computer Memory Bank Of Tomorrow Frighten Bagley

SACRAMENTO (AP) — One day in the future, someone might go to a state agency and, with a single inquiry, find out whether you have ever applied for a business license, been married or had the measles.

Great, says the state's top computer expert.

Frightening, says Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Bagley was so upset by the prospect of huge computer memory banks containing all state records about everybody that he convened a hearing of his special Assembly Committee on Statewide Information Policy yesterday.

Computer experts, news media representatives and legislators heard testimony about the record keeping world of tomorrow.

As outlined by Charles P. Smith, director of the state Office of Management Services, state records, now kept in cumbersome filing cabinets, will be stored in a single computer bank.

Smith, the state's No. 1 man in computers, envisioned welfare, motor vehicle, health, criminal and other records available at a single inquiry.

If a parole officer, for example, wanted to know something about one of his ward's families, he wouldn't have to go to a bewildering array of state agencies to find out.

One phone call could assemble a complete profile on the family, from the computer bank.

Bagley wondered how an individual would be protected against inquiries from credit agencies, private detectives, newsmen and others who have access to records.

"It is not inconceivable that personal dossiers could be created by centralizing all the information that government has gathered from and about individuals during a lifetime," he said. "Obviously, certain protections must be considered if this trend continues."

San Rafael Garbage Rate Hike Approved

San Rafael City Council last night granted Marin Sanitary Service permission to raise its monthly charges for home garbage collection. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

The rate will be increased 25 cents for the first can and 15 cents for the second can.

The current monthly rates are $2 for one 30-gallon can and $3.30 for two 30-gallon cans in level areas and $2.50 for one can and $4 for two cans in hill areas.

The firm agreed to make free pickups of clippings, equivalent to a 30-gallon can load, once a month to ease the problem that will be created by the backyard burning ban, effective Jan. 1, 1970.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

QUAIL HILL — Gave first approval to relocation of 19 town houses at Quail Hill, Northgate, to a leveled area where a knoll had to be removed because of slide conditions. Raymond K. Sullivan, representing the Terra Linda Valley Property Owners Association, protested that the knoll was removed without notice to nearby residents. He said he wasn't protesting the removal of the knoll, "but the manner in which it was done," and wanted assurance that residents would be notified of developments in their area in the future. About 20 persons attended the session.

WATER QUALITY — Authorized Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles to draw up a timetable for the city to comply with Water Quality Control Board requirements to improve the sewer system.

ACTING MANAGER — Authorized an additional $300 a month pay to Finance Director James H. McCowan for his work as acting manager, retroactive to his appointment Aug. 4.

MOBILE RADIOS — Awarded General Electric, Mobile Radio Department, Palo Alto, low bidder, a contract to furnish 10 mobile radios for police cars at $9,272 less turn-in value plus sales tax.

LEAGUE DELEGATES — Appointed Councilman Frederick C. Robbins Jr. as delegate to a League of California Cities conference in San Francisco Sept. 28 to Oct. 1.

HAUNTED HOUSE —Granted the Jolly Roger Chapter, Children's Home Society, permission to operate a Haunted House at the old Coleman School, Linden Lane and Grand Avenue, Oct. 24 to 31.

CLAIM DENIED — Denied a claim by Willie Griffith of the Mount Tamalpais Air Force Station for $660 in damage to his parked car which was struck by a city police car Aug. 22 at 225 Union Street.

RECREATION SPACE — At the urging of Councilman Harry A. Barbier agreed to discuss Sept. 15 the possibility of enacting an ordinance requiring subdivisers to set aside land for recreation.

ROAD CONNECTION — Heard an appeal from Clarence A. DeLong, president of DeLong Chevrolet Inc., to push for a road connection to West Francisco Boulevard from the Second Street area, a connection cut off when work started on the southbound Highway 101 viaduct.

ELECTRICAL CODE — Adopted the 1968 version of the uniform electrical code.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Sept. 15 at city hall.

School Class Change

A report on adult education classes in last Wednesday's Independent-Journal omitted the letter "D" from the legend to designate classes scheduled this fall at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Warning On Flood Danger

City Engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. warned last night there is a serious danger of flooding in East San Rafael unless drainage improvements are made.

He told the San Rafael City Council the problem lies on private property in the diked tidelands north of Highway 17.

A dike in the area has broken, but is expected to be repaired, he said. The real problem is to get adequate drainage in the area, Caillouette said.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the property owners should be put on notice that the responsibility lies with them and not the city.

The property owners are Francisco Co., Marin Development Co. and Equitable Development Co.

"This is a most serious area and something has to be done or there will be severe flooding," Caillouette warned. There is a possibility of flooding in the Bellam Boulevard and Jacoby Street area, he asserted.

Adequate pipes are needed on the private property, Calliouette reported. He said he had discussed the problem with one of the owners, Harry Heiftez, and had assurances that corrections would be made.

One of the contributing factors is that the area south of the highway, which had served as a ponding area, has been filled with earth from the Quail Hill development.

The city's position is that it had to let the ponding area develop, he said.

The Union Jack still flies over the Rock of Gibraltar, just as it has for 265 years, since July 24, 1704.

City Goes Halfway On Recreation Center

East San Rafael residents who want their own recreation center were given a small building by the San Rafael City Council last night — but no land.

A small office building, which had been abandoned on city property after an oil company operation next to the corporation yard, was offered by the council. But the building must be moved if it is to be used, it ruled.

After Robert C. Schoen adked permission to temporarily use the building at its present site on the San Rafael Canal, Mayor C. Paul Bettini said there were not water or sewer connections.

The mayor suggested that the residents locate the building on San Rafael Elementary School District property adjacent to Bahia Vista School.

Schoen said the intent is to form a nonprofit corporation to establish the recreation center, but that youths will set up the rules and regulations.

"There is nothing to turn young people off more than having older people telling them, 'you do this now . . . you do this in 15 minutes'," Schoen said.

He said he has had offers of help to renovate the building, and in the Canal Street area "we got a couple of thousand kids who don't have a solitary place to go."

Mayor Bettini warned the residents that if the center is operated by nonprofit corporation, the city couldn't allocate funds or staffing for the center.

Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director, said if the city recreation staff were involved the center would have to operate under recreation department rules and regulations.

Acting City Manager James H. McCown said he didn't feel there was enough space at the city-owned property for the proposed recreation center.

About 15 persons from the area, including several youths, attended the session.

Young Burglar Goes To CYA

A 19-year-old San Rafael youth who admitted burglarizing the San Rafael home of Hanlon P. Tharp, principal of Davidson Junior High School on May 26, yesterday was sent to the California Youth Authority for a 90-day diagnosis and evaluation.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court put off sentencing for Casey Lawrence Porter, until he receives a report from the state reformatory system.

Porter had also pleaded guilty to a charge of joy riding in a car taken Jan. 14 in San Rafael. He had originally been charged with car theft. An additional count of marijuana possession was dismissed.

Miss Grady Appointed City Clerk

San Rafael City Council last night appointed Marion A. Grady, a clerk in the city treasurer's office, as city clerk at $975 a month.

Miss Grady, a city employee for more than 20 years, will complete the term of W.C. Cornwell which ends April, 1971. Cornwell resigned effective Sept. 1 because he had passed the age of 65 and wished to retire.

The council also appointed Alan M. Kay of 19 Dorian Way, owner of Kay Construction Co., to a three-year term on the planning commissionm

Kay will succeed Jorgen V. Lunding, who had filed for reappointment.

Industrious Romans

STIBBINGTON, England (AP) — Archaeologists have discovered the remains of a 1,600-year-old industry in a field near here. In 10 minutes of exploration they dug up two 4th Century pottery kilns, a stone floor and hundreds of pottery fragments dating from the Roman occupation of Britain.

'Ban' On Overnight Parking To Remain In San Rafael

San Rafael City Council introduced two new parking regulations last night, but bypassed throwing out the current ban against overnight streek parking.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen said the original proposal, which would have rescinded the overnight ban, "would make a parking area of the entire city of San Rafael."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini argued without success that the overnight ban isn't being enforced, "so why have the ordinance?"

Councilmen introduced an ordinance to ban parking on Fourth Street from Lincoln Avenue to E Street from 3 to 6 a.m. to clear the streets for the sweeper.

They also introduced an ordinance that would prohibit trailers, trailer coaches, utility trailers or auxiliary dollies for remaining on public streets for more than 24 hours.

Seamanship Course Due In San Rafael

A free course in basic seamanship and safe boat operation will be given 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on eight Tuesdays beginning September 23 at San Rafael High School by Flotilla 14 of the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The course will include aids to navigation, rules of the road, charts and compass and the proper handling of sail and power boats. The flotilla is composed of members from San Rafael.

Reed School Parents Win Bus Stop Fight

Belvedere and Tiburon residents on the receiving end of bus transportation cuts in the Reed School District last night successfully lobbied for reinstatement of two bus stops for their children.

Reed School District trustees approved a $900 allocation to finance serving residents near Solano Avenue and Paradise Drive in Tiburon and on Belvedere Island after parents complained their children had to walk nearly two miles to the nearest stop at the Safeway market on Tiburon Boulevard, according to Supt. Robert B. Gaw.

A third request for bus service in the Reedlands was rejected.

Trustees postponed hiring three teacher aides to replace three who resigned pending resolution of a dispute over whether aides or an additional teacher should be hired.

Because they split 2-2, trustees postponed further action until absent Trustee Thomas S. Price returns Sept. 16.

The Reed School District board also:

REED SCHOOL — Approved 11 change orders for Reed School construction at a cost of $4,475.

POLICY — Approved a policy for administrative salaries, requiring an annual salary review, 12-month work year and prohibiting accrual of vacation time.

EMPLOYMENT — Approved hiring Margaret Lucchesi, as a kindergarten teacher at Bel Aire School at a salary of $7,025; Marjory Hollyis, kindergarten teacher at Bel Aire School, $9,625; Janet-Marie Shapeero as a kindergarten teacher at Granada School, $9,625; and Bernard Kelly, team teacher at Del Mar School, $8,675.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Blanche Bale, teacher aide at Reed School; Dorothy Figore, teacher aide at Bel Aire School, and Barbara Ebbesen, teacher aide at Del Mar School, all for personal reasons.

COMMITTEES — Heard that applications will be accepted through Sept. 14 for volunteers for transportation, building and grounds, finance, research and evaluation and drug-abuse citizen committees to serve the board.

Women Injured In Rohnert Park

Two young women were injured at 9 p.m. Monday when their car struck a tree on Southwest Boulevard, Rohnert Park.

Sandra Jo Eastburn, 23, of 299 Throckmorton, Mill Valley, and Emily Ann Wechsler, 19, of 261 College View Avenue, Rohnert Park, were treated at Community Hospital of Sonoma County for head cuts.

Rohnert Park police said they were passengers in a car driven by Barbara J. Gallagher, 23, of 261 College View Avenue, Rohnert Park, that jumped a curb and struck a tree.

Dead Man's Mystery Card A Forgery

A postcard signed with the name of a Mill Valley man who took his own life but mailed two days after his death was not in the dead man's handwriting, sheriff's deputies said today.

A friend of Ronald Stover, 32-year-old co-owner of a Strawberry nursery, said that the handwritting on the postcard bore no resemblance to Stover's and sheriff's officers agreed with him.

The friend, Melvin Walter Lucas, said he had no idea who might have written the postcard which was addressed to President Nixon and mailed to the Independent-Journal.

The card said that Stover was now beyond the reach of the President and called him a man of war and a farce.

Stover was found dead in his car at his home at 252 Perry Street on Aug. 20. The post card, which was dated with that date by the writer, bore an Aug. 22 postmark and was received by the I-J on Aug. 23.

No Unemployed Black

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Whites, colored (mulattoes) and Asians registered as unemployed in South Africa during spring 1969 totalled 12,734. The breakdown for the three races was 3,992 whites, 4,187 coloreds and 4,555 Asians. The official figures did not mention unemployed Africans.

Kangaroos travel by jumping at speeds up to 25 miles per hour.

No Drugs Lead To Bonfire In Office

A burglar, apparently frustrated at finding no narcotics in a San Anselmo doctor's office, made a bonfire of medicine samples before leaving, San Anselmo police reported today.

Police said the burglar took 50 plastic syringes, a clock and a small radio from the office of Dr. Fred T. Adams of 895 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Adams discovered the theft and damage yesterday morning. The floor was burned in front of a medicine storage cabinet and in a treatment room, police said. Total damage and loss was estimated at $50.

Report Of Cadra Arrest Is Corrected

Reports in last Wednesday's and Thursday's Independent-Journal of incidents which led to the arrest of Edwin Wesley Cadra, 18, of 260 Canal Street, San Rafael, contained errors.

The I-J report said Cadra was involved in a fight with Michael Joseph Smith, 16, of Boardwalk 1, Larkspur, on Fourth Street between D and E streets. Actually, police said, Smith was lying on the ground fixing his car and was threatened and kicked by Cadra but did not fight.

The Independent-Journal story also said Smith's friends chased Cadra in an attempt to get even. Actually, Cadra was chase by other youths whom he had alleged harassed in another incident, police said.

Police also said the chase had nothing to do with the crash into a tree by Cadra, for the chase had been abandoned earlier.

Ragghianti dismissed the claim tery and displaying a deadly weapon.

A nationwide study of the use of parking meters attributes up to $12,000 in annual retail sales to a parking space. This breaks down to $38 per space each day for a six-day shopping week.

Chicken Salad For A Supper

Visitors to Shaker Village Restoration in Hancock, Mass. will enjoy a trip through the past. This quaint village typifies the simple beauty and utility that marked the Shaker way of life.

Of special interest is the great kitchen where communal meals were prepared. The Shakers were strong believers in doing a job well and cooking was no exception. Shaker kitchen sisters were creative cooks who not only developed tasty recipes but also took the time to serve foods as attractively as possible.

Shaker Sunday Supper Chicken Salad is a recipe that fits Shaker cooking precisely. It is an attractive, imaginative main dish which captures flavors of old with modern foods of today. Certainly ingredients such as dried parsley flakes, chicken bouillon cubes, natural strength pure lemon juice, and canned sliced carrots were not on the Shaker pantry shelf. Yet, they enable the hurried cook of today to enjoy flavors of the past.

SHAKER SUNDAY SUPPER CHICKEN SALAD

(Makes one 3-quart mold)

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
3 cups chicken broth
2 Chicken instant bouillon cubes
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon dehydrated parsley flakes
¼ cup bottled lemon juice
2 hard-cooked eggs, quartered
1 (1-lb.) can sliced carrots
4 cups cooked, diced, chicken breasts (4 breasts)

Soften gelatine in cold water about 5 minutes. Heat chicken broth in medium-size saucepan to boiling; dissolve gelatine in hot chicken broth. Stir in bouillon cubes, paprika, parsley and lemon juice. Chill over cold water until gelatine is partially set. Arrange eggs in bottom of slightly oiled 3-quart mold. Place drained carrots over eggs and top with diced chicken. Carefully pour partially set gelatine into mold. Refrigerate about 2 to 4 hours or until firmly set. Unmold on salad greens. Serve with Orange Yogurt Dressing.

ORANGE YOGURT DRESSING

1 (8-oz.) container Mandarin Orange Yogurt
1 cup mayonnaise

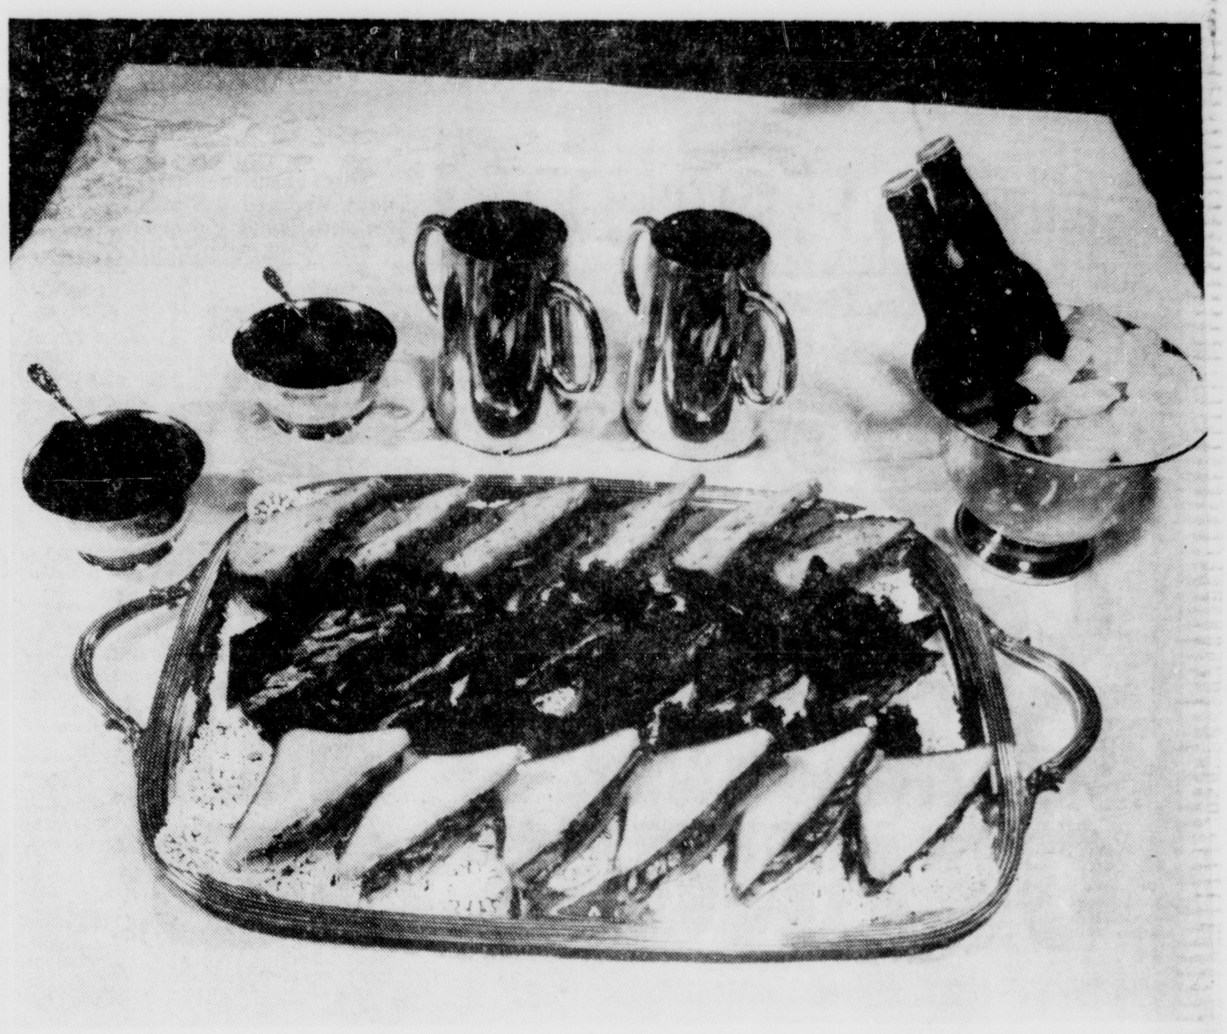
Combine yogurt and mayonnaise; chill about 1 hour.

ORANGE YOGURT MUFFINS

(Makes 12 medium-size muffins)

1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
2 tablespoons butter, melted, slightly cooled
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 egg, separated
1 (8-oz.) container Mandarin Orange Yogurt

Sift dry ingredients into medium-size mixing bowl; make well in center. Combine butter, sugar and egg yolk in small bowl; stir in yogurt. Add all at once to dry ingredients; stir quickly until partially moistened. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Stir only enough to moisten ingredients. Bake in hot (400°F.) oven for 35 minutes, or until lightly browned.



Refreshing Dessert For The Family Supper Table

The right ingredients make a refreshing dessert.

Broiled Halibut Potatoes
Panned Green Cabbage
Cantaloupe Lime Sundae

CANTALOUPE LIME SUNDAE

½ cup light corn syrup
2 tablespoons lime juice
½ lime, sliced
1 cantaloupe
1½ pints vanilla ice cream

In a small saucepan bring the corn syrup to simmering; add lime juice and lime slices; bring to a boil and boil 1 minute; remove from heat. With a small melonball cutter or ¼ teaspoon from a round-bowl fractional measuring spoon set, cut balls from cantaloupe; add to syrup — it can be hot. Cover and chill. Serve cantaloupe balls and lime syrup (minus lime slices) over ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

Breakfast Treat

Banana sandwiches with french toast give breakfast a party air. Beat 3 eggs slightly and add 1 tablespoon of sugar, 1-3 cup of milk and ¼ teaspoon of nutmeg. Beat well. Dip 6 slices of bread into egg mixture and fry on both sides in lightly buttered skillet or on griddle. While toast browns, peel and slice 2 bananas; place slices on three pieces of toast, top with remaining slices and serve at once with syrup, honey, applesauce or cinnamon sugar. Makes 3 servings.

Sardine Sandwiches Make Quick Luncheon

Here is a quick, easy-to-prepare luncheon — Norway sardine sandwiches on white, rye, and pumpernickel breads.

SUMMER-TIME SARDINE SANDWICHES

3 (3¾ oz.) cans sardines
6 slices white bread
6 slices black pumpernickel bread
6 slices rye bread
1 cucumber
2 tomatoes
1 small head of lettuce
butter and mayonnaise

Butter bread and place lettuce leaves on one-half of bread slices. Completely cover lettuce with Norway sardines. Add thinly sliced tomatoes and sliced cucumbers. Spread with mayonnaise. Butter remaining bread slices and press tops on firmly and cut sandwiches diagonally.

Yield: 18 generous size sandwiches.

Serve with pickles or ripe olives and your favorite beverage.

Skillet Stew

Make this quick skillet stew for lunch or supper. In skillet brown 1 pound ground beef with 1 onion, chopped; pour off fat. Stir in 1 cup packaged precooked rice; cook until golden. Stir in 2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with mushrooms, 1 package (10 ounces) frozen mixed vegetables, 1 cup boiling water, salt and pepper to taste. Bring to boiling, then simmer 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Makes 4 servings.

Cottage Apple Pie From Apple Harvest

It's cause for celebration in all the kitchens of the land. The apple harvest is rolling in, red and gold and beautiful. Ready for eating out-of-hand, for making into salads, for baking an apple pie. Here's a recipe as homey as a country kitchen, yet deliciously different enough to please sophisticates.

COTTAGE APPLE PIE

1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon allspiece
1 cup water
1 Tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice
10 cups thinly sliced apples
Pastry for 1-crust 10-inch pie
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon sugar
Nutmeg

Combine first 5 ingredients. Stir over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring to boil; boil 5 minutes. Combine cornstarch and lemon juice; stir in. Cook and stir until syrup is thickened and clear. Add applie slices. Cook gently until apples are tender and syrup is thick, stirring often. Line 10-inch pie pan with pastry. Spoon apples into pan. Dot with butter. Bake at 425° for 30 minutes or until pastry is golden brown. Remove from oven; spread sour cream on top; sprinkle with 1 tablespoon sugar and a little nutmeg. Return to oven for 5 minutes longer or until cream sets.

Triple Indemnity

Pork included in the diet provides triple indemnity. That means it has three times as much thiamin as any other food source. When it comes to liver, this pork variety meat supplies three times as much iron in available form as any other food.

All Kinds Of Food Make A Good Breakfast

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — A schoolboy we know prefers peanut butter sandwiches for breakfast to more traditional meals built around cereal or bacon and eggs.

Nutritionally, he's just as well off as traditionalists. He's also in international company. Breakfast in far-flung lands including Japan, the Netherlands and Scandinavia call for such things as soup, cheese, cold cuts and even pickled herring and salads. The last four are part of an old-fashioned Norwegian breakfast koldtbord, or buffet.

All those things meet the standards of good breakfast food as defined by the National Dairy Council. The council says a good breakfast is any combination of foods that supplies one quarter to one third of the day's nutritional requirements and includes fruit or juice—preferably citrus—plus a protein food such as meat, milk, eggs, cheese or fish and a carbohydrate food such as enriched or whole grain cereal or bread.

If breakfast skipping is a back-to-school-days problem, unconventional fare may help solve it. A peanut butter or cheese sandwich can be made the night before, so it's ready to grab and eat—on the run, if necessary—the following morning. The council says most children like mild-flavored cheese, such as American. A 1½-inch cube of it has about the same food value as a cup of milk.

Apples and cheese make another fast breakfast. Some cheese now come factory-wrapped in bite-size and single-serving units for easy portability.

With more time for a sit-down meal, you could serve grilled cheese and bacon sandwiches, or welsh rarebit—either homemade, bottled or frozen—on toasted English muffins with Canadian-style bacon. Or a cheeseburger or a hamburger or a hot dog and cheese sandwich.

Hot cold cereal is good and just as nutritious with a scoop of ice cream as it is with milk. And the council says ice cream contains the same nutrients as milk. Its sugar also provides energy for active youngsters.

Chocolate milk as it comes from a dairy case container is good on cereal or as a substitute for plain milk in making French toast. So is milk and honey, which is easily made. Just add 2 tablespoons of honey, or more to taste, to each quart of milk, along with ¼ teaspoon of ground nutmeg. Shake well and refrigerate until needed.

THE ATTRACTIVE hostess serving coffee to residents of a San Rafael care home is also the owner and manager. Lively and attractive Mrs. Bette Porter runs the home with youthful vitality.

Former Beauty Winner Finds Challenge In Resident Care

By BETH GAEDDERT

Not only does she not look like a care home manager, lively and attractive 38-year-old Bette Porter once said, "I'll never set foot in a place like this again."

Mrs. Porter, whose hobbies include four health spa visits per week and belly dancing lessons in San Francisco, manages the Marin Manor Care Home in San Rafael.

She made the vow never to return to a care home after leaving the Colorado convalescent hospital her parents managed and in which the family lived.

"I resented it. I have a sister and we had no family life. I got married when I was 16 and she married when she was 15. When I married I swore I'd never set foot in a place like this again."

But Mrs. Porter, whose sister is now managing their parents' convalescent hospital, finds she enjoys the work.

"I love the work. I really do. It all came back to me," she said.

She found herself back in the business again when her husband died of a kidney disease eight years ago and she had to make a living for herself, her son and daughter, now 20 and 18. Although she lives in the home now, Mrs. Porter maintained a separate residence near another care home in San Rafael which she managed when her children were growing up.

IN COLORADO she had taught modeling and had a daytime television variety show for women. But she didn't even try those fields when she came to Marin County from the small city of Grand Junction that she found too confining.

"The competition out here is too stiff for me to get into modeling or television. The only thing I knew was taking care of old people," she said. After a short marriage she was divorced and then bought a care home business.

In the small care home on D Street Mrs. Porter and one elderly helper fix meals, do laundry, assist with medication, and plan some activities for almost a dozen residents, all of whom are ambulatory.

Mrs. Porter says she can tell which of the elderly were active and kept themselves healthy in their younger years. Some of them don't have the will to walk around the block, even though they're physically capable, she says.

"I don't want to get like that," she says and so she has been on a health kick for the past two years and has taken up tennis, bowling, water skiing, dancing and visits to the health spa.

"Everytime she comes home from a dancing lesson you hear wierd music and she is dancing around in the kitchen," said her daughter Claudia.

Mrs. Porter says watching her running around and dancing helps keep the residents young. She believes that an attitude of wanting to stay young, not actual age, makes the difference.

IN HER HOME, where she tries to do the things a family would, Mrs. Porter says the elderly need someone to watch them and be kind to them. Of almost a dozen residents, half are women and half men.

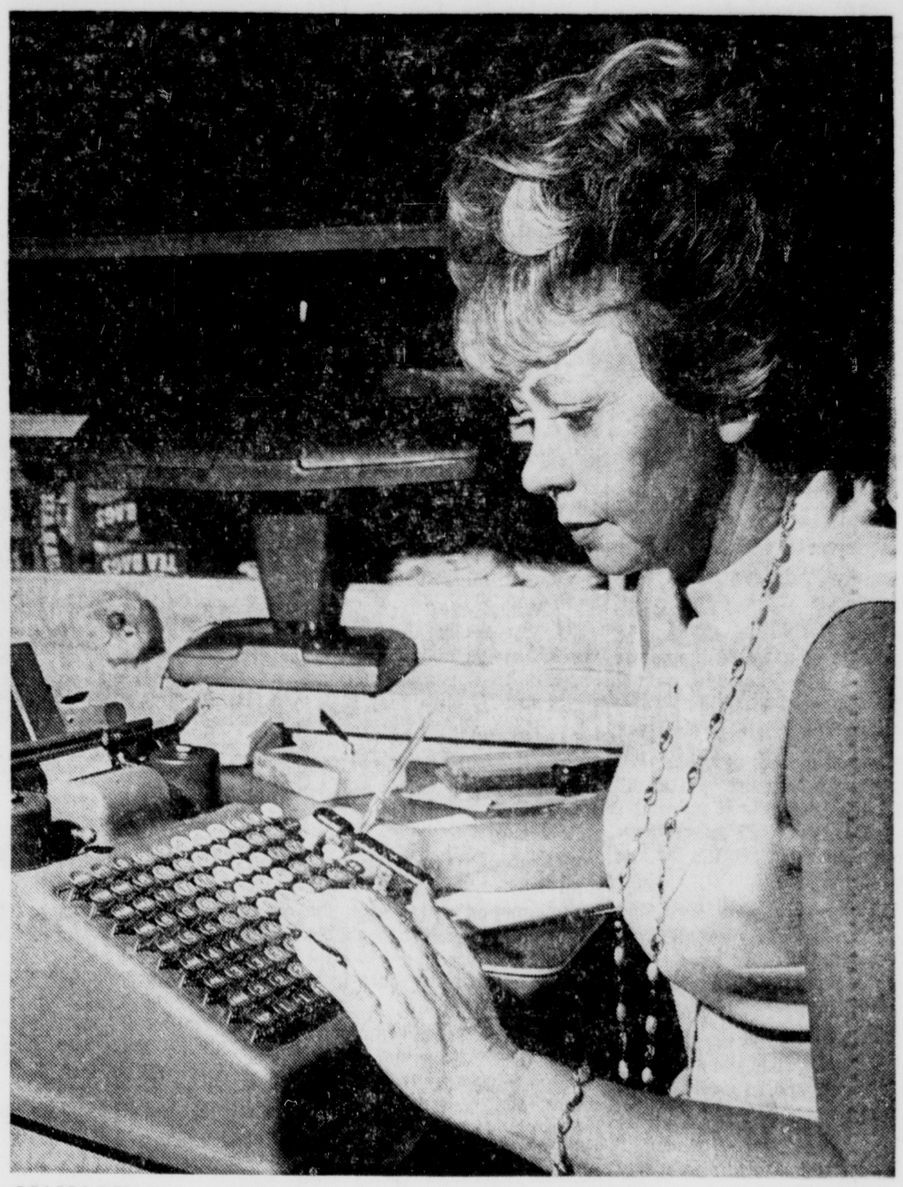
She prefers men who are better eaters and easier to get along with, but says there are more older women because they live longer.

Most of her residents are on welfare and only two have families that visit them. When they first come to a home they are often told it's on a trial basis or that the family is going on a trip and can't be with them.

"I've never had anyone leave," she said. They keep up on the news and different church services are held in the home. She also takes them for rides just for a change of scene.

IN A NEW home being built on D Street by a group of San Rafael doctors, Claudia will be the recreation director and have crafts and other projects for the 34 residents the building will hold. It is scheduled to be finished by the first of December.

Mrs. Porter who is president of the Marin Care for the Aged has another hobby that probably isn't the usual type for a care home manager. She wins beauty contests. She has won several Colorado contests including Miss Atomic Energy in 1956 for Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Utah. More recently she was chosen Sweetheart of the Xi Alpha Xi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.



MANAGING A care home not only means doing the bookkeeping, Mrs. Porter also does the cooking, laundry, and assists residents with medicine and makes sure they keep doctors appointments. She has one helper who is also a resident. (Independent-Journal photo by Roger Bockrath)

American Family Is Pressured But Managing To Change And Survive

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pressures aplenty affect the American family, yet it adapts, changes—and survives. Call it family power.

"Perhaps the greatest revolution to hit the American family in the past several decades has been the trend toward the outside employment of wife mothers," says one noted sociologist.

Revolution, yes. Destruction as a result, no, as some gloomy forecasts were wont to predict. For the United States remains a family-oriented society.

A DETAILED look at the changes the society has undergone through the years comes from Dr. Ersel E. Le Masters, a professor of family life in the School of Social Work at the University of Wisconsin. LeMasters' own family consists of wife and two sons.

LeMasters says we as well as visitors from other countries find it difficult to understand the complexity of our family life. In an article in "Our World", a publication of the American Field Service (AFS) he sets about explaining it.

LeMasters says there are four types of power systems in our families. One is the male-dominant or patriarchal system, which "is thought to be most common at the extreme ends of the income scale"—the so-called lower class and upper classes. This type was inherited from Americans' European ancestors.

A SECOND is the female-centered family, a "model seen most often on television—the husband-father is portrayed as a confused and somewhat helpless person, exploited not only by his wife and his children but also by outsiders." This model evolved from the early soap operas which appealed to women, LeMasters says. But how much of it exists in real life is up for debate—"It could well be," he says, "that this type of family resides largely in television studios and the never-never land of the modern novelist."

A third is the child-centered family, which LeMasters says flourished in the 1920's and 1930's, "but after the Second World War there was apparently a revolt against child worship."

Gradually there merged the "more balanced" democratic-equalitarian family, "which emphasizes the needs of all members of the family—parents and even grandparents as well as children." In a sense, this family model is run by a committee with the father being chairman and the mother executive secretary, he says.

This puts Mom in charge of most of the family expenditures—an estimated 85 per cent. But LeMasters points out that on major decisions concerning money— Such as the purchase of a car or a home—usually are made by both husband and wife. "This family system has much to recommend it," he adds.

THE LABOR shortages of World Wars I and II were the major cause for the revolution which put the wife-mother in the outside labor force. Working mothers have been "severely criticized", says LeMasters, "yet it is difficult to see how we could run most of our communities without them...the accusations that she is a poor mother do no seem to be supported by the evidence."

But it has created a family duty change that seems odd to persons from other parts of the world—to see a father washing the dishes, the wife-mother caught washing the family car, mowing the grass.

LeMasters sees nothing wrong in this "fluid assignment" of household chores—"the main concern...is that basic roles are performed, that the family's work gets done."

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A new guide for press chairmen of organizations which are interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent-Journal is now available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The guide explains policies of coverage, how to prepare news stories and meeting notices, and the special stories and features emphasized by the section.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Why Standardized IQ Tests Are Naive Way Of Judging

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Questions asked on standardized IQ — intelligence quotient — tests assume that all children have fathers, know what a tree is, and live in middle class surroundings.

That's not good for ghetto children taking them.

A substantial number of these boys and girls can't speak of a father—not even from memory because they've never seen theirs.

Many of these children rarely see a tree in their asphalt and concrete world. And practically all of them are more familiar with rats than ponies or other animals middle class children learn to know.

Even the language used on IQ tests is alien to ghetto residents, authorities say.

As a result: present IQ tests are not likely to judge fairly the abilities of ghetto children, writes Dr. Frank B. Women, author of "Test Norms: Their Use and Interpretation" (National Education Association.)

Robert Coles, a Harvard psychiatrist, considers standardized IQ tests a mockery when used with ghetto children.

"My children would flunk their IQ test" if one were devised on the experiences and the rich and vibrant language of the ghetto, he figures.

He considers intelligence testing in general a naive and simple-minded way of looking at human beings of all colors and races.

Mrs. Robert Schultz Leads Music Guild

Mrs. Robert L. Schultz of Mill Valley, a leader in Marin music circles for many years, has been elected president of the Marin Symphony Guild for the second time.

A member since the guild was organized 18 years ago, she was president from 1958 to 1960, and was chairman of its youth activities committee when it organized the Marin Youth Orchestra in 1955.

Thelma Schultz also organized the Marin Symphony Auxiliary in 1960 and was its first president.

She is enthusiastic over plans for the year.

"This will be an exciting year for the guild," she says. "We hope to carry out the theme 'The Marin hills are alive with the sound of music' in many ways as we broaden our programs of presenting fine music in Marin.

MRS. ROBERT L. SCHULTZ

"We are anticipating the move into the new Veterans Memorial Auditorium at the Civic Center, expanding our youth program, planning to revive the symphony ball, and we have hired a part-time manager, Marcelle B. McCoy, manager of the Marin Art and Garden Fair, to help us achieve our goals.

"Sandor Salgo and Hugo Rinaldi continue as conductors for the Marin Symphony and the Marin Youth Orchestra, respectively, and Darius Milhaud has been commissioned and has already completed a new work for the opening concert in the new auditorium."

An accomplished pianist, Thelma holds B.A. and M.A. degrees in music from Mills College and taught music in Montrey High School before her marriage. She has just completed a term as regional governor for the Alumnae Association of Mills College. WINTERIZING WITH FASHION

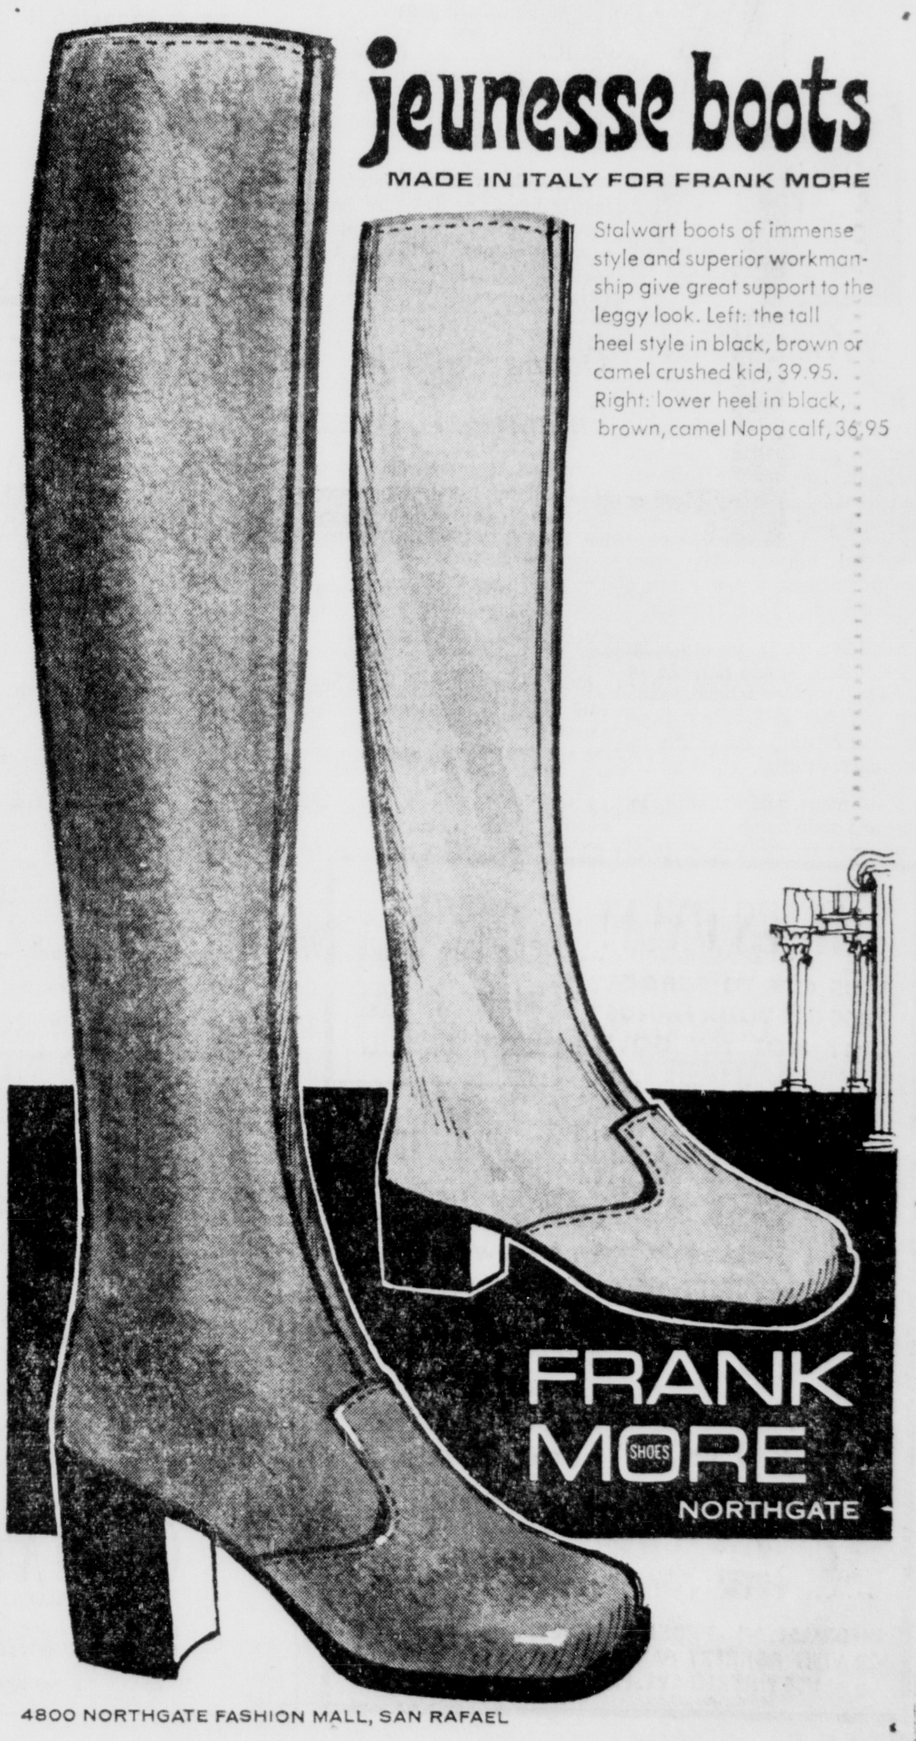
Have you considered knitting a sweater for your car? In Tokyo striped knitwear has joined the winter fashion parade for autos as well as women. The knit was introduced by a synthetic fiber manufacturer in Japan. No matter what is wearing it, the colorful striped knitwear gets more than a passing glance. (UPI Telephoto)



HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

How Can Mother Tell Daughters She Snatched Away Boyfriend?

DEAR HELEN:

I was married at 15 and had my baby seven months later. Now my only child is 18. I have been divorced three times.

We could qualify for those ads on TV —"Which is mother, which is daughter?" I'm afraid she is a little jealous because of this. She is quiet and dull, while I enjoy life.

Several months ago she met a fellow who isn't her type at all. He is handsome and full of the devil. It would never have worked out, but she fell for him hard.

He started coming over here to wait until she got home from her night job. We'd have a few drinks and a few laughs. Of course the inevitable happened.

How can we tell my daughter that her boy friend in now my boy friend, and he prefers experienced women to "Miss Purity 69?"

I may even decide to marry him. But will my daughter never trust me again?—A YOUNG 34

DEAR 34:

Come off it, you. Did your daughter ever trust you, even before you became rivals?

Go ahead and gloat (you may save her from a disastrous romance), but prepare for a lonely autumn, minus daughter and boy friend.

Do you really think a 19-year-old would marry a woman 15 years his senior just because she is an easy playmate? H.

DEAR HELEN:

About Nevada's legalized prostitution. The writer said he didn't think any states had it. He's wrong!

It happens that there is a town near Los Angeles where both gambling and prostitution are legal. I'm sending the name, but you may decide not to print it—free advertising. (note from H: Right!)

The women of the community were subjected to actual and attempted attacks by transient laborers and seasonal workers. Husbands and fathers finally met and decided to provide the necessary services openly and legally.

Now there is not only peaceful co-existence, but a new source of revenue from licenses.

As for my personal opinion, prostitution will never be right, but in this case, it was expedient. — M.B.

DEAR HELEN:

That's a nice thought, that "God made woman not from man's skull bone so she would be at his head; not from his foot bone so she would be trampled, but from his rib, so she might be by his side."

But my minister has another version: When the Good Lord put Adam into a deep sleep to remove a rib, he laid the rib to one side as he comtinued to mold Eve.

Then along came a dog, grabbed the rib and ran. He got to the gates of Eden with the Good Lord in hot pursuit. Well, the dog got through just as He slammed the gate, chopping off his tail. Not having the rib, God fashioned Eve with the dog's tail. Thus, the yakity-yak of every female, like the wagging of a dog's tail. — JOSEPH

DEAR JOE:

Your minister is quite a wag. I hope his shaggy dog "Tail" doesn't get him excommunicated. — H.

Different Dials

Pearls are popular to rim a watch face or embellish a case, say the Watchmakers of Switzerland. At the Montres et Bijoux, Switzerland's big watch and jewelry show, there were even mother of pearl dials. In keeping with the trend to different dials, some were fashioned of precious stones such as lapis lazuli, jade or tiger's eye.

MEREDITH ANNE PIKE exchanged wedding vows with James Malcolm Hallett at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross, where his father, the Rev. Harold Hallett is rector. The reception was held at the Hallett home. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. Parrish Pike of Kentfield and E. Bertram Pike of Sonora. The newlyweds will live in Berkeley. (Les Walsh photo)

Path Finder Group Elects Mrs. B. Joseph Wiederkehr

The new president of Path Finders Group at the Marin Art and Garden Center this year is Mrs. B. Joseph Wiederkehr, who with her husband has lived in Marin for 17 years.

MRS. B. J. WIEDERKEHR

The couple, who live in Greenbrae, are parents of four children, Mrs. Stephen De Maeyer of Mill Valley, William Bishell, Sandy Wiederkehr, who is a senior at the University of California Medical School, and William Wiederkehr, a freshman at California State Polytechnic College.

Interested in swimming, golf and bridge, Mrs. Wiederkehr is active in the Mill Valley Women's Golf Club, the Marin General Hospital Volunteers and St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary's gift shop in San Francisco.

She attended Hunter College and Packard School in New York, and has worked for the New York Times, for attaches in Washington D.C. and she wrote a history of the Choctaw Indians from manuscripts found in a trunk in the basement of the daughter of one of the Choctaw chiefs in the nation's capital. In Marin she has been secretary to a ceramic designer and to an insurance company executive.

The Path Finders, which she heads, is a volunteer group which promotes activities at the Marin Art and Garden Center and serves the luncheon at the Magnolia Tea Room at the center in Ross. The tea room will serve luncheons Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning Sept. 16, and the volunteers hope to expand the schedule to a daily luncheon when facilities are available.

Talk About Fringe Benefits

MADRAS, India (AP) — A sizeable number of employers said here gossiping is essential for staff contentment.

Gossip is a pressure valve without which work suffers, they told an interviewer. Others threw up their hands in despair and said it is a necessary evil. A "NO GOSSIP" board only aggravates the evil, they said.

Fairfax Considers Guards

The possibility of hiring crossing guards was discussed last night by Fairfax School District trustees, because the district has eliminated bus transportation.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond reported there will be no guards for the first part of the school year but school officials and Fairfax police will be watching to see what traffic patterns develop.

If problems occur, crossing guards might have to be hired to help children get to school safely, Hammond said.

The Fairfax School District board also:

FINANCES — Learned a 10-member committee appointed to study district finances will hold its first meeting at 8 p.m. Sept. 11 in the district office.

EDUCATION — Heard a report on a proposed board-community-staff committee to study educational goals and objectives in the district, but took no action.

TEACHERS — Were invited ot attend a breakfast at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow at Woodlands Restaurant, Kentfield, to welcome new teachers to the district.

MEETINGS — Set the next meeting for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 13 at the district office for the annual school tour and the next regular meeting for 7:45 p.m. Sept 16 in the district office.

The blue whale is the largest creature in the world.

Fairfax Rec Panel Backs Teen Plan

Fairfax teen-agers may be appointed to the city's park and recreation commission as official voting members if the city council approves a recommendation of the commission.

The commission voted last night to recommend making two places available for teens on the seven-member commission.

Currently, there are no vacancies on the commission, but Chairman Dolores Dollahite reported one may be up soon since Commissioner Archie F. Williams has missed many meetings.

Conway E. Enscoe, who recommended teen-agers be permitted to serve, said he hopes at least one can be named by next month.

He said young people will be asked to submit names to the commission if the council approves the plan. Teens will then be asked to help the commission decide which candidate is best, he said.

Enscoe had proposed expanding the commission but other members disagreed with the approach, preferring instead to have teens fill regular vacancies.

The Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission also:

SURVEY — Agreed to ask the council to spend $2,150 for a survey and site plan needed by landscape architects who are preparing plans for parks.

SWITCHBOARD — Approved a request from Switchboard of Marin to use the Pavilion for fund raising activities.

MAINTENANCE — Agreed to do only routine maintenance on the Pavilion instead of a major job proposed by Edgar Phillips, street superintendent.

DIRECTOR — Appointed Enscoe and Joan Brown to a committee to work with City Administrator Frances R. Lestanguet to recruit a recreation director to replace Ronald C. Smet who resigned.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY
THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1969 23

PLEASE WATCH OUT FOR LITTLE PEDESTRIANS

California Highway Patrolman Donald Dowling posts the annual September reminder to all drivers to keep a sharp eye for children walking to school. Helping him, between slurps on gigantic suckers, are his daughter, Erin, 6, a first grade pupil at San Clemente School in Corte Madera, and Holly Hogan, 5, a kindergarten pupil at the school. Highway patrolmen are posting the warnings throughout the county.

Car Check Leads To Beer Haul

A 19-year-old Mill Valley youth was booked into Marin County Jail today after he and two companions, according to police, were found in possession of two kegs and a six-pack of stolen beer and two stolen fire extinguishers.

Michael Galarza, of 309 Lowell Avenue, was held on suspicion of possession of stolen property to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

One of his companions, Charles David Shiflett, 17, of the same address, was cited to the probation department on similar suspicion and the other, a 16-year-old Marin City youth, was released because of insufficient evidence, police said.

Mill Valley police said they stopped the youth's car in front of 15 East Blithedale Avenue at 4:11 a.m. because it was moving erratically and they were violating curfew.

A search of the car found the beer and fire extinguishers, which police reported had been stolen from the Hamms Brewery in San Francisco last night.

Police said 10 cases of stolen beer and six kegs had been dropped off in a vacant building in Marin City, and that 25 cases and eight kegs had been stolen from the brewery on Labor Day. Seventeen cases and five empty kegs have been recovered by the Marin County Sheriff's office, police said.

Car, Truck Hit; Injuries Minor

A car driven by a San Rafael man who apparently blacked out on D Street, San Rafael, yesterday collided with a truck, police said.

Police said Herman Claude Garms, 50, of 70 Crestwood Drive, was treated by his own doctor for a severe facial cut.

The driver of the truck, Dave Franklin Daniel of Novato was not injured, police said.

San Rafael Parents Win Fight For School Bussing

By JOANNE GRANT

Angry San Rafael parents, battling with facts and emotion, won the war on bus transporation last night.

The city's board of education agreed to reinstate the abandoned segments of the transportation system for one year and buses will roll tomorrow, the opening day.

Schedules will be generally the same as last year and students should go to old pickup points or find a place where others are waiting, John A. Thomson Jr., transporation supervisor, said.

He begged parents not to call his office to check schedules because he will be busy returning all buses to service.

The board did stick with its new policy of requiring passes to eliminate ineligible riders.

The meeting opened last night with transportation reports dating as far back as April 3 to outline factors leading to the board's decision Aug. 5 to shrink service and save $33,000.

School officials emphasized the decision was made when it was believed reserves would be less than $100,000 in both the elementary and high school districts at the end of the school year.

Now, the elementary district is expected to have $465,006 and the high school distict $234,824.

Supt. John F. Plank reported his office had received about 200 letters opposing the change and petitions with hundreds of names had been presented.

The audience of about 178 persons was also against the change, and when it was it's turn to speak, dozens of hands shot up.

Herman L. Childress, board chairman limited discussion to an hour, urged parents to make short statements and outlawed applause, rules that were generally ignored during heated exchanges.

Louise Gulick of 810 Idylberry Road told the board the amount it would cost to reinstate the busing would be .07 of 1 per cent of the total budget. "Get our kids there safely and then we'll worry about educating them," she urged.

Several residents from north of Puerto Suello Hill described dangerous conditions due to construction, the lack of sidewalks and warned of traffic jams which would occur around schools.

James M. Garvin of 414 Blackstone Drive, declaring the board's decision "a great surprise to us", worried about children walking 90 minutes each way in the rain, a figure he said would be maximum for youngsters just inside the three-mile limit, based on how fast soldiers walk.

"I would like to ask the members of the board if they would be willing to walk six miles a day . . . " he began but his query was drowned in wild applause and violent gavel pounding by Childress.

"If we don't have decorum in the room we'll cut off discussion," Childress warned angrily.

Garvin maintained "money can always be found if it's for a worthy cause."

Like several other parents, he challenged the measuring methods used to determine who could ride. Children across the street from him were included in the three mile limit but his were not.

He and others reported they had driven several routes from home to school and could not get there under three miles.

The only person seemingly opposed to busing was a Terra Linda High School student, Cordie White of 558 Loganberry Drive.

"You're worried about getting the children to school to be taken care of all day long," she said to parents, her voice shaking. "You're not worried about what's going on in the classroom," she said weeping and apologizing for "getting emotional."

Another student, Al Kerr, told the board he usually rode the bus but frequently when it rained there wasn't enough room and boys had to walk.

Delores Carlisle of 2511 Las Gallinas Avenue asked if the board had surveyed parents to see if they would be willing to pay for bus service.

Plank replied the districts cannot charge under state law.

Peter K. White of 558 Loganberry Drive warned, "There are going to be dead children on those roads. I charge you with the blood of those children."

The audience exploded with approval as Childress pounded his gavel with such vigor his coffee spilled.

Board member Carl J. Brown bridled at the charge and walked to the podium to defend the board, again explaining the changes in the expected reserve.

Emphasizing that the appearance of the audience and its pleas had not affected his decision, he moved that busing be continued on the former basis for one year with the use of passes. Lawrence I. Kramer seconded and the tension in the airless room was noticeably reduced.

The vote was unanimous with John C. Pfeiffer absent.

Limits for busing for the 1969-70 school year will be three-quarters of a mile for kindergarten through third grade; 1.5 miles for fourth through eighth grade and two miles for high school, school officials reminded the audience at the discussion closed.

Quick Release Of Suspects In Fires Attacked

Suspected arsonists, accused of setting a rash of structure fires in Marinwood, are released too quickly, in the opinion of the Marinwood Firemen's Association.

Irving L. Schwartz, president, said his group met last night and voted unanimously to draft a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors and to the Marin County Probation Department, protesting the quick release of arson suspects, making possible repetition of crimes.

"During the last two or three months, we've had about four homes, a school and a house-trailer damaged by fires," said Schwartz. "Three suspected arsonists were picked up, but they seem to be released right away."

The association also donated $104.54 to the newly-created Marinwood emergency fund, which will be used to help Marinwood residents through financial crises. The money was raised from a chicken barbecue sponsored by the association last April.

Year-Round School Operation Due Study

Year-round operation for the San Rafael Elementary School District will be studied by citizens and officials with an eye to relieve overcrowding without building, the San Rafael Board of Education affirmed last night.

Also to be investigated is the possibility of expanding the Santa Venetia Middle School instead of building a new one.

Decisions came during review of elementary building and improvement plans totaling $2.1 million. The board noted bond issues had failed for the funds; bonds probably wouldn't sell anyway, and there is only about $400,000 available for capital improvements.

Mrs. John L. Levinsohn was named chairman of a citizens committee to study year round operation and Supt. John F. Plank was also directed to study it.

Architect Richard Miller warned "maintenance costs will go up tremendously" if schools are operated year-round but the board disagreed violently.

Paul Jones pointed out businesses are run that way and Chairman Herman L. Childress figured it would mean a 33.33 per cent increase in capacity and a 5 to 10 per cent increase in maintenance costs. "I'll spend one to get three any day," he said.

Paul McMullin, chairman of the district's citizen bond committee, noted computers can now arrange scheduling for a year around operation.

Plank was also asked to study expansion of the Santa Venetia school as the board abandoned current plans to build part of a new middle school.

Other investigations will be on the possibility of adding Laurel Dell Intermediate School to Davidson Junior High School and adding sixth grade to the latter facility while transferring fourth and fifth graders to other schools.

The feasibility of building on a lease-purchase basis to phase out portables will also be studied.

Childress urged Plank to make the investigations rapidly, for "every minute is costing us money."

"We've got to act this month," said Jones firmly.

TV Antenna Postponed In North Marin

Leasing of a site by the Lynwood Hill water tank for a television antenna was postponed last night by the North Marin County Water District board until 8 p.m. Sept. 16, according to Manager Eugene Churchill.

T'tec, the cable television company that is installing the cables in Novato, requested the lease of an area 20 by 35 feet to erect a 74-foot-high antenna, Churchill said. This is at Lynwood Hill at the southeast corner of South Novato Boulevard and Sunset Parkway.

The water board felt that there had not been enough publicity about the tower and that the residents in the area did not know about the request, Churchill said.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

WATER SERVICE — Churchill told the board that the district will now take over billing and serving of those customers east of Highway 101 south of Hamilton Air Force Base. This area has been served by the Marin Municipal district, although it lies within the North Marin district. The North Marin district will purchase the water from the Marin municipal district because it has the only main leading to the area, Churchill said.

OVERSIZED — Heard a report from Churchill that the district now had 424 oversized water services, those larger than to single family houses.

Airport Snack Bar Sought

Holiday Magic Inc., one of two operators at Gnoss Field will have its office building completed next month and has applied for a snack bar to be operated at the county airport, chairman David B. Vail of the Marin County Aviation Commission reported today.

He said these and other reports on aviation progress in Marin will be presented at the aviation commission meeting, set for 8 p.m. tomorrow in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Commissioner Melville Dickson will report on the cost of converting a portion of the old runway. Last month a group of pilots urged the opening of a cross-wind runway for emergency use.

Hamilton Phone Tieup Cleared

It was almost impossible to reach Hamilton Air Force Base by telephone yesterday, but the trouble has been cleared up, said Troy Lewis, manager of Pacific Telephone Co. in San Rafael.

Western Electric Co., a subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Co., was installing new trunk lines into Hamilton Air Force Base at its Ignacio substation.

The trouble had no effect on base operations, according to base officials. The base has its own system which is used for all military calls.

Sausalito Mess Blamed On Merchants

Litter in downtown Sausalito was discussed by the city council again last night and everyone agreed Sausalito has a problem.

It will be discussed again at the council's next meeting.

A detailed report last night from the council's litter committee suggested the city ought to do something about the mess, but the three council members present took no action because one member of the committee was not present.

That member, Councilman Alexander R. Imlay, had indicated to the other committee member, Councilman Robin Sweeny, he wanted to "absorb" and "think about" the report she presented to the council.

Mrs. Sweeny testily acceded to suggestions by Councilman Jan Paul Dyk and Mayor Earl F. Dunphy that no action be taken until Imlay and Councilman Wyman Hicks are present.

The report cited what the city has done to fight litter, but added: "This is just the beginning. Presently the city's look and image are still littered and shabby. As new residential and commercial areas are developed in Sausalito, the problem will only compound itself if a well defined improvement plan is not developed . . ."

Mrs. Sweeny said Sausalito has a reputation for being one of the world's most beautiful cities but is becoming one of the dirtiest.

Her report called for a definition of the problem in both downtown and other areas; an evaluation of the cleanliness, location and quantity of the city's trash containers and an evaluation of the downtown Sausalito trash collection program. agreed, is that Sausalito merchants are not doing everything they could to meet the garbage collection problem. Because of the difference in times when collectors pick up trashcans and times when stores are open, many full garbage containers are left standing on the streets of Sausalito throughout the day and night.

City Man. George M. Patterson said each merchant has been written twice and asked for cooperation in keeping the downtown free of litter, but the response has been about 15 per cent.

Dyk several times said he thought merchants should be cited for leaving garbage on the street and when it got more expensive to pay fines than to pay someone to get their garbage out when the garbage trucks are there, they will quit leaving garbage on the street.

The Sausalito Council also:

HANDBILLS — Adopted an ordinance updating the city's regulations covering the distribution of commercial handbills, an outgrowth of an arrest of a woman several weeks ago for distributing anti-war handbills.

PLANNING — Approved planning commission recommendations granting a variance appeal from Ada M. Oswald of 112 Marion Avenue to expand and enlarge her home and a variance application from Teruo and Evelyn Iyama to legalize and extend a fence at 2633 Bridgeway.

ELEPHANTS — Gave the go-ahead for the $2,100 cleaning and repair of the fountain and elephants in Vina Del Mar Park.

SIDEWALKS — Approved construction of new sidewalks on two sections of Spring Street near Bridgeway and instructed city staff to start proceedings to pave another section in the 2000 block of Bridgeway.

BIKE PATHS — At the recommendation of the California Roadside Council, decided to write a strongly-worded letter to state Public Works Director James A. Moe in support of a bicycle path along Highway 101 between Sausalito and Mill Valley.

MEETING — Set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Wednesday to approve a resolution for a November bond election for a new firehouse and improved police facilities.

Illegal Shooting Warnings Issued

Sheriff's deputies warned today that shooting is illegal on the private property opposite the Marin Motorcycle Club's track on Point San Pedro Road near San Rafael.

Arrests are being made of persons shooting there in violation of a county ordinance, the officers said.

Council Sheaths Neil Davis Barbs

The Sausalito City Council got another missile from one of its most vocal critics last night and and as a result decided henceforth to ignore both the critic and his complaints.

The letter, complaining about the center median strip on Bridgeway which is supposed to be used only by emergency vehicles, was from Neil Davis, proprieter of the No Name bar and a constant critic of what he calls the council's failure to clean up Sausalito.

It was included on last night's council agenda but when it came up, Mayor Earl F. Dunphy declined to read it, introducing it as "another one like the last one. It runs off in all directions."

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk then suggested that future Davis complaints be left off the council agenda and that City Mgr. George M. Patterson put them in "his own file." Dyk termed the latest letter "incoherent."

Dunphy agreed, saying the Davis letters "serve no purpose."

The only other councilman present, Robin Sweeny, also agreed the council had "more pressing business than to listen to Davis' complaints.

Letters to the council are public record, according to City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, and can be inspected on demand.

No Charges Filed In Drug Arrests

No charges were filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against two Redwood City youths arrested yesterday on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs.

Released were John Brandon Marshall, 19, and Frederick Donald Blakeslee, 20. They had been arrested on Main Street in Sausalito when police said they had 32 unidentified capsules in their possession.

Maintenance Issues Aired Behind Doors

By THERON A. NEWELL

The dove of peace may be hovering today over the street maintenance department of the City of Novato, but if it isn't the city council is ready to try to sooth its feathers and bring it back.

That is about all that publicly came out of the council's three-hour closed meeting last night to hear complaints affecting that department.

The closed session was called last Tuesday when the council would not consider changes in the administrative personnel of the maintenance department. Councilman Babe Silva objected to the proposed demotion of Wade Lackey, foreman of the maintenance crew for eight years, to that of lead man.

Clifford E. Temps, director of public works have proposed that the position of maintenance supervisor be created, that of foreman abolished and three other lead man positions be created for a crew of 10 men.

CLOSED SESSION

The council went into closed session with City Mgr. Charles A. Brown and 15 minutes later called Lackey into the meeting. Then after 55 minutes, Lackey came out of the meeting and 10 minutes later, Lackey and Temps were called in together.

After an hour they came out and the council took another half hour to draft a statement for the press.

Neither Lackey nor Temps would make any statement. Temps said that Lackey was doing as good a job as he had for the past eight years, but that the maintenance department needed reorganization.

Mayor Harley A. McAskill presented the statement, and the meeting was adjourned. He said that everything done in it came within the Scope of the Ralph M. Brown Act of hearing charges against employees.

"They were more like complaints than charges," McAskill said.

THE STATEMENT

The statement said in essence that there has been "a question raised concerning the administration and supervision of the public works maintenance division."

It further stated that after talking with Lackey and Temps that "there have been personnel problems in the division, but there is no council action warranted at this time."

"In event that any personnel matter investigated by the city manager cannot be resolved to the satisfaction of all parties, under the council policy, they (the city employees) all have an opportunity to present their case before the city council."

Costly Beagle Found In Toronto

TORONTO (AP) — Johnetta, a $2,000 beagle, has been found and a teen-age Toronto couple can start married life $150 richer with the reward for finding her.

The prize-winning dog, owned by 11-year-old Debbie Pankow of New Lenox, Ill., disappeared from the Canadian National Exhibition dog show Saturday night.

The beagle followed 18-year-old Janet Argier and her mongrel dog home. Janet didn't know who owned the dog until she read about the loss in the newspaper.

Janet's boyfriend, 17-year-old Peter Box, described the beagle, valued at $2,000 by its owners, to Debbie's father last night over the telephone.

"We're getting married in a couple of weeks," said Peter, a student. "So the money will come in handy."

Petaluma League Wants Field

Petaluma City Council last night heard a request from the Petaluma American Little League for a lease agreement for the exclusive use of Luchesi Park.

Walter Miller, league president, said the group hoped to sign a lease with the city so that unorganized groups would stay off the field and not damage the grounds or equipment.

Miller said that neighborhood children and older boys with cleated shoes would damage the field during re-seeding and heavy watering. He said that nearly all maintenance work on the baseball diamond had been taken over by the Little League.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert cautioned the council that care should be taken in writing the proposed lease because it may be illegal to ban citizens from using a public park.

The council asked that the recreation, music and parks commission review the lease agreement at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The Petaluma City Council also:

EXTENSION — Granted a 10-day extension to Ghilotti Brothers to complete construction at South McDowell Boulevard and East Washington Street. The project will be done by Sept. 26.

PRINTING — Denied an appeal by the Petaluma Printing Co. of the planning commission decision to allow John Churchill to operate a limited printing shop at his home at 49 Wilmington Drive.

APPEAL — Denied an appeal by James Scott of the planning commission decision to deny rezoning of 651 Central Avenue from single family residential to permit apartments. Several neighbors appeared to complain about traffic problems that apartments would create.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of C. Eugene Douglas as a member of the recreation, music and parks commission. Douglas has taken an education post in Vacaville.

SUBDIVISION — Approved the final maps for two sections of the Valley Green subdivision on South McDowell Boulevard, a mile south of East Washington Street. The sections will include 92 lots.

REZONING — Approved the rezoning of 311 Oak Street from neighborhood commercial to single-family residential, noting that the lot had been inadvertently overlooked in previous rezoning actions.

AUTO YARD — Heard a report that good progress had been made at Scrappy Jim's Auto Wreckers to bring it up to city standards and conditions set in the use permit.

More Sentences For Campus Flap

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Seven more San Francisco State College demonstrators were given jail terms and fines yesterday on charges resulting from a mass arrest on the campus last January.

Municipal Judge Raymond Reynolds imposed the sentences.

All seven defendants were fined $150 each and three received jail sentences on top of the fines. Five of the seven will appeal, according to attorney Duncan Webb.

Gregory Margolis and Rachel March Yglesias were convicted on three counts of unlawful assembly, failure to disperse and disturbing the peace. They will each serve a total of 45 days.

Phillip Rutzick, found guilty of just two counts, was sentenced to 30 days. The four other defendants received suspended sentences.

Busdieker Sent To Vacaville

David Vaughn Busdieker, 20, who last minth pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter in the Dec. 18 death of his father at the family's Corte Madera home, yesterday was sent to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior court ordered a 90-day evaluation of the youth made before sentencing him.

Busdieker's father was stabbed to death with an eight-inch kitchen knife after a heated family argument. The youth went on trial for voluntary manslaughter July 23 but the jury deadlocked at 11 to 1 for conviction. He later pleaded guilty to the reduced charge.

Confusion In Petaluma Voting Change

By BONNIE BARD

Conflicting opinions on the legality of a petition calling for a charter amendment to establish voting districts last night caused a confused Petaluma City Council to delay action.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert advised the council to take no action on the petition because he considered it invalid, but all his points were challenged by Donald P. Petro, organizer of the charter amendment movement and an unsuccessful candidate for a council seat in the June election.

Under Petro's plan, the city would be divided into six voting districts which would choose individual persons to represent them on the council rather than the at-large election method now used. The mayor, the seventh council member, would continue to be elected at large.

Attorney Robert said that the state Constitution holds that a petition for a charter amendment must have 15 per cent of the registered voters signed. City Clerk Lillian Nommsen said that, under that ruling, the petition would need 1,295 signatures from among the 8,634 registered voters.

Petro's petitions contained 1,184 names, according to Mrs. Nommsen, who noted that few had been verified.

Petro countered the attorney's opinion and cited a clause in the Constitution which states that petitions need only 15 per cent of the voters who cast ballots in the previous gubernatorial elections. He said that, in that case, he would need 1,006 signatures from 6,705 voters.

When Petro challenged Robert to produce the Constitution so that the matter could be resolved, Robert said there was no copy in City Hall.

On the motion of Councilman Albert L. Battaglia, the council urged Robert to come better prepared at the next meeting so that his opinion could be verified through the Constitution and a possible lawsuit averted.

Robert also challenged the petition on the legal ground that proposed districts overlapped. "I'm firmly convinced that the measure would be unconstitutional on the one-man, one-vote concept," Robert said.

The city attorney said the charter amendment would be impractical from the standpoint that no provisions were made to re-district for future population growth and annexations.

Petro told the council that in checking with the state committee for municipal government, he was told that the one-man, one-vote provision had never been challenged on a municipal level. He said that problems of overlapping districts were caused by typing errors on the petition and that he had submitted a letter requesting corrections be made.

"You must also consider the moral aspects of the problems and not just the legal," Petro said. "There were many people who signed the petition and want to see it voted on."

Petro hopes to include the proposed charter amendment on the Oct. 14 ballot along with the Petaluma High School District bond election. The council will consider action on the petition at the Sept. 15 meeting.

Mobile Blood Bank To Be In Novato

The mobile unit of the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank will be at the Novato Community House from 2 to 7 p.m. Sept. 11, according to Mrs. Grover Owen, publicity chairman.

The Novato Moose Lodge, Western California Telephone Co. and the Novato city employees are sponsoring this visit. Appointments for others may be made through Mrs. Charles Johnson at 779 Clausing Avenue and Mrs. Louis Cavallero at 154 H Lane.

Mill Valley Meet On School Bonds

The Mill Valley School District board will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. today at Park School to discuss whether to call a special election to authorize an increase in school construction bond interest rates from 5 to 7 per cent.

Recent state legislation increased the interest limit to 7 per cent after school districts complained they could not sell construction bonds at the lower rate after the prime interest rate has escalated to a current high of 8.5 per cent.

The school district has $700,000 in bonds left to sell out of its $3.5 million school bond issue authorized in June 1967.

Son Of U.S. Official Takes Life At Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 15-year-old son of a Federal Railroad Administration official died less than an hour after he apparently shot himself on the steps of the U.S. Capitol last night, authorities reported.

Greg Rogers was found with a .32-calibre bullet wound in his temple. He was discovered near the peace monument at the base of the Capitol's west steps that face the mall linking the Capitol with the Washington Monument. He was rushed to Rogers Memorial Hospital in Washington where he died.

Police said the death apparently was a suicide. A note was found on the youth's body but police did not release it to the family or the press.

Rogers was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mac E. Rogers of suburban Fairfax County, Va., just south of Alexandria, Va. His father is director of the Bureau of Railroad Safety in the Federal Railroad Administration.

Rogers told The Washington Post his son has been despondent since his brother-in-law Air Force 1st Lt. Gary P. Leach, 26, died in a B52 crash at Anderson AFB on Guam July 27 en route to Vietnam.

The elder Rogers said the boy was very fond of his brother-in-law and had frequently gone for long walks alone or with his dog since Leach's death.

Did Police Beat Sonoma Youth?

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Francisco cab driver faces possible revocation of his license today in the aftermath of a North Beach altercation Aug. 25 in which the cabbie and a Petaluma youth claim the latter was savagely beaten by police.

A San Francisco police spokesman said the youth had actually assaulted two officers and the cabbie had refused to radio for assistance despite the officers' repeated requests.

The Petaluma youth, Steven Phillipscheck, 20, son of Stella Phillipscheck, clerk of West Marin Justice Court at Point Reyes Station, was booked on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs and two counts of battery on a police officer. He is due for arraignment in San Francisco Municipal Court Friday.

His mother said he is now under a doctor's care for a punctured eardrum suffered in the alleged beating and a second beating at the Hall of Justice where he was taken for booking.

The cab driver is Michael Edwards, 24, who will appear at a hearing at the San Francisco Bureau of Permits this afternoon. Attorney Terrence Hallinan, who represents Phillipscheck, will accompany Edwards, who stands to lose his permit if police prove "irrational behavior and failure to assist an officer."

San Francisco police and Edwards, who has been a Yellow Cab driver for two weeks, gave sharply conflicting views of the late evening brawl at Columbus and Broadway in the city's nightspot district.

Edwards said he had just let a fare out when he "looked up and saw one officer grab this kid and throw him down on the ground, and the two cops started beating the hell out of the kids."

He said Phillipscheck, whom he has never seen before or since, did not resist in any way except "to protect himself from the blows of the policemen."

Edwards told the Independent-Journal the policemen finally handcuffed the youth, then they began "beating his head against the side of the cab. They kept on doing it." He said he got out of his cab in an attempt to get the officers' badge numbers.

The policeman spokesman identified the arresting officers as W. Warnke and J. Braswell.

When other officers arrived, Edwards said, he asked a police sergeant if he could report the beating and was told to "go get back in the cab." Two other officers then ordered him to leave the area, he said.

The police report on the incident varies widely with Edwards' charges.

Police said Phillipscheck was standing on the corner holding on to a post and "accosting citizens and attempting to stop them from passing and shouting at them." He was holding a bottle of beer in his hand — a fact all parties agreed on — and appeared to be under the influence of drugs, the police report said.

Mrs. Phillipscheck said her son, who has long hair, had attended a birthday party in the city where beer and champagne were consumed. He was not under the influence of drugs, she said.

The police report said after placing young Phillipscheck under arrest, he kicked Braswell in the groin and bit Warnke on both hands. A "large, hostile crowd formed," the report said, and one bystander jumped on an officer's back and the other officer's hand was stomped on. One of the officers also lost his revolver during the scuffle.

During this time, the report said, Edwards repeatedly ignored pleas from the officers to radio for help, a violation of the California penal code. Instead, police said, he verbally abused the officers and attempted to intercede in Phillipscheck's behalf.

Finally, police said, Edwards did radio for help, but Edwards said it was to get help to stop the beating — and several more officers arrived and the crowd was dispersed.

Braswell was later treated for a sprained hand and Warnke received tetanus shots for the bites on his hand, the spokesman said .

Edwards and the police also have sharply differing versions of a second run-in involving police and the cab driver. Edwards said that after he was ordered to drive away, two motorcycle policemen pulled him over two or three blocks from the scene and began "hassling" him.

They asked why he was hostile to police and why he was so excited, Edwards said, and also told him they were overworked and still tense about President Richard M. Nixon's visit to San Francisco. He also said one policeman told him, "we always give cabbies a break."

Then two more motorcycle police arrived, he said, including one of the officers involved in the beating. This officers, who was not identified, allegedly reached into Edwards' cab, grabbed his arm and shook him, saying, "If you make a report on this, I'll get you."

More officers arrived and after talking with a Yellow Cab supervisor, took a statement from Edwards although "they wouldn't let me finish anything," he said.

Three days later, when he returned from two days off, Edwards said an inspector from the police department's cab division told him to show up for today's hearing. A cab division spokesman said the division doesn't like to invoke the law about assisting an officer but "sometimes we have to." The hearing is also aimed at determining whether Edwards is "temperamentally suited for this business," he said.

SURVIVOR'S TEARS — Two-year-old Tammy Austin, safe in her aunt's Larkspur home, cries over a minor unhappiness as her mother, Mrs. Colleen A. Austin, describes the horrors of Hurricane Camille, through which they lived. The mother and daughter lost nearly all their possessions to water and mud in their beach apartment on the Mississippi coast.

STAYING IN LARKSPUR

Hurricane Camille Refugee Describes Chaos Of Storm

By ROD BREWSTER

A young California mother who was on the beach in Biloxi, Miss., when hurricane Camille flattened the city is trying to reconstruct her life at the home of her sister in Larkspur.

Mrs. Colleen A. Austin, a 21-year-old divorcee, and her daughter Tammy, 2, have been living with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Durigo of 119 King Street since the gale destroyed all her belongings last month.

Mrs. Austin and her daughter were living in a ground-floor apartment on the Biloxi beachfront when the storm knocked buildings flat around her and waves and floodwater swept into her apartment.

Mrs. Austin and her daughter had lived in Biloxi only eight months before the storm, having stopped there on a trip that was to have taken them to Florida when Mrs. Austin ran out of money. She was working as a dancer in a club on the beach.

"Friday (Aug. 15) we heard the hurricane was coming, but weren't really worried because it was way out in the ocean," Mrs. Austin recalled.

"By the next day some of the families packed their things and their families and moved inland." Because of her job and her daughter Mrs. Austin stayed behind.

As the hurricane's fury mounted, they barricaded the door with a 600 pound motorcycle but still an inch and one half of water forced its way in, and they fled to shelter in a friend's apartment on higher ground.

By dawn the storm passed and the water poured back into the Gulf of Mexico "like a drain," and Mrs. Austin walked back to her apartment. "I just looked and walked away; there was nothing to say," she said dejectedly.

The door was open, all windows were broken and a layer of mud covered what belongings were left, the rest having washed out with the receding water.

All her and Tammy's clothing was ruined or gone, as were her identification and other papers. The only thing she salvaged was her iron which was on a high shelf above the water.

"I just walked down to the beach to look at the destruction, there was nothing else to do. Everything was down, 90 per cent of the clubs along the beach, apartments. No jobs, no work, no nothing," she said.

Monday, many of those whose homes had collapsed stood over the remains with guns to ward off looters. Mrs. Austin said she heard that several persons were shot.

Bodies were under debris and on the sand, some recently dead, some washed down from a cemetery inland. The Red Cross had ambulances in the area but they always seemed to be filled with the dead, she said.

A man and the eight members of his family who lived not far from Mrs. Austin had been warned by neighbors to leave as the storm was building. He said they would stay behind to protect their home from looters. The entire family was found later crushed under their collapsed home, she said.

A little girl was found dead on the sand across from Mrs. Austin's apartment and a 10-year-old boy's body was taken from a pile of debris over which survivors had been walking to reach their water supply.

"There were bodies and dead cows and the place smelled dead," the young woman said.

Power, water systems and roads were almost totally destroyed. Beach survivors got their drinking water from a naturally flowing artesian well located in the remains of a nightclub. The Salvation Army came in with sandwiches and coffee and the National Guard placed a curfew on the beach strip.

Rumors of typhoid and malaria spread, adding to the worries.

Mrs. Austin found a trailer resident who had one of the few operating telephones, and she called her sister in Larkspur and a contact with the Red Cross and in Mississippi was set up.

At this point, Tammy, who had been placed temporarily in a home inland, became ill from contaminated food or water and was hospitalized for a week. Mrs. Austin stayed with her.

When they left the hospital, Red Cross officials said they had purchased tickets to California for the mother and child and last Wednesday the refugees were in Larkspur, with two boxes and a suitcase filled with clothing given them while in the hospital.

Marin Chapter officials of the Red Cross is helping provide immediate care for Mrs. Austin and Tammy and are trying to get new identification cards so the young woman can obtain a job.

Insurance Policy Forces Repair Of Mill Valley Recreation Center

Mill Valley's Community Recreation Center, damaged by arsonists Aug. 2, will be repaired rather than replaced, the Mill Valley City Council decided last night after hearing an insurance adjustor's report that the city's insurance policy will cover repairs, but not a new building.

The city would receive some insurance money if the council decided to rebuild but any payment would be based on the depreciated value of the structure, City Mgr. William H. Cunningham said.

However, the company will pay for complete repairs, no matter the cost, he explained.

Preliminary bids for repairs range from $35,000 to $41,500, he said.

The council authorized staff to work with insurance representatives in reviewing preliminary bids to ensure the building will be repaired to city standards. Staff also was authorized to negotiate a new contract with Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera to complete work on the building which was interrupted by the fire.

The building had been moved from its site on project 17 near Sycamore Avenue to a spot adjacent to the Southern Marin Horsemen's Association horse ring at East Blithedale Avenue and Camino Alto when the fire occurred.

Cost of the moving project was approximately $47,000.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

LIBRARY — Authorized staff to negotiate a bid for the old library on Lovell Avenue by J. R. Patterson who offered $3,000 cash plus five lots on the Dipsea Trail at Cascade Avenue for a total of $18,000 for the library property.

SUBDIVISION — Approved a minor subdivision at 101 Coronet Avenue requested by Don Dickey and Gerung.

CAMPING — Approved first reading of an ordinance prohibiting camping and lodging in city parks, other public property and private property.

MARLIN AVENUE — Authorized the staff to take whatever steps necessary to make repairs to an excavation on Marlin Avenue by developer Johnny Ribero to prevent slides and floods on adjacent properties.

CAMINO ALTO — Authorized staff to proceed with designing the widening of Camino Alto between East Blithedale and Miller avenues.

APPOINTMENTS — Ratified Mayor Dean N. Meyer's appointment of Ivan Poutiatine to the planning commission, replacing Harlen Soeten who resigned; William E. Cullen to the architectural advisory committee, replacing Poutiatine; and Robert J. House to the human rights commission, replacing William J. Walker, who also resigned. Dorrie Bassett and Jan Mountjoy were reappointed to second terms on the architectural advisory committee and the resignation of John Hyatt from the youth commission was accepted.

BIDS — Approved plans and authorized a call for bids for the Park School drainage project, estimated to cost $12,000.

WORK ACCEPTANCE — Accepted completion of work certificates from contractors for construction of retaining walls on West Blithedale and Ralston avenues, for widening and leveling of Carmelita Avenue between Buena Vista and East Blithedale avenues, and the sewer main extension project in Marsh Park subdivision.

Mill Valley Vetoes Taco Bell Again

Taco Bell last night lost another round in its battle with Mill Valley to retain its California mission style architecture, roundly criticized as not in keeping with the city's architectural standards.

On a 4-1 vote, Councilman Robert H. Andresen dissenting, the council rejected the appeal by Taco Bell that a previous design disapproval by the city's architectural advisory committee be overruled.

RECEIVED AWARDS

The vote came despite claims by the food restaurant chain's representatives that the building design has won beautification awards in at least two other California cities — Vallejo and San Fernando.

To prove the point, G. L. Graham, the firm's real estate director, showed slides of the firm's restaurant in Santa Barbara which features, he said, a fiberglass bell, painted bronze, in the building's mission style bell tower.

"We've gotten a lot of compliments on that bell," Graham said. "They really like it in Santa Barbara."

Graham also showed a series of slides of buildings in Mill Valley which have tile roofs and arches in their design motif.

Graham said the building was a "unique compromise between economics and aesthetics" and similiar buildings in other cities had been instrumental in redeveloping areas where "existing buildings are crumbling in."

Ivan Poutiatine, chairman of the architectural advisory committee, said the issue revolves around the question of "whether we should allow corporate advertising in the form of buildings to comei nto Mill Valley . . . when it conflicts with the aims of the community."

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke moved denial, saying "If I have to choose between two corporate images — Taco Bell's or Mill Valley's — I'll choose the corporation of Mill Valley."

Jan Mountjoy, also of the architectural advisory committee, said a simple Spanish design which was compatible with nearby buildings would be acceptable to the committee.

Buck-Passing Charged On Miller Slide

Last winter's slide on Miller Avenue at Reed Street may not be resolved for another year because of "buck-passing" by public agencies involved, the Mill Valley City Council heard last night.

City engineer Stanley M. Bala said the slide cannot be repaired before the winter's rainy season starts because the county refuses to recognize its responsibility for repairing the slide.

The slide on property owned by Thomas Collison of Mill Valley, is outside the city limits, Bala said, but it is endangering a portion of Miller Avenue, one of the city's two main exits.

Supported by the council, Mayor Dean N. Meyer, who earlier accused the agencies of "buck-passing", said he would ask state Senator John F. McCarthy for aid in the matter.

Bala said the slide "is massive" — 145 feet high, and containing an estimated 16,000 cubic yards of soil — and would cost more than $70,000 to repair.

The county had agreed to apply for federal storm disaster funds but apparently has failed to submit the application, Bala said.

"The county has condemned the house on top of the slide but refuses to do anything about the slide itself, saying it's on private property," Bala explained. "Removing the house is like worrying about a fly crawling along a bridge which is about to collapse."

Bala said the city will have to be forced to close off one lane of Miller Avenue during the winter while the slide still remains.

He also said he will not authorize the removal of dirt on the city's sidewalk, main path from downtown Mill Valley to Tamalpais High school, for fear of triggering an even bigger slide disaster.

Old Coins Stolen

Old coins of unkown value were stolen Monday from the home of Carl F. Linke at 257 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Plans Set For Single Kindergarten Sessions

The San Anselmo School District will work its way gradually into single session kindergarten classes during the fall semester, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported today.

The school district board last night authorized hiring five more kindergarten teachers with the aim to have all five hired by next February.

Parodi told the board the change from double sessions will cost $15,237 if all five kindergartens went to single sessions now, or $6,422 if the change were made in February. Offsetting the cost of hiring five teachers will be increased state aid and the cutoff of salaries now paid teacher aides in the classrooms.

Parodi said the present five teachers will assist in choosing the five new teachers so each team of two teachers will be compatible.

Class sessions will increase to three hours from the present two-and-a-half, with one teacher in charge of the morning class and the other in charge of the afternoon class. The assistant teacher in each session will have time to consult with parents, help pupils out of class, and prepare class materials.

Each class will go to single sessions when a second teacher is hired, Parodi said.

Under a new state law, the district faced the loss of state assistance for kindergarten attendance if double sessions remained.

The San Anselmo School District board also:

RESIGNATION — Accepted resignation of Effie Forbes, third grade teacher at Brookside School, who has returned to her native Houston, Tex., to live.

UNHIRING — Rescinded its Aug. 19 hiring of Karen Rold, who was hired a few days earlier by Dixie School District before the San Anselmo board was aware of it.

HIRING — Hired Joan Young as third grade teacher at Brookside School at a salary of $8,427, and Joanna McPeak as first grade teacher at Yolansdale School, also at a salary of $8,427. Mrs. Young has taught four years at Garden Grove, Los Angeles County, and Mrs. Young has taught four years in San Bernardino County and one year in Glendale, Los Angeles County.

Increasing Of Density Is Sought

The Rohnert Park City Council last night requested an ordinance be prepared to increase housing density and proposed an ordinance requiring underground ordinance requiring undergrounding of utility lines in all new developments.

The density measure would allow a maximum density increase of 30 per cent in the various district zones. The resolution was prompted during consideration of a new Young America Homes subdivision with homesite of 4,500 square feet rather than theu sual minimum of 6,000 square feet.

On the suggestion of Councilman Arthur N. Roberts, an ordinance will be prepared requiring all new developments to have underground utility lines. Roberts said he felt the measure would be necessary with increased density.

The Rohnert City Council also:

ANNEXATION — Reviewed the annexation agreement for 441 acres of land on the south side of East Cotati Avenue owned by Fred W. Rohnert. City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the city is negotiating to purchase future park sites at minimum cost.

WORK STUDY — Approved an agreement with Sonoma State College to employ students under a federal work-study program. The federal government will pay 80 per cent of the salaries and the city 20 per cent. All will work in the public works department.

SWIMMING — Agreed to pay $250 for the learn to swim program at Rohnert Park pools for the Cotati School District. In budget cuts, the district did not provide for the training.

Economy Keeps Lines Up In Air

Utility lines on Sycamore Avenue extension will remain on poles above ground, the Mill Valley City Council decided last night after hearing that undergrounding the project will cost the city $68,000.

Above-ground installation on the south side of Sycamore Avenue from Camino Alto to the city's sewage treatment plant will be financed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

The city, however, will pay approximately $3,000 for installation of street lights along the divider strip.

The city originally had hoped to finance undergrounding because the utility lines will run past the new Middle School and into the city's long-sought yacht harbor and park area.

However, councilmen rejected the undergrounding project after hearing they would have to spend $4,000 plus the city's undergrounding allocation from the electric company through 1971 to finance the project.

Vote on the issue was 5-0, overruling a unanimous staff recommendation for undergrounding of aesthetic reasons.

San Anselmo Robbery Charges

Armed robbery charges have been filed by the Marin District attorney's office against two youths who were arrested Aug. 24 after a San Anselmo boy was robbed of $65 at knifepoint.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Garry T. Ragghianti said yesterday that warrants of arrest, with bail set at $15,000 were issued Friday for Reade Collins Backer, 18, of Ross, and Stephen John Pappas, 19, of San Francisco.

Neither youth had been arrested this morning.

Ragghianti said that after extensive investigation of the case it appeared that a 16-year-old San Anselmo boy's version of the robbery was true. The boy said that Backer and Pappas took $65 from him while he and a friend were trying to repair a motorcycle on San Anselmo Avenue.

Ragghianti dismissed the claim by a companion of Backer and Pappas that the youths had approached them at a teen-age coffee house and made arrangements to buy opium from them.

The youth's parents confirmed that he had recently been paid the money for a job he had had and that they had repeatedly urged him to bank the $65.

A third youth arrested at the time, John S. Iacono, 19, of Greenbrae, was not charged.

Yesterday a bench warrant was issued for Backer in Superior Court when he failed to appear to face trial in an earlier case in which he is charged with possessing marijuana.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Those With Labile Hypertension Should Learn To Take It Easy

VAN DELLEN

R. T. writes: "I am a 24-year-old man with a problem. Every time I try to get insurance, the company doctor finds my pressure up. But when my own doctor does the test, the reading is normal. I have developed a phobia about this and become tense and shaky on entering the office of the inusrance doctor. My personal physician tells me that my blood pressure is labile and will correct itself when I settle down."

MOST PEOPLE with labile hypertension have an autonomic nervous system that overreacts to stressful situations, including examinations for employment, insurance, or participation in competitive sports. We have no control over this secondary nervous system that regulates blood pressure, pulse, sweating, and other functions. Emotional disturbances, that have little or no effect on most of us, raise the blood pressure of these vascular hyperreactors.

THE BLOOD PRESSURE reading is normal most of the time, especially when taken while the individual is relaxed at home or in the office of the family physician. Most of the sufferers are young and have a family history of hypertension. What happens to them in the future? With increased sophistication and experience their pressure levels may remain within normal limits.

Others in this group will develop hypertension and, in this respect, the temporary increase in tension is a forerunner of what can be expected on reaching the age of 40 to 50. Higher readings and more frequent elevations of blood pressure predispose the individual to a persistent hypertension in the future. This is understandable because they are under constant stress.

Our reader should regard himself as a potential hypertensive and avoid stress, get enough rest, avoid salt, and maintain a normal weight. A tranquilizer may help when encountering stressful situations.

WATER WITH MEALS

D. S. writes: Does drinking water with meals slow down digestion?

REPLY

No. Food is digested in a liquid state and it is difficult to understand why the addition of water would have an adverse effect.

HEREDITY AND ASTIGMATISM

A reader writes: If both parents have astigmatism, would any of their children have perfect vision?

REPLY

They might, but the odds are against it. Astigmatism frequently is hereditary and if both parents have the condition, there is a good chance that the children will follow suit.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

Writer's Interview: A Chilling Document

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"The Ordeal of Anatoly Kuznetsov," an hour CBS-TV interview with the writer who recently defected from Russia, was broadcast last night: A chilling powerful human document.

In many ways predictable in its essential matter, the program nevertheless was riveting because of the civilized but pointed questioning of reporter Morley Safer, and above all because of the sense of tragedy present in Kuznetsov himself.

The 40ish Soviet author, interviewed in London, outwardly resembled a young Ivy League professor — bespectacled, pleasant looking, puffing on a cigarette, wearing a conservative tie and natty jacket without a collar. He spoke softly, somberly, attractively in his manner of delivery.

Yet the words seemed to belie the pleasant outward manner, for they were obviously torturous to him. In every answer, he seemed to be questioning himself and his conscience to the depths of his soul, and yet trying to persuade his listeners of the rightness of his act of personal liberation which he feels so necessary to his survival as an artist.

He was merciless in his appraisal of Russia. He will not talk to Soviet officials because "I am afraid of them." The final spark that made him decide to defect, he said, was when Soviet troops moved into Czechoslovakia. He described Russia as a concentration camp. The Soviet Union, he said, is the real aggressor in the modern world.

Yet, despite describing Russia as a concentration camp, he left his family there. Safer questioned him on this. He asked Kuznetsov whether he thought the Soviet Union would make his family pay for his "crime" of defecting. Said the writer: "I have no doubt about that." And the silence that followed his guilt-torn expression in answering this question was almost unbearable.

To get permission to travel abroad he defected in London. He said he had to win the confidence of the secret police, who distrusted him. He said they wanted him to inform on others. At first he refused; later he said to himself, "Let them have their informer," and he invented a phony plot in which writers supposedly were involved with an underground magazine. He regretted naming others, he said, but added that he exposed his fictional plot immediately after defecting in London.

Judge Sends Youth To Prison

A 21-year-old youth who has spent most of his life in institutions and who had admitted burglarizing a San Rafael motel in January yesterday was sent to state prison for a one-to-15-year term.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court said that he hated to send Frederick Newton Downey Jr., of no fixed address, to prison but he could see no alternative for the youth because of his long adult and juvenile criminal record.

Downey was arrested Jan.11 attempting to pry open a cigarette machine at the Bermuda Palms.

Little Rookie Among 49ers To Get Ax

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Bill Wondolowski, the mighty mite everyone was rooting for, lost the first round in his bid to gain a regular berth with the San Francisco 49ers, but he may yet have his day.

"Wondo," who stands 5-10 and weighs 165 pounds, came to the Niner camp this summer as a free agent out of Eastern Montana. He worked harder than most and some thought he had a job sewed up but the axe fell yesterday when he was listed among 11 men cut by the team to get down to the 49-man limit.

Wondolowski, however, was placed on the team's Taxi Squad after clearing waivers and will be around to work out with the club and maybe step in if injuries sideline any of the team's receivers.

"I am happy Waldo cleared waivers as long as we had to cut him at this time," said coach Dick Nolan. "Now we can put him on the Taxi Squad and he is available to us if we need him."

Four of the 11 men cut by the 49ers were veterans — second year place kicker Dennis Patera of Brigham Young, fifth year defensive back George Rose of Auburn, fifth year defensive tackle Walter Barnes of Nebraska and third year guard Don Parker of Virginia, who went on injured waivers.

The other rookies cut besides Wondolowski were quarterback Paul Champlin of Eastern Montana, running back Jimmy Thomas of the University of Texas at Arlington, tight end Wayne Moore of Lanar Tech, linebacker Fritz Greenlee of Arizona, defensive end Nick Kukulica of San Francisco State, and place kicker Don Martin of Washington.

Placed on the Taxi Squad with "Wondo" were Champlin, Thomas, Moore and Greenlee.

Some or all of the Taxi men may be "loaned" out to Sacramento of the Continental Football League so they can play regularly until needed by the 49ers.

San Francisco does not have an agreement with Sacramento but more than likely will ship some players to that club.

TWO 'REAL' BASEBALL VETERANS TO RETIRE

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jo Jo White and Mel Harder, whose years in baseball total 85, announced today they will retire at the end of the season. White has been third base coach for the Kansas City Royals and Harder has handled the Royals' pitchers.

White has spent 42 years in baseball and is 70 years old. Harder will be 60 in October and is finishing his 43rd baseball season.

JIM GILMARTIN

It's Movie Time At Sonoma Raceway

They're mixing greasepaint with the grease at Sears Point International Raceway this week. And, if you attend this weekend's American Motorcycle Association championship road races you're liable to wind up in moom pitchas, dahling.

Filmways of Southern California, new owner of the southern Sonoma County motorsports complex, will be shooting the final scenes for its next epic titled "Little Fauss and Big Halsy." Starring the ever popular Michel Polland and other living legends of the silver screen, the flick's plot has Little F and Big H working their way around the country's short motorcycle tracks en route to the last big championship race of the year. Sears Point plays the part of motorcycledom's "Indianapolis" and much of the film's climatic scenes will be shot during the weekend races.

Dolinsek Batting .311

LATEST FIGURES from the Appalachian Rookie League show Novato product John Dolinsek hitting .311 for the Covington, Va., farm team of the Houston Astros. In one stretch of 27 at-bats Dolinsek, Arizona State's most valuable player in the 1969 NCAA World Series, had 10 hits, including 3 doubles and a home run.

Larkspur's Ken Johnson, meanwhile, has finished his second year of professional baseball batting only .149 for the New York Yankees' Ft. Lauderdale team in the Florida State League.

AFTER WATCHING 41-year-old George Blanda come off the bench and lead the Raiders to their stirring rally to whup the 49ers Sunday, I think you might be hearing the rebirth of an old Kezar Stadium love song at 49er games this season: "We Want Tittle." Remember?

Kilby At Arizona State

FORMER TERRA LINDA High grid terror Bruce Kilby has moved up from Arizona Western Junior College to the Arizona State Sun Devils varsity this season and is expected to see considerable action as defensive end and also tight end.

Marin also has two ex-prep (Drake) and junior college (Marin) stars at University of Montana — defensive back Karl Stein and linebacker Bill Hickerson. The UM pressbook says of Stein: "Last year earned All-California J.C. honors. Holds Marin one and two-season interception records. Coaches think he's a great one." Of Hickerson: "Extremely hard hitter. Won two 1968 games with field goals. Father played football for Bear Bryant." The latter observation means he's a chip off the old, tough block.

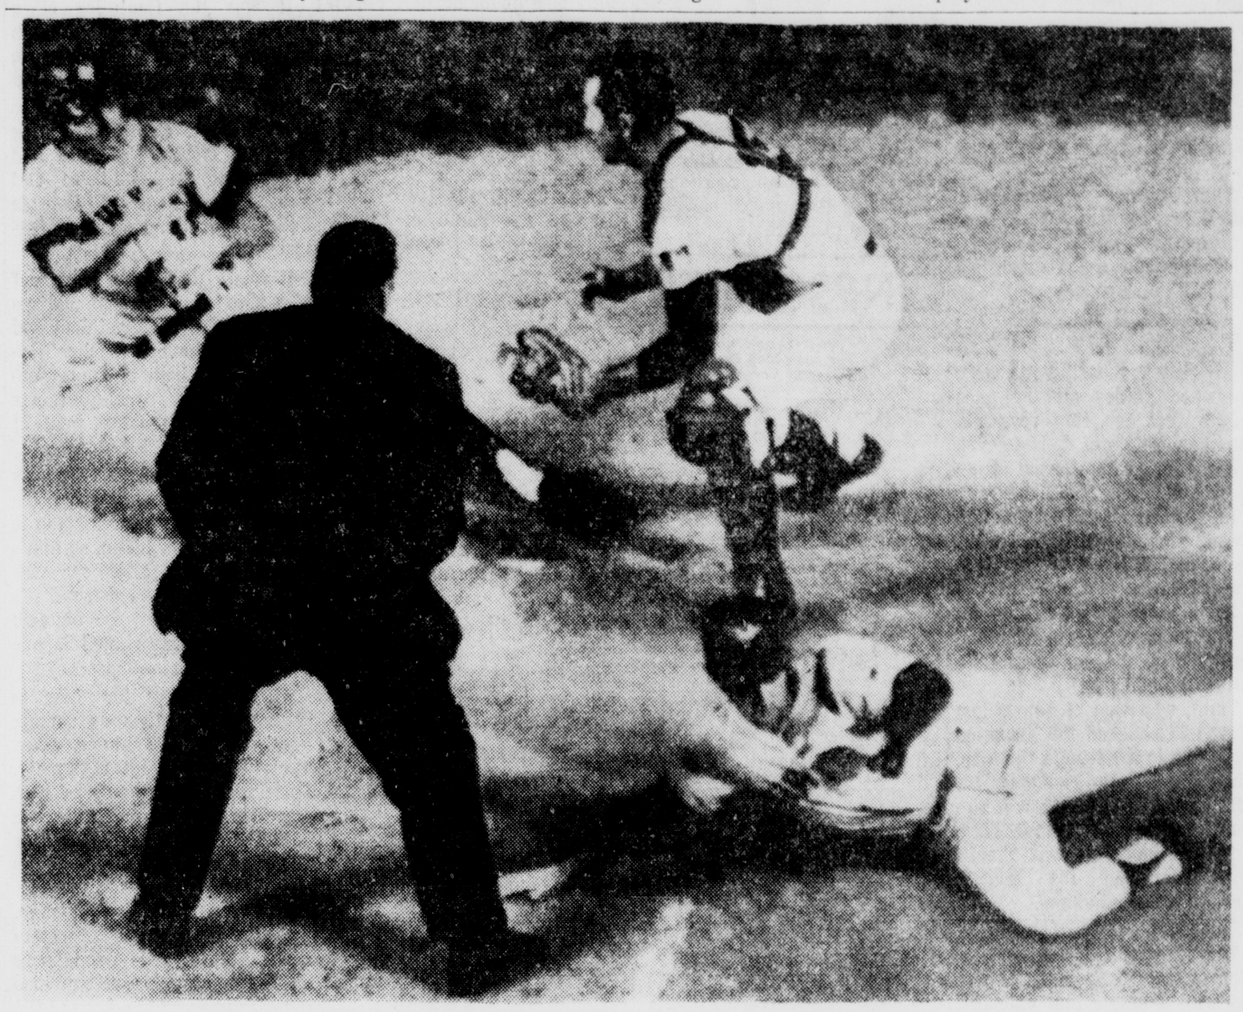
Boosters To Houston

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S population will take a temporary decrease starting tomorrow as upwards of 300 members of the Giants Boosters Club, including approximately 75 Marin Countians will follow the team to Houston's Astrodome for the weekend series.

Headed by Boosters president Allan B. Murray of Kentfield and directed by Paul Hartman of San Rafael's GTS Travel, the tour will include a visit to the manned space center in Houston. We'll return Sunday evening, so I'll see you next week.



NECK AND NECK AT THE PLATE

Art Shamsky and Ken Boswell of the New York Mets came home almost neck and neck trying to score on Ron Swoboda's double but Shamsky was the only one to make it as Los Angeles catcher Tom Haller applied the tag on Boswell. The faster Boswell almost caught up with Shamsky from first base. Shamsky was on second. The umpire is Tom Landis. The Mets won, 5-4. (AP Wirephoto)

U.S. OPEN TENNIS

Ashe, Gonzales Get Big Tests

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP) — The big test comes today for America's two leading tennis personalities, Pancho Gonzales and Arthur Ashe Jr.

Old Pancho, 41, his bones and muscles still aching from a tough tennis campaign, got an extra day of rest because of rain and goes against third-seeded Tony Roche in a delayed fourth round of the U.S. Open championships.

SORE ELBOW

Ashe, fighting a tennis elbow, meets 34-year-old Ken Rosewall in one of two men's quarter-finals on the West Side Club schedule. The other sends favorite Rod Laver, unbeaten in his last 27 matches against fellow Australian, Roy Emerson.

Three other players advanced to the men's quarter-finals yesterday.

They were second-seeded John Newcombe of Australia, who had to fight off five set points in the fourth set and survive a five-hour marathon in beating Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 25-23; Fred Stolle of Australia, who beat Britain's Roger Taylor, 6-4, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3, and Earl "Butch" Buchholz of St. Louis, who upset 11th-seeded Andres Gimeno 4-6, 6-3, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3.

SCHEDULE

Newcombe plays Stolle and Buchholz faces the Gonzales-Roche survivor in the men's quarter-finals tomorrow.

Finalists were to be decided also today in the women's singles.

Mrs. Margaret Court, the favorite, opposes Virginia Wade of Britain, the defending titleholder, and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, takes on Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex.

Ryder Cup Team Preps For Journey

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (UPI)—Dave Hill and five other Ryder Cuppers prepared today for a marathon international journey which will take them as a team against the British in England and then over the pole to become opponents in the Alcan Golfer of the Year championship at Portland, Ore.

Hill will go to England for the Ryder Cup matches at Royal Birkdale, Sept. 18-21, and then will fly back to Portland along with team members Billy Casper, Frank Beard, Dan Sikes, Lee Trevino and Gene Littler.

SEVEN OTHERS

There at the Portland Golf Club on Sept. 25-28 they will join seven other Alcan qualifiers in a head to head battle for the golfer of the year championship and the year's richest individual prize, a $55,000 first-place payoff. Joining them will be seven other Alcan hopefuls—Deane Beman, Bob Lunn, Lou Graham, rookie Grier Jones, Kermit Zarley, Bert Greene and two-time winner Gay Brewer, Jr.

5 BRITONS

They will have more than each other to combat, however, because facing them at Portland will be five Britons as well as individual players from Canada, Europe, the Far East, Kel Nagle of Australia and young Graham Henning of South Africa.

The Ryder Cup is for glory. But when they tee it up in the Alcan "World Championship" it will be every man for himself and Hill wasn't selling himself short.

Raiders Cut QB Dickey

SANTA ROSA (AP)—Eldridge Dickey, who hoped to become the first Negro to be a first-string quarterback in professional football, has been placed on waivers by the Oakland Raiders.

But coach John Madden said the former Tennessee A&I star quarterback — the club's No. 1 draft choice in 1968--would be recalled from the waiver list if he is claimed by another club.

"Eldridge is still in our plans," Madden said yesterday. "The thing is that it takes a long time to become a professional quarterback and we plan to work with Eldridge on it."

If Dickey isn't claimed, Madden said, he would be put on the taxi squad.

Dickey was impressive in the first two exhibition games but lost further playing time behind Daryle Lamonica and George Blanda. He has missed curfews and practice and his attitude has deteriorated as his playing time decreased, Madden said.

Also waived were six-year defensive back Howie Williams, linebacker Dave Ogas, wide receiver John Eason and center Tom Freeman as the Raiders reached the player limit of 44.

The Raiders must cut four more men before the first season game and the last four can't be recalled.

Eason was drafted No. 8 two years ago from Florida A&M as a tight end, and lost 30 pounds to reach wide receiver weight of 215. But he had too much competition from Fred Biletnikoff, Warren Wells, Rod Sherman and rookie Drew Buie.

In another development, the Raiders sent veteran offensive lineman Ernie Park to Cincinnati as part of the deal that brought Sherman back to Oakland. The Bengals got Sherman in the expansion draft.

HICKE SIGNS; NO HOLDOUTS FOR SEALS

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Seals will open their National Hockey League training camp in Oshawa, Ontario, Canada, Sept. 12, with all 20 players on their protected roster under contract.

They signed their last man yesterday with the announcement that veteran wing Billy Hicke had come to terms.

Seals coach Fred Glover predicted a big season for the popular star and commented that "until Bill was hurt just after the all-star break, he was playing the best hockey of his career."

Hicke, 31, finished second to Capt. Ted Hampson in club scoring last year despite the time he spent on the sidelines. Hicke had 25 goals and 36 assists.

Stanford Runner Sprains His Ankle

STANFORD (AP) — Running back Bubba Brown suffered a slight ankle sprain yesterday in Stanford football workouts.

Coach John Ralston termed the Indians' two drills "a little rusty after four days of conditioning, but there was good progress on offense, particularly sweeps, pass offense and draws."

Ron Hunt Rejoins Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With Ron Hunt out of the hospital and ready once again to serve as a target for opposing pitchers, the San Francisco Giants resumed their National League pennant drive today.

Juan Marichal, 16-9, was scheduled to pitch for the Giants against Mike Wegener, 4-11, of the Montreal Expos.

Hunt, who set the modern major league record by being hit by pitched balls 25 times last season, was plunked for the 20th time this season by Tom Seaver of the New York Mets Sunday.

CLEARED

Hunt spent 24 hours in the hospital but was cleared for duty today.

The second baseman crowds the plate and has been accused by pitchers of moving in close on purpose to get a free trip to first.

Says one pitcher: "Ron is like a self-sealing automobile tire. You puncture him and the rest of his skin forms an immediate patch."

Perhaps Hunt should be credited with being hit 21 times. He was scoring a run in Philadelphia when Tony Taylor's throw hit him in the forehead. He spent 24 hours in the hospital and soon was back in the lineup.

The Giants, who were off yesterday, announced they will conduct part of their spring training in Japan next March.

The club has been invited to play nine exhibition games against the Orions Baseball Club of Tokyo. Four games will be in Tokyo, two in Osaka and one each in Hiroshima, Fukuoka and Nagoya.

A's Have Tough Job Facing Them

BOSTON (UPI)—Now, the Oakland A's really have their work cut out for them.

Because of rain last night, they had to play a doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox today, then fly cross-country to meet the Minnesota Twins at home tomorrow night.

PITCHERS

Fred Talbot (5-8) and Jim Nash (7-7) were to pitch for the A's today and Jim Lonborg (7-8) and Ray Culp, if he's able, or Mike Nagy (10-2) for the Red Sox. Culp, the Red Sox' top winner with a 17-8 record, was supposed to pitch last Sunday but came up sore and Lee Stange replaced him.

The A's have lost three in a row and six of their last seven to fall six games behind the Twins in the American League's Western Division race.

They now are in the position of having to play about .800 ball the rest of the way —meaning they have to win 25 of their 31 remaining games —to overhaul the Twins.

NOT EASY

A four game sweep of Minnesota this weekend would cut the deficit appreciably and make things that much easier. It's no simple task though, because the Twins are playing pennant winning ball of late and show little signs of cracking.

Dave Bing To Switch Leagues?

DETROIT (AP) — Reports were current today that Dave Bing, Detroit Pistons' pro basketball star, would switch over to the Washington Capitols of the American Basketball Association, but Pistons' general manager Ed Coil said, "It's all news to me."

Coil scheduled a hasty meeting sometime today with Bing, who reportedly left Washington by auto yesterday enroute back to Detroit.

Coil said the Detroit National Basketball Association club has a contract with Bing which has one more year to go. "After that, if he wanted to become a free agent, he would have to sit out a season and that would mean he could not play for Washington for two years from now," he said.

Asked about reports that Bing wanted to move to Washington so he could open an auto dealership, Coil said, "I know nothing about that."

Boxing World Pays Rocky Last Respect

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — About 750 persons, some of them from the boxing world, filed into the Hickey Funeral Home last night to pay their last respects to retired heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano.

A light rain fell on those who had to wait outside the funeral home before filing past the closed casket.

The champion's parents, his wife, daughter and brothers sat beside the casket which was banked with floral tributes. A picture of Marciano was placed on the casket.

Marciano was killed when a small plane he was in crashed on an Iowa farm Sunday night, the eve of his 46th birthday.

Boston promoter Sam Silverman, who first promoted Rocky, was there last night.

Former middleweight champion Paul Pender also was there, as was Irish heavyweight champion Pat Stapleton, and Peter Fuller, a former boxer and owner-manager of Tom McNeely, former heavyweight contender.

"He was a terrific hitter," said Sharkey Buonanno of Providence, R.I., who refereed "30 or 35 of the Rock's fights."

"I had to grab his arm once to stop a fight," Buonanno said, standing outside, reflecting on Marciano's career.

Former champions Joe Louis and Sonny Liston were expected to arrive here today and remain for the funeral Mass tomorrow at St. Coleman's Church.

Other services are scheduled for Friday in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where Marciano made his home for the past several years.

Burial will be in Queen of Heaven Cemetery, Fort Lauderdale.

Marichal Can't Beat Cardinals This Year

Juan Marichal customarily beats every team in the National League at least once a season. But this year he can't complete the cycle because the Cardinals beat him 2-1 July 24 in his only decision with them. And now the 1969 book is closed between the Giants and Cardinals.

Marichal has had more trouble with the Cardinals than any other team in his brilliant 10-year major league career. They are the only club that has beaten him as many times as he has beaten them (16-16).

THE JULY 24 defeat was personally dealt Marichal by Nelson Briles who not only pitched brilliantly but stroked a side-arm curve off Marichal into centerfield to score the winning run in the seventh inning.

At the time Marichal was comfortably on his way to sixth 20-game season with a 13-4 first half record. The July 24 game was the first after the All-Star break. It sent the ace of the Giants into a four-game skid, the first time in his career that he ever lost four in a row.

MARICHAL finally stopped the skid Aug. 15 with a four-hit 3-0 shutout of the Cubs. Next came a tough 1-0, 14-inning loss to the Mets after which he encountered considerable trouble in a 6-4 win over the Expos in Montreal. He balanced accounts with the Mets when he shut them out 5-0 on a four-hitter in Candlestick Park in the opener of the four-game Labor Day weekend series.

The victory over the Mets was his 16th of the season against nine losses and gave him a career record of 186-86, precisely 100 more wins than losses.

A BREAKDOWN of the 186-86 record shows Marichal with decisive marks against all clubs except the Cardinals. It dispels any notion that Marichal fattened his career record against weak clubs. Indeed, it shows just the contrary. Here it is.

Braves 19-13, Cubs 17-6, Reds 18-8, Astros 18-9, Dodgers 28-12, Mets 22-3, Phillies 21-11, Pirates 22-7, Cardinals 16-16, Padres 3-1, Expos 2-0.

THE BREAKDOWN of Marichal's 16-9 record this season: Braves 2-0, Cubs 1-1, Reds 1-1, Astros 1-1, Dodgers 3-1, Mets 1-1, Phillies 1-1, Pirates 1-1, Cardinals 0-1, Padres 3-1, Expos 2-0.

With six or seven starts between now and the end of the season, Marichal should get his sixth 20-game season even though he can't complete the cycle this year.

London Vs. Quarry In Oakland Tonight

OAKLAND (AP) — Brian London, ready for another payday at 35, and Jerry Quarry, trying to prove he isn't over the hill at 24, meet in a 10-round heavyweight bout tonight at 8:30 in the Oakland Arena.

It will be London's first U.S. appearance since he lost a decision to Quarry in Los Angeles two years ago.

For Quarry, it will be his first major test since losing a title fight to Joe Frazier earlier this year. Last month, Quarry scored a first-round knockout over Phoenix, Ariz., heavyweight John Carroll in St. Paul, Minn.

LAST

The Bellflower resident once said the fight with London would be his last, but he apparently has changed his mind. One thing that might have helped was a firm offer of $50,000 to fight Sonny Liston here if he beats London.

"My purpose in boxing was to reach the highest goal," says Quarry," which is the heavyweight championship. I tried twice and I lost both times. If there's no opportunity to fight for the title again, I had better start a new career."

London, with a record of 37 victories, 18 defeats and one draw, has had two title fights—with Floyd Patterson and Cassius Clay — and was knocked out both times.

"I didn't bring him all the way over here from England to lose to a mug like Jerry Quarry," says his manager, Laurie Lewis.

"When I asked Brian if he would meet Quarry in Oakland, he replied he would fight him on top of the Empire State Building if necessary to get another chance at him."

That London went all the way with Quarry in their last meeting was something of a wonder because his tongue was cut in a workout before the fight and needed eight stitches.

"I let not only the fight public down," said London, "but myself as well. I'm going to beat Quarry this time."

PREDICTS KAYO

Quarry, who flatly predicts a knockout, probably needs one if his career is to move forward after the setback Frazier gave it.

What he would do if boxing finally does appear to be too much for him is anybody's guess. He has talked about an acting career and also of entering the University of Southern California in February to take mechanical engineering.

"I have some financial investments that will keep me living comfortably for a while," Quarry says. "But I'd have to get out and do something. I'm not the type who can sit around and do nothing."

Giants Sell Infielder Gutierrez To Tigers

The San Francisco Giants yesterday sold infielder Cesar Gutierrez, 26, to the Detroit Tigers.

Gutierrez, who has spent most of his time with the Phoenix Pacific Coast League farm club of the Giants, was used early this year for the parent team as a backup infielder and hit .238. He hit .300 and had 29 stolen bases at Phoenix.

Details of the purchase were not announced.

Heavy Scoring Erupts In C-11 Softball Play

Some heavy pounding went on in the C-II division of the San Rafael Recreation Department's Adult Softball League yesterday at Albert Field as a pair of games produced 58 runs.

The biggest barrage came when Hub City downed the Patio Club, 24-13, with Pat Murray hitting two homers for the winners. In another C-II struggle, William Timmer downed Marin Supply, 12-9. In a slow-pitch game, the Harding Gophers nicked the Round Table, 5-4.

Twins Hike Their Lead Over A's

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Baltimore Orioles have been making a mockery of the American League East race for the past two months, and now, all of a sudden, their West Division counterparts are starting to do a dandy imitation.

The Minnesota Twins clubbed Cleveland and hard-luck Luis Tiant 5-2 last night for their third straight victory, their sixth in seven games and ninth in 11 games.

That triumph, combined with Oakland's rainout at Boston, widened the Twins' lead to a fat six games over the A's with just a month left in the season.

SINCE JULY 5

The Twins have held first since July 5, but the A's were only two games off the pace only a week ago. However, Oakland has lost six of its last seven games during the Twins string of success.

In other American League activity, Chicago mauled Baltimore and Dave McNally 10-3, Kansas City whipped Detroit 6-2, New York nipped Seattle 5-4 in 15 innings and Washington took a doubleheader from California, 2-0 and 3-2.

Tiant, who won 21 games last year, had checked the Twins on three hits in a 1-1 tie in the fifth, when Minnesota exploded for two runs and then drove him from the mound in the sixth with two more. It was Tiant's 18th loss and the seventh straight for the Indians.

15 GAMES

Ted Uhlaender drove in one of Minnesota's sixth-inning counters with a single that extended his hitting streak to 15 games. Harmon Killebrew produced an earlier run to boost his RBI total to 117.

The Twins, meanwhile, stopped Tony Horton's hitting streak at 19 games.

McNally, who won his first 15 games, suffered his sixth loss in his last eight decisions as the White Sox erupted for nine runs in the sixth inning to top Baltimore for the first time this year in their last meeting of the season.

Chicago paraded 13 men to the plate during the outburst, with Bill Melton and Bobby Knoop each slamming two hits.

Boog Powell homered for the Orioles, his 35th of the year.

EIGHTH LOSS

Joe Joy and rookie Lou Piniella each had a pair of RBIs as Kansas City handed World Series hero Mickey Lolich his eighth loss in 25 decisions.

Tom Tresh and Jim Northrup hit consecutive homers off winner Roger Nelson in the fourth.

Jim Hannan pitched a three-hitter in going the route for the first time this season and Frank Howard, No. 43, and Lee Maye, No. 8, backed him with solo homers as the Senators won the opener.

Ken McMullen knocked in two runs with a single and scored the other in leading Washington to victory in the nightcap, called after California batted in the sixth because of rain.

Bears Banged Up In First Contact

BERKELEY (AP) — California's football team came out of the first contact drills a bit banged up yesterday.

Defensive lineman John Kobzeff, a two-year letterman, suffered what was thought to be a broken arm.

Another defensive lineman, Richard Wagner, strained a previously injured knee.

Defensive end Chris Beck banged up a shoulder.

On the offensive side, split end Geoff DeLapp split a finger catching a pass.

BOWLING TIPS

If your sliding left foot and the ball reach the foul line at the same time, you can bet that you have excellent timing. When this happens, you'll be aware of a smooth, coordinated feeling that makes bowling far more pleasurable.

NEW YORK (AP)—For the first time in recent weeks, there were no changes in the Top Ten of money winners on the Pro Golfers' Association tour. Only the individual numbers were altered.

Bob Lunn, who took the $20,000 first prize Monday in the Greater Hartford Open in a four-hole, sudden-death playoff with Dave Hill, zoomed from 34th place a week ago to 25th with a year's total of $62,974.

Frank Beard, who has played in 25 weekly PGA stops, remains No. 1 with $159,859. He has finished in the top five of nine tourneys, winning two of them.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Cubs Take Two From Cincy Reds

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took 78 days, but Paul Popovich's only homer of the season finally caught up with the Cincinnati Reds.

On June 15 in the second game of a doubleheader, Popovich sparked a three-run third inning and, with Popovich singling home another run, the Chicago Cubs built up a 5-4 lead over the Reds before the game was suspended after seven innings.

Last night, the two clubs resumed the game in Cincinnati, and when it was over it was still 5-4 Chicago.

WIDEN LEAD

Then the Cubs went out and pounded the Reds 8-2 in the regularly-scheduled game and built their lead in the National League East to five games over the New York Mets, who beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4.

The twin defeats left the Reds 1½ games behind idle, first-place San Francisco and a half game back of Los Angeles in the N.L. West.

Houston nipped St. Louis 7-6 in 11 innings and Philadelphia edged San Diego 2-0 in the only other scheduled National League action.

19TH WIN

Oscar Gamble, Glenn Beckert and Don Kessinger keyed Chicago's second victory--Ferguson Jenkins' 19th against 11 defeats --over Cincinnati. Gamble singled in a run and tripled in two more, Beckert produced two more with a pair of singles and Kessinger drove in two with his fourth homer and a double.

Los Angeles' Willie Davis broke the Dodger record for a hitting streak set by Zack Wheat and became the first in the majors to hit in 30 straight since Stan Musial in 1950. But he struck out with two out and men on first and third in the ninth after the Dodgers had scored three times to make it 5-4.

Davis kept his streak alive by doubling in the sixth. He then scored the first Los Angeles run.

TWO HOMERS

New York built up its five-run lead when Donn Clendenon hit his 10th and 11th homers, Ron Swoboda cracked a two-run double and Clendenon singled, stole second and scored on Ken Boswell's eighth-inning single.

St. Louis built up a 6-1 lead before Houston came back on Joe Morgan's three-run homer, Doug Rader's solo shot and Jesus Alou's seventh-inning RBI double.

The Astros then won it in the 11th when John Edwards raced home from third on Alou's infield hit. The Victory left Houston five games back of San Francisco.

Rookie Billy Champion pitched a three-hitter and was backed by Richie Allen's run-scoring single and Cookie Rojas' sacrifice fly in Philadelphia's victory over San Diego.

Corte Maderan Tops Pigeon Racing Field

Leo Enright of Corte Madera took first place in the North Road Invitational Racing Pigeon Club race Saturday.

Runnerup honors went to Gene Wester of Fairfax. The race originated in Gerber and ran a distance of 148 miles.

FANTASTIC FISHING

Lake In Idaho Produces Stringer Of Large Trout

By RALPH CHATOIAN

If anyone ever tells you some fish stories about Henry's Lake in Idaho, a short ways from West Yellowstone, man, you better believe him.

I was there, and the fish are big and plentiful.

It was the final leg of a nine-day fishing trip through Montana's mountainous expanse of land and couldn't have ended on a better note.

I'm used to California fishing for little trout — on flies and bait — so hauling three and four-pounders out of Henry's Lake was nothing short of fantastic.

It was a three-man safari out of California — junior college track coach Dick Cristofani and high school biology teacher Barry Rannells, both of Sacramento, and your friendly sports writer. It was the last week of August.

The stop at Henry's Lake was our only fishing in Idaho, the rest of it in Montana. Fishing is legal all night in Idaho, so that's when we went after the cutthroat-rainbow hybrid trout. It's a big lake, but all the big fish seem to be congregated in one small patch.

All the fishing for them is done with wet flies on sinking lines, or with spinning gear. They just won't hit a dry fly. Since we were all equipped with dry flies and floating lines, we kept the flyrods in the camper and pulled out the spinning rods and reels.

Barry, an avid dry fly man, took one look at the swarm of boats a few yards from shore and said, "That's not my kind of fishing. It's just too crowded out there."

But Cristofani and I got in our boat and paddled out to join the virtual navy of anglers. We were told by the natives there were two methods of catching the lunkers. One was with a wooly worm wet fly, the other with a Mickey Finn streamer fly, with nightcrawler worms impaled on the hook. We found the latter method worked best.

Between 9:30 p.m. and midnight, we had seven fat trout in our boat. Among my catch of five were a four-pound beauty and two which weighed three and one-half pounds.

Montana is the fourth largest state in the union — area wise — but has a population of only about 700,000. So instead of subdivisions and highways and cement, you see a lot of hills, mountains, plains and nature's pure beauty.

In addition to all the fast fly fishing we wanted in some major streams in the southern portion of the state, it was great floating down the rivers in Cristofani's 12-foot aluminum boat. We floated the Big Hole River by Melrose and floated the wide and fast Madison River near the little town of Ennis, dodging and skirting the big boulders midstream. (We did crack into a few of the rocks, causing the boat to spring a slow leak. But a little bailing out never hurt anybody.)

We caught many trout — rainbows and German browns — in both rivers, releasing most of them and saving just enough of the bigger ones for dinner. Cristofani brought in a 19-inch brown.

Then we moved on to Yellowstone National Park and the Yellowstone River. I think it was the most beautiful part of the trip. With the warm springs throwing off their aqua and green colors, the geysers spouting up their spray, the trees stretching toward the sky, you knew you were in the middle of part of nature's wonderland.

Driving through Montana and fishing in short-sleeved shirts under the warmth of the sun you wondered why more people didn't live in Montana. Then you're told that it gets 40 and 50 degrees BELOW zero in the snow-filled winters. You shiver a little and then appreciate California and Marin County just a little bit more.

Giants, Dodgers Are Co-Favorites

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Oddsmaker Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder yesterday made the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers 9-5 co-favorites to win the close National League Western Division race.

Snyder listed the Cincinnati Reds at 2-1, the Atlanta Braves at 10-1 and the Houston Astros at 20-1. The Chicago Cubs are 1-6 favorites in the N.L. East.

A's Must Win Three Games From Twins

OAKLAND — For the first time in two decades, the Athletics have a crucial series on their hands. Maybe.

The four-game set that starts with Minnesota at the Coliseum tomorrow night is the whole megillah for 1969 as far as the A's are concerned. Unless they take at least three of those games, the Finley fellows are dead. The remaining schedule takes care of that.

After the big Minny series, it's stumblebum time for both clubs. And the Twins play the dullards more often. They'll have 13 of their remaining 24 games left against Seattle and Kansas City, both fast a'crumbling. The A's play those two expansion clubs only nine times.

BUT AT LEAST if the race is still tense by month's end, Oakland has the satisfaction of closing with three against Seattle while Minny must face the occasionally competent White Sox three times.

Yet Oakland can't depend on anyone else to help them. Because nobody has. The A's took a one-game lead into Minnesota the last time the two teams met. It was over the July Fourth weekend. Minny took three straight, and the A's left town two down. And that's about as close as they've been to the top of the American League's Western Division lead since. It's also possible they'll never be that close again.

STILL, THERE are those enamored of Charlie Finley's hocus-pocus act who believe the A's will win the flag. They point out that Oakland took three straight from Baltimore at the last home stand here. So why can't they grab at least three straight from Minny?

Why can't they? A crisis mood in Oakland for one reareason; an exhausted A's bullpen; an ailing John Odom; a silent Sal Bando bat; the susceptibility of A's pitchers to home runs merged with the Minny muscularity; the wit and wisdom of Billy Martin.

AT LEAST, though, the A's will have some fresh blood in town for the showdown series. The Sept. 1 roster relaxation enabled the Oaklanders to recall, among others, relief pitchers Ed Sprague and Marcel Lachemann from Iowa. And from Seattle they obtained another bullpenner in Fred Talbot.

Minny, meanwhile, relies on graybeards Ron Perranoski and Al Worthington from an otherwise undistinguished relief corps. They're plenty and, when right, worth a dozen Talbots.

THE BULLPEN well might be the keystone of this series, for the A's and Twins both will be playing tension baseball. Neither club's starters are going that well either. Only Chuck Dodson of Oakland and Minny's Tom Hall have been consistently good over the past few weeks. But the Twins have been bailed out by the bullpen and the A's haven't. Consistently that is.

And now the A's need four days of consistency from everybody. Otherwise, 15 grand goes bye-bye; it is green and sinks behind the sun in the west.

MARIN COUNTY FOOTBALL PROSPECTS

Varsity Debut For San Marin

(Second in a series on Marin County high school football prospects.)

It's entirely likely that San Marin High School's team will lose a game this season.

But not very many people expect coach Bob Martin's Mustangs to be a mediocre flop when they make their varsity debut in the Marin County Athletic League this fall.

In the Novato school's first season last year, the Mustangs, with a squad madeu p largely of graduates off an undefeated Hill Junior High School team, competed strictly as a junior varsity team. They proceeded to reel off another undefeated season, this time piling up a 9-0 record.

Nobody expects the Mustangs to do it again once they start knocking heads with bigger, and sometimes better people, but Martin sees a very representative showing in the offing. He's not figuring on being the league doormat, a breathing spell once provided by Marin Catholic, before the Wildcats of Kentfield moved out of the league as far as football was concerned.

Martin does have the distinction of having his entire team back from last year, since the Mustangs consisted of only juniors and sophomores then. Some of the material available sounds top drawer, although it lacks size and depth.

All-around athlete Ken Gnoss again will be at quarterback on a team that will mainly concentrate on coming up with a varied running game.

Gnoss, a varsity basketballer and baseball ace, can throw, when necessary. He can also run well and often.

"He's an adequate thrower," Martin said. "But we're going to be doing a lot of running."

The Mustangs will be relying on a trio of scooters, in addition to Gnoss. They'll be Steve Francis, whom Martin considers probably his most versatile back, Jack Burnam and Urbano Boucisiequez.

Burnam is a solid 180-pounder who likes to hit and is not afraid of close action. He'll be doubling up as linebacker, a position in which Martin ranks him right on top of the league.

Boucsiequez has not come out for practice yet. He's still in La Paz, Mexico, with his ailing father. But Urbano, also a soccer-style kicker, is probably the fastest man in the backfield, although he played only the first and last part of the year in 1968, when an injury sidelined him.

Some of the other players whom Martin considers top-drawer are tackle Kerry Atkinson, tight end Bob Fowler, center Denny Miller, guards Tom Fowler and John Kinnear and split end Scott Stewart.

Most of the offensive players will be doubling up, but some defensive help will come from ends Mike Kassenbrock and Bill Eckoff.

Martin, although he's not predicting anything, is fairly sure his young Mustangs will not fold under the pressure of varsity competition.

"We're young, but we're tough," he said. "We have good spirit, we hit hard. Nobody's going to humiliate us. Some of these boys have been playing together on winning teams all the way back to Pop Warner football."

Martin's main problem seems to be a practically empty bench.

"We have pretty good people starting for us," he said. "But there's practically nobody on the bench. We're awfully thin."

Still, Martin isn't ruling out a crack at a title.

"It could be possible," he said. "We haven't lost yet."

Packers Dominate All-1960s NFL Stars Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirteen players who at one time or another were members of the Green Bay Packers, including quarterback Bart Starr and running back Paul Hornung, were named today to an all-1960s team commemmorating the 50th anniversary season of the National Football League.

The all-1960s team is the last of five all-star teams spanning the five decades of NFL history commemorated by the NFL, in conjunction with Simon and Schuster, in a book called "The First Fifty Years." The decade teams lead to an alltime all-star team to be announced shortly.

That the '60s are the era of Vince Lombardi and the Packers is attested to by the fact that almost one-third of the selections on the 40-man, all-1960s team are past or present players who did things the Green Bay way.

On offense that includes Starr and Hornung, tackle Forrest Gregg, guard Jerry Kramer, center Jim Ringo, flanker Boyd Dowler, running back Jim Taylor and punter Don Chandler. On defense the line-up shows end Willie Davis, linebackers Ray Nitschke and Dave Robinson, halfback Herb Adderley and safety Willie Wood.

All were part of the tradition Lombardi instilled during the Packers' reign at the top—a tradition based in power and precision plus total emotional committment.

They are, however, not alone in gaining distinction. Also earning spots on the team were two other quarterbacks—Sonny Jurgensen and Johnny Unitas—and running backs Jim Brown, Leroy Kelly, Gale Sayers and John David Crow.

The receiving corps is bolstered by Del Shofner, Charley Taylor and Gary Collins, plus the peerless tight end John Mackey.

Among the defensive standouts named were Deacon Jones, Alex Karras, Merlin Olsen, Bob Lilly, Dick Butkus, Tommy Nobis, Lem Barney and Larry Wilson.

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 3, the 246th day of 1969 with 119 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1783 the Revolutionary War officially ended with the United States and Great Britain signing the Treaty of Paris, America had won its independence.

In 1916 the Allies turned back the Germans at Verdun in World War I.

In 1939 Great Britain declared war on Germany and France made the same declaration six hours later, followed quickly by Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Canada.

In 1943 Allied forces invaded the Italian mainland in World War II.

A thought for the day: In his first statement to the House of Commons after becoming Britain's wartime prime minister, Winston Churchill said, "I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat."

Hungarian Youths Are Heavy Readers

BUDAPEST (UPI)—A survey of Hungarian youth shows that all read books, 97.5 per cent read newspapers, 92.1 per cent weekly periodicals and 69.4 per cent magazines, according to the news agency MTI.

Of the book readers, 31.2 per cent prefer modern novels, followed by historical and biographical novels and travel books. There was very little interest in poetry.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Always Try To Get Opponent To Waste Ace On Your Low Cards

A sensible opponent will try to get value for his high cards. When he plays an ace, for example, he will try to capture one of your honors. Your object in a certain kind of hand is to make him waste his ace by playing it on low cards.

TILL THIRD ROUND

West opened the deuce of spades, and you wait until the third round to take your ace. By this time, you are convinced that each opponent started with four spades. You are sure to lose three spades and the ace of clubs, so that you cannot afford to lose any other trick.

You can make your contract if you get three club tricks to add to the three hearts, two diamonds and one spade. This will be easy if each opponent has three clubs, since then dummy's last club will become established. Your problem is to develop three club tricks if the six missing clubs break 4-2.

GOOD START

You should start by leading a low club from your hand toward dummy. West plays low and you win with dummy's queen. This is a fortunate start. You would be in trouble if East had the ace of clubs.

Many a player would continue the clubs by returning a low club from the dummy. This play involves giving up the jack to West's ace. Now, you get only two club tricks. Down one.

LOW CLUB

After winning the first club trick with dummy's queen, return to your hand with a heart and lead the other low club. As it happens, West must play his ace, and now you can play a low club from dummy, saving your high cards. You get club tricks with the king, queen and jack, making your contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ K 9 7 2
♥ 9 8 5 4
♦ Q J 5
♣ A 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards.

If partner bids spades, you will raise to four spades; if he bids anything else, you will bid 3 no-trump.

New Zealand Still Likes Beer

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — New Zealanders drank 24.3 gallons of beer per capita in 1968, reports the government statistician.

This compares with the 24.2 gallons in 1967 and 23.6 gallons in 1966.

The increase maintains New Zealand's position as one of the world's most vigorous beer-drinking nations.

The Reason Behind Cuts In Dividends

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Several companies have recently cut dividends. Is this because the economy has been successfully cooled? — B. B.

A. Since July there has been a noticeable increase in the number of dividend cuts and omissions: Directors of four companies chose to reduce their cash payments; one board elected to substitute stock for a cash dividend; another reduced cash and supplemented it with stock, and eleven others omitted their dividend altogether.

I would hesitate to cite the effectiveness of the Nixon administration's hard-line policy on inflation as the underlying cause of these dividend declines. A study of the 17 companies referred to above reveals in most instances earnings difficulties of several years' duration.

While the high cost of credit and other inflationary pressures may have triggered the immediate action and at the same time provided a more palatable explanation for stockholders, stagnant, erratic or declining earnings were at the root of these several decisions. And Wall Street, long aware of earnings erosion, had discounted the bad news well in advance of the actual event.

A few surprises, such as Potomac Electric's declaration of a stock dividend in place of its 27.5-cent quarterly cash payment, resulted in immediate and decisive market reaction. Shares, trending lower all year, dropped an additional 18 per cent in the ensuing sessions. Shareholders, primarily income-oriented and accustomed to a generous 6 per cent yield, were simply not interested in retaining Potomac Electric and receiving additional shares.

Trans World Airlines gave up 8 points a share following the announcement of its dividend omission and a probably operating deficit.

Other companies may be impelled to make overdue, unpopular dividend decisions if a recessive economic climate persists. But a company which has been recording a healthy growth pattern would rarely cut its dividend because of a temporary earnings reversal. Forty companies which have been operating in the same economic climate as the 17 that cut or omitted dividend payments have elected to increase their dividend rate.

Prices Fall Along Broad Market Front

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices fell along a broad front on the New York Stock Exchange today in light turnover.

Inflationary concern, tight money and Vietnam uncertainty pressured the list most of the session, although trading was suspended briefly during the noon hour because of a power failure in downtown Manhattan.

Oils dominated the most active list, with many of these issues in retreat. Occidental, down more than 3 yesterday, continued to lose ground. The concern has considerable holdings in Libya which was taken over by a military group. The new regime, meantime, has pledged that "oil interests are safe."

Other heavily traded issues included Benguet Aatlantic Richfield, Natomas, American Telephone, Goodyear, City Investing and Phillips Petroleum.

Motors traded narrowly. Ford, a fractional mover, said it will drop its Falcon compact line at the end of the calendar year.

Copper shares also moved narrowly, although several producers jacked up primary copper prices four cents a pound to 52 cents, which is the highest level in this century. It was 55 cents a pound during the Civil War.

Electronics ranged to more than a point lower, with most other stock groups also in retreat.

New Terminal

TORONTO (UPI) — Canadian General Electric Co. has announced it will build a $25 million high voltage direct current terminal on the Eel River in New Brunswick. The terminal will transfer 32,000 kilowatts of power from the Churchill Falls generating station in Labrador through the Quebec hydro system to New Brunswick.

Japan GNP Problem

TOKYO (UPI)—The most important problem faced by Japan's economy is the fact that the nation's gross national product is third highest in the world while per capita income is far down the list in 21st place, according to Shigeo Horie, former president and chairman of the Bank of Tokyo.

Honduras relies heavily on bananas. Plantations along the nation's hot Carribbean coast account for 60 per cent of its foreign trade.

Novato Firm Plans Area To Show And Sell Mobile Homes

Within the next two months, Young Brothers, Novato home furnishers, will clear away some old cabins on adjoining property at Highway 101 north of Olive Avenue and use this area to show and sell mobile homes.

The Youngs have about one and one-half acres which will be paved. On display will be Viking, Scandia, Cambridge and a number of other models.

This is a second mobile home venture planned by the Youngs. They already have 68 acres in Petaluma between the 101 Highway and McDowell Avenue which is destined to become an elaborate Youngstown Mobile Home Park. Construction is expected to get under way shortly and some of the homes may be ready by the first of the year, depending upon the weather. More are scheduled to be completed next spring.

A AND E MOTORS, San Rafael agent for the NSU Wankel rotary engine automobile and also Prinz automobiles imported from Germany, is planning to move to larger quarters at Grand Avenue and Francisco Boulevard within the next month.

The company has been at 725 Lincoln Avenue for the past 10 years. There already is a building at the Grand and Francisco location which is undergoing remodeling for a service department — which will also engage in body and fender work. But there will be additional construction of a new salesroom to show off forthcoming 1970 models.

A COMPARATIVELY NEW BUSINESS in the Sierra Building, 1368 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, is Bradley Enterprises.

The company, although headquartered in Santa Rosa and engaged in other activities, has acquired the Marin County franchise for the new RoboMatic burglar alarms. Sales are made to all types of stores, restaurants, service stations and other commercial enterprises — as well as to homeowners.

Sales manager for the local office is Roy Del Bianco of San Rafael, who formerly had his own business in San Francisco.

HERB DUBIN, Sausalito architect, artist and sculptor has opened an unusual shop in the remodeled Purity Building at 660 Bridgeway to display his custom-designed jewelry.

Craftsmen work right in the shop to the accompaniment of soft music. Dubin has been designing and making ring sculptures for 13 years and also exhibits his paintings at the Bolles Gallery in San Francisco.

ROBERT URBAN of Mill Valley has joined Dailey and Associates in San Francisco as vice president and account supervisor. He was previously nine years with Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, San Francisco, and before that with McCann Erickson and Helene Curtis.

OWNERS Mrs. Maxine Ernst and Lawrence Luidi of Flowers, Inc., in the Bon Air Shopping Center have become a member of the flowers-by-wire organization Florafax Delivery, Inc. which offers service anywhere in the free world.

INSURANCE: Eight Marin agents of New York Life Insurance Co. have qualified as members of the company's 1969 Star Club. Jack De Bruin, James R. Grant, James D. Neubert, Rolland R. Pieper and Mitchell Spangler — all of San Rafael; Donald P. Sands Jr. of Lucas Valley, Jeffrey Leigh Bailey of Mill Valley and Burney C. Sheeks of Belvedere. . . . San Rafael Farmers Insurance Group agent Fred W. Temps and district manager James Bartley will attend the company's Topper Club convention at Palm Springs next month.

Trucking Industry Again Trying For Road Takeover

The trucking industry is at it again, with another attempt to convert the public highways into rights of way for commercial carriers.

Last year it was Senate Bill 2658, which would have allowed trucks to be a foot wider than now permitted on federal highways and would have placed no limit on their length. The truck people were so sure it would pass that Pullman Inc.'s Trailmobile Division placed advertising for triple-trailer trucks that would be legal under the bill's provisions.

This year it is House Resolution 11870, which limits truck length to 70 feet but otherwise is the same proposal.

Last year's SB 2658 passed the Senate, was promptly reported out by a House committee, but then was buried on the floor as the result of an outcry of indignation from throughout the country. Apparently, it will take the same kind of outcry to stop HR 11870.

WHY SHOULDN'T truckers be allowed to run any size and weight vehicle they desire over the public roads?

The reasons are clear and simple.

Trucks pay a miniscule part of the cost of building and maintaining highways through gasoline tax, yet each heavy truck takes up an amount of highway equal to several cars.

Trucks add greatly to the cost of road maintenance, since their heavier weight results in much greater road wear than does the passenger auto.

Wider trucks inflate the already-high cost of highway building by requiring wider traffic lanes, stronger and wider bridges, and generally heavier road construction.

The highways are built for the use of the public. Incidental commercial use is an added value, to which nobody objects. But when trucks take up the roads, the public use becames secondary to commercial use. This is contrary to the whole idea of highways built for the motorist from the taxes he pays.

WHAT THE PROLIFERATION of trucking has done already is evident any time you go out for a drive. Wide trucks block the view and lead to traffic accidents. Slow trucks cause unnecessary congestion on up-grades. High trucks require interchange structures that are both unsafe and unsightly.

The trucking industry has done a lot of advertising to "improve its image," and particularly to make the public believe that trucks are safer than private cars. That is not what the statistics show.

The trucking industry's own figures prove otherwise. They disclose that heavy trucks comprise only 1.54 per cent of total vehicle registrations, account for 5.33 per cent total vehicle-miles of travel, yet are involved in 11.6 per cent of the accidents.

Further, U. S. Bureau of Carrier Safety figures show that whereas half the accidents involving trucks also involve passenger cars, only 2 per cent of those injured in such accidents are truck drivers. The other 98 per cent are occupants of the cars.

Add to all this that the trucks are producers of an inordinate amount of air pollution, and there are ample reasons why HR 11870, and the whole idea it represents, should be consigned permanently to the legislative wastebasket.

New Teachers — New Trend?

The list of new teachers at San Rafael High School for the school year opening tomorrow indicates what we hope is a trend.

Of 13 new teachers, three did their student teaching at San Rafael High, and five are transferring from other schools in the San Rafael system. Only five come from outside.

We think this is good. The three teachers who did their student teaching here became acquainted with the school through it. Moreover, the school administration had a chance to see them at work and gain a better idea of their abilities before hiring them. The five transferring from other San Rafael schools help keep ideas circulating within the district, rather than having any school become too "ingrown."

At the same time, there is need to bring a few new teachers from outside — to keep the system itself from becoming "ingrown."

Maybe this all happened accidentally. But we hope it was intentional, and denotes a trend.

New Tax Bill Leaves Unions Secure In Exempt Category

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Now that the fanfare and celebration of Labor Day for 1969 is over, it might be well to point out some of the tax advantages labor organizations enjoy at the expense of the general public.

Recently, the House of Representatives took action to wipe out the tax-free status of profits used by certain private foundations, including churches, to carry on propaganda or otherwise influence legislation and the outcome of elections.

IT IS CLAIMED by the National Right to Work Committee that this legislation, now before the U.S. Senate, "preserves the favored tax status of private labor unions, while imposing new taxes on churches and other previousiy exempt organizations."

In other words, while the churches would pay taxes on the funds they receive to keep their lobbyists in Washington, the labor unions would have a tax exempt status.

The committee holds that as a result of this house action, it is evident the Congress does not plan to do away with the favored status of the labor unions, nor provide equal tax treatment for all the citizens of the United States.

THE TAX-EMEMPT status of various organizations which pose as charitable foundations has been under question for a long time.

It has long been a custom of the country to exempt religious organizations from paying taxes at all levels, a custom which began in the early days when the churches were poor, and more of community centers than they are at the present time. Now many of them, which engage successfully in profit making enterprises, are willing to pay taxes on their profits.

But through their fraternal status, the labor unions can contribute millions of dollars to political campaigns.

It is this inequity which will be attacked before the U. S. Senate committee handling the House legislation. And the attack will be strong for the simple reason that the people are beginning to catch up with tax inequities.

Experimental School Should Be Stressed

In regard to your editorial of Tuesday, Aug. 26, let me offer these four comments.

First, the board of trustees of the Marin Junior College District did not hide from its responsibility and did not shirk its duty. The board firmly and clearly affirmed its support of the free expression of ideas and its policy to maintain an open forum for all ideas. At the same time the board also pointed out that the civic center portion of the Education Code guarantees the use of college facilities by community groups when those facilities are not needed for college purposes.

Second, the Experimental College is in no way a part of College of Marin. Although it began in 1967 as an activity sponsored by the Associated Students, its establishment as an activity required no formal board action or approval. On Feb. 27, 1969, the College Cabinet accepted a recommendation from the Associated Students that the Experimental College no longer be directly affiliated with the Associated Students as a student activity. The purpose of disassociating was to give the Experimental College greater flexibility and to make it clear that their offerings did not come under the purview of the district.

However, like other community groups the Experimental College would be permitted to apply for the use of college facilities under the civic center provisions of the Education Code.

Third, the editorial writer recognizes that there is no particular danger in the class itself. What also should be recognized is that the board of trustees does not, and should not, pass judgment on the content of programs or courses sponsored by community groups. To do so would force the board to appoint itself the censor for Marin County.

Fourth, it should be clear to everyone that it is far better to have ideas, however radical or unpopular, aired publicly where they may be debated than to force them underground. Ideas cannot be suppressed, but they can be tested — and discarded if invalid.

(If, as the letter states, the college cabinet took it upon itself to divorce the experimental college from the College of Marin without approval of the board of trustees, the editorial appears to be even more to the point.—Editor.)

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

IF THE GARBAGE workers in your community ever go out on strike you might like to know how a wise New Yorker disposed of his refuse for the 11 days the sanitation workers were off the job last spring. Each day he wrapped his garbage in gift paper. Then he put it in a shopping bag. When he parked his car, he left the bag on the front seat with the window open. When he got back to the car the garbage always had been collected.

THE DRUMMONDS

New Chief Justice More Than Just A Law-And-Order Man

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — We think you'll want to get to know the new chief justice of the United States and the direction of his influence.

This man Warren E. Burger simply can't be pigeonholed. He is showing that his views are much too broad for that. This is evident even before he has written a single opinion for the Supreme Court.

One mold into which some commentators wanted to fit Mr. Burger even before he was sworn in was that here for sure was a strict law-and-order man who felt that being toughter both on criminals and the accused was the best way, if not the only way, to cope with rising crime.

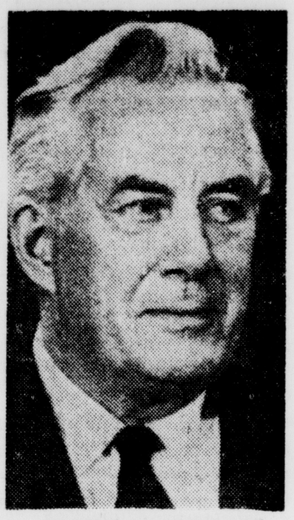
But the chief justice has no one-track approach. His opinion as a federal judge on the District of Columbia Court of Appeals indicates that he feels at some point the courts have underprotected the safety of society by overprotecting the rights of the accused, but he also believes that better laws mean better obedience to law and that just law is absolutely crucial. He put it this way in a recent address to the American Bar Association:

"IN THE COMPANY of leaders of the legal profession of America, it hardly needs saying that an organized society with ordered liberty must be based on something more than a stern system of criminal justice in which lawbreakers are swiftly caught and promptly punished and where the streets are safe."

What else, then? His answer:

"It is also a society in which the ruthless and greedy are restrained from exploiting the weak; it is a society in which the simple — and sometimes the foolish — are protected by rules of law from oppression and exploitation by the cunning of others."

JUSTICE BURGER sheds more light on his own thinking in stressing that "ordered liberty must be evenhanded justice for all," and he told the lawyers that he wants to see them serving "as highly important cogs in the machinery of such a society." He holds that this role today is "far more important than in the pioneer days when our rough-and-ready philosophy was one of 'dog eat dog and the devil take the hindmost.' Neither the harsh frontier philosophy nor the crucial attitude of 'let the buyer beware' is suited to the kind of society which the restive new generation is seeking."



WARREN E. BURGER
Can't be pigeonholed

Here the chief justice comes to the central reason he believes some revolutionary changes are needed in most law school educations. His view is that today "lawyers are more important to the functioning of an orderly, organized society than the police or the courts who are the coercive instrument . . . because as lawyers you could exercise the crucial function of 'peacemakers,' providing the solvents and lubricants which reduce the frictions of our complex society."

But Burger bluntly warns that the law schools are not turning out lawyers qualified to perform this function and that new teaching methods are needed.

ANOTHER EVIDENCE of the breadth of view of the new chief justice is that he wants to see much more innovative attention given to rehabilitating the criminal, which he believes has been neglected. There is certainly no single-minded law-and-order attitude behind his proposals to the ABA:

"We must explore more fully a limited confinement and work release. We must explore teaching methods adapted to the abnormal psychology of the habitual offender. We must search for new incentive programs to permit reduction of sentences for those who will educate and train themselves in skills which give a man pride and identity."

Chief Justice Burger is showing himself a creative and uninhibited advocate of change. He is seeking to move the cautious, conservative American legal system into active self-reform.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

McGovern Buys Mansion, Raising Some Eyebrows

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Sen. George McGovern is not only hitching his political wagon to a star, but his standard of living also is taking a sudden skyward spurt.

The ambitious South Dakotan, already a busy aspirant for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, is causing a lot of eyebrow raising by buying a $160,000 home in a choice residential area near American University.

The seller was Chief Judge David Bazelon of the U. S. Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. The asking price was $177,000.

CUSTOM BUILT by the Bazelons home 12 years ago, the house has 10 rooms, spacious grounds and garden. On the ground floor is a large living room that leads into a sizable dining room; also a good-sized study. Upstairs are a big master bedroom, and four other bedrooms and baths.

The custom-made furniture, drapes and decor are contemporary Japanese.

All were included in the purchase. Close Bazelon friends say they left everything except their own personal belongings. They are now living in a newly built fashionable apartment on the Potomac.

PREVIOUSLY, McGovern and his family resided in a modest suburban six-room frame house.

A next-door neighbor was former Vice President Hubert Humphrey —until he moved into one of the Capital's ritzy new cooperative apartments. Another neighbor was Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who last year rented a large mansion opposite Washington's noted National Cathedral on fashionable upper Wisconsin Avenue.

Several weeks ago McCarthy, estranged from his wife of 24 years, took up residence in a small apartment in a leading Washington hotel.

THE BIG PUZZLE in capital circles, particularly Democratic, is where McGovern got the money to buy a $160,000 home.

He had given no indication of such means before. He and his family had always lived on a modest scale and did little entertaining, and then nothing elaborate. Knowledgeable friends say his previous frame residence could not have brought more than $40,000 even at today's inflated prices.

FAR DIFFERENT ERA — Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey is apparently learning quite a bit as well as teaching — particularly about the much-discussed "generation gap."

The 1968 Democratic standard bearer is illustrating that with the following story:

"When I was working my way through college, a student when asked what he was 'taking,' would reply, law, premed, political science, art, or whatever he was majoring in. Recently, I met three students on the campus of the University of Minnesota and in the course of a chat, asked them what they were 'taking.'

"To which one replied, 'Well, tomorrow we're thinking of taking the Administration building, and the next day the Library. After that, we haven't decided just what we'll take. We'll see how the situation shapes up.'

"I guess that's what is meant by the 'generation gap'," grinned Humphrey.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Trouble On Campus Here —But Look At Berlin

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

With opening of the new school term, the public can look forward to another year marked by campus unrest.

Both the Students for a Democratic Society and the Black Student Union have disclosed plans to carry their revolutionary activities into high schools to a greater extent this year than in the past.

Integration schemes involving busing of pupils to schools away from their neighborhood can be expected to continue to encounter opposition from parents, both white and black.

Teacher dissatisfaction will make itself felt again. For instance, the American Federation of Teachers local in San Francisco served notice of strike plans even before opening of classes.

THE CONTEST over who controls the schools — trustees, faculty, students, or the citizenry that pays the bills — has not been resolved and will contribute to further unrest during the new school year.

Besides all these, some parents are worried over what they consider excessive permissiveness and lack of discipline in schools, over what is being taught under the guise of family life education, and over the surreptitious introduction of "sensitivity training" into the classrooms.

Those who are worried over these last, however, may at least take comfort that innovators in California education have not yet gone so "far out" as some in Germany did this summer.

A BERLIN report in the New York Times recently recounted that free love, drugs, and teaching of Mao Tse-tung's brand of communism had featured two "summer abroad "youth camps operated under auspices of the West Berlin Social Democratic Party.

The scandal broke at a camp near Beyreuth, Lebanon. Said the Times story:

"Seventy boys and girls aged 12 to 14 years from underprivileged Berlin families were rushed home from the Oberwarmsteinach Youth Hostel near Beyreuth after they fought a three-hour battle against 20 policemen called to restore order.

"The children, shouting 'Mao Tse-tung!' and 'freedom for all children!' bombarded the policemen with stones and vegetables.

"They were protesting against the removal of their left-wing counselors, recalled because they were said to have tolerated sexual activities and encouraged the boys and girls to paint the walls with quotations from 'the little red book' of Chairman Mao."

Berlin authorities charged the counselors — five men and five women from the Free University of Berlin — with procuring.

SIMILAR SCANDAL involved a camp for 1,700 Berlin children and youth from 8 to 23 years in Sweden. Like the Beyreuth camp, it was run by the Falken Youth Organization, a Social Democratic Party subsidiary, and was financed in part by the West Berlin government.

On returning from that camp, the dispatch related, "some girls said they had been encouraged to tolerate or take part in sexual intercourse. The reports led a number of parents to sue the youth organization for breach of contract, negligence, and procuring.

"The Falken organization was accused of having tolerated misuse of drugs and alcohol at the camp."

ALTHOUGH the Swedes are notably permissive with youth, the behavior of the German youngsters was too much for them, according to the Berlin story, resulting in complaints of indecency, drunkenness, and vandalism.

Peter Bischoff, head of the Falken Youth Organization, who was discharged from that post as result of the disclosures, was quoted as acknowledging that sexual indoctrination was part of the Falken camp program. "A special team of young doctors and medical students, who called themselves the 'Sexual-Political Center' or 'Sexpol,' accompanied the youths to Sweden where they organized discussions about sexual relations and antiauthoritarian education. The team also handed out contraceptives," said the Times account.

Righetti Logging Halt Until Cleanup Finished

An Oregon lumber firm has voluntarily halted all logging on the Ethel Righetti ranch on Bolinas Ridge until fire hazards have been removed as required by the county, Assistant County Administrator John F. Barrows announced yesterday.

George Walker of the Matthews, Humber and Walker Timber Co. agreed that no further logging will be done until cleanup work has progressed to the satisfaction of Director of Public Works Donald R. Frost and Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom.

The assurance came at a meeting Friday of county officials, Walker and his attorney Albert Bianchi.

Walker agreed to the following conditions:

Beginning today, trucks will begin removal of all felled logs along hauling roads. This is to be completed by Sept. 26.

Beginning this week a water truck will be used over all roads used on the property, and will continue in operation while the roads are dry.

All concentration of slash will be placed on nearby roads within the Righetti property or in a clear area as directed by the fire chief and will be burned prior to April 1, 1970 or when directed by the fire chief.

Re-seeding will be accomplished during October under direction of the county engineer and the most northerly road on the property near the entry from Shoreline Highway will be restored and re-seeded before the end of October.

Glue produced by barnacles has twice the strength of any commercial glue now on the market, the National Geographic Society says. The natural adhesive hardens in salt water and withstands more than 7,000 pounds of force.

New Tests Planned On Safer Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tobacco industry has arranged for independent tests of a new chemical process which its backers say will produce less hazardous cigarettes.

Nine cigarette manufacturers made the offer to finance the testing of the process called Chemosol, and Chemosol officials have accepted, an industry spokesman said yesterday.

The process was described to the House Commerce Committee last April by Dr. Perry B. Hudson, president of High Tor Foundation, Inc., Palisades, N.Y. He said it was researched in his laboratories and reduces what he called a cancer producing substance he identified as benzo (a) pyrene.

Hudson said the chemical is applied to tobacco before the cigarette manufacturing process and doesn't affect the taste or aroma.

The testing will be done at the Hazleton Laboratories of Falls Church, Va., and will be monitored by both industry and Chemosol officials.

The testing is expected to go on for at least a year and involve batches of treated and untreated cigarettes on smoking machines. The concentrates of smoke then may be tested on mice. The cost is expected to be something in excess of $100,000.

William Kloepfer, public information director of the Tobacco Institute, said the decision to sponsor the testing did not mean that the tobacco industry has changed its position that there is no proved relationship between cigarette smoking and cancer. He said there is no evidence that filters affect health but there is a public taste for them.

Six of the nine companies sponsoring the testing are members of the Tobacco Institute. They are Reynolds, Philip Morris, Brown & Williamson, Liggett & Meyers, United States Tobacco and Larus & Brothers. The others are American, P. Lorillard and Stephano Brothers.

Council Vetoes Court House Buy

San Rafael isn't going to buy the soon-to-be-abandoned county courthouse, but is willing to work with Marin County on the problem of courthouse square-disposal.

San Rafael city councilmen said last night, in several ways, they weren't interested in buying the property, which the county has offered to sell to the city. (Other San Rafael City Council stories, page 12.)

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the courthouse is scheduled to be abandoned Oct. 1 and the time had come to make a decision.

Councilman Frederick C. Robbins Jr. said the city should work with the county, but he didn't feel a purchase would be justifiable now.

Since the county's appraisal of $750,000 for the property, there has been a change in the market value, with tight money and high interest rates restricting opportunity for development, Bettini contended.

There are vacant stores in downtown San Rafael and it's questionable whether anyone would come in and develop more stores, Bettini said. The county hasn't been able to sell the property, he pointed out.

Bettini said disposal of the property could be a joint venture, "but I can't see why we have to be the vehicle to dispose of it. I can't see taking on the obligation."

The city could remove the buildings, put in parking and maintain and police the area, to be reimbursed upon sale of the property, he said.

The mayor said the city should work with the county because the courthouse is a key parcel downtown, and "possibly

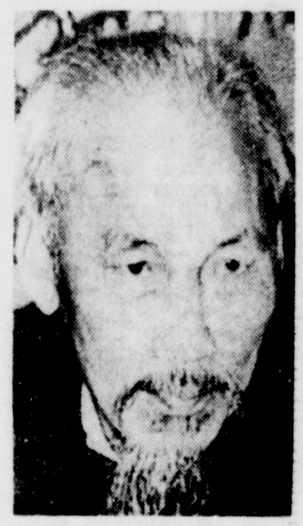
Hanoi Leader Is Said Near Death

Saigon Radio Reports Ho Is Gravely Ill



HO CHI MINH
Reported near death

SAIGON (AP)—North Vietnam announced today that President Ho Chi Minh was gravely ill. The wording of the announcement suggested that the legendary leader of the Communists in wars against France and the United States was at the point of death.

It was considered extremely unlikely that Hanoi's regime would make such an announcement unless there was no hope for the 79-year-old president.

Rumors spread through world capitals that Ho was already dead.

"They would hardly issue such a bulletin unless Ho was already dead or in a coma of some kind," said an official in Saigon.

The announcements from Hanoi on Ho's condition progressed from "developing" to "not stable" to "somewhat grave."

U.S. officials in Washington viewed Hanoi's decision to announce Ho's illness at all as a sign he would not survive.

DROP NEWS

It was also noted that both the Viet Cong radio and Radio Hanoi, which had carried announcements on Ho's conditions early Wednesday, dropped them in their Wednesday night broadcasts.

Informed sources in Saigon believed it unlikely that the death of the veteran revolutionary would bring about any important changes in North Vietnam's war policy.

The wispy-bearded president had been reported ill for months and leadership in North Vietnam is believed to have been exercised by others who are expected to continue in control with no major policy shifts.

FIRST WORD

North Vietnamese officials in Paris gave the first word that illness had felled the aged leader, who devoted most of his life to revolution and the past eight years to defying the military might of the United States.

A few hours later, Hanoi radio said the president's condition was "not stable" and that "his illness is developing and is somewhat grave."

Then came an announcement that Ho's condition was deteriorating and that greatest efforts were being made to care for him

Hanoi did not reveal the nature of Ho's illness, and a North Vietnamese official in Paris commented: "All I can say is what is obvious—the president is an old man."

SOMETHING TO TAKE IF YOU CAN REMEMBER IT

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A professor of chemistry says he's got the perfect idea to help university students to retain things like history dates and math equations—a memory pill.

Dr. Wendell Jolley of Loma Linda University showed off the memory-enhancing pill, called Ribaminol, at a news conference yesterday.

The drug, which he said stimulates protein synthesis in the brain, was developed over five years at a cost of several million dollars, reported International Chemical and Nuclear Corp. of Newport Beach.

The pill will produced and distributed in Mexico in November and authority has been sought to market it in the United States, the firm said.

Arts Council Job To New Yorker

SAN CLEMENTE (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon today named Nancy Hanks, a New York City expert in arts and museum work, as chairman of the National Council of the Arts.

Her appointment to the $40,000-a-year post came after the Western White House made something of a mystery of it, advising newsmen the day before the President would announce an important appointment this morning. All presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler would say in advance was that it would not be a successor to Selective Service Director Lewis B. Hershey.

Miss Hanks, 42, a Republican, replaces a prominent New York Democrat, Roger L. Stevens, whose term expired last March.

A native of Miami Beach, Fla., Miss Hanks is now president of the Associated Councils of the Arts, a national nonprofit membership organization concerned with the support and development of the arts in the United States and Canada.

A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Duke University who has studied at Oxford University in England, she is a member of the Council of the American Association of Museums and a trustee of the Museum of Primitive Art in New York City.

Since 1956, she has served as executive secretary of the Special Studies Project of the Rockefeller Brothers Fund on the Performing Arts.

Ziegler set the stage for the announcement by telling reporters yesterday the President had visitor coming in at 9:45 a.m. today and an important appointment would then be announced. a visitor coming in at 9:45 a.m.

Nixon was also to see Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, due in from the National Governors Conference in Colorado Springs, Colo., with his initial report on a series of fact-finding visits he made to Latin America.

Ziegler said Rockefeller was not expected to go into a more controversial subject—federal welfare payments. Rockefeller introduced a resolution the governors adopted calling for the federal government to foot the

Sausalito's Chaka Denied Permit By Education Board

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

William H. Bradley (Chaka) last night was denied a temporary credential which would have permitted him to teach in the Sausalito School District with opening of the school term Sept.10.

The denial came by 6-0 vote of the Marin County Board of Education, on motion of board member Glen Robinson of Mill Valley. (Other county board of education story, page 8.)

Bradley's was one of 123 applications for temporary certificates filed with the county schools office in advance of the opening of the new school year. Most of them were for certificates for substitute teaching. Others were for new teachers awaiting provisional or standard credentials for which they had submitted required proofs to the California Department of Education.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis recommended that all except Bradley's be approved.

He said the state credentials office was called in routine check of Bradley's application, and "they advised us that it . . . is being held pending a review by the state committee of credentials at its meeting Sept. 22-24. We were also advised that the state committee of credentials reviews only those applications with which there is some significant problem and reason to believe that an application may not be approved."

Hollis said Bradley applied for the temporary credential last Friday. He said he called

Sniper Fire Claims Officer, Negro Girl

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

A white policeman and a 15-year-old Negro girl were shot to death last night in an outbreak of sniper fire in Camden, N.J. Sniping incidents with no reported injuries recurred in Hartford, Conn., and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

The Camden victims were Patrolman Rande J. Chandler, 22, and Rose McDonald, both apparently hit by the same volley during the second night of disorders in the south Jersey city of 117,000.

Police said Chandler was one of several patrolmen assigned to clear debris that had been thrown into a street. As the patrolman approached, more trash, rocks and bottles began flying and then the shots rang out.

In the same predominantly Negro section Monday night a melee broke out when police tried to break up a fight among a number of juveniles. Policemen were attacked with fists and rocks by the youths.

In Fort Lauderdale, sniper fire crackled again today as National guardsmen and police calmed but failed to stop the violence that has gripped a predominantly Negro area three successive nights.

Police, joined by 100 guardmen, patroled to enforce an overnight curfew banning all but emergency personnel from streets in a 200-block area.

They met scattered looting, rock throwing, firebombing and the sporadic sniping but police said the disturbances were less violent than on Sunday and

Kennedy Inquest Postponed; Parents' Motion Rejected

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — District Court Judge James A. Boyle officially postponed this morning the inquest that was to have begun before him today into the death of Miss Mary Jo Kopechne.

The postponement was ordered in Boston yesterday by Associate Justice Paul C. Reardon of the Massachusetts Supreme Court on a motion by lawyers for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, in whose car Miss Kopechne died.

"I have been ordered not to proceed any further with the inquest 'in re Mary Jo Kopechne,' which was set for hearing this morning," the soft-spoken 62-year-old Boyle said.

And in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., today a judge rejected a motion by the parents of Mary Jo Kopechne to dismiss an autopsy request, but agreed with them that further evidence must be provided before he could grant exhumation of the girl's body.

Judge Bernard C. Brominski of Common Pleas Court gave Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass., 20 days to amend his petition to show that an autopsy would resolve "the doubt and suspicion surrounding the death."

Reardon's order called for a hearing by the full seven-justice Supreme Court into constitutional issues raised by Kennedy counsel. No date was set.

The full court normally convenes Oct. 1. Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn said it appeared unlikely that there would be any action for at least two weeks.

Reardon's order was directed at Dist. Judge James A. Boyle, scheduled to conduct the inquest ordered by Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis.

The postponement was sought by Kennedy's attorneys because of rules for the inquest set down by Judge Boyle. The lawyers argued Kennedy's constitutional rights would be abridged by Boyle's refusal to permit cross-examination of witnesses.

Pike Reported Lost In Judean Wilderness; Search Is Launched

JERUSALEM (AP) — Searchers today found the passport and wallet of Dr. James Pike, former Episcopal bishop of California, missing in the barren Judean wilderness northwest of the Dead Sea.

Army officials said Pike's belongings were found in a dry river bed or wadi about a mile east of his abandoned car.

The officials said they expected to find Pike soon "dead or alive."

Pike, 56, and his 31-year-old third wife were motoring through the area when their car broke down Monday night. The couple set out on foot to look for help, but Pike collapsed after two hours walking in the heat and sent his wife on alone. She said she left him on a hillside.

After walking all night, Mrs. Pike met some highway guards early yesterday and they took her to Bethlehem.

The police immediately began a search using helicopters and planes. Pike's car was found yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Pike was under a doctor's care at their hotel room in Jerusalem.

In Santa Barbara, Pike's mother, Mrs. Pearl Chambers, said her son and daughter-in-law went to the Holy Land to study the origins of Christianity and the Dead Sea Scrolls for a book he was writing. Pike told friends that he hoped to find documents or ancient records that would provide more information on Christ.

BISHOP JAMES PIKE
Object of search

Pike was brought up in the Roman Catholic faith but became an agnostic during his college days. He took law degrees from the University of California and Yale and then worked for the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington and taught at George Washington University.

He joined the Episcopal Church during World War II when he was a U.S. naval officer. After the war he was ordained from Union Theological Seminary and served as a rector and teacher until 1952, when he was appointed dean of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York.

Pike was elected bishop coadjutor of San Francisco in 1958. His views on religion became increasingly controversial within a few years and drew criticism and charges of heresy from more conservative members of the Episcopal Church. He challenged the belief in the virgin birth of Christ, questioned literal interpretations of the Bible and was opposed to the Vietnam war.

He resigned his bishopric in 1966 and became a research fel-

DIRKSEN TUMOR IS CANCEROUS

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tumor removed from Sen. Everett M. Dirksen's right lung yesterday was cancerous, a final pathologists' report indicated today.

Dirksen's office, reporting that, said the 73-year-old Senate Republican leader, was making excellent progress.

He underwent surgery yesterday at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Why You Feel Crowded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The migratory urge that has pushed millions of Americans toward the West is far from dead, the Census Bureau's newest population figures show.

Since 1960 the Pacific States have gained more than 22 per cent in population, far outstripping every other region in growth, the bureau said yesterday in estimating the nation's population as of last July 1.

By using complicated methods based on school enrollment data and previous estimates, July 1 had 201,921,000 people—2,072,000 more than one year earlier.

The estimate is 12.6 per cent, or 22,598,000 people higher than the 1960 census figures.

Although California's phenomenal growth has padded its title as the most populous of states by more than a million residents, neighboring Nevada has the highest growth rate percentage.

Nevada has grown by 60.2 per cent since the last census, from 285,000 in 1960 to 457,000 this year.

California gained 3,725,000 people, 23.7 per cent, in the same period.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Low Fat Diet

EASTON, Pa. (AP) — One of the many American males on a low cholesterol diet, it develops, is President Richard M. Nixon.

This information comes from Mrs. Virginia Knauer, his adviser on consumer affairs.

In an article in the Easton Express she said that after she proposed limiting the fat content in hot dogs to 30 per cent she received a call from the President, who said:

"Virginia, I just wanted you to know that I'm with you 100 per cent on the hot dogs. I'm on a low cholesterol diet myself."

Low cholesterol diets usually are aimed at warding off heart disease.

Anti-Park Rioting

SEOUL (AP) — South Korean students continued demonstrations today for the third day denouncing the government's constitutional amendment to allow President Chung Hee Park to seek a third term.

Three more colleges were closed temporarily, increasing to six the number of schools shut down since the fall term began last week.

In Seoul, some 2,000 students of Yonsei University held a campus rally and about half of them marched out in a heavy rain for a street demonstration. Riot police turned them back, but there were no serious clashes.

Copter Session

SEOUL (AP) — The United States and North Korea meet again tomorrow at Panmunjom, to discuss the return of the three American helicopter crewmen shot down Aug. 17, but no one will say whether the Americans are going to supply the apology demanded by the Communists.

Seize Control

TOKYO (AP) — Five hundred riot police seized control of Waseda University from radical students today after several hours of fierce battle.

Police reported they arrested 82 students who resisted them with Molotov cocktails and rocks.

The police were called in by university authorities when two opposing groups refused to leave the campus and appeared headed for a violent clash. The two groups are contending for leadership of a national movement of radical students working to overthrow the pro-Western government of Prime Minister Eisaku Sato and opposing the U.S.-Japan security treaty, which comes up for review in 1970.

Computer Errs

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP) — High school officials here relied on a computer to get classes under way yesterday. The result: They closed the doors an hour after they opened.

A Fairbanks computer firm was to have supplied class lists for the 1,500 students of Lathrop High School, the only one here, but the computer couldn't do it. "Computer error" was blamed.

Dylan To Tour

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Dylan, the folk singer who has been in virtual hiding from his fans since a serious motorcycle accident three years ago, is planning a U.S. concert tour.

Dylan outlined his plans yesterday upon his return from an appearance at a big weekend pop festival on the Isle of Wight, where he was accompanied by a Canadian group, The Band.

'We're going to put the show together," he said. "The Band will probably be with us. We will have some new groups too."

To Halt Welfare

SANTA BARBARA (AP) — Santa Barbara County supervisors have voted to end welfare payments to five persons on relief who live abroad.

"They are perpetrating an abuse in the minds of every citizen paying welfare bills," Supervisor Curtis Tunnell said before the vote yesterday.

Three of the recipients live in England, one in Canada and one in the Philippines. The five draw a total of $1,000 a month.

To qualify for welfare a resident must have assets of less than $1,200 and a monthly income below $184.50.

'Bra-less' Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A woman who says she was fired for refusing to wear a brassiere and for advocating a "bra-less Friday" for 2,200 other girls in the plant has filed a $1.4 million suit against General Dynamics, Inc.

Mrs. Jane M. Andre, a 39-year-old divorcee, formerly was a supervising engineer in General Dynamics' welding department at an annual salary of $18,000.

Her suit, filed in superior court yesterday, charged her reputation and character had been damaged by statements made by General Dynamics regarding her suggestion for a bra-less day.

At the time of her dismissal Aug. 14, Mrs. Andre told newsmen she believed in "functional clothes."

Rejoins Family

SAN CLEMENTE, (AP) — President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon's 23-year-old daughter, Tricia, recovered from abdominal pains for which she was treated at Washington's Walter Reed Hospital, rejoined the family at the Western White House yesterday.

Teen Booked In Burglary Probe

A 14-year-old San Anselmo boy was booked into Marin County Juvenile Hall yesterday on suspicion of burgling the Harold C. King residence at 51 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo police reported.

Police said Billy Dean Trumble, of 1361 San Anselmo Avenue, was questioned and taken to Juvenile Hall after three other boys implicated him.

King told police $8 in change, a metal box holding foreign currency, a bottle of champagne and three packages of cigarettes were taken. He discovered the break-in and theft on returning home Monday from a weekend trip.

Police reported they reprimanded a 10-year-old boy who admitted entering the King residence with Trumble, but did not arrest or cite him.

VOTER SINCE 1880 DIES AT AGE 110

SALEM, N.J. (AP) — Alexander Tanner, a former slave who said he was 110-years old and voted in every presidential election since 1880, died yesterday.

Last November Tanner appeared at the polls here to vote for Democratic presidential candidate Hubert H. Humphrey.

Tanner gave 1859 as the year of his birth, somewhere near Lynchburg, Va. He said that although he was born into slavery he had only dim memories of the Civil War era. He said his only recollection of the war was the sight of soldiers going to and returning from battle.

He left Virginia around the turn of the century, settling for a time in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. In 1912 he came to Salem and helped to found the Mount Zion Baptist Church. He was a deacon in the church from 1912 until his death.

Opposition In Portugal Gets Break

LISBON (AP) — The Portuguese government issued a long-awaited decree today, amending a 20-year-old electoral law to allow opposition and government candidates in the Oct. 26 elections to check voter lists.

During the 40-year-old rule of former dictator Antonio Salazar, opposition members were often denied access to the lists of registered voters and complained they were unable to conduct effective campaigns.

The decree was approved on the council of ministers presided over by Premier Marcello Caetano. It also allows representatives of all groups to assist in ballot counting.

The opposition had claimed that previous elections were doctored by the National Union, the country's only recognized political party, and that their results were altered by the government.

The decree, which reflects Caetano's avowed desire to move the country toward a gradual liberalization, was welcomed by the opposition.

Israeli Jets Roar Across Two Frontiers, Hitting Arab Camps

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli jets roared across two frontiers today, hitting Arab gun emplacements in Jordan and Lebanon. To the south, Israeli and Egyptian guns again traded fire across the Suez Canal.

The planes first streaked across the Jordan River to silence an Arab bazooka attack on an early morning border patrol. The Israeli Army said it bombed a former police station in Jordan three miles south of the Sea of Galilee that was occupied by guerrilla gunners.

Later in the day Israeli jets crossed the Lebanese border to hit sources of Arab rocket fire that killed two Israelis and wounded four in Kiryat Shmona last night. The Army said two waves of planes pounded three Al Fatah guerrilla bases on the western slopes of Mount Hermon in a half-hour strike.

It was Israel's first air strike into Lebanon since it was condemned by the U.N. Security Council for an air raid last month.

Lebanon claimed the Israeli jets raided the villages of Kfarshouba, Rashaya el Fekhar, Kfar Hammam and Hebbariyeh. There were no immediate reports of casualties.

Lebanese ground fire hit back at the intruding planes, Beirut radio said, but did not report any Israeli losses.

An army spokesman in Beirut said Lebanese and Israeli artillery positions traded shells twice in the same general area Tuesday night. He reported one Lebanese was wounded and a house damaged in Rashaya el Fekhar.

The Israeli army said one of its soldiers and a civilian tractor driver were wounded on the Suez Canal, where Israeli and Egyptian troops traded small arms and cannon fire.

Most of the firing took place north of Port Taufiq at the southern end of the 103-mile waterway, a spokesman said.

At United Nations headquarters in New York, meanwhile, reports circulated that Secretary-General U Thant had requested Syria to release the two Israeli men still being held after the hijacking of an American jetliner last Friday.

Thant's office did not confirm the report, but a U.N. spokesman said earlier that he had expressed hope the two would be released soon.

Napa Escapee Forces Woman On Wild Ride

A 35-year-old Sausalito man, who was committed to Napa State Hospital by a Superior Court judge on July 28, escaped yesterday and has been identified as the man who later yesterday forced a young Fairfax woman to drive him toward West Marin.

Officers were still searching today for Robert Charles Cohen.

Jeanne Marie Prince, 20, of 7 Crest Road, Fairfax told sheriff's deputies that as she was driving west on the Miracle Mile toward San Anselmo about 5:40 p.m. yesterday when a man called to her from a car alongside hers.

As she slowed at the Hub intersection in San Anselmo, Miss Prince said a passenger from the car entered her auto and asked for a ride. She said she was not frightened until he said he was an escapee from Napa.

When he became "excited" upon seeing a police officer in San Anselmo, she decided to drive to the Fairfax police station but the man grabbed the steering wheel and threatened her, she said.

"If you do anything funny, I'll put my fist through your head," he said, according to Miss Prince.

He then told her he wanted to go to Muir Beach to see his girl friend. However, as they approached Samuel P. Taylor State Park, the man ordered her to stop the car. He handed her her purse and sandals and said he was going to take her car.

Miss Prince, after getting a ride to a sheriff's substation, identified Cohen from pictures Her car was found farther west on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard later in the evening.

Cohen was committed to the mental hospital by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court, who suspended proceedings in his case because of Cohen's mental state.

He was accused of three felonious assault on sheriff's deputies in Marin County Jail where he was awaiting sentencing on two joyriding convictions. After starting several disturbances at the jail, Cohen had been held for a time at San Quentin.

Earlier this year Cohen was shot on the leg when he fled deputies in Muir Beach where he had been found in a stolen car.

1940s, and is reported to have suffered from heart trouble and possible lung complications for more than two years.

Western experts on North Vietnamese affairs who are based here agreed that no immediate significant changes in North Vietnamese policy—either on the battlefield or at the Paris peace talks—could be predicted.

"I think al of them (the North Vietnamese leaders) are dedicated to the struggle in the South and simply might subordinate their own disagreements," said one.

South Vietnamese government officials, including President Nguyen Van Thieu, were said to be keeping in close touch with radio reports. An official silence existed in government circles.

The Saigon government radio reported on the Hanoi announcement at midday without comment.

One Western observer here noted that the Soviet Union did not offer the customary greetings to Ho yesterday which marked North Vietnam's National Day.

Hanoi watchers in Saigon began speculating on the political impact of Ho's illness as soon as it was revealed. There was general agreement on the most likely candidates to succeed him.

Three top-ranking men on North Vietnam's nine-member Politburo were seen as the most probable group from which a successor to Ho would emerge:

Le Duan, 62, first-secretary of the Lao Dong (workers) party, a pragmatic political boss who tends to side with the pro-Soviet element in political disputes but is known as an independent and militant Communist.

Truong Chinh, 61, the chief party theoretician and chairman of the standing committee of the National Assembly. Chinh, whose name means "long march," is identified with the pro-Chinese wing. He has regained considerable influence in the last 18 months after several years in political eclipse because of his role in the disastrous land reform program, in which thousands died in riots, in the 1950s.

—Pham Van Dong, 61, premier of North Vietnam since 1950 and considered by many observers as the most likely heir apparent. He is believed to be the chief government administrator. While a hard-liner in public, Dong has a reputation as a flexible politician who leans toward the pro-Soviet elements.

whole bill for state welfare programs.

Nixon had asked Rockefeller to make the Latin American tour to get some first-hand information that might be useful in future policy-making decision in that area.

Ziegler said he doubted Rockefeller's report would be made public. The trip touched off protest demonstrations in some South American countries and a few of them asked Rockefeller to stay away.

After Rockefeller reports, Nixon was to meet with the 26-member Nixon Foundation, a group he named last May to set up a nonprofit corporation for educational and charitable purposes and to establish a Richard M. Nixon library and museum. The library probably will be built near Nixon's oceanfront home here.

Now incorporated in California, the trustees were gathering for their first meeting, primarily to select a chairman and launch their operations.

The members include Nixon relatives, close personal friends, top administration officials and businessmen backers.

Members of the cabinet were scheduled to fly in tonight for a meeting tomorrow, the second convened here during Nixon's vacation visit. Wives were coming, too, for a cabinet dinner the Nixons are giving tomorrow night.

Monday nights, when 113 persons were arrested.

Forty-seven persons were arrested last night, police said. An estimated 75 persons have been injured in the disorders that began when a Negro woman was shot and wounded as police were breaking up an auto drag race.

Police and 100 state troopers in Hartford used tear gas and wholesale arrests to restore calm Tuesday night after an outbreak of arson and shooting in the predominantly Negro and Puerto Rican North End section.

More than 70 stores have been burned or looted and a score of persons, including firemen and police, injured in disturbances which erupted Monday night. More than 250 persons have been arrested, including 162 new arrests between 8 a.m. yesterday and 12:30 a.m. today.

City Mgr. Elisha Freedman said he would decide today whether to continue a citywide overnight curfew—the second such ban for the city in two months.

Mayor Ann Uccello ordered residents of the Connecticut capital off the streets from sunset to sunrise for two nights in June because of violence in the North End.

The curfew at first failed to control the crowds of destructive teen-agers and young adults Tuesday night but the arrests of scores of persons and a light rain brought the situation under control by 11 p.m.

Elsewhere:

A window-breaking spree by a gang of about 150 Negro youths leaving a county fair at Dayton, Ohio, led to 36 arrests and was only brought under control early this morning after police used tear gas.

A television cameraman was arrested on a charge of making obscene remarks to a policeman, and a Penn Central Railroad engineer for allegedly failing to comply with a police signal.

Bettini said the council had an obligation to taxpayers and "can't assume the responsibility to pay $750,000."

"I don't think we should talk purchase," said Councilman Fred E. Jensen.

Councilman John A. Miskimen said the courthouse square has been for sale for some time and real estate speculators have passed it up, and the city wasn't in the business of "speculating in real estate."

Councilmen agreed that disposal of the site isn't the responsibility of the city, but they would be willing to help the county.

They authorized Acting City Mgr. James H. McCown to open discussions with County Administrator Alan Bruce on the courthouse problem.

Architect Robert W.F. Severin of San Rafael has proposed that the city consider placing its proposed community center at the courthouse site.

Severin was at the meeting, prepared to present his plan, but it wasn't on the agenda, so councilmen agreed to listen to his suggestion at their next meeting, Sept. 15.

Councilmen said that although they aren't interested in buying the site, they are still willing to hear proposals for development there.

Man Is Treated For Broken Bone

A Kentfield man was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a broken bone in his face and a cut lip, apparently suffered in a fracas at the Funny Farm tavern, 813 Fourth Street, San Rafael, police said.

James Henry Curtin of 223 Kent Avenue was found lying down, his face covered with blood, at the Courthouse. He told officers he had been beaten.

Witnesses however, said Curtin had threatened to throw a glass at a waitress and had pushed another customer during the fracas.

CHAKA

Supt. Phillip W. Schneider of Sausalito at that time and was told Bradley was not an employee of the district. Yesterday, however, Schneider advised him by letter that he would recommend Bradley's appointment at the Sausalito board meeting next Monday night.

Schneider, arguing against Hollis's recommendation for denial, told the county board, "I really have a feeling there's some kind of game being played."

He said he had been told the state committee would hear Bradley's application Aug. 7, but "for some reason it has been shifted till after school starts."

He said "the only problem is that he's had an arrest. . . We have no way of determining whether it was a felony." Later, he said "it was a civil rights arrest." (Bradley was arrested several times by San Francisco police during sit-in demonstrations a few years ago.)

Robert C. Spain, Hollis's administrative assistant, said the state department of education could not divulge the nature of the difficulty prior to the committee's hearing. To do so, he said, would be a misdemeanor.

Board member James A. Carroll asked Schneider when he decided to employ Bradley for the new school year. Schneider said it was early in July, but "I've offered employment; the board has yet to comfirm."

Last Friday, said Schneider, "I was asked (by Hollis) 'is he an employee.' I had to answer that 'no'."

Under further quizzing by Carroll, Schneider claimed, "There are only two reasons for not granting a credential — a homosexual act or a felony."

Schneider said the temporary credential was asked because "we were criticized last school year for not going through this channel . . . I think he taught four or five weeks last year."

(Bradley was hired last spring after a teacher assigned by the Mill Valley School District to Martin Luther King School in Sausalito refused to remain there. He was hired as an instructional aide — not requiring a credential — but at a teacher's salary. Schneider at that time insisted Bradley was serving under a regular teacher who was assigned to the class as an additional duty.)

Board member Lee C. Richardson Jr. held that if the county board were to issue a temporary certificate and the state then denied Bradley his permanent credential, "it would be our fault that he was allowed to teach for four or five weeks — not yours, not the state commission's."

Carroll said denial of the temporary credential "in my opinion would be to favor the children instead of the teacher." He added, "I don't see this board as a rubber stamp."

Schneider left after Robinson's motion, seconded by Richardson, passed unanimously. Board member Patrick W. Pollock was absent.

low at the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara. His position was later eliminated in a reorganization.

After two marriages and two divorces, Pike last December married the former Diane Kennedy. They had collaborated on a book "The Other Side," in which Pike claimed to have communicated with his dead son James Jr., who committed suicide in 1966.

Both the book and the marriage drew censure from Episcopal authorities, and in February the church suspended him from priestly functions. Shortly after Pike announced formation of a new Christian group, the Foundation for Religious Transition, which he said was the answer for those "who have lost hope in organized churches." He and his wife left the church at the same time.

San Francisco Calls Rafferty

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Board of Education authorized its chief legal counsel last night to initiate a test case designed to keep Dr. Max Rafferty, state superintendent of public instruction, from interfering in the selection of San Francisco's textbooks.

In a unanimous action which came after stormy debate, the board instructed counsel Irving Breyer to take legal action to have it determined "the board of education has the authority to approve the use of supplementary books..."

The action also was designed to prevent Rafferty "from threatening the revocation of credentials of teachers who assign or permit the use of any books" adopted by the board. Rafferty issued such a warning regarding the use of Eldridge Cleaver's "Soul on Ice" and Le Roi Jones' "Dutchman" as supplementary texts.

Homeowner Wins Right On Addition

A stop-work order which was prohibiting a Corte Madera homeowner from completing a new room to his house was rescinded last night by the Corte Madera Town Council.

The council voted 3-1 to allow Eugene K. Royal to resume work on the addition at 96 Golden Hind Passage.

The stop-work order, issued by the town's building inspector, was origionally made because Royal's addition turned out to be five feet wider and two feet higher than the plans which were approved by the town's Planning commission.

Attorney Leonard Shaw, representing Royal, admitted that the homeowner had erred in not telling the city about the plan change, but said that since the new plans did meet city specifications the city should now lift the order and allow construction to continue.

Councilman Byron D. White unsuccessfully opposed allowing construction to resume, saying, "I don't believe that Mr. Royal made an innocent mistake. I know he knows as much about the building codes as we do. What he did was a serious violation of the code."

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

PARK GIFT — Accepted a check for $319 from the Redwood Sertoma Club to purchase a merry-go-round for the children's playground in the town park.

FLASHING LIGHT — Approved an agreement with the Northwest Pacific Railroad to place a flashing light on San Clemente Drive where it intersects the railroad tracks. Cost to the city will be about $2,550, Ronald L. Usher, town manager, said.

DRAINAGE EASEMENT — Accepted a drainage easement on Paradise Drive from H. Alfred Hanken.

TOWN VOTER — Named Councilman Holmes S. Norville as the town's voting representative to the League of California Cities.

BROWN ACT — Received a copy of the Ralph M. Brown act from Marin County District Atty. Bruce B. Bales.

MEETING — Authorized William McBride, the town's building inspector, to attend the annual business meeting of the International Conference of Building Officials in Salt Lake City which ends Saturday. Cost to the city is $269.

Dismissal Denied In Marijuana Case

A motion to dismiss a case against Maurice A. Schwartz, 24, of Lagunitas was denied yesterday in Marin Superior Court and he was ordered to stand trial on charges of possessing marijuana and resisting arrest the week of Dec. 15.

He was arrested April 26 on Highway 101 when a car in which he was hitchhiking was stopped by California Highway Patrol officers.

Luggage Firm Must Remove Large Signs

Corte Madera town councilmen last night handed the Koch Luggage Co. some good and bad news.

The town council voted unanimously to approve a building permit, allowing Koch to begin its expansion project, but in the same breath authorized Town Atty. Sherrod S. Davis to begin legal action to force Koch to take down two over-sized billboards just off Highway 101.

The two billboards in question each contain 727 square feet, well over the 200 square feet allowed under the town's existing sign ordinance.

The town's planning commission had recommended that the building permit be held up until the signs had been removed or replaced with ones conforming to the ordinance.

One of the signs will have to be either moved or replaced because it is currently standing where the Koch plans to extend its plant.

Councilman Holmes S. Norville said he favored adopting the planning commission's recommendation, adding that by approving the building permit without the signs being removed put the city in the position of "proceeding without any teeth."

Mayor Edward W. Colthurst, however, proposed approving the building permit and then having legal proceedings started to make Koch's signs conform to the ordinance.

"I feel the city may be part culprit," Colthurst said by way of explanation for his approach. "After all, we've let those signs stand for 10 years now."

Councilmen expressed hope that the Koch management would take care of the sign removal before formal court action is necessary.

Mountain View Wants Garbage

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — San Francisco has expressed a willingness to grant a request by the suburban community of Mountain View for a five years' supply of garbage.

Mountain View wants to fill in 500 acres of land as the site for a regional park. It calculates the site would provide dumping space for San Francisco swill for the next five years.

San Francisco garbage currently is carried to Brisbane, but that community has asked the city to find a new dump. A joint committee of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors voted 5-1 yesterday to consider Mountain View's request.

Russian Ship Bringing Cargo

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A Soviet freighter this week will make the first delivery in San Francisco Bay by a Russian ship in 25 years.

And it appears its cargo will help this nation's space program.

The merchant ship Orsha is due to dock Friday to unload a cargo of Titanium sponge, which is used for a variety of air and space components. Japan also exports titanium sponge, but the Soviet product is much cheaper.

The ultimate recipient is being kept secret, but the cargo apparently is for the U.S. government.

Light Sentence For Runaway

A 26-year-old Sausalito man who skipped while awaiting sentencing on a marijuana possession charge even though the recommendation of the probation department had been for a suspended sentence, yesterday was given 20 days in jail.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court told Milford Kelly Parker that he would give him credit for time served, however.

Parker had pleaded guilty in December 1968, to possessing marijuana when arrested Dec. 31, 1967 in a vacant Sausalito apartment. A bench warrant was issued when he failed to appear in court for sentencing in February. He recently was rearrested.

Brothers Accuse Each In Slaying Of Ramon Novarro

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two Chicago brothers on trial in the Oct. 30, 1968, slaying of actor of Ramon Novarro each say the other was responsible for the bludgeon death of the silent screen star.

The jury of seven men and five women heard testimony yesterday from Thomas Ferguson, 18, who said he was on the telephone with a girl friend in Chicago while Novarro was being fatally beaten by his brother.

This was in direct contradiction to events related last week by Paul Ferguson, 23. The elder brother maintained in his testimony that he had passed out on a couch from heavy drinking and awakened to find Novarro dead in a bedroom.

The nude and tied body of the 63-year-old actor was found on his bed after an evening the Ferguson brothers say they were dinner guests at Novarro's rambling, Spanish-style home in Studio City.

Thomas testified he was about to conclude his 45-minute phone conversation when he heard noises in the master bedroom. His brother called him into the room, he said, and he saw Novarro beaten, bloodied and lying on the bed.

Thomas said he pulled the actor into the shower in the hope of reviving him, then took him back to the bed. Returning later, he said, he saw Novarro lying on his back on the floor.

"He looked dead," young Ferguson said.

The teen-ager told the jury that his brother, standing nearby, appeared to be in a trance. Thomas acknowledged that it was his idea to make it look like a robbery slaying.

He testified that he secured the electrical cord used to bind the victim's hands behind him and that he also scratched Novarro's neck with a knife to make it appear a woman had clawed him with long fingernails.

Scientists say that if the offspring from one pair of houseflies all survived and reproduced normally for six months, there would be 191,000,000,000,000,000 flies — or enough to cover the earth to a depth of 47 feet.

Hanoi Hinting Of Deadlock Break

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam's delegate to the Paris peace talks hinted last night that a speedup in the withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam might break the deadlock in the negotiations.

Hanoi's Xuan Thuy made the suggestion at a North Vietnamese reception. It was the first indication Hanoi might be interested in anything less than a total, unconditional American withdrawal.

"If the Americans continue their withdrawals at the present pace, we can't make an assessment of the situation," Thuy said. "However, if Nixon withdraws his troops rapidly and in considerable numbers, well, we will examine this factor and take it into account."

The ambassador commented during a discussion that began when a newsman asked him what could be done to get the peace negotiations moving. He replied:

"First, the Americans must recognize the principle that they must withdraw their troops. Then they must take out their troops rapidly and truly."

Asked if a pullout of 100,000 men would be adequate as a starter, the ambassador said: "When they do it, we shall examine the problem and we shall take it into account."

President Richard M. Nixon announced June 8 that 25,000 U.S. troops would be pulled out of Vietnam by the end of August. The last contingent left on schedule last Thursday. But the North Vietnamese called the withdrawal of 25,000 men a token pullout and "a sham" and demanded that American disengagement be "total, rapid and unconditional."

The chief U.S. negotiator in Paris, Henry Cabot Lodge, said at the weekly session last Thursday that the President had decided to delay further U.S. withdrawals because North Vietnam had ignored American steps to reduce the level of fighting.

Lodge told Hanoi's peace negotiators that despite the U.S. withdrawal completed so far, and despite last month's directive to cut down on the number of B52s bombing in South Vietnam, 130 regular North Vietnamese battalions and "tens of thousands of agents" were continuing to operate in the South.

Another senior member of Hanoi's peace delegation said last night that North Vietnam would not be willing to make any concessions for a cessation of U.S. B52 raids in South Vietnam.

Talks Open In Bangkok On Troops

BANGKOK (AP) — Thailand and the United States opened formal talks today on the gradual reduction of the 49,000 American servicemen stationed in Thailand. But the number of troops to be withdrawn was not discussed.

Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman said after the meeting that he and U.S. Ambassador Leonard Unger discussed only "political principles and the relations between the two countries."

Details of withdrawals will be worked out at subsequent meetings, he said. The next is scheduled late next week.

A joint statement issued after the meeting stressed that U.S. troops stationed in Thailand are here to "protect the lives of American and allied fighting men in South Vietnam against the aggressors, rather than assisting Thailand against Communist subversive activities."

"The continued presence of these forces in Thailand will be related to the requirements of the Vietnam War and the security of this area," the statement said. It added, however, that the two countries are agreed "the goal of these talks would be the gradual reduction in the level of U.S. forces."

3-Year-Old Hurt In 12-Foot Fall

A three-year-old Petaluma boy was injured yesterday at 7:10 p.m. when he fell 12 feet from a window ledge to a porch floor.

Vernon Withrow, 24 Seventh Street, was reported in fair condition at Hillcrest Hospital with cuts of the head and face. His parents said they had unlatched the window screen during remodeling.

Massive Red Buildup Choking Saigon Units

SAIGON (AP) — Massive American B52 strikes today hit North Vietnamese battling South Vietnamese forces near the provincial capital of Song Be for the fourth day.

South Vietnamese casualties troops killed, 138 wounded and 17 missing, as well as four American Green Beret advisers wounded.

The enemy resistance was so strong that more than 1,000 troops from the Green Beret mobile strike force of hired tribesmen have been forced into retreat. Only six enemy soldiers were known dead.

The battle is taking place in heavy jungle near the Cambodian border about 85 miles northeast of Saigon.

The fighting was touched off Sunday when a battalion of strike force troops uncovered an enemy base camp. The South Vietnamese were surrounded quickly, attacked from all sides and forced to retreat. They have been unable to move forward since.

American intelligence officers thought at first the camp was the headquarters of an enemy regiment. But now there is speculation that it may be a division field headquarters.

During the night more than 20 B52s pounded the enemy camp bombs. Some strikes were only three miles from the Cambodian border.

A U.S. air cavalry battalion of 400 men which had reinforced the South Vietnamese yesterday was pulled out today after another 400 strike force troops were flown in. But one battered battalion of the strike force also was pulled out, leaving 800 to 1,000 South Vietnamese troops committed to the battle.

Also American air cavalrymen probing the jungles of the enemy's War Zone C, 65 miles northwest of Saigon, ran into a barrage of machine-gun and rifle fire yesterday for the fourth successive day. In a 10-minute fight, 12 enemy and two Americans were reported killed.

STARLIGHT, Pa. (AP)—Four college students were elected yesterday to the national governing commission of the B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation. The organization claimed it was the first major Jewish organization to grant full participating rights to young people.

Named to one-year terms were Daniel Friedman, 20, Westport, Conn., a junior at Yale; Byron Kohl, 18, Evanston, Ill., a sophomore at Northwestern; Phyllis Leventhal, 19, Long Beach, Calif., a sophomore at Stanford, and Arnie Rachlin, 20, Norristown, Pa., a senior at Penn.

The national Hillel commission has 62 members.

More Funds Sought For Tiny Tot Park

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Department is seeking about $250 to help it complete the tot lot at Memorial Park.

The department said yesterday it would use the money for tanbark and sand under playground equipment and for concrete for a patio at the edge of the park. Persons or organizations wishing to contribute may call Frank Quinn or Fred Lancelotti. Several hundred dollars has already been donated by civic groups.

A host of plants, as well as animals, carry their own tiny lanterns. One species of umbrella-shaped fungus turns into a facsimile of a small night lamp.

Marin Visitor Finds Libya Backward Despite Oil Fields

By JOANNE GRANT

The coup which dethroned the ailing king of Libya Monday may have appeared a typical revolution, but a Marin educator who visited the country last month believes that is an oversimplification.

Daniel J. Thorner, dean of boys at Terra Linda High School since 1963, said he fears the military junta may be linked with Egypt and the more militant Mideast nations which have long coveted the tiny, oil-rich country.

The high-level participants in the coup probably are appealing to Arab nationalism, the only emotional appeal they have, the 35-year-old Sleepy Hollow resident speculated.

Broadcast reports of the formation of a Socialist republic to rid the country of "reactionary and corrupt elements" were seen by Thorner as poor excuses for the takeover.

Thorner was a guest of Occidental Petroleum Corp. of Los Angeles, a firm in which he has a financial interest and which has extensive holdings in the North African nation.

He studied the people and the country and its economic and political history and future extensively before and during his tour, which he made solely because he wanted to see the country.

He talked of various facets of the problems in an interview yesterday.

The 79-year-old king, Idris el Senussi, has ruled since Libya gained independence in 1951 when the country had four college and 16 high school graduates, Thorner explained.

The king is a "very enlightened" monarch in Middle Eastern terms, but "I suppose in our terms the king is probably as corrupt as hell," he said.

DANIEL J. THORNER
Wanted to see country

'Everybody thought something would happen when he died," Thorner said, explaining that the successor, the king's nephew Hassan el-Reda, is considered weak. The crown prince made an abdication speech after the coup was announced.

The king had tried to produce an heir, had even imported a wife from Egypt, but divorced her after two barren years, Thorner said.

The king is enormously wealthy. "It's been said he could make all one-and-a-half-million Libyans millionaires," said Thorner.

He hasn't of course, but he has won good deals on oil leases; has made a sincere effort to improve the nation, and even moved the capital from city to city to try to please everyone.

He has made his presence felt with police and soldiers on every corner, Thorner indicated. The frequent appearance of soldiers, the barbed wire fencing around the airport, the unusually thorough customs check, gave Thorner the impression of a police state.

Oil keeps the country going. The first major strike was in 1965 by Occidental and today the firm pumps more out of seven wells than can be produced in the whole state of California in a day, Thorner said.

Libya gets about half of what's produced by Occidental plus an extra 5 per cent the firm has pledged toward development of the Sahara.

The firm last year found water beneath the desert at Kufra, an oasis 600 miles from the nearest town and the birthplace of the king.

The water supply discovery is equal to Lake Michigan and has been the impetus for developing of agriculture in the barren country which once was the bread basket of the Holy Roman Empire, Thorner said.

A farming program for Libyans has been set to lure the people back to the country and Occidental itself has a vast farming operation. Already the alfalfa fields are producing a crop each month.

Poverty is widespread and the cost of living high, he reported. Most Libyans have little education and work as laborers, in the oil industry.

The technical work is done by Europeans and Americans, he reported, a fact which may save the oil industry from the military. He indicated a larger share of the profits may be asked, however.

A major purpose of Thorner's trip was to confer with educators, in a sort of public relations effort for Occidental.

He found the schools most in need of qualified teachers. Jewish and Christian teachers are not welcome. The only qualification for teachers in that they have finished the grade they are teaching, he said.

The people are simply not trained for carrying on the production of oil, he maintained.

First Candidate Files Papers

Manuel S. Peters has filed for re-election to the Bolinas Fire District board, the Marin County elections office reported yesterday.

Peters is the first candidate to file for the Nov. 4 election, in which 53 seats will be filled in 25 sanitary, fire, community services, public utility, water and soil conservation districts.

Peter's term is the only one expiring on the Bolinas board.

LIBYA JUNTA WANTS ALLIED BASES CLOSED

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Libya's new military government has asked commanders of the American and British military bases in the country to stop training exercises on Libyan soil, Egypt's middle East News Agency reported from Tripoli today.

The report said the commanders of the U.S. Air Force's big Wheelus base outside Tripoli and of the small British bases at Tobruk and El Adem agreed to comply.

The report strengthened belief in the Middle East that closure of the Western bases would be one of the first aims of the leftist junta.

The Arab world's more radical governments were hurrying to recognize the new leftist regime, strengthening belief that he junta would pull away from the West and join them in a more militant stand against Israel.

Lennon Killer Car In East Bay

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A car believed used by the killer of William Lennon, father of the Lennon Sisters singing group, has been found in Berkeley, police here report.

The Plymouth with Iowa license plates was impounded there three days before Lennon was gunned down Aug. 12 in a golf range parking lot.

Police are seeking Chet Young, a former mental patient who reportedly harassed the Lennon family, for the murder. Young was last known to be living in Alameda.

Coup May Add Power To Leftist Arab Bloc

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Libya's coup d'etat is another in a series of upheavals by army officers in the huge Arab world, which is moving it steadily closer to becoming a main arena of confrontation between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Arab world upheavals have been following a pattern, and from initial assessments, Libya's seems unlikely to be an exception.

The pattern involves overthrow of a conservative regime by army officers in the name of Arab unity, nationalism and an odd brand of "Arab socialism." The tendency then is to shift to the direction of the Communist world. It would seem paradoxical for army officers, traditionally rightist, to do this, but the factors involved cause it to make sense to the Arabs.

Among the factors are the existence of Israel in the heart of Arabdom, resentment of the West for making that possible, wounded pride, dreams of ancient Arab glories and a large measure of opportunism which causes Arab military men to reach in any direction for help, regardless of long-range risks. These leaders often see nothing illogical in accepting arms and other aid from the Russians while outlawing communism in their own countries.

An enormous Arab area is involved in this progressive orientation toward Moscow. It includes Iraq, Syria, Yemen, Sudan, the United Arab Republic and Algeria. Now the United States and the West will worry that Libya may swing into the procession by the same route—that of the military coup by officers hungry for arms. Possibly the men in the Kremlin are rubbing their hands in anticipation of new dividends for their policies of the past 15 years.

Within grabbing distance now may be a goal which the Russians long have nurtured—a long chain of friendly governments stretching along the Mediterranean and into the Arab East for a distance of almost 3,000 miles, from eastern Morocco to the western frontiers of Iran.

Historically, the Russians have pressed southward seeking warm weather ports and outlets to free them from a sense of isolation. Today that pressure is extended over a wide area. The goal, primarily, would be to counter what Moscow considers a western threat of encirclement with a sort of encirclement of the West in return. The oil of Libya and the Arab East is largely incidental in this. The Russians do not need it. At the moment, Europe does.

The Middle East is quite another matter. Moscow began concentrating much of its attention there in 1955, helped the following year by the British, French and Israeli attack on the Suez Canal Zone.

The 1956 developments set off a chain of events. Syria, influenced by arms-hungry army officers, veered far to the left. Iraq had a bloody upheaval in 1958 in which King Faisal was murdered, and since then a bewildering series of army coups and counter-coups.

Peru is starting a long-range plan to clear 3.2 million acres of jungle and resettle 5,250 families, to be farmers.

Probation, Fine On Possessing Marijuana

Russell M. Guidi, 21, of Fairfax yesterday was placed on six months probation and fined $125 by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court for marijuana possession. He was also given a 30-day suspended jail sentence.

Guidi had earlier admitted possessing the weed last Dec. 10 in Fairfax. Additional drug charges against him were dropped when he pleaded guilty. He and another man were arrested when police smelled marijuana smoke coming from their apartment while searching for someone else.

Education Board Members Question Hiring Practices

Hiring practices of the Marin County superintendent of schools came in for criticism last night from two members of the county board of eudcation.

The board approved hiring of five teachers for special classes operated by the county schools office, but not until members James A. Swenson and Lee C. Richardson Jr. raised several questions about them.

Swenson first questioned the hiring of Meryl Lipton of San Francisco to teach a new class for educationally handicapped at White Hill School in Fairfax, because Lipton's experience consisted of six months of week-end counseling at a boys' school.

"It doesn't sound like a real hot recommendation to me," said Swenson.

Robert C. Spain, administrative consultant, responded that Lipton, who holds a master's degree from Yeshiva University in New York, appeared best qualified of candidates interviewed. There is a dearth of experienced teachers of the educationally handicapped, he said.

Richardson then raised two questions about salaries. He pointed out that, although Lipton has a master's degree, he was being hired at $8,594 per year while Marion Lamorte of San Anselmo, employed to teach a similar class at White Hill, has only a bachelor's degree and three months' experience as a substitute but was to receive $8,921.

Spain said Lamorte was being credited for one year's experience because he served two years in the Peace Corps. However, he said the salary figure might be wrong and he would check into it.

An anomaly in teacher salaries was also pointed out by Richardson, in that two teachers in the county-operated child center are to receive only $604 per month, although both have degrees and one of them, Dane Waide of San Francisco, has six years' experience.

Spain said child center instructors are regarded as "classified employees," even though they may have full teacher credentials.

Sharon Maxwell was hired for the second child center job, and Philip Grossman of San Francisco, at $8,373 per year, to teach a mentally retarded class at Henry C. Hall School in Larkspur.

Swenson also took issue mildly with a memorandum by Deputy Supt. Stanley H. Friese on resignation policy, which resulted from teachers quitting during the contract year. The memorandum merely called attention that the board and superintendent expect a teacher to serve out the contract.

"This is too nice," objected Swenson. "We have a right to say what we expect." He urged that Friese prepare a "firm line" policy for board consideration.

The Marin County Board of Education also:

COMMENDATION — Adopted a resolution commending Mrs. Calvin Terwilliger for working "untiringly in promoting conservation education."

FEDERAL FUNDS — Approved applications for federal funds of $28,207 for special reading and mathematics instruction in Larkspur, Kentfield, Laguna, Shoreline, Bolinas-Stinson and Reed districts; $17,022 for a remedial reading program at St. Vincent's School for Boys, and $7,278 for an instructor for educationally handicapped at Sunny Hills.

COMMITTEES — Continued for another year last year's committee appointments, as follows: Administrative services: Patrick W. Pollock, Arnold Dolcini and Glen Robinson; educational services: James A. Carroll, Marilyn Crowell and Swenson: special services: Richardson, Mrs. Crowell and Swenson.

Pollock was absent from last night's meeting.

Red Hair

HAVANA (AP) — Men's hair styles in Cuba this year call for longer sideburns and the elimination of the square cut across the neck, says the Bureau of Fashion Orientation. The bureau gave this guideline in a new newspaper series and said it would have more fashion advice in the future.

Boy Held As Suspect In Burglary

A 12-year-old San Rafael boy was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall yesterday on suspicion of burglary after witnesses said he entered the Steve Liggett Beauty Supplies store at 1607 Fourth Street, San Rafael, police reported today.

Police said Curtis Ray Jones of 105 Shaver Street was booked after witnesses called police to report a burglary in progress.

Officers said about $6 and a transistor radio were taken after entry had been gained by breaking a window.

Also reported today were four other cases of stealing.

Jonathan S. King of 28 Ridgewood Drive, San Rafael, told police Monday a window had been broken at his home and a hunting knife taken. The burglary occurred sometime during the weekend, police said.

A cash register worth $350 and containing about $100 was taken from Rick's Cleaning Center, 270 Northgate Drive, San Rafael, Monday. Police said the cash register weighed 100 pounds.

Three radiators, three batteries and an automatic transmission were taken from C and L Auto Wrecking during the weekend, an employee, Charles Barner reported Monday. No value was listed.

James Robert Hollingsworth reported yesterday a .22-caliber revolver worth $46 had been taken from a drawer at his home, 311 Prospect Drive during the day. There was no signs of forced entry.

Appeals Invited On Denial Of Transfers

Appeals from refusals by school districts to allow inter-district transfers of pupils were virtually invited last night by the Marin County Board of Education. (Another county board of education story, page 1.)

The matter came up because LeVoy Elder of 123 Drake Avenue, Marin City, appealed the Sausalito School District board's refusal to allow his son, Darrell, an inter-district transfer to attend Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley.

However, Deputy Supt. Stanley Friese informed the board that Elder had withdrawn the appeal because, on a recent trip into the Southwest, he arranged for his son to attend school in Mexico.

County Supt. Virgil S. Hollis, saying, "we have quite a few inquiries from the Sausalito district," then outlined steps to be taken by parents who are refused such transfers by their districts.

Chairman Arnold Dolcini named board member James A. Carroll to head a committee of his own selection to investigate and make recommendations on all appeals of such denials. Hollis predicted there would be several requests for inter-district transfers before the Sausalito board at its meeting next Monday night.

The steps as outlined by Hollis are as follows:

If the local board refuses an inter-district transfer, the parent may file an appeal with the county board. If it grants the appeal, the child may attend school in the district desired immediately.

The same appeal may be taken if the district where the parent wants the child to attend refuses after the district of residence has agreed to a transfer.

There is no appeal beyond the county board.

Arrangements for financial transfers to cover the cost of educating the child in a district to which he is transferred are worked out by the county staff.

Hollis said the county is allowed 30 days to make its investigation. Meanwhile, the child may attend the district requested pending outcome of the appeal.

Lyle O. Wright of the county superintendent's staff reported the Sausalito School District has denied four transfers since July 1 and denied six last school year. In all other school districts in the county, only four such transfers were denied last year, he said.

Emergency Fund Established In Marinwood

Marinwood Homeowners Association agreed last night to be the funding agency for the Marinwood emergency fund, which will be used to help victims of major illness or tragedy such as fires.

Jerry C. Leith, association president, said the role of his group will be to build up the fund to about $2,000/$3,000.

The association last night donated $50 toward the fund, to be added to the $104.54 contributed by the Marinwood Firemen's Association.

The fund was initiated last month at the suggestion of Frank Solomon, a director of the Marinwood Community Services District.

"It will be a continual fund to be used either on a loan basis or as an outright gift, depending on what the board of directors of the fund decide.

The fund's board of directors, not yet named, probably will consist of representatives from various Marinwood organizations such as the Marinwood Firemen's Association, homeowners association, and the community services district.

Marin Seeks Push To Finish Seashore Park

Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday called for a joint push by Bay Area counties and cities to get the federal government to complete the purchase of Point Reyes National Seashore before bulldozers begin tearing up the land for subdivisions.

On a motion by Peter Arrigoni Jr. and a second by Louis H. Baar, supervisors approved a resolution asking Congress and President Richard M. Nixon for immediate acquisition of the seashore land. The supervisors decided to call on governmental agencies in the other Bay Area counties to support the petition.

Point Reyes National Seashore was authorized by Congress in 1962. To date only 22,540 acres of a total of 53,480 acres have been acquired. The 25,000 acre Lake Ranch, which is in the heart it is being prepared for sale in 40-acre parcels.

"Not only Marin but the whole Bay Area, the state and the nation want to see the national park completed," declared Arrigoni. "Immediate acquisition is imperative if this, the only National Seashore on the West Coast, is to become a reality."

Marin County Board Of Supervisors Also:

DISTILLERY PROPERTY — Approved apartment zoning for the 14-acre industrial property formerly occupied by the Sausalito Distillery along Bridgeway, as requested by the City of Sausalito. Sausalito City Planner Eric Borgwardt said the owner wants apartment zoning, and the city intends to annex the area as soon as possible.

AUDITORIUM — Approved an additional $3,900 to increase the resiliency of the stage floor in the new Veterans Memorial Auditorium, which is under construction at the Civic Center.

WEED ABATEMENT — Ordered weed abatement on the property of Emil Passalaqua at the corner of North and Oceanview, Dillon's Beach, because the lot is a fire hazard and a public nuisance.

FAMILY CLINIC — Agreed to pay Dr. R. F. Unzelman of Daly City $45 for each two-hour Family Planning Clinic which he will conduct in San Rafael between now and next June 30. About 10 such clinics will be held, with Marin County Department of Public Health as sponsor.

GNOSS FIELD — Accepted completion of runway extension and lighting at Gnoss Field and agreed to make final payments to Brown-Ely Co. of San Rafael on the $115,984 job.

STAFFORD LAKE — Approved filing of an application for $69,650 from the California Park Facilities Act of 1964 to improve Stafford Lake County Park so that it can be opened for public use.

MENTAL HEALTH — Appointed George D. Monardo, former Mill Valley councilman, to the mental health advisory board.

YOUTH COORDINATOR — Authorized the county probation department to borrow a delinquency prevention consultant for a year from the California Youth Authority to work as temporary coordinator for the county's delinquency prevention and youth commissions while the county recruits and trains a permanent coordinator.

WELFARE — Approved plans by the public social services department to start a work incentive program for approximately 100 welfare recipient families. Local cost of $10,000 will be matched by $20,000 in state funds, and $90,000 in federal funds for a total of $120,000 available for work training, child care, transportation and other costs to families in the program.

Betty L. Presley, department director said the program will be started with 40 unemployed fathers and 60 mothers with dependent children. The local share of $10,000 had been earmarked for a similar program totaling only $40,000.

HIGHWAYS — Agreed to issue a formal invitation for the state Highway Commission to hold its Nov. 13-14 meeting at the Marin Civic Center. The commission has never met in Marin, Supervisor Michael Wornum said, and the meeting will be a chance for the county to present its highway problems.

MEDICAL — Approved a 60-day extension of an agreement with McAuley Neurological Hospital in San Francisco for further treatment of a brain-damaged Marin child under care there.

Bernadette Back In Ireland

SHANNON, Ireland (AP) — Bernadette Devlin returned from the United States today and said she had raised "a great deal of money" for Roman Catholic victims of last month's religious warfare in Northern Ireland.

The 22-year-old Catholic member of British Parliament refused to say how much money she raised, but she said it was being deposited in American cities and would be transferred to Ireland later.

Miss Devlin promised that the money would not be spent on arms for Northern Ireland's Catholic minority. "I have given my personal guarantee to the people who contributed," she said.

Miss Devlin left New York two days ahead of schedule, canceling a meeting today in Washington with House Speaker John McCormack and other congressmen. Her press secretary said she left early because of fatigue and security conditions.

Fire-Police Protection Policy Aired

Marin County yesterday received the City-County Services Committee's statement of policy on equalizing costs for duplicated services such as fire and police protection in cities and in unincorporated areas.

The document was accepted unanimously by the supervisors as a preliminary statement subject to further study.

The statement points out that duplications exist in such services as police and fire protection because cities provide their own services, and the county also has a fire department and the sheriff's office for unincorporated areas.

THE OBJECTIVES

Among objectives outlined in the policy statement is that unincorporated areas should gradually take over more of the cost of the county's fire department and the sheriff's office because taxpayers in cities and fire districts are already paying for their own services, in addition to supporting the county departments.

Supervisor Louis H. Baar objected to endorsing the statement as a firm policy because the statement contains percentage figures. For example, the statement states that unincorporated areas receive 12 per cent in local services but raise only 7 per cent in revenue.

Residents of unincorporated areas would object to these precise percentages and create controversies, argued Baar.

HARD TO PIN

Supervisors' chairman John F. McInnis agreed that it is impossible to pin down exact percentages of benefits received by unincorporated areas and by cities, and the percentages are only approximations.

Neil R. Brixon, chairman of the Council of Mayors and City Councilmen, called for a timetable for the policy statement to go into effect, but supervisors declined to set any dates.

Sausalito Zoning To Be Discussed

Changes in Sausalito's zoning regulations recommended by William Spangle and Associates will be considered by the Sausalito Planning Commission at its 8 p.m. meeting today at City Hall.

The commission also will take up a request by the Sausalito Yacht Harbor for permission to fill a portion of land on the waterfront.

Ross Assurance On Flood Project Sought

Fearful of another Tamalpais Creek controversy, Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday asked Public Works Director Donald R. Frost and County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney to get an assurance from the Town of Ross that it would not block the Corte Madera Creek Flood Control Project through Ross.

Philip B. Lygren, Ross town engineer, assured supervisors that the Ross Town Council merely wanted to retain a veto power over the third phase of the project just in case the Army Crops of Engineers project turned out to be unacceptable. Lygren said Ross has no intention of nit-picking on minor points such as color of concrete or loss of one tree.

Frost, however, warned supervisors that under the present veto power retained by Ross, the town could legally stop the entire third phase by vetoing even the smallest detail in the project. The third phase would extend the Corte Madera project from College Avenue in Kentfield to Shady Lane Bridge in Ross.

The supervisors asked Frost and Maloney to contact Ross officials and get written assurances that the town will not veto the whole project over minor details.

During its second phase, the project ran into delays and court fights when residents of Kent Woodlands objected to a concrete box culvert along Tamalpais Creek and demanded an underground drain along Woodland Avenue. Physical confrontation of construction workers by some residents and students led to arrests of 2 demonstrators and a test trial in Marin Municipal Court set for Sept. 30.

Shoreline Route Study Is Reopened

Marin County supervisors want the state to reopen its studies on the routing of Shoreline Highway from somewhere north of Golden Gate Bridge to West Marin.

Supervisors yesterday began discussing various routes which the county would ask the state Division of Highways to study. However, they decided that the routing details should be turned over to a committee headed by Supervisors Michael Wornum and Louis H. Baar, who in turn will appoint four other citizens to their committee.

This committee will go into specifics and come back with recommendations.

In asking the state for improving Shoreline Highway, supervisors declared they will ask for a series of design criteria so that scenic values will not be destroyed.

Student Leader Gets Two Years

PORTLAND, Ore. (UPI)— Two young men, including the University of Oregon student body president, were sentenced yesterday to two years in federal prison for interfering with draft boards.

The student leader, Kip D. Morgan, 21, of Roseburg, Ore., later was bound over to the federal grand jury on a firearms charge.

Morgan and David G. Gwyther, 21, of Eugene, Ore., were sentenced by U.S. Dist. Judge Robert Belloni to two years in prison on each of three counts with the sentences to run concurrently.

The two men were convicted of disrupting draft board meetings at Eugene and Roseburg to stage mock trials of board members.

Banker To Head Foreign Aid Study

SAN CLEMENTE (UPI) — Rudolph A. Peterson, president of the Bank of America, will head a presidential task force to study the U.S. foreign aid program.

The San Francisco banking executive met with President Richard M. Nixon yesterday at the Western White House where his appointment was announced.

The Western White House said the full membership of the task force on international development will be "announced shortly."

The announcement of Petersons' appointment noted that in the President's message to Congress on foreign aid, he said a task force of private citizens would make recommendations on the role of the United States in assistance to less developed foreign countries in the 1970s.

"He has directed the group to focus on the underlying rationale of the U.S. aid effort and its relationship to overall U.S. foreign policy," the announcement said.

New Underground

LONDON (AP) I London transport is considering building a new underground line, to be called the "Fleet Line" — for Fleet Street, center of the London newspaper industry. Work on the line will start in 1972 if Parliament approves.

BRUTALITY — Two former prisoners told a Bethesda, Md., news conference yesterday of brutality and torture in a North Vietnamese camp. They are Navy Postal Clerk 3/c Douglas B. Hegdahl, Clark, S. D. (Left), and Lt. Robert F. Frishman, Santee, Calif. (UPI Telephoto)

A Report Of Torture In Hanoi's Prisons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Navy men have given harsh accounts of North Vietnamese prison camp life in a switch of U.S. government tactics to bring pressure on Hanoi concerning prisoner of war treatment.

Few if any details came with the release of other American prisoners, but yesterday, Lt. Robert F. Frishman and seaman Douglas Brent Hegdahl told newsmen of torture, hunger and solitary confinement.

Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird followed this with a statement saying "North Vietnam has violated even the most fundamental standards of human decency."

Hanoi, Laird said, "consistently has claimed through propaganda statements that our men are being treated humanely." This has been clearly refuted, he said.

Frishman said his story was told because of "a strong obligation to those still back there to get the truth out."

The lieutenant said American prisoners have had their fingernails pulled out, been burned with glowing cigarette ends, beaten, suspended from beams by ropes, and cast into tiny almost airless cells for months on end.

"You resist so long," he said, "but it is only a matter of time before they can make you do anything they want you to do."

Frishman indicated his words may well cause further torture for the friends he left behind.

But, he said, several POW's got together before he left and it was the consensus that he should tell it like it is behind the barbed wire in Hanoi.

From this, Frishman said, he hopes that world opinion may force Hanoi to bring their treatment under the specifications of the Geneva Convention, which North Vietnam has signed.

Hegdahl, 22, said that as an enlisted man he did not suffer as much as the officers, who were mostly airmen. He did spend seven months and 10 days in solitary.

Supersonic Jet

NAGOYA, Japan (UPI)— Mitsubishi Heavy Industries, which built Japan's World War II Zero fighter plane, has completed a mockup of what will be Japan's first supersonic jet. The twin-engine XT2 trainer is scheduled to make its maiden flight in 1971.

Interracial Marriage Surprise

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Marriages between Negro men and white women are twice as stable as all-black marriages and slightly more stable than all-white marriages, says a sociologist.

Prof. Thomas T. Monahan of Villanova University told the American Sociological Association yesterday he bases his conclusion on a study of marriage and divorce statistics in Iowa between 1940 and 1967. He said the study covered approximately 8,000 interracial marriages.

Monahan said he also found that matches between white husbands and Negro wives were more stable than all-Negro marriages, but less stable than all-white unions or marriages between Negro men and white women.

Monahan noted the findings "contradict previous public opinion that interracial marriages don't have a chance of succeeding," but he declined to make any long range interpretation on the data from just one state.

"Is Iowa representative? I don't know. This is a problem" since many states don't identify races of marriage partners."

White Sands National Monument in southern New Mexico contains rolling white sand dunes that rise up to 60 feet.

Santa Barbara Pushed To Radical Tactics

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The notorious Santa Barbara oil slicks caused the community's rich to slide over to the tactics of the Left when they saw their legislators drowning in the power waves of the oil companies, according to a sociologist.

Harvey L. Molotch, a professor at U.C. Santa Barbara, told the 64th annual meeting of the American Sociological Convention here yesterday that the citizenry was outraged by the "all-powerful oil lobby", disenchanted by legislators "in the pockets" of the oil companies, and disillusioned by scientists "bought" by oil money.

Finally, Molotch said, the citizens dramatized their fury by sit-downs blocking oil trucks, yacht sail-ins circling off-shore wells, non-negotiatiable demands on City Hall and talk of blowing up oil rigs with high explosives.

From this the sociologist concluded that "radicalism is not a subtle form of mental illness caused by 'rapid technological change' or increasing 'impersonality' in the world—radicals are neither 'immature,' undisciplined,' or anti-intellectual?"

The wealthy, the mature, the educated and the conservative can all become radicals, he said. All they need is an ox to be gored.

Radio Broadcasts To Pay Telephone

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Radio Station WMHE-FM broadcast part of a city council meeting to an exclusive, and unknown audience.

The council meeting was "on the air" before the station and the telephone company determined that the broadcast was being sent to a pay telephone here instead of to the station transmitter.

Two Narrowly Miss Sentences To State Prison

Two 22-year-old San Rafael burglars who first came to the attention of the police when seen carrying a pillowcase full of silverware and jewelry down Greenfield Avenue in San Anselmo narrowly missed going to state prison yesterday.

George Edward Meyers and Paul Danny Cassidy were warned by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court, who gave them suspended prison sentences and a year in the county jail, that this was the "last stop" before prison.

He also told Meyers, who was described as having a serious drug problem, to seek help for his addiction or he would go to prison.

The youths had earlier pleaded guilty to one count of burglary and a second charge was dismissed. They had been arrested carrying articles stolen from a house in San Rafael May 4.

Chamois Hunting

PRAGUE (AP)—In May for the first time this year permission was given to hunt chamois in the North Moravian Hruby Jesenik district which were brought in from the Austrian Alps half a century ago. The news agency C.T.K. said western hunters will be allowed to bag them for hard currency.

COMPUTERS WORRY BAGLEY — William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, (Right) chairman of the special Assembly Committee on Statewide Information Policy, and Charles Smith (left), director of the Office of Management Services, had conflicting views at a Sacramento hearing yesterday on computer memory banks. Bagley called the idea frightening while Smith praised it. Taking it all in was Joyce Nary (right), Bagley's secretary. (AP Wirephoto)

Daughter Of Thomas Mann Dies

ZURICH, Switzerland (AP) — Erika Mann, eldest daughter of Nobel Prize winning author Thomas Mann, died in Zurich Cantonal Hospital last Wednesday after an operation, it was announced last night. She was 64.

Mann and his family left Germany in 1933 to escape the Nazis. Miss Mann and her brother Klaus toured Europe in a revue "The Pepper Mill" satirizing the Nazis, and then toured Britain and the United States lecturing against Hitler.

Miss Mann moved to the United States in 1936 and during the war was employed by several American newspapers as a war correspondent. After the war she returned to Germany and then settled with her father in Kilchberg, a Swiss village on Lake Zurich.

Mann died in 1955. Her brother Klaus had died in 1949.

Miss Mann was married twice. Her first marriage to Gustav Gruendgens, a German actor, ended in divorce. British poet W. H. Auden was her second husband.

Robber Lets Clerk Wait On Customers

A polite armed robber held up the Short Stop Market at 1410 South Novato Boulevard at 1:10 a.m. today and allowed the clerk to wait on two customers during the holdup, Novato police reported.

The clerk, John H. Page, told police that the robber laid a gun case on the counter and opened it, showing a revolver thought to be .38-caliber. He took all the bills, approximately $65 out of the cash register.

As the robber started tieing up Page with a foot of adhesive tape, a customer came in. So the robber united Page and allowed him to wait on the customer. While this was going on, a second customer came in and Page waited on him also, telling him to call the police, that he was being held up.

The robber was described as about 35 years old, five feet, nine inches tall, weighing about 170 pounds, a Latin type, clean shaven, wearing a white straw hat, medium green jacket and tan Levi pants.

Page said he did not hear the sound of a motor when the robber left.

Questionnaire Tabulation Set

Tabulation of the Fairfax Community Congress questionnaires will begin today at 7 p.m. at the Fairfax Women's Club at 46 Park Road.

Approximately 2,800 questionnaires were mailed to town residents to get their responses to 32 questions about city government, business and schools.

The congress itself will be held Oct. 11 from noon to evening at Manor School, 150 Oak Manor Drive and will use the responses from residents in helping to direct future community programs, according to Joseph Walla, chairman of the questionnaire project committee.

Computer Memory Bank Of Tomorrow Frighten Bagley

SACRAMENTO (AP) — One day in the future, someone might go to a state agency and, with a single inquiry, find out whether you have ever applied for a business license, been married or had the measles.

Great, says the state's top computer expert.

Frightening, says Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Bagley was so upset by the prospect of huge computer memory banks containing all state records about everybody that he convened a hearing of his special Assembly Committee on Statewide Information Policy yesterday.

Computer experts, news media representatives and legislators heard testimony about the record keeping world of tomorrow.

As outlined by Charles P. Smith, director of the state Office of Management Services, state records, now kept in cumbersome filing cabinets, will be stored in a single computer bank.

Smith, the state's No. 1 man in computers, envisioned welfare, motor vehicle, health, criminal and other records available at a single inquiry.

If a parole officer, for example, wanted to know something about one of his ward's families, he wouldn't have to go to a bewildering array of state agencies to find out.

One phone call could assemble a complete profile on the family, from the computer bank.

Bagley wondered how an individual would be protected against inquiries from credit agencies, private detectives, newsmen and others who have access to records.

"It is not inconceivable that personal dossiers could be created by centralizing all the information that government has gathered from and about individuals during a lifetime," he said. "Obviously, certain protections must be considered if this trend continues."

San Rafael Garbage Rate Hike Approved

San Rafael City Council last night granted Marin Sanitary Service permission to raise its monthly charges for home garbage collection. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1.)

The rate will be increased 25 cents for the first can and 15 cents for the second can.

The current monthly rates are $2 for one 30-gallon can and $3.30 for two 30-gallon cans in level areas and $2.50 for one can and $4 for two cans in hill areas.

The firm agreed to make free pickups of clippings, equivalent to a 30-gallon can load, once a month to ease the problem that will be created by the backyard burning ban, effective Jan. 1, 1970.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

QUAIL HILL — Gave first approval to relocation of 19 town houses at Quail Hill, Northgate, to a leveled area where a knoll had to be removed because of slide conditions. Raymond K. Sullivan, representing the Terra Linda Valley Property Owners Association, protested that the knoll was removed without notice to nearby residents. He said he wasn't protesting the removal of the knoll, "but the manner in which it was done," and wanted assurance that residents would be notified of developments in their area in the future. About 20 persons attended the session.

WATER QUALITY — Authorized Public Works Director Norris M. Rawles to draw up a timetable for the city to comply with Water Quality Control Board requirements to improve the sewer system.

ACTING MANAGER — Authorized an additional $300 a month pay to Finance Director James H. McCowan for his work as acting manager, retroactive to his appointment Aug. 4.

MOBILE RADIOS — Awarded General Electric, Mobile Radio Department, Palo Alto, low bidder, a contract to furnish 10 mobile radios for police cars at $9,272 less turn-in value plus sales tax.

LEAGUE DELEGATES — Appointed Councilman Frederick C. Robbins Jr. as delegate to a League of California Cities conference in San Francisco Sept. 28 to Oct. 1.

HAUNTED HOUSE — Granted the Jolly Roger Chapter, Children's Home Society, permission to operate a Haunted House at the old Coleman School, Linden Lane and Grand Avenue, Oct. 24 to 31.

CLAIM DENIED — Denied a claim by Willie Griffith of the Mount Tamalpais Air Force Station for $660 in damage to his parked car which was struck by a city police car Aug. 22 at 225 Union Street.

RECREATION SPACE — At the urging of Councilman Harry A. Barbier agreed to discuss Sept. 15 the possibility of enacting an ordinance requiring subdivisers to set aside land for recreation.

ROAD CONNECTION — Heard an appeal from Clarence A. DeLong, president of DeLong Chevrolet Inc., to push for a road connection to West Francisco Boulevard from the Second Street area, a connection cut off when work started on the southbound Highway 101 viaduct.

ELECTRICAL CODE — Adopted the 1968 version of the uniform electrical code.

ADJOURNMENT — Adjourned until 8 p.m. Sept. 15 at city hall.

School Class Change

A report on adult education classes in last Wednesday's Independent-Journal omitted the letter "D" from the legend to designate classes scheduled this fall at Sir Francis Drake High School.

Warning On Flood Danger

City Engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. warned last night there is a serious danger of flooding in East San Rafael unless drainage improvements are made.

He told the San Rafael City Council the problem lies on private property in the diked tidelands north of Highway 17.

A dike in the area has broken, but is expected to be repaired, he said. The real problem is to get adequate drainage in the area, Caillouette said.

Mayor C. Paul Bettini said the property owners should be put on notice that the responsibility lies with them and not the city.

The property owners are Francisco Co., Marin Development Co. and Equitable Development Co.

"This is a most serious area and something has to be done or there will be severe flooding," Caillouette warned. There is a possibility of flooding in the Bellam Boulevard and Jacoby Street area, he asserted.

Adequate pipes are needed on the private property, Callouette reported. He said he had discussed the problem with one of the owners, Harry Heiftez, and had assurances that corrections would be made.

One of the contributing factors is that the area south of the highway, which had served as a ponding area, has been filled with earth from the Quail Hill development.

The city's position is that it had to let the ponding area develop, he said.

The Union Jack still flies over the Rock of Gibraltar, just as it has for 265 years, since July 24, 1704.

City Goes Halfway On Recreation Center

East San Rafael residents who want their own recreation center were given a small building by the San Rafael City Council last night — but no land.

A small office building, which had been abandoned on city property after an oil company operation next to the corporation yard, was offered by the council. But the building must be moved if it is to be used, it ruled.

After Robert C. Schoen adked permission to temporarily use the building at its present site on the San Rafael Canal, Mayor C. Paul Bettini said there were not water or sewer connections.

The mayor suggested that the residents locate the building on San Rafael Elementary School District property adjacent to Bahia Vista School.

Schoen said the intent is to form a nonprofit corporation to establish the recreation center, but that youths will set up the rules and regulations.

"There is nothing to turn young people off more than having older people telling them, 'you do this now . . . you do this in 15 minutes'," Schoen said.

He said he has had offers of help to renovate the building, and in the Canal Street area "we got a couple of thousand kids who don't have a solitary place to go."

Mayor Bettini warned the residents that if the center is operated by nonprofit corporation, the city couldn't allocate funds or staffing for the center.

Andrew J. Snyder Jr., parks and recreation director, said if the city recreation staff were involved the center would have to operate under recreation department rules and regulations.

Acting City Manager James H. McCown said he didn't feel there was enough space at the city-owned property for the proposed recreation center.

About 15 persons from the area, including several youths, attended the session.

Young Burglar Goes To CYA

A 19-year-old San Rafael youth who admitted burglarizing the San Rafael home of Hanlon P. Tharp, principal of Davidson Junior High School on May 26, yesterday was sent to the California Youth Authority for a 90-day diagnosis and evaluation.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court put off sentencing for Casey Lawrence Porter, until he receives a report from the state reformatory system.

Porter had also pleaded guilty to a charge of joy riding in a car taken Jan. 14 in San Rafael. He had originally been charged with car theft. An additional count of marijuana possession was dismissed.

Miss Grady Appointed City Clerk

San Rafael City Council last night appointed Marion A. Grady, a clerk in the city treasurer's office, as city clerk at $975 a month.

Miss Grady, a city employee for more than 20 years, will complete the term of W.C. Cornwell which ends April, 1971. Cornwell resigned effective Sept. 1 because he had passed the age of 65 and wished to retire.

The council also appointed Alan M. Kay of 19 Dorian Way, owner of Kay Construction Co., to a three-year term on the planning commissionm

Kay will succeed Jorgen V. Lunding, who had filed for reappointment.

Industrious Romans

STIBBINGTON, England (AP) — Archaeologists have discovered the remains of a 1,600-year-old industry in a field near here. In 10 minutes of exploration they dug up two 4th Century pottery kilns, a stone floor and hundreds of pottery fragments dating from the Roman occupation of Britain.

'Ban' On Overnight Parking To Remain In San Rafael

San Rafael City Council introduced two new parking regulations last night, but bypassed throwing out the current ban against overnight streek parking.

Councilman Fred E. Jensen said the original proposal, which would have rescinded the overnight ban, "would make a parking area of the entire city of San Rafael."

Mayor C. Paul Bettini argued without success that the overnight ban isn't being enforced, "so why have the ordinance?"

Councilmen introduced an ordinance to ban parking on Fourth Street from Lincoln Avenue to E Street from 3 to 6 a.m. to clear the streets for the sweeper.

They also introduced an ordinance that would prohibit trailers, trailer coaches, utility trailers or auxiliary dollies for remaining on public streets for more than 24 hours.

Seamanship Course Due In San Rafael

A free course in basic seamanship and safe boat operation will be given 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on eight Tuesdays beginning September 23 at San Rafael High School by Flotilla 14 of the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The course will include aids to navigation, rules of the road, charts and compass and the proper handling of sail and power boats. The flotilla is composed of members from San Rafael.

Reed School Parents Win Bus Stop Fight

Belvedere and Tiburon residents on the receiving end of bus transportation cuts in the Reed School District last night successfully lobbied for reinstatement of two bus stops for their children.

Reed School District trustees approved a $900 allocation to finance serving residents near Solano Avenue and Paradise Drive in Tiburon and on Belvedere Island after parents complained their children had to walk nearly two miles to the nearest stop at the Safeway market on Tiburon Boulevard, according to Supt. Robert B. Gaw.

A third request for bus service in the Reedlands was rejected.

Trustees postponed hiring three teacher aides to replace three who resigned pending resolution of a dispute over whether aides or an additional teacher should be hired.

Because they split 2-2, trustees postponed further action until absent Trustee Thomas S. Price returns Sept. 16.

The Reed School District board also:

REED SCHOOL — Approved 11 change orders for Reed School construction at a cost of $4,475.

POLICY — Approved a policy for administrative salaries, requiring an annual salary review, 12-month work year and prohibiting accrual of vacation time.

EMPLOYMENT — Approved hiring Margaret Lucchesi, as a kindergarten teacher at Bel Aire School at a salary of $7,025; Marjory Hollyis, kindergarten teacher at Bel Aire School, $9,625; Janet-Marie Shapeero as a kindergarten teacher at Granada School, $9,625; and Bernard Kelly, team teacher at Del Mar School, $8,675.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Blanche Bale, teacher aide at Reed School; Dorothy Figore, teacher aide at Bel Aire School, and Barbara Ebbesen, teacher aide at Del Mar School, all for personal reasons.

COMMITTEES — Heard that applications will be accepted through Sept. 14 for volunteers for transportation, building and grounds, finance, research and evaluation and drug-abuse citizen committees to serve the board.

Women Injured In Rohnert Park

Two young women were injured at 9 p.m. Monday when their car struck a tree on Southwest Boulevard, Rohnert Park.

Sandra Jo Eastburn, 23, of 299 Throckmorton, Mill Valley, and Emily Ann Wechsler, 19, of 261 College View Avenue, Rohnert Park, were treated at Community Hospital of Sonoma County for head cuts.

Rohnert Park police said they were passengers in a car driven by Barbara J. Gallagher, 23, of 261 College View Avenue, Rohnert Park, that jumped a curb and struck a tree.

Dead Man's Mystery Card A Forgery

A postcard signed with the name of a Mill Valley man who took his own life but mailed two days after his death was not in the dead man's handwriting, sheriff's deputies said today.

A friend of Ronald Stover, 32-year-old co-owner of a Strawberry nursery, said that the handwritting on the postcard bore no resemblance to Stover's and sheriff's officers agreed with him.

The friend, Melvin Walter Lucas, said he had no idea who might have written the postcard which was addressed to President Nixon and mailed to the Independent-Journal.

The card said that Stover was now beyond the reach of the President and called him a man of war and a farce.

Stover was found dead in his car at his home at 252 Perry Street on Aug. 20. The post card, which was dated with that date by the writer, bore an Aug. 22 postmark and was received by the I-J on Aug. 23.

No Unemployed Black

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Whites, colored (mulattoes) and Asians registered as unemployed in South Africa during spring 1969 totalled 12,734. The breakdown for the three races was 3,992 whites, 4,187 coloreds and 4,555 Asians. The official figures did not mention unemployed Africans.

No Drugs Lead To Bonfire In Office

A burglar, apparently frustrated at finding no narcotics in a San Anselmo doctor's office, made a bonfire of medicine samples before leaving, San Anselmo police reported today.

Police said the burglar took 50 plastic syringes, a clock and a small radio from the office of Dr. Fred T. Adams of 895 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard. Adams discovered the theft and damage yesterday morning. The floor was burned in front of a medicine storage cabinet and in a treatment room, police said. Total damage and loss was estimated at $50.

Report Of Cadra Arrest Is Corrected

Reports in last Wednesday's and Thursday's Independent-Journal of incidents which led to the arrest of Edwin Wesley Cadra, 18, of 260 Canal Street, San Rafael, contained errors.

The I-J report said Cadra was involved in a fight with Michael Joseph Smith, 16, of Boardwalk 1, Larkspur, on Fourth Street between D and E streets. Actually, police said, Smith was lying on the ground fixing his car and was threatened and kicked by Cadra but did not fight.

The Independent-Journal story also said Smith's friends chased Cadra in an attempt to get even. Actually, Cadra was chase by other youths whom he had alleged harassed in another incident, police said.

Police also said the chase had nothing to do with the crash into a tree by Cadra, for the chase had been abandoned earlier.

Ragghianti dismissed the claim tery and displaying a deadly weapon.

A nationwide study of the use of parking meters attributes up to $12,000 in annual retail sales to a parking space. This breaks down to $38 per space each day for a six-day shopping week.

Chicken Salad For A Supper

Visitors to Shaker Village Restoration in Hancock, Mass. will enjoy a trip through the past. This quaint village typifies the simple beauty and utility that marked the Shaker way of life.

Of special interest is the great kitchen where communal meals were prepared. The Shakers were strong believers in doing a job well and cooking was no exception. Shaker kitchen sisters were creative cooks who not only developed tasty recipes but also took the time to serve foods as attractively as possible.

Shaker Sunday Supper Chicken Salad is a recipe that fits Shaker cooking precisely. It is an attractive, imaginative main dish which captures flavors of old with modern foods of today. Certainly ingredients such as dried parsley flakes, chicken bouillon cubes, natural strength pure lemon juice, and canned sliced carrots were not on the Shaker pantry shelf. Yet, they enable the hurried cook of today to enjoy flavors of the past.

SHAKER SUNDAY SUPPER CHICKEN SALAD

(Makes one 3-quart mold)

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatine
½ cup cold water
3 cups chicken broth
2 Chicken instant bouillon cubes
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon dehydrated parsley flakes
¼ cup bottled lemon juice
2 hard-cooked eggs, quartered
1 (1-lb.) can sliced carrots
4 cups cooked, diced, chicken breasts (4 breasts)

Soften gelatine in cold water about 5 minutes. Heat chicken broth in medium-size saucepan to boiling; dissolve gelatine in hot chicken broth. Stir in bouillon cubes, paprika, parsley and lemon juice. Chill over cold water until gelatine is partially set. Arrange eggs in bottom of slightly oiled 3-quart mold. Place drained carrots over eggs and top with diced chicken. Carefully pour partially set gelatine into mold. Refrigerate about 2 to 4 hours or until firmly set. Unmold on salad greens. Serve with Orange Yogurt Dressing.

ORANGE YOGURT DRESSING

1 (8-oz.) container Mandarin Orange Yogurt
1 cup mayonnaise

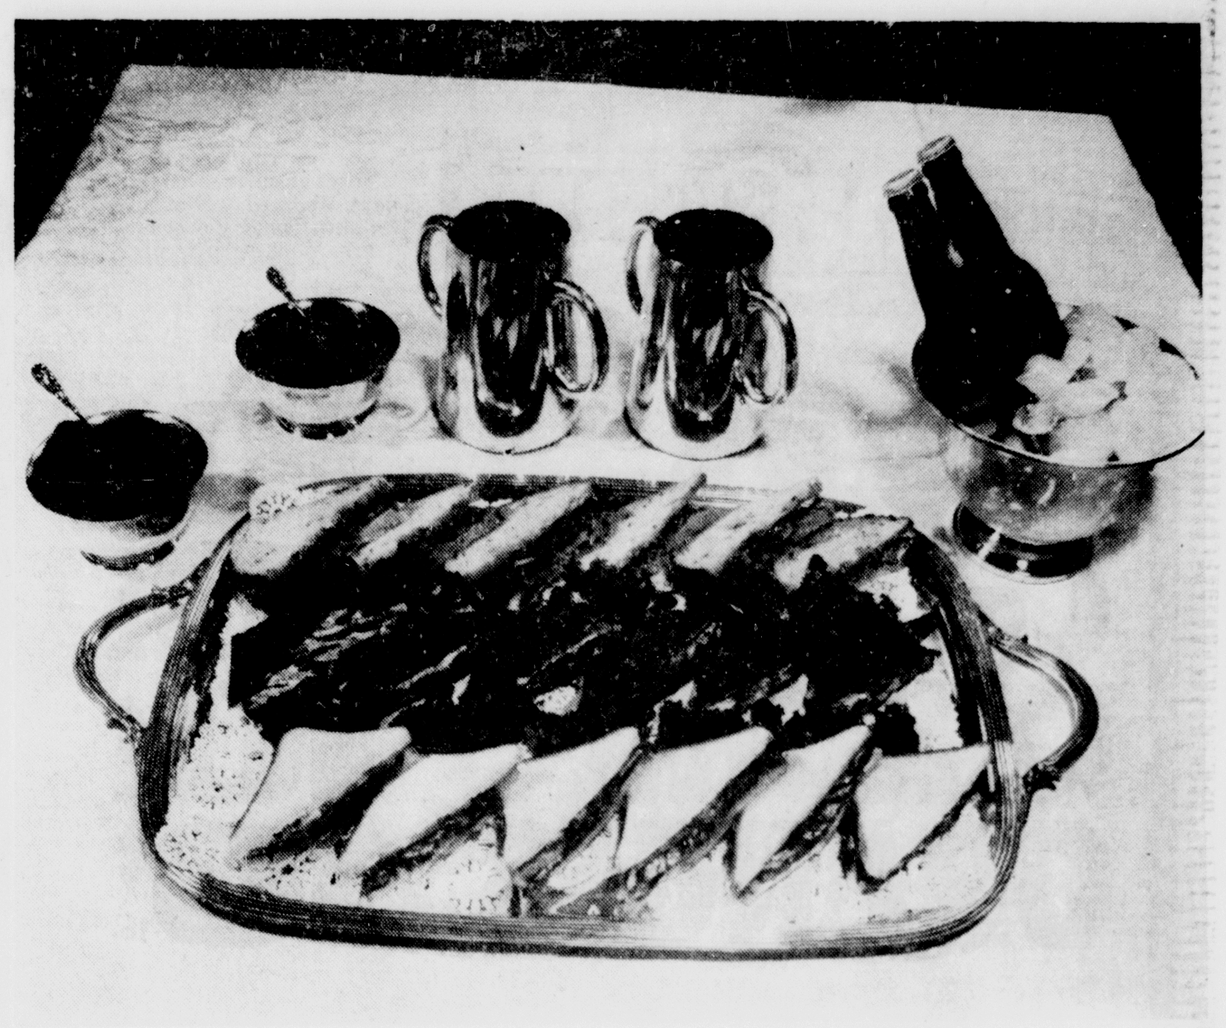
Combine yogurt and mayonnaise; chill about 1 hour.

ORANGE YOGURT MUFFINS

(Makes 12 medium-size muffins)

1½ cups flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
2 tablespoons butter, melted, slightly cooled
3 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 egg, separated
1 (8-oz.) container Mandarin Orange Yogurt

Sift dry ingredients into medium-size mixing bowl; make well in center. Combine butter, sugar and egg yolk in small bowl; stir in yogurt. Add all at once to dry ingredients; stir quickly until partially moistened. Fold in stiffly beaten egg white. Stir only enough to moisten ingredients. Bake in hot (400°F.) oven for 35 minutes, or until lightly browned.



Refreshing Dessert For The Family Supper Table

The right ingredients make a refreshing dessert.

Broiled Halibut Potatoes
Panned Green Cabbage
Cantaloupe Lime Sundae

CANTALOUPE LIME SUNDAE

½ cup light corn syrup
2 tablespoons lime juice
½ lime, sliced
1 cantaloupe
1½ pints vanilla ice cream

In a small saucepan bring the corn syrup to simmering; add lime juice and lime slices; bring to a boil and boil 1 minute; remove from heat. With a small melonball cutter or ¼ teaspoon from a round-bowl fractional measuring spoon set, cut balls from cantaloupe; add to syrup — it can be hot. Cover and chill. Serve cantaloupe balls and lime syrup (minus lime slices) over ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

Breakfast Treat

Banana sandwiches with french toast give breakfast a party air. Beat 3 eggs slightly and add 1 tablespoon of sugar, 1-3 cup of milk and ¼ teaspoon of nutmeg. Beat well. Dip 6 slices of bread into egg mixture and fry on both sides in lightly buttered skillet or on griddle. While toast browns, peel and slice 2 bananas; place slices on three pieces of toast, top with remaining slices and serve at once with syrup, honey, applesauce or cinnamon sugar. Makes 3 servings.

Sardine Sandwiches Make Quick Luncheon

Here is a quick, easy-to-prepare luncheon — Norway sardine sandwiches on white, rye, and pumpernickel breads.

SUMMER-TIME SARDINE SANDWICHES

3 (3¾ oz.) cans sardines
6 slices white bread
6 slices black pumpernickel bread
6 slices rye bread
1 cucumber
2 tomatoes
1 small head of lettuce
butter and mayonnaise

Butter bread and place lettuce leaves on one-half of bread slices. Completely cover lettuce with Norway sardines. Add thinly sliced tomatoes and sliced cucumbers. Spread with mayonnaise. Butter remaining bread slices and press tops on firmly and cut sandwiches diagonally.

Yield: 18 generous size sandwiches.

Serve with pickles or ripe olives and your favorite beverage.

Skillet Stew

Cottage Apple Pie From Apple Harvest

It's cause for celebration in all the kitchens of the land. The apple harvest is rolling in, red and gold and beautiful. Ready for eating out-of-hand, for making into salads, for baking an apple pie. Here's a recipe as homey as a country kitchen, yet deliciously different enough to please sophisticates.

COTTAGE APPLE PIE

1½ cups sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon allspiece
1 cup water
1 Tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon lemon juice
10 cups thinly sliced apples
Pastry for 1-crust 10-inch pie
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup dairy sour cream
1 tablespoon sugar
Nutmeg

Combine first 5 ingredients. Stir over low heat until sugar dissolves; bring to boil; boil 5 minutes. Combine cornstarch and lemon juice; stir in. Cook and stir until syrup is thickened and clear. Add applie slices. Cook gently until apples are tender and syrup is thick, stirring often. Line 10-inch pie pan with pastry. Spoon apples into pan. Dot with butter. Bake at 425° for 30 minutes or until pastry is golden brown. Remove from oven; spread sour cream on top; sprinkle with 1 tablespoon sugar and a little nutmeg. Return to oven for 5 minutes longer or until cream sets.

Triple Indemnity

Pork included in the diet provides triple indemnity. That means it has three times as much thiamin as any other food source. When it comes to liver, this pork variety meat supplies three times as much iron in available form as any other food.

All Kinds Of Food Make A Good Breakfast

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — A schoolboy we know prefers peanut butter sandwiches for breakfast to more traditional meals built around cereal or bacon and eggs.

Nutritionally, he's just as well off as traditionalists. He's also in international company. Breakfast in far-flung lands including Japan, the Netherlands and Scandinavia call for such things as soup, cheese, cold cuts and even pickled herring and salads. The last four are part of an old-fashioned Norwegian breakfast koldtbord, or buffet.

All those things meet the standards of good breakfast food as defined by the National Dairy Council. The council says a good breakfast is any combination of foods that supplies one quarter to one third of the day's nutritional requirements and includes fruit or juice—preferably citrus—plus a protein food such as meat, milk, eggs, cheese or fish and a carbohydrate food such as enriched or whole grain cereal or bread.

If breakfast skipping is a back-to-school-days problem, unconventional fare may help solve it. A peanut butter or cheese sandwich can be made the night before, so it's ready to grab and eat—on the run, if necessary—the following morning. The council says most children like mild-flavored cheese, such as American. A 1½-inch cube of it has about the same food value as a cup of milk.

Apples and cheese make another fast breakfast. Some cheese now come factory-wrapped in bite-size and single-serving units for easy portability.

With more time for a sit-down meal, you could serve grilled cheese and bacon sandwiches, or welsh rarebit—either homemade, bottled or frozen—on toasted English muffins with Canadian-style bacon. Or a cheeseburger or a hamburger or a hot dog and cheese sandwich.

Hot cold cereal is good and just as nutritious with a scoop of ice cream as it is with milk. And the council says ice cream contains the same nutrients as milk. Its sugar also provides energy for active youngsters.

Chocolate milk as it comes from a dairy case container is good on cereal or as a substitute for plain milk in making French toast. So is milk and honey, which is easily made. Just add 2 tablespoons of honey, or more to taste, to each quart of milk, along with ¼ teaspoon of ground nutmeg. Shake well and refrigerate until needed.

THE ATTRACTIVE hostess serving coffee to residents of a San Rafael care home is also the owner and manager. Lively and attractive Mrs. Bette Porter runs the home with youthful vitality.

Former Beauty Winner Finds Challenge In Resident Care

By BETH GAEDDERT

Not only does she not look like a care home manager, lively and attractive 38-year-old Bette Porter once said, "I'll never set foot in a place like this again."

Mrs. Porter, whose hobbies include four health spa visits per week and belly dancing lessons in San Francisco, manages the Marin Manor Care Home in San Rafael.

She made the vow never to return to a care home after leaving the Colorado convalescent hospital her parents managed and in which the family lived.

"I resented it. I have a sister and we had no family life. I got married when I was 16 and she married when she was 15. When I married I swore I'd never set foot in a place like this again."

But Mrs. Porter, whose sister is now managing their parents' convalescent hospital, finds she enjoys the work.

"I love the work. I really do. It all came back to me," she said.

She found herself back in the business again when her husband died of a kidney disease eight years ago and she had to make a living for herself, her son and daughter, now 20 and 18. Although she lives in the home now, Mrs. Porter maintained a separate residence near another care home in San Rafael which she managed when her children were growing up.

IN COLORADO she had taught modeling and had a daytime television variety show for women. But she didn't even try those fields when she came to Marin County from the small city of Grand Junction that she found too confining.

"The competition out here is too stiff for me to get into modeling or television. The only thing I knew was taking care of old people," she said. After a short marriage she was divorced and then bought a care home business.

In the small care home on D Street Mrs. Porter and one elderly helper fix meals, do laundry, assist with medication, and plan some activities for almost a dozen residents, all of whom are ambulatory.

Mrs. Porter says she can tell which of the elderly were active and kept themselves healthy in their younger years. Some of them don't have the will to walk around the block, even though they're physically capable, she says.

"I don't want to get like that," she says and so she has been on a health kick for the past two years and has taken up tennis, bowling, water skiing, dancing and visits to the health spa.

"Everytime she comes home from a dancing lesson you hear wierd music and she is dancing around in the kitchen," said her daughter Claudia.

Mrs. Porter says watching her running around and dancing helps keep the residents young. She believes that an attitude of wanting to stay young, not actual age, makes the difference.

IN HER HOME, where she tries to do the things a family would, Mrs. Porter says the elderly need someone to watch them and be kind to them. Of almost a dozen residents, half are women and half men.

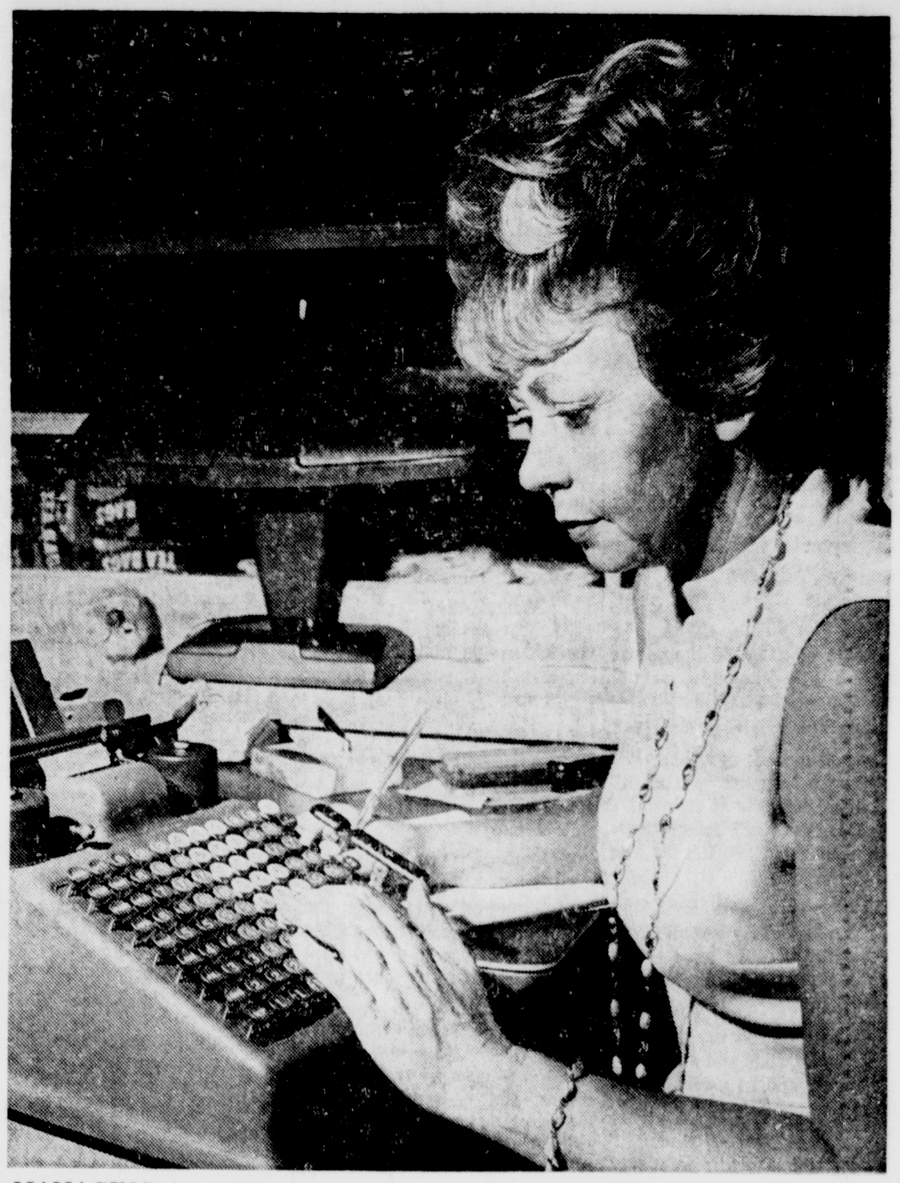
She prefers men who are better eaters and easier to get along with, but says there are more older women because they live longer.

Most of her residents are on welfare and only two have families that visit them. When they first come to a home they are often told it's on a trial basis or that the family is going on a trip and can't be with them.

"I've never had anyone leave," she said. They keep up on the news and different church services are held in the home. She also takes them for rides just for a change of scene.

IN A NEW home being built on D Street by a group of San Rafael doctors, Claudia will be the recreation director and have crafts and other projects for the 34 residents the building will hold. It is scheduled to be finished by the first of December.

Mrs. Porter who is president of the Marin Care for the Aged has another hobby that probably isn't the usual type for a care home manager. She wins beauty contests. She has won several Colorado contests including Miss Atomic Energy in 1956 for Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado and Utah. More recently she was chosen Sweetheart of the Xi Alpha Xi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.



MANAGING A care home not only means doing the bookkeeping, Mrs. Porter also does the cooking, laundry, and assists residents with medicine and makes sure they keep doctors appointments. She has one helper who is also a resident. (Independent-Journal photo by Roger Bockrath)

American Family Is Pressured But Managing To Change And Survive

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Pressures aplenty affect the American family, yet it adapts, changes—and survives. Call it family power.

"Perhaps the greatest revolution to hit the American family in the past several decades has been the trend toward the outside employment of wife mothers," says one noted sociologist.

Revolution, yes. Destruction as a result, no, as some gloomy forecasts were wont to predict. For the United States remains a family-oriented society.

A DETAILED look at the changes the society has undergone through the years comes from Dr. Ersel E. Le Masters, a professor of family life in the School of Social Work at the University of Wisconsin. LeMasters' own family consists of wife and two sons.

LeMasters says we as well as visitors from other countries find it difficult to understand the complexity of our family life. In an article in "Our World", a publication of the American Field Service (AFS) he sets about explaining it.

LeMasters says there are four types of power systems in our families. One is the male-dominant or patriarchal system, which "is thought to be most common at the extreme ends of the income scale"—the so-called lower class and upper classes. This type was inherited from Americans' European ancestors.

A SECOND is the female-centered family, a "model seen most often on television—the husband-father is portrayed as a confused and somewhat helpless person, exploited not only by his wife and his children but also by outsiders." This model evolved from the early soap operas which appealed to women, LeMasters says. But how much of it exists in real life is up for debate—"It could well be," he says, "that this type of family resides largely in television studios and the never-never land of the modern novelist."

A third is the child-centered family, which LeMasters says flourished in the 1920's and 1930's, "but after the Second World War there was apparently a revolt against child worship."

Gradually there merged the "more balanced" democratic-equalitarian family, "which emphasizes the needs of all members of the family—parents and even grandparents as well as children." In a sense, this family model is run by a committee with the father being chairman and the mother executive secretary, he says.

This puts Mom in charge of most of the family expenditures—an estimated 85 per cent. But LeMasters points out that on major decisions concerning money— Such as the purchase of a car or a home—usually are made by both husband and wife. "This family system has much to recommend it," he adds.

THE LABOR shortages of World Wars I and II were the major cause for the revolution which put the wife-mother in the outside labor force. Working mothers have been "severely criticized", says LeMasters, "yet it is difficult to see how we could run most of our communities without them...the accusations that she is a poor mother do no seem to be supported by the evidence."

But it has created a family duty change that seems odd to persons from other parts of the world—to see a father washing the dishes, the wife-mother caught washing the family car, mowing the grass.

LeMasters sees nothing wrong in this "fluid assignment" of household chores—"the main concern...is that basic roles are performed, that the family's work gets done."

Why Standardized IQ Tests Are Naive Way Of Judging

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Questions asked on standardized IQ — intelligence quotient — tests assume that all children have fathers, know what a tree is, and live in middle class surroundings.

That's not good for ghetto children taking them.

A substantial number of these boys and girls can't speak of a father—not even from memory because they've never seen theirs.

Many of these children rarely see a tree in their asphalt and concrete world. And practically all of them are more familiar with rats than ponies or other animals middle class children learn to know.

Even the language used on IQ tests is alien to ghetto residents, authorities say.

As a result: present IQ tests are not likely to judge fairly the abilities of ghetto children, writes Dr. Frank B. Women, author of "Test Norms: Their Use and Interpretation" (National Education Association.)

Robert Coles, a Harvard psychiatrist, considers standardized IQ tests a mockery when used with ghetto children.

"My children would flunk their IQ test" if one were devised on the experiences and the rich and vibrant language of the ghetto, he figures.

He considers intelligence testing in general a naive and simple-minded way of looking at human beings of all colors and races.

Mrs. Robert Schultz Leads Music Guild

Mrs. Robert L. Schultz of Mill Valley, a leader in Marin music circles for many years, has been elected president of the Marin Symphony Guild for the second time.

A member since the guild was organized 18 years ago, she was president from 1958 to 1960, and was chairman of its youth activities committee when it organized the Marin Youth Orchestra in 1955.

Thelma Schultz also organized the Marin Symphony Auxiliary in 1960 and was its first president.

She is enthusiastic over plans for the year.

"This will be an exciting year for the guild," she says. "We hope to carry out the theme

MRS. ROBERT L. SCHULTZ

'The Marin hills are alive with the sound of music' in many ways as we broaden our programs of presenting fine music in Marin.

"We are anticipating the move into the new Veterans Memorial Auditorium at the Civic Center, expanding our youth program, planning to revive the symphony ball, and we have hired a part-time manager, Marcelle B. McCoy, manager of the Marin Art and Garden Fair, to help us achieve our goals.

"Sandor Salgo and Hugo Rinaldi continue as conductors for the Marin Symphony and the Marin Youth Orchestra, respectively, and Darius Milhaud has been commissioned and has already completed a new work for the opening concert in the new auditorium."

An accomplished pianist, Thelma holds B.A. and M.A. degrees in music from Mills College and taught music in Montrey High School before her marriage. She has just completed a term as regional governor for the Alumnae Association of Mills College. A past president of the alumnae association, she served as a regional chairman for the recent Mills College challenge fund drive.

She is a member of the Outdoor Art Club, the Mill Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women, Marin Art and Garden Center and is active in the Mill Valley Community Church.

HELEN HELP US!

How Can Mother Tell Daughters She Snatched Away Boyfriend?

DEAR HELEN:

I was married at 15 and had my baby seven months later. Now my only child is 18. I have been divorced three times.

We could qualify for those ads on TV —"Which is mother, which is daughter?" I'm afraid she is a little jealous because of this. She is quiet and dull, while I enjoy life.

Several months ago she met a fellow who isn't her type at all. He is handsome and full of the devil. It would never have worked out, but she fell for him hard.

He started coming over here to wait until she got home from her night job. We'd have a few drinks and a few laughs. Of course the inevitable happened.

How can we tell my daughter that her boy friend in now my boy friend, and he prefers experienced women to "Miss Purity 69?"

I may even decide to marry him. But will my daughter never trust me again?—A YOUNG 34

DEAR 34:

Come off it, you. Did your daughter ever trust you, even before you became rivals?

Go ahead and gloat (you may save her from a disastrous romance), but prepare for a lonely autumn, minus daughter and boy friend.

Do you really think a 19-year-old would marry a woman 15 years his senior just because she is an easy playmate? H.

DEAR HELEN:

About Nevada's legalized prostitution. The writer said he didn't think any states had it. He's wrong!

It happens that there is a town near Los Angeles where both gambling and prostitution are legal. I'm sending the name, but you may decide not to print it—free advertising. (note from H: Right!)

The women of the community were subjected to actual and attempted attacks by transient laborers and seasonal workers. Husbands and fathers finally met and decided to provide the necessary services openly and legally.

Now there is not only peaceful co-existence, but a new source of revenue from licenses.

As for my personal opinion, prostitution will never be right, but in this case, it was expedient. — M.B.

DEAR HELEN:

That's a nice thought, that "God made woman not from man's skull bone so she would be at his head; not from his foot bone so she would be trampled, but from his rib, so she might be by his side."

But my minister has another version: When the Good Lord put Adam into a deep sleep to remove a rib, he laid the rib to one side as he comtinued to mold Eve.

Then along came a dog, grabbed the rib and ran. He got to the gates of Eden with the Good Lord in hot pursuit. Well, the dog got through just as He slammed the gate, chopping off his tail. Not having the rib, God fashioned Eve with the dog's tail. Thus, the yakity-yak of every female, like the wagging of a dog's tail. — JOSEPH

DEAR JOE:

Your minister is quite a wag. I hope his shaggy dog "Tail" doesn't get him excommunicated. — H.

Different Dials

Pearls are popular to rim a watch face or embellish a case, say the Watchmakers of Switzerland. At the Montres et Bijoux, Switzerland's big watch and jewelry show, there were even mother of pearl dials. In keeping with the trend to different dials, some were fashioned of precious stones such as lapis lazuli, jade or tiger's eye.

MEREDITH ANNE PIKE exchanged wedding vows with James Malcolm Hallett at St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross, where his father, the Rev. Harold Hallett is rector. The reception was held at the Hallett home. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. Parrish Pike of Kentfield and E. Bertram Pike of Sonora. The newlyweds will live in Berkeley. (Les Walsh photo)

Path Finder Group Elects Mrs. B. Joseph Wiederkehr

The new president of Path Finders Group at the Marin Art and Garden Center this year is Mrs. B. Joseph Wiederkehr, who with her husband has lived in Marin for 17 years.

MRS. B. J. WIEDERKEHR

The couple, who live in Greenbrae, are parents of four children, Mrs. Stephen De Maeyer of Mill Valley, William Bishell, Sandy Wiederkehr, who is a senior at the University of California Medical School, and William Wiederkehr, a freshman at California State Polytechnic College.

Interested in swimming, golf and bridge, Mrs. Wiederkehr is active in the Mill Valley Women's Golf Club, the Marin General Hospital Volunteers and St. Joseph's Hospital Auxiliary's gift shop in San Francisco.

She attended Hunter College and Packard School in New York, and has worked for the New York Times, for attaches in Washington D.C. and she wrote a history of the Choctaw Indians from manuscripts found in a trunk in the basement of the daughter of one of the Choctaw chiefs in the nation's capital. In Marin she has been secretary to a ceramic designer and to an insurance company executive.

The Path Finders, which she heads, is a volunteer group which promotes activities at the Marin Art and Garden Center and serves the luncheon at the Magnolia Tea Room at the center in Ross. The tea room will serve luncheons Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning Sept. 16, and the volunteers hope to expand the schedule to a daily luncheon when facilities are available.

The Path Finders are so named as they conduct the tours of the center grounds. It also plans gourmet cooking classes and pre-theater dinners before Ross Valley Players productions at the Barn. Another project is the "The Garden Path" garden craft shop located in the bottle house.

Other new officers are Mmes. Donald MacRae, first vice president; William Fuss, second vice president; Matthew Little, secretary; Kenneth Dunn, treasurer; John Gentles, advisor; Sergei Gregoriev, Garden Path chairman; Tom Perry, historian; George Lester, press chairman; William Pease, membership; Al Oberman, health; Hohn Smith, dessert chairman; and Robert Cumming, representative to the advisory council.

Talk About Fringe Benefits

MADRAS, India (AP) — A sizeable number of employers said here gossiping is essential for staff contentment.

Gossip is a pressure valve without which work suffers, they told an interviewer. Others threw up their hands in despair and said it is a necessary evil. A "NO GOSSIP" board only aggravates the evil, they said.

Fairfax Considers Guards

The possibility of hiring crossing guards was discussed last night by Fairfax School District trustees, because the district has eliminated bus transportation.

Supt. H. Reginald Hammond reported there will be no guards for the first part of the school year but school officials and Fairfax police will be watching to see what traffic patterns develop.

If problems occur, crossing guards might have to be hired to help children get to school safely, Hammond said.

The Fairfax School District board also:

FINANCES — Learned a 10-member committee appointed to study district finances will hold its first meeting at 8 p.m. Sept. 11 in the district office.

EDUCATION — Heard a report on a proposed board-community-staff committee to study educational goals and objectives in the district, but took no action.

TEACHERS — Were invited ot attend a breakfast at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow at Woodlands Restaurant, Kentfield, to welcome new teachers to the district.

MEETINGS — Set the next meeting for 9:30 a.m. Sept. 13 at the district office for the annual school tour and the next regular meeting for 7:45 p.m. Sept 16 in the district office.

Fairfax Rec Panel Backs Teen Plan

Fairfax teen-agers may be appointed to the city's park and recreation commission as official voting members if the city council approves a recommendation of the commission.

The commission voted last night to recommend making two places available for teens on the seven-member commission.

Currently, there are no vacancies on the commission, but Chairman Dolores Dollahite reported one may be up soon since Commissioner Archie F. Williams has missed many meetings.

Conway E. Enscoe, who recommended teen-agers be permitted to serve, said he hopes at least one can be named by next month.

He said young people will be asked to submit names to the commission if the council approves the plan. Teens will then be asked to help the commission decide which candidate is best, he said.

Enscoe had proposed expanding the commission but other members disagreed with the approach, preferring instead to have teens fill regular vacancies.

The Fairfax Parks and Recreation Commission also:

SURVEY — Agreed to ask the council to spend $2,150 for a survey and site plan needed by landscape architects who are preparing plans for parks.

SWITCHBOARD — Approved a request from Switchboard of Marin to use the Pavilion for fund raising activities.

MAINTENANCE — Agreed to do only routine maintenance on the Pavilion instead of a major job proposed by Edgar Phillips, street superintendent.

DIRECTOR — Appointed Enscoe and Joan Brown to a committee to work with City Administrator Frances R. Lestanguet to recruit a recreation director to replace Ronald C. Smet who resigned.

PLEASE WATCH OUT FOR LITTLE PEDESTRIANS

California Highway Patrolman Donald Dowling posts the annual September reminder to all drivers to keep a sharp eye for children walking to school. Helping him, between slurps on gigantic suckers, are his daughter, Erin, 6, a first grade pupil at San Clemente School in Corte Madera, and Holly Hogan, 5, a kindergarten pupil at the school. Highway patrolmen are posting the warnings throughout the county.

Car Check Leads To Beer Haul

A 19-year-old Mill Valley youth was booked into Marin County Jail today after he and two companions, according to police, were found in possession of two kegs and a six-pack of stolen beer and two stolen fire extinguishers.

Michael Galarza, of 309 Lowell Avenue, was held on suspicion of possession of stolen property to appear in Marin Municipal Court this afternoon.

One of his companions, Charles David Shiflett, 17, of the same address, was cited to the probation department on similar suspicion and the other, a 16-year-old Marin City youth, was released because of insufficient evidence, police said.

Mill Valley police said they stopped the youth's car in front of 15 East Blithedale Avenue at 4:11 a.m. because it was moving erratically and they were violating curfew.

A search of the car found the beer and fire extinguishers, which police reported had been stolen from the Hamms Brewery in San Francisco last night.

Police said 10 cases of stolen beer and six kegs had been dropped off in a vacant building in Marin City, and that 25 cases and eight kegs had been stolen from the brewery on Labor Day. Seventeen cases and five empty kegs have been recovered by the Marin County Sheriff's office, police said.

Car, Truck Hit; Injuries Minor

A car driven by a San Rafael man who apparently blacked out on D Street, San Rafael, yesterday collided with a truck, police said.

Police said Herman Claude Garms, 50, of 70 Crestwood Drive, was treated by his own doctor for a severe facial cut.

The driver of the truck, Dave Franklin Daniel of Novato was not injured, police said.

San Rafael Parents Win Fight For School Bussing

By JOANNE GRANT

Angry San Rafael parents, battling with facts and emotion, won the war on bus transporation last night.

The city's board of education agreed to reinstate the abandoned segments of the transportation system for one year and buses will roll tomorrow, the opening day.

Schedules will be generally the same as last year and students should go to old pickup points or find a place where others are waiting, John A. Thomson Jr., transporation supervisor, said.

He begged parents not to call his office to check schedules because he will be busy returning all buses to service.

The board did stick with its new policy of requiring passes to eliminate ineligible riders.

The meeting opened last night with transportation reports dating as far back as April 3 to outline factors leading to the board's decision Aug. 5 to shrink service and save $33,000.

School officials emphasized the decision was made when it was believed reserves would be less than $100,000 in both the elementary and high school districts at the end of the school year.

Now, the elementary district is expected to have $465,006 and the high school distict $234,824.

Supt. John F. Plank reported his office had received about 200 letters opposing the change and petitions with hundreds of names had been presented.

The audience of about 178 persons was also against the change, and when it was it's turn to speak, dozens of hands shot up.

Herman L. Childress, board chairman limited discussion to an hour, urged parents to make short statements and outlawed applause, rules that were generally ignored during heated exchanges.

Louise Gulick of 810 Idylberry Road told the board the amount it would cost to reinstate the busing would be .07 of 1 per cent of the total budget. "Get our kids there safely and then we'll worry about educating them," she urged.

Several residents from north of Puerto Suello Hill described dangerous conditions due to construction, the lack of sidewalks and warned of traffic jams which would occur around schools.

James M. Garvin of 414 Blackstone Drive, declaring the board's decision "a great surprise to us", worried about children walking 90 minutes each way in the rain, a figure he said would be maximum for youngsters just inside the three-mile limit, based on how fast soldiers walk.

"I would like to ask the members of the board if they would be willing to walk six miles a day . . . " he began but his query was drowned in wild applause and violent gavel pounding by Childress.

"If we don't have decorum in the room we'll cut off discussion," Childress warned angrily.

Garvin maintained "money can always be found if it's for a worthy cause."

Like several other parents, he challenged the measuring methods used to determine who could ride. Children across the street from him were included in the three mile limit but his were not.

He and others reported they had driven several routes from home to school and could not get there under three miles.

The only person seemingly opposed to busing was a Terra Linda High School student, Cordie White of 558 Loganberry Drive.

"You're worried about getting the children to school to be taken care of all day long," she said to parents, her voice shaking. "You're not worried about what's going on in the classroom," she said weeping and apologizing for "getting emotional."

Another student, Al Kerr, told the board he usually rode the bus but frequently when it rained there wasn't enough room and boys had to walk.

Delores Carlisle of 2511 Las Gallinas Avenue asked if the board had surveyed parents to see if they would be willing to pay for bus service.

Plank replied the districts cannot charge under state law.

Peter K. White of 558 Loganberry Drive warned, "There are going to be dead children on those roads. I charge you with the blood of those children."

The audience exploded with approval as Childress pounded his gavel with such vigor his coffee spilled.

Board member Carl J. Brown bridled at the charge and walked to the podium to defend the board, again explaining the changes in the expected reserve.

Emphasizing that the appearance of the audience and its pleas had not affected his decision, he moved that busing be continued on the former basis for one year with the use of passes. Lawrence I. Kramer seconded and the tension in the airless room was noticeably reduced.

The vote was unanimous with John C. Pfeiffer absent.

Limits for busing for the 1969-70 school year will be three-quarters of a mile for kindergarten through third grade; 1.5 miles for fourth through eighth grade and two miles for high school, school officials reminded the audience at the discussion closed.

Quick Release Of Suspects In Fires Attacked

Suspected arsonists, accused of setting a rash of structure fires in Marinwood, are released too quickly, in the opinion of the Marinwood Firemen's Association.

Irving L. Schwartz, president, said his group met last night and voted unanimously to draft a letter to the Marin County Board of Supervisors and to the Marin County Probation Department, protesting the quick release of arson suspects, making possible repetition of crimes.

"During the last two or three months, we've had about four homes, a school and a house-trailer damaged by fires," said Schwartz. "Three suspected arsonists were picked up, but they seem to be released right away."

The association also donated $104.54 to the newly-created Marinwood emergency fund, which will be used to help Marinwood residents through financial crises. The money was raised from a chicken barbecue sponsored by the association last April.

Year-Round School Operation Due Study

Year-round operation for the San Rafael Elementary School District will be studied by citizens and officials with an eye to relieve overcrowding without building, the San Rafael Board of Education affirmed last night.

Also to be investigated is the possibility of expanding the Santa Venetia Middle School instead of building a new one.

Decisions came during review of elementary building and improvement plans totaling $2.1 million. The board noted bond issues had failed for the funds; bonds probably wouldn't sell anyway, and there is only about $400,000 available for capital improvements.

Mrs. John L. Levinsohn was named chairman of a citizens committee to study year round operation and Supt. John F. Plank was also directed to study it.

Architect Richard Miller warned "maintenance costs will go up tremendously" if schools are operated year-round but the board disagreed violently.

Paul Jones pointed out businesses are run that way and Chairman Herman L. Childress figured it would mean a 33.33 per cent increase in capacity and a 5 to 10 per cent increase in maintenance costs. "I'll spend one to get three any day," he said.

Paul McMullin, chairman of the district's citizen bond committee, noted computers can now arrange scheduling for a year around operation.

Plank was also asked to study expansion of the Santa Venetia school as the board abandoned current plans to build part of a new middle school.

Other investigations will be on the possibility of adding Laurel Dell Intermediate School to Davidson Junior High School and adding sixth grade to the latter facility while transferring fourth and fifth graders to other schools.

The feasibility of building on a lease-purchase basis to phase out portables will also be studied.

Childress urged Plank to make the investigations rapidly, for "every minute is costing us money."

"We've got to act this month," said Jones firmly.

Airport Snack Bar Sought

Holiday Magic Inc., one of two operators at Gnoss Field will have its office building completed next month and has applied for a snack bar to be operated at the county airport, chairman David B. Vail of the Marin County Aviation Commission reported today.

He said these and other reports on aviation progress in Marin will be presented at the aviation commission meeting, set for 8 p.m. tomorrow in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Commissioner Melville Dickson will report on the cost of converting a portion of the old runway. Last month a group of pilots urged the opening of a cross-wind runway for emergency use.

TV Antenna Postponed In North Marin

Leasing of a site by the Lynwood Hill water tank for a television antenna was postponed last night by the North Marin County Water District board until 8 p.m. Sept. 16, according to Manager Eugene Churchill.

T'tec, the cable television company that is installing the cables in Novato, requested the lease of an area 20 by 35 feet to erect a 74-foot-high antenna, Churchill said. This is at Lynwood Hill at the southeast corner of South Novato Boulevard and Sunset Parkway.

The water board felt that there had not been enough publicity about the tower and that the residents in the area did not know about the request, Churchill said.

The North Marin County Water District board also:

WATER SERVICE — Churchill told the board that the district will now take over billing and serving of those customers east of Highway 101 south of Hamilton Air Force Base. This area has been served by the Marin Municipal district, although it lies within the North Marin district. The North Marin district will purchase the water from the Marin municipal district because it has the only main leading to the area, Churchill said.

OVERSIZED — Heard a report from Churchill that the district now had 424 oversized water services, those larger than to single family houses.

Hamilton Phone Tieup Cleared

It was almost impossible to reach Hamilton Air Force Base by telephone yesterday, but the trouble has been cleared up, said Troy Lewis, manager of Pacific Telephone Co. in San Rafael.

Western Electric Co., a subsidiary of American Telephone and Telegraph Co., was installing new trunk lines into Hamilton Air Force Base at its Ignacio substation.

The trouble had no effect on base operations, according to base officials. The base has its own system which is used for all military calls.

Sausalito Mess Blamed On Merchants

Litter in downtown Sausalito was discussed by the city council again last night and everyone agreed Sausalito has a problem.

It will be discussed again at the council's next meeting.

A detailed report last night from the council's litter committee suggested the city ought to do something about the mess, but the three council members present took no action because one member of the committee was not present.

That member, Councilman Alexander R. Imlay, had indicated to the other committee member, Councilman Robin Sweeny, he wanted to "absorb" and "think about" the report she presented to the council.

Mrs. Sweeny testily acceded to suggestions by Councilman Jan Paul Dyk and Mayor Earl F. Dunphy that no action be taken until Imlay and Councilman Wyman Hicks are present.

The report cited what the city has done to fight litter, but added: "This is just the beginning. Presently the city's look and image are still littered and shabby. As new residential and commercial areas are developed in Sausalito, the problem will only compound itself if a well defined improvement plan is not developed . . ."

Mrs. Sweeny said Sausalito has a reputation for being one of the world's most beautiful cities but is becoming one of the dirtiest.

Her report called for a definition of the problem in both downtown and other areas; an evaluation of the cleanliness, location and quantity of the city's trash containers and an evaluation of the downtown Sausalito trash collection program. agreed, is that Sausalito merchants are not doing everything they could to meet the garbage collection problem. Because of the difference in times when collectors pick up trashcans and times when stores are open, many full garbage containers are left standing on the streets of Sausalito throughout the day and night.

City Man. George M. Patterson said each merchant has been written twice and asked for cooperation in keeping the downtown free of litter, but the response has been about 15 per cent.

Dyk several times said he thought merchants should be cited for leaving garbage on the street and when it got more expensive to pay fines than to pay someone to get their garbage out when the garbage trucks are there, they will quit leaving garbage on the street.

The Sausalito Council also:

HANDBILLS — Adopted an ordinance updating the city's regulations covering the distribution of commercial handbills, an outgrowth of an arrest of a woman several weeks ago for distributing anti-war handbills.

PLANNING — Approved planning commission recommendations granting a variance appeal from Ada M. Oswald of 112 Marion Avenue to expand and enlarge her home and a variance application from Teruo and Evelyn Iyama to legalize and extend a fence at 2633 Bridgeway.

ELEPHANTS — Gave the go-ahead for the $2,100 cleaning and repair of the fountain and elephants in Vina Del Mar Park.

SIDEWALKS — Approved construction of new sidewalks on two sections of Spring Street near Bridgeway and instructed city staff to start proceedings to pave another section in the 2000 block of Bridgeway.

BIKE PATHS — At the recommendation of the California Roadside Council, decided to write a strongly-worded letter to state Public Works Director James A. Moe in support of a bicycle path along Highway 101 between Sausalito and Mill Valley.

MEETING — Set a special meeting for 8 p.m. Wednesday to approve a resolution for a November bond election for a new firehouse and improved police facilities.

Illegal Shooting Warnings Issued

Sheriff's deputies warned today that shooting is illegal on the private property opposite the Marin Motorcycle Club's track on Point San Pedro Road near San Rafael.

Arrests are being made of persons shooting there in violation of a county ordinance, the officers said.

Council Sheaths Neil Davis Barbs

The Sausalito City Council got another missile from one of its most vocal critics last night and and as a result decided henceforth to ignore both the critic and his complaints.

The letter, complaining about the center median strip on Bridgeway which is supposed to be used only by emergency vehicles, was from Neil Davis, proprieter of the No Name bar and a constant critic of what he calls the council's failure to clean up Sausalito.

It was included on last night's council agenda but when it came up, Mayor Earl F. Dunphy declined to read it, introducing it as "another one like the last one. It runs off in all directions."

Councilman Jan Paul Dyk then suggested that future Davis complaints be left off the council agenda and that City Mgr. George M. Patterson put them in "his own file." Dyk termed the latest letter "incoherent."

Dunphy agreed, saying the Davis letters "serve no purpose."

The only other councilman present, Robin Sweeny, also agreed the council had "more pressing business than to listen to Davis' complaints.

Letters to the council are public record, according to City Atty. Leland H. Jordan, and can be inspected on demand.

No Charges Filed In Drug Arrests

No charges were filed yesterday in Marin Municipal Court against two Redwood City youths arrested yesterday on suspicion of possession of dangerous drugs.

Released were John Brandon Marshall, 19, and Frederick Donald Blakeslee, 20. They had been arrested on Main Street in Sausalito when police said they had 32 unidentified capsules in their possession.

Maintenance Issues Aired Behind Doors

By THERON A. NEWELL

The dove of peace may be hovering today over the street maintenance department of the City of Novato, but if it isn't the city council is ready to try to sooth its feathers and bring it back.

That is about all that publicly came out of the council's three-hour closed meeting last night to hear complaints affecting that department.

The closed session was called last Tuesday when the council would not consider changes in the administrative personnel of the maintenance department. Councilman Babe Silva objected to the proposed demotion of Wade Lackey, foreman of the maintenance crew for eight years, to that of lead man.

Clifford E. Temps, director of public works have proposed that the position of maintenance supervisor be created, that of foreman abolished and three other lead man positions be created for a crew of 10 men.

CLOSED SESSION

The council went into closed session with City Mgr. Charles A. Brown and 15 minutes later called Lackey into the meeting. Then after 55 minutes, Lackey came out of the meeting and 10 minutes later, Lackey and Temps were called in together.

After an hour they came out and the council took another half hour to draft a statement for the press.

Neither Lackey nor Temps would make any statement. Temps said that Lackey was doing as good a job as he had for the past eight years, but that the maintenance department needed reorganization.

Mayor Harley A. McAskill presented the statement, and the meeting was adjourned. He said that everything done in it came within the Scope of the Ralph M. Brown Act of hearing charges against employees.

"They were more like complaints than charges," McAskill said.

THE STATEMENT

The statement said in essence that there has been "a question raised concerning the administration and supervision of the public works maintenance division."

It further stated that after talking with Lackey and Temps that "there have been personnel problems in the division, but there is no council action warranted at this time."

"In event that any personnel matter investigated by the city manager cannot be resolved to the satisfaction of all parties, under the council policy, they (the city employees) all have an opportunity to present their case before the city council."

Costly Beagle Found In Toronto

TORONTO (AP) — Johnetta, a $2,000 beagle, has been found and a teen-age Toronto couple can start married life $150 richer with the reward for finding her.

The prize-winning dog, owned by 11-year-old Debbie Pankow of New Lenox, Ill., disappeared from the Canadian National Exhibition dog show Saturday night.

The beagle followed 18-year-old Janet Argier and her mongrel dog home. Janet didn't know who owned the dog until she read about the loss in the newspaper.

Janet's boyfriend, 17-year-old Peter Box, described the beagle, valued at $2,000 by its owners, to Debbie's father last night over the telephone.

"We're getting married in a couple of weeks," said Peter, a student. "So the money will come in handy."

Petaluma League Wants Field

Petaluma City Council last night heard a request from the Petaluma American Little League for a lease agreement for the exclusive use of Luchesi Park.

Walter Miller, league president, said the group hoped to sign a lease with the city so that unorganized groups would stay off the field and not damage the grounds or equipment.

Miller said that neighborhood children and older boys with cleated shoes would damage the field during re-seeding and heavy watering. He said that nearly all maintenance work on the baseball diamond had been taken over by the Little League.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert cautioned the council that care should be taken in writing the proposed lease because it may be illegal to ban citizens from using a public park.

The council asked that the recreation, music and parks commission review the lease agreement at its meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

The Petaluma City Council also:

EXTENSION — Granted a 10-day extension to Ghilotti Brothers to complete construction at South McDowell Boulevard and East Washington Street. The project will be done by Sept. 26.

PRINTING — Denied an appeal by the Petaluma Printing Co. of the planning commission decision to allow John Churchill to operate a limited printing shop at his home at 49 Wilmington Drive.

APPEAL — Denied an appeal by James Scott of the planning commission decision to deny rezoning of 651 Central Avenue from single family residential to permit apartments. Several neighbors appeared to complain about traffic problems that apartments would create.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of C. Eugene Douglas as a member of the recreation, music and parks commission. Douglas has taken an education post in Vacaville.

SUBDIVISION — Approved the final maps for two sections of the Valley Green subdivision on South McDowell Boulevard, a mile south of East Washington Street. The sections will include 92 lots.

REZONING — Approved the rezoning of 311 Oak Street from neighborhood commercial to single-family residential, noting that the lot had been inadvertently overlooked in previous rezoning actions.

AUTO YARD — Heard a report that good progress had been made at Scrappy Jim's Auto Wreckers to bring it up to city standards and conditions set in the use permit.

More Sentences For Campus Flap

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Seven more San Francisco State College demonstrators were given jail terms and fines yesterday on charges resulting from a mass arrest on the campus last January.

Municipal Judge Raymond Reynolds imposed the sentences.

All seven defendants were fined $150 each and three received jail sentences on top of the fines. Five of the seven will appeal, according to attorney Duncan Webb.

Gregory Margolis and Rachel March Yglesias were convicted on three counts of unlawful assembly, failure to disperse and disturbing the peace. They will each serve a total of 45 days.

Phillip Rutzick, found guilty of just two counts, was sentenced to 30 days. The four other defendants received suspended sentences.

Busdieker Sent To Vacaville

David Vaughn Busdieker, 20, who last minth pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter in the Dec. 18 death of his father at the family's Corte Madera home, yesterday was sent to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior court ordered a 90-day evaluation of the youth made before sentencing him.

Busdieker's father was stabbed to death with an eight-inch kitchen knife after a heated family argument. The youth went on trial for voluntary manslaughter July 23 but the jury deadlocked at 11 to 1 for conviction. He later pleaded guilty to the reduced charge.

Confusion In Petaluma Voting Change

By BONNIE BARD

Conflicting opinions on the legality of a petition calling for a charter amendment to establish voting districts last night caused a confused Petaluma City Council to delay action.

City Atty. Edouard E. Robert advised the council to take no action on the petition because he considered it invalid, but all his points were challenged by Donald P. Petro, organizer of the charter amendment movement and an unsuccessful candidate for a council seat in the June election.

Under Petro's plan, the city would be divided into six voting districts which would choose individual persons to represent them on the council rather than the at-large election method now used. The mayor, the seventh council member, would continue to be elected at large.

Attorney Robert said that the state Constitution holds that a petition for a charter amendment must have 15 per cent of the registered voters signed. City Clerk Lillian Nommsen said that, under that ruling, the petition would need 1,295 signatures from among the 8,634 registered voters.

Petro's petitions contained 1,184 names, according to Mrs. Nommsen, who noted that few had been verified.

Petro countered the attorney's opinion and cited a clause in the Constitution which states that petitions need only 15 per cent of the voters who cast ballots in the previous gubernatorial elections. He said that, in that case, he would need 1,006 signatures from 6,705 voters.

When Petro challenged Robert to produce the Constitution so that the matter could be resolved, Robert said there was no copy in City Hall.

On the motion of Councilman Albert L. Battaglia, the council urged Robert to come better prepared at the next meeting so that his opinion could be verified through the Constitution and a possible lawsuit averted.

Robert also challenged the petition on the legal ground that proposed districts overlapped. "I'm firmly convinced that the measure would be unconstitutional on the one-man, one-vote concept," Robert said.

The city attorney said the charter amendment would be impractical from the standpoint that no provisions were made to re-district for future population growth and annexations.

Petro told the council that in checking with the state committee for municipal government, he was told that the one-man, one-vote provision had never been challenged on a municipal level. He said that problems of overlapping districts were caused by typing errors on the petition and that he had submitted a letter requesting corrections be made.

"You must also consider the moral aspects of the problems and not just the legal," Petro said. "There were many people who signed the petition and want to see it voted on."

Petro hopes to include the proposed charter amendment on the Oct. 14 ballot along with the Petaluma High School District bond election. The council will consider action on the petition at the Sept. 15 meeting.

Mobile Blood Bank To Be In Novato

The mobile unit of the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank will be at the Novato Community House from 2 to 7 p.m. Sept. 11, according to Mrs. Grover Owen, publicity chairman.

The Novato Moose Lodge, Western California Telephone Co. and the Novato city employees are sponsoring this visit. Appointments for others may be made through Mrs. Charles Johnson at 779 Clausing Avenue and Mrs. Louis Cavallero at 154 H Lane.

Mill Valley Meet On School Bonds

The Mill Valley School District board will hold a special meeting at 8 p.m. today at Park School to discuss whether to call a special election to authorize an increase in school construction bond interest rates from 5 to 7 per cent.

Recent state legislation increased the interest limit to 7 per cent after school districts complained they could not sell construction bonds at the lower rate after the prime interest rate has escalated to a current high of 8.5 per cent.

The school district has $700,000 in bonds left to sell out of its $3.5 million school bond issue authorized in June 1967.

Son Of U.S. Official Takes Life At Capitol

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 15-year-old son of a Federal Railroad Administration official died less than an hour after he apparently shot himself on the steps of the U.S. Capitol last night, authorities reported.

Greg Rogers was found with a .32-calibre bullet wound in his temple. He was discovered near the peace monument at the base of the Capitol's west steps that face the mall linking the Capitol with the Washington Monument. He was rushed to Rogers Memorial Hospital in Washington where he died.

Police said the death apparently was a suicide. A note was found on the youth's body but police did not release it to the family or the press.

Rogers was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mac E. Rogers of suburban Fairfax County, Va., just south of Alexandria, Va. His father is director of the Bureau of Railroad Safety in the Federal Railroad Administration.

Rogers told The Washington Post his son has been despondent since his brother-in-law Air Force 1st Lt. Gary P. Leach, 26, died in a B52 crash at Anderson AFB on Guam July 27 en route to Vietnam.

The elder Rogers said the boy was very fond of his brother-in-law and had frequently gone for long walks alone or with his dog since Leach's death.

Did Police Beat Sonoma Youth?

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

SAN FRANCISCO — A San Francisco cab driver faces possible revocation of his license today in the aftermath of a North Beach altercation Aug. 25 in which the cabbie and a Petaluma youth claim the latter was savagely beaten by police.

A San Francisco police spokesman said the youth had actually assaulted two officers and the cabbie had refused to radio for assistance despite the officers' repeated requests.

The Petaluma youth, Steven Phillipscheck, 20, son of Stella Phillipscheck, clerk of West Marin Justice Court at Point Reyes Station, was booked on suspicion of being under the influence of drugs and two counts of battery on a police officer. He is due for arraignment in San Francisco Municipal Court Friday.

His mother said he is now under a doctor's care for a punctured eardrum suffered in the alleged beating and a second beating at the Hall of Justice where he was taken for booking.

The cab driver is Michael Edwards, 24, who will appear at a hearing at the San Francisco Bureau of Permits this afternoon. Attorney Terrence Hallinan, who represents Phillipscheck, will accompany Edwards, who stands to lose his permit if police prove "irrational behavior and failure to assist an officer."

San Francisco police and Edwards, who has been a Yellow Cab driver for two weeks, gave sharply conflicting views of the late evening brawl at Columbus and Broadway in the city's nightspot district.

Edwards said he had just let a fare out when he "looked up and saw one officer grab this kid and throw him down on the ground, and the two cops started beating the hell out of the kids."

He said Phillipscheck, whom he has never seen before or since, did not resist in any way except "to protect himself from the blows of the policemen."

Edwards told the Independent-Journal the policemen finally handcuffed the youth, then they began "beating his head against the side of the cab. They kept on doing it." He said he got out of his cab in an attempt to get the officers' badge numbers.

The policeman spokesman identified the arresting officers as W. Warnke and J. Braswell.

When other officers arrived, Edwards said, he asked a police sergeant if he could report the beating and was told to "go get back in the cab." Two other officers then ordered him to leave the area, he said.

The police report on the incident varies widely with Edwards' charges.

Police said Phillipscheck was standing on the corner holding on to a post and "accosting citizens and attempting to stop them from passing and shouting at them." He was holding a bottle of beer in his hand — a fact all parties agreed on — and appeared to be under the influence of drugs, the police report said.

Mrs. Phillipscheck said her son, who has long hair, had attended a birthday party in the city where beer and champagne were consumed. He was not under the influence of drugs, she said.

The police report said after placing young Phillipscheck under arrest, he kicked Braswell in the groin and bit Warnke on both hands. A "large, hostile crowd formed," the report said, and one bystander jumped on an officer's back and the other officer's hand was stomped on. One of the officers also lost his revolver during the scuffle.

During this time, the report said, Edwards repeatedly ignored pleas from the officers to radio for help, a violation of the California penal code. Instead, police said, he verbally abused the officers and attempted to intercede in Phillipscheck's behalf.

Finally, police said, Edwards did radio for help, but Edwards said it was to get help to stop the beating — and several more officers arrived and the crowd was dispersed.

Braswell was later treated for a sprained hand and Warnke received tetanus shots for the bites on his hand, the spokesman said .

Edwards and the police also have sharply differing versions of a second run-in involving police and the cab driver. Edwards said that after he was ordered to drive away, two motorcycle policemen pulled him over two or three blocks from the scene and began "hassling" him.

They asked why he was hostile to police and why he was so excited, Edwards said, and also told him they were overworked and still tense about President Richard M. Nixon's visit to San Francisco. He also said one policeman told him, "we always give cabbies a break."

Then two more motorcycle police arrived, he said, including one of the officers involved in the beating. This officers, who was not identified, allegedly reached into Edwards' cab, grabbed his arm and shook him, saying, "If you make a report on this, I'll get you."

More officers arrived and after talking with a Yellow Cab supervisor, took a statement from Edwards although "they wouldn't let me finish anything," he said.

Three days later, when he returned from two days off, Edwards said an inspector from the police department's cab division told him to show up for today's hearing. A cab division spokesman said the division doesn't like to invoke the law about assisting an officer but "sometimes we have to." The hearing is also aimed at determining whether Edwards is "temperamentally suited for this business," he said.

SURVIVOR'S TEARS — Two-year-old Tammy Austin, safe in her aunt's Larkspur home, cries over a minor unhappiness as her mother, Mrs. Colleen A. Austin, describes the horrors of Hurricane Camille, through which they lived. The mother and daughter lost nearly all their possessions to water and mud in their beach apartment on the Mississippi coast.

STAYING IN LARKSPUR

Hurricane Camille Refugee Describes Chaos Of Storm

By ROD BREWSTER

A young California mother who was on the beach in Biloxi, Miss., when hurricane Camille flattened the city is trying to reconstruct her life at the home of her sister in Larkspur.

Mrs. Colleen A. Austin, a 21-year-old divorcee, and her daughter Tammy, 2, have been living with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Durigo of 119 King Street since the gale destroyed all her belongings last month.

Mrs. Austin and her daughter were living in a ground-floor apartment on the Biloxi beachfront when the storm knocked buildings flat around her and waves and flood-water swept into her apartment.

Mrs. Austin and her daughter had lived in Biloxi only eight months before the storm, having stopped there on a trip that was to have taken them to Florida when Mrs. Austin ran out of money. She was working as a dancer in a club on the beach.

"Friday (Aug. 15) we heard the hurricane was coming, but weren't really worried because it was way out in the ocean," Mrs. Austin recalled.

"By the next day some of the families packed their things and their families and moved inland." Because of her job and her daughter Mrs. Austin stayed behind.

As the hurricane's fury mounted, they barricaded the door with a 600 pound motorcycle but still an inch and one half of water forced its way in, and they fled to shelter in a friend's apartment on higher ground.

By dawn the storm passed and the water poured back into the Gulf of Mexico "like a drain," and Mrs. Austin walked back to her apartment. "I just looked and walked away; there was nothing to say," she said dejectedly.

The door was open, all windows were broken and a layer of mud covered what belongings were left, the rest having washed out with the receding water.

All her and Tammy's clothing was ruined or gone, as were her identification and other papers. The only thing she salvaged was her iron which was on a high shelf above the water.

"I just walked down to the beach to look at the destruction, there was nothing else to do. Everything was down, 90 per cent of the clubs along the beach, apartments. No jobs, no work, no nothing," she said.

Monday, many of those whose homes had collapsed stood over the remains with guns to ward off looters. Mrs. Austin said she heard that several persons were shot.

Bodies were under debris and on the sand, some recently dead, some washed down from a cemetery inland. The Red Cross had ambulances in the area but they always seemed to be filled with the dead, she said.

A man and the eight members of his family who lived not far from Mrs. Austin had been warned by neighbors to leave as the storm was building. He said they would stay behind to protect their home from looters. The entire family was found later crushed under their collapsed home, she said.

A little girl was found dead on the sand across from Mrs. Austin's apartment and a 10-year-old boy's body was taken from a pile of debris over which survivors had been walking to reach their water supply.

"There were bodies and dead cows and the place smelled dead," the young woman said.

Power, water systems and roads were almost totally destroyed. Beach survivors got their drinking water from a naturally flowing artesian well located in the remains of a night-club. The Salvation Army came in with sandwiches and coffee and the National Guard placed a curfew on the beach strip.

Rumors of typhoid and malaria spread, adding to the worries.

Mrs. Austin found a trailer resident who had one of the few operating telephones, and she called her sister in Larkspur and a contact with the Red Cross and in Mississippi was set up.

At this point, Tammy, who had been placed temporarily in a home inland, became ill from contaminated food or water and was hospitalized for a week. Mrs. Austin stayed with her.

When they left the hospital, Red Cross officials said they had purchased tickets to California for the mother and child and last Wednesday the refugees were in Larkspur, with two boxes and a suitcase filled with clothing given them while in the hospital.

Marin Chapter officials of the Red Cross is helping provide immediate care for Mrs. Austin and Tammy and are trying to get new identification cards so the young woman can obtain a job.

Insurance Policy Forces Repair Of Mill Valley Recreation Center

Mill Valley's Community Recreation Center, damaged by arsonists Aug. 2, will be repaired rather than replaced, the Mill Valley City Council decided last night after hearing an insurance adjustor's report that the city's insurance policy will cover repairs, but not a new building.

The city would receive some insurance money if the council decided to rebuild but any payment would be based on the depreciated value of the structure, City Mgr. William H. Cunningham said.

However, the company will pay for complete repairs, no matter the cost, he explained.

Preliminary bids for repairs range from $35,000 to $41,500, he said.

The council authorized staff to work with insurance representatives in reviewing preliminary bids to ensure the building will be repaired to city standards. Staff also was authorized to negotiate a new contract with Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera to complete work on the building which was interrupted by the fire.

The building had been moved from its site on project 17 near Sycamore Avenue to a spot adjacent to the Southern Marin Horsemen's Association horse ring at East Blithedale Avenue and Camino Alto when the fire occurred.

Cost of the moving project was approximately $47,000.

The Mill Valley City Council also:

LIBRARY — Authorized staff to negotiate a bid for the old library on Lovell Avenue by J. R. Patterson who offered $3,000 cash plus five lots on the Dipsea Trail at Cascade Avenue for a total of $18,000 for the library property.

SUBDIVISION — Approved a minor subdivision at 101 Coronet Avenue requested by Don Dickey and Gerung.

CAMPING — Approved first reading of an ordinance prohibiting camping and lodging in city parks, other public property and private property.

MARLIN AVENUE — Authorized the staff to take whatever steps necessary to make repairs to an excavation on Marlin Avenue by developer Johnny Ribero to prevent slides and floods on adjacent properties.

CAMINO ALTO — Authorized staff to proceed with designing the widening of Camino Alto between East Blithedale and Miller avenues.

APPOINTMENTS — Ratified Mayor Dean N. Meyer's appointment of Ivan Poutiatine to the planning commission, replacing Harlen Soeten who resigned; William E. Cullen to the architectural advisory committee, replacing Poutiatine; and Robert J. House to the human rights commission, replacing William J. Walker, who also resigned. Dorrie Bassett and Jan Mountjoy were reappointed to second terms on the architectural advisory committee and the resignation of John Hyatt from the youth commission was accepted.

BIDS — Approved plans and authorized a call for bids for the Park School drainage project, estimated to cost $12,000.

WORK ACCEPTANCE — Accepted completion of work certificates from contractors for construction of retaining walls on West Blithedale and Ralston avenues, for widening and leveling of Carmelita Avenue between Buena Vista and East Blithedale avenues, and the sewer main extension project in Marsh Park subdivision.

Mill Valley Vetoes Taco Bell Again

Taco Bell last night lost another round in its battle with Mill Valley to retain its California mission style architecture, roundly criticized as not in keeping with the city's architectural standards.

On a 4-1 vote, Councilman Robert H. Andresen dissenting, the council rejected the appeal by Taco Bell that a previous design disapproval by the city's architectural advisory committee be overruled.

RECEIVED AWARDS

The vote came despite claims by the food restaurant chain's representatives that the building design has won beautification awards in at least two other California cities — Vallejo and San Fernando.

To prove the point, G. L. Graham, the firm's real estate director, showed slides of the firm's restaurant in Santa Barbara which features, he said, a fiberglass bell, painted bronze, in the building's mission style bell tower.

"We've gotten a lot of compliments on that bell," Graham said. "They really like it in Santa Barbara."

Graham also showed a series of slides of buildings in Mill Valley which have tile roofs and arches in their design motif.

Graham said the building was a "unique compromise between economics and aesthetics" and similiar buildings in other cities had been instrumental in redeveloping areas where "existing buildings are crumbling in."

Ivan Poutiatine, chairman of the architectural advisory committee, said the issue revolves around the question of "whether we should allow corporate advertising in the form of buildings to comei nto Mill Valley . . . when it conflicts with the aims of the community."

Councilman Jerome C. Hauke moved denial, saying "If I have to choose between two corporate images — Taco Bell's or Mill Valley's — I'll choose the corporation of Mill Valley."

Jan Mountjoy, also of the architectural advisory committee, said a simple Spanish design which was compatible with nearby buildings would be acceptable to the committee.

Buck-Passing Charged On Miller Slide

Last winter's slide on Miller Avenue at Reed Street may not be resolved for another year because of "buck-passing" by public agencies involved, the Mill Valley City Council heard last night.

City engineer Stanley M. Bala said the slide cannot be repaired before the winter's rainy season starts because the county refuses to recognize its responsibility for repairing the slide.

The slide on property owned by Thomas Collison of Mill Valley, is outside the city limits, Bala said, but it is endangering a portion of Miller Avenue, one of the city's two main exits.

Supported by the council, Mayor Dean N. Meyer, who earlier accused the agencies of "buck-passing", said he would ask state Senator John F. McCarthy for aid in the matter.

Bala said the slide "is massive" — 145 feet high, and containing an estimated 16,000 cubic yards of soil — and would cost more than $70,000 to repair.

The county had agreed to apply for federal storm disaster funds but apparently has failed to submit the application, Bala said.

"The county has condemned the house on top of the slide but refuses to do anything about the slide itself, saying it's on private property," Bala explained. "Removing the house is like worrying about a fly crawling along a bridge which is about to collapse."

Bala said the city will have to be forced to close off one lane of Miller Avenue during the winter while the slide still remains.

He also said he will not authorize the removal of dirt on the city's sidewalk, main path from downtown Mill Valley to Tamalpais High school, for fear of triggering an even bigger slide disaster.

Old Coins Stolen

Old coins of unkown value were stolen Monday from the home of Carl F. Linke at 257 North San Pedro Road, Santa Venetia, sheriff's deputies reported today.

Plans Set For Single Kindergarten Sessions

The San Anselmo School District will work its way gradually into single session kindergarten classes during the fall semester, Supt. Stephen L. Parodi reported today.

The school district board last night authorized hiring five more kindergarten teachers with the aim to have all five hired by next February.

Parodi told the board the change from double sessions will cost $15,237 if all five kindergartens went to single sessions now, or $6,422 if the change were made in February. Offsetting the cost of hiring five teachers will be increased state aid and the cutoff of salaries now paid teacher aides in the classrooms.

Parodi said the present five teachers will assist in choosing the five new teachers so each team of two teachers will be compatible.

Class sessions will increase to three hours from the present two-and-a-half, with one teacher in charge of the morning class and the other in charge of the afternoon class. The assistant teacher in each session will have time to consult with parents, help pupils out of class, and prepare class materials.

Each class will go to single sessions when a second teacher is hired, Parodi said.

Under a new state law, the district faced the loss of state assistance for kindergarten attendance if double sessions remained.

The San Anselmo School District board also:

RESIGNATION — Accepted resignation of Effie Forbes, third grade teacher at Brookside School, who has returned to her native Houston, Tex., to live.

UNHIRING — Rescinded its Aug. 19 hiring of Karen Rold, who was hired a few days earlier by Dixie School District before the San Anselmo board was aware of it.

HIRING — Hired Joan Young as third grade teacher at Brookside School at a salary of $8,427, and Joanna McPeak as first grade teacher at Yolansdale School, also at a salary of $8,427. Mrs. Young has taught four years at Garden Grove, Los Angeles County, and Mrs. Young has taught four years in San Bernardino County and one year in Glendale, Los Angeles County.

Increasing Of Density Is Sought

The Rohnert Park City Council last night requested an ordinance be prepared to increase housing density and proposed an ordinance requiring underground ordinance requiring undergrounding of utility lines in all new developments.

The density measure would allow a maximum density increase of 30 per cent in the various district zones. The resolution was prompted during consideration of a new Young America Homes subdivision with homesite of 4,500 square feet rather than theu sual minimum of 6,000 square feet.

On the suggestion of Councilman Arthur N. Roberts, an ordinance will be prepared requiring all new developments to have underground utility lines. Roberts said he felt the measure would be necessary with increased density.

The Rohnert City Council also:

ANNEXATION — Reviewed the annexation agreement for 441 acres of land on the south side of East Cotati Avenue owned by Fred W. Rohnert. City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the city is negotiating to purchase future park sites at minimum cost.

WORK STUDY — Approved an agreement with Sonoma State College to employ students under a federal work-study program. The federal government will pay 80 per cent of the salaries and tne city 20 per cent. All will work in the public works department.

SWIMMING — Agreed to pay $250 for the learn to swim program at Rohnert Park pools for the Cotati School District. In budget cuts, the district did not provide for the training.

Economy Keeps Lines Up In Air

Utility lines on Sycamore Avenue extension will remain on poles above ground, the Mill Valley City Council decided last night after hearing that undergrounding the project will cost the city $68,000.

Above-ground installation on the south side of Sycamore Avenue from Camino Alto to the city's sewage treatment plant will be financed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

The city, however, will pay approximately $3,000 for installation of street lights along the divider strip.

The city originally had hoped to finance undergrounding because the utility lines will run past the new Middle School and into the city's long-sought yacht harbor and park area.

However, councilmen rejected the undergrounding project after hearing they would have to spend $4,000 plus the city's undergrounding allocation from the electric company through 1971 to finance the project.

Vote on the issue was 5-0, overruling a unanimous staff recommendation for undergrounding of aesthetic reasons.

San Anselmo Robbery Charges

Armed robbery charges have been filed by the Marin District attorney's office against two youths who were arrested Aug. 24 after a San Anselmo boy was robbed of $65 at knifepoint.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Garry T. Ragghianti said yesterday that warrants of arrest, with bail set at $15,000 were issued Friday for Reade Collins Backer, 18, of Ross, and Stephen John Pappas, 19, of San Francisco.

Neither youth had been arrested this morning.

Ragghianti said that after extensive investigation of the case it appeared that a 16-year-old San Anselmo boy's version of the robbery was true. The boy said that Backer and Pappas took $65 from him while he and a friend were trying to repair a motorcycle on San Anselmo Avenue.

Ragghianti dismissed the claim by a companion of Backer and Pappas that the youths had approached them at a teen-age coffee house and made arrangements to buy opium from them.

The youth's parents confirmed that he had recently been paid the money for a job he had had and that they had repeatedly urged him to bank the $65.

A third youth arrested at the time, John S. Iacono, 19, of Greenbrae, was not charged.

Yesterday a bench warrant was issued for Backer in Superior Court when he failed to appear to face trial in an earlier case in which he is charged with possessing marijuana.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Those With Labile Hypertension Should Learn To Take It Easy

VAN DELLEN

R. T. writes: "I am a 24-year-old man with a problem. Every time I try to get insurance, the company doctor finds my pressure up. But when my own doctor does the test, the reading is normal. I have developed a phobia about this and become tense and shaky on entering the office of the inusrance doctor. My personal physician tells me that my blood pressure is labile and will correct itself when I settle down."

MOST PEOPLE with labile hypertension have an autonomic nervous system that overreacts to stressful situations, including examinations for employment, insurance, or participation in competitive sports. We have no control over this secondary nervous system that regulates blood pressure, pulse, sweating, and other functions. Emotional disturbances, that have little or no effect on most of us, raise the blood pressure of these vascular hyperreactors.

THE BLOOD PRESSURE reading is normal most of the time, especially when taken while the individual is relaxed at home or in the office of the family physician. Most of the sufferers are young and have a family history of hypertension. What happens to them in the future? With increased sophistication and experience their pressure levels may remain within normal limits.

Others in this group will develop hypertension and, in this respect, the temporary increase in tension is a forerunner of what can be expected on reaching the age of 40 to 50. Higher readings and more frequent elevations of blood pressure predispose the individual to a persistent hypertension in the future. This is understandable because they are under constant stress.

Our reader should regard himself as a potential hypertensive and avoid stress, get enough rest, avoid salt, and maintain a normal weight. A tranquilizer may help when encountering stressful situations.

WATER WITH MEALS

D. S. writes: Does drinking water with meals slow down digestion?

REPLY

No. Food is digested in a liquid state and it is difficult to understand why the addition of water would have an adverse effect.

HEREDITY AND ASTIGMATISM

A reader writes: If both parents have astigmatism, would any of their children have perfect vision?

REPLY

They might, but the odds are against it. Astigmatism frequently is hereditary and if both parents have the condition, there is a good chance that the children will follow suit.

Today's Health Hint — Always tell your child the truth.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

Writer's Interview: A Chilling Document

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"The Ordeal of Anatoly Kuznetsov," an hour CBS-TV interview with the writer who recently defected from Russia, was broadcast last night: A chilling powerful human document.

In many ways predictable in its essential matter, the program nevertheless was riveting because of the civilized but pointed questioning of reporter Morley Safer, and above all because of the sense of tragedy present in Kuznetsov himself.

The 40ish Soviet author, interviewed in London, outwardly resembled a young Ivy League professor — bespectacled, pleasant looking, puffing on a cigarette, wearing a conservative tie and natty jacket without a collar. He spoke softly, somberly, attractively in his manner of delivery.

Yet the words seemed to belie the pleasant outward manner, for they were obviously torturous to him. In every answer, he seemed to be questioning himself and his conscience to the depths of his soul, and yet trying to persuade his listeners of the rightness of his act of personal liberation which he feels so necessary to his survival as an artist.

He was merciless in his appraisal of Russia. He will not talk to Soviet officials because "I am afraid of them." The final spark that made him decide to defect, he said, was when Soviet troops moved into Czechoslovakia. He described Russia as a concentration camp. The Soviet Union, he said, is the real aggressor in the modern world.

Yet, despite describing Russia as a concentration camp, he left his family there. Safer questioned him on this. He asked Kuznetsov whether he thought the Soviet Union would make his family pay for his "crime" of defecting. Said the writer: "I have no doubt about that." And the silence that followed his guilt-torn expression in answering this question was almost unbearable.

To get permission to travel abroad he defected in London. He said he had to win the confidence of the secret police, who distrusted him. He said they wanted him to inform on others. At first he refused; later he said to himself, "Let them have their informer," and he invented a phony plot in which writers supposedly were involved with an underground magazine. He regretted naming others, he said, but added that he exposed his fictional plot immediately after defecting in London.

Judge Sends Youth To Prison

A 21-year-old youth who has spent most of his life in institutions and who had admitted burglarizing a San Rafael motel in January yesterday was sent to state prison for a one-to-15-year term.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court said that he hated to send Frederick Newton Downey Jr., of no fixed address, to prison but he could see no alternative for the youth because of his long adult and juvenile criminal record.

Downey was arrested Jan.11 attempting to pry open a cigarette machine at the Bermuda Palms.

Little Rookie Among 49ers To Get Ax

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Bill Wondolowski, the mighty mite everyone was rooting for, lost the first round in his bid to gain a regular berth with the San Francisco 49ers, but he may yet have his day.

"Wondo," who stands 5-10 and weighs 165 pounds, came to the Niner camp this summer as a free agent out of Eastern Montana. He worked harder than most and some thought he had a job sewed up but the axe fell yesterday when he was listed among 11 men cut by the team to get down to the 49-man limit.

Wondolowski, however, was placed on the team's Taxi Squad after clearing waivers and will be around to work out with the club and maybe step in if injuries sideline any of the team's receivers.

"I am happy Waldo cleared waivers as long as we had to cut him at this time," said coach Dick Nolan. "Now we can put him on the Taxi Squad and he is available to us if we need him."

Four of the 11 men cut by the 49ers were veterans — second year place kicker Dennis Patera of Brigham Young, fifth year defensive back George Rose of Auburn, fifth year defensive tackle Walter Barnes of Nebraska and third year guard Don Parker of Virginia, who went on injured waivers.

The other rookies cut besides Wondolowski were quarterback Paul Champlin of Eastern Montana, running back Jimmy Thomas of the University of Texas at Arlington, tight end Wayne Moore of Lanar Tech, linebacker Fritz Greenlee of Arizona, defensive end Nick Kukulica of San Francisco State, and place kicker Don Martin of Washington.

Placed on the Taxi Squad with "Wondo" were Champlin, Thomas, Moore and Greenlee.

Some or all of the Taxi men may be "loaned" out to Sacramento of the Continental Football League so they can play regularly until needed by the 49ers.

San Francisco does not have an agreement with Sacramento but more than likely will ship some players to that club.

TWO 'REAL' BASEBALL VETERANS TO RETIRE

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jo Jo White and Mel Harder, whose years in baseball total 85, announced today they will retire at the end of the season. White has been third base coach for the Kansas City Royals and Harder has handled the Royals' pitchers.

White has spent 42 years in baseball and is 70 years old. Harder will be 60 in October and is finishing his 43rd baseball season.

JIM GILMARTIN

It's Movie Time At Sonoma Raceway

They're mixing greasepaint with the grease at Sears Point International Raceway this week. And, if you attend this weekend's American Motorcycle Association championship road races you're liable to wind up in moom pitchas, dahling.

Filmways of Southern California, new owner of the southern Sonoma County motorsports complex, will be shooting the final scenes for its next epic titled "Little Fauss and Big Halsy." Starring the ever popular Michel Polland and other living legends of the silver screen, the flick's plot has Little F and Big H working their way around the country's short motorcycle tracks en route to the last big championship race of the year. Sears Point plays the part of motorcycledom's "Indianapolis" and much of the film's climatic scenes will be shot during the weekend races.

Lights . . . camera . . . zoom-zoom. Beep beep. Where's my Yamaha! Give me my beret!

Dolinsek Batting .311

LATEST FIGURES from the Appalachian Rookie League show Novato product John Dolinsek hitting .311 for the Covington, Va., farm team of the Houston Astros. In one stretch of 27 at-bats Dolinsek, Arizona State's most valuable player in the 1969 NCAA World Series, had 10 hits, including 3 doubles and a home run.

Larkspur's Ken Johnson, meanwhile, has finished his second year of professional baseball batting only .149 for the New York Yankees' Ft. Lauderdale team in the Florida State League.

AFTER WATCHING 41-year-old George Blanda come off the bench and lead the Raiders to their stirring rally to whup the 49ers Sunday, I think you might be hearing the rebirth of an old Kezar Stadium love song at 49er games this season: "We Want Tittle." Remember?

Kilby At Arizona State

FORMER TERRA LINDA High grid terror Bruce Kilby has moved up from Arizona Western Junior College to the Arizona State Sun Devils varsity this season and is expected to see considerable action as defensive end and also tight end.

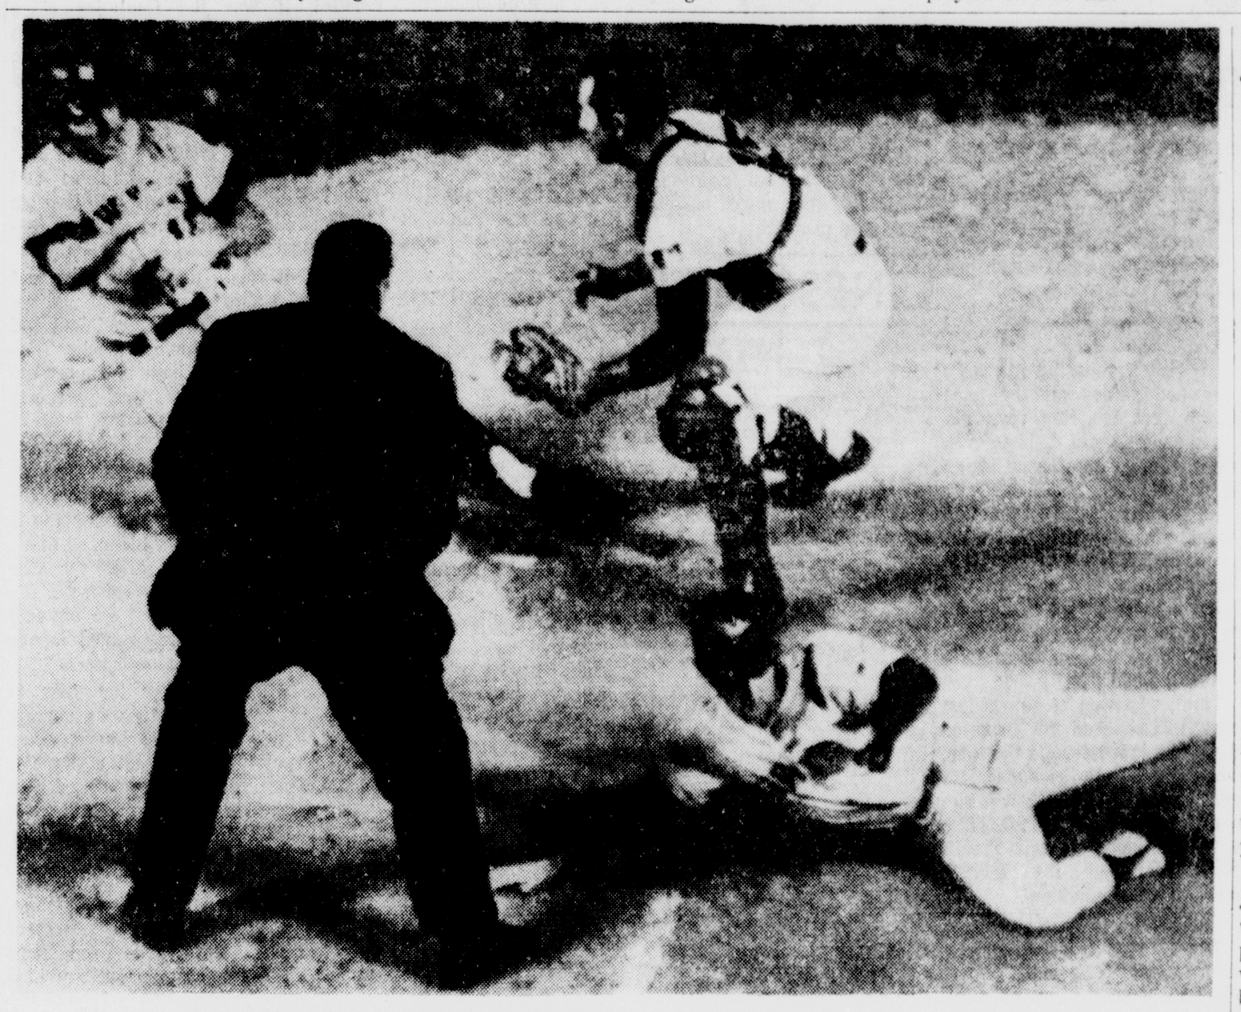
Marin also has two ex-prep (Drake) and junior college (Marin) stars at University of Montana — defensive back Karl Stein and linebacker Bill Hickerson. The UM pressbook says of Stein: "Last year earned All-California J.C. honors. Holds Marin one and two-season interception records. Coaches think he's a great one." Of Hickerson: "Extremely hard hitter. Won two 1968 games with field goals. Father played football for Bear Bryant." The latter observation means he's a chip off the old, tough block.

Ticketed as a top defensive tackle prospect at Dartmouth is Barry Brink of Mill Valley, another chip off the old block. Barry's dad, Mill Valley auto dealer Larry Brink, starred for the L.A. Rams several years ago.

Boosters To Houston

NORTHERN CALIFORNIA'S population will take a temporary decrease starting tomorrow as upwards of 300 members of the Giants Boosters Club, including approximately 75 Marin Countians will follow the team to Houston's Astrodome for the weekend series.

Headed by Boosters president Allan B. Murray of Kentfield and directed by Paul Hartman of San Rafael's GTS Travel, the tour will include a visit to the manned space center in Houston. We'll return Sunday evening, so I'll see you next week.



NECK AND NECK AT THE PLATE

Art Shamsky and Ken Boswell of the New York Mets came home almost neck and neck trying to score on Ron Swoboda's double but Shamsky was the only one to make it as Los Angeles catcher Tom Haller applied the tag on Boswell. The faster Boswell almost caught up with Shamsky from first base. Shamsky was on second. The umpire is Tom Landis. The Mets won, 5-4. (AP Wirephoto)

U.S. OPEN TENNIS

Ashe, Gonzales Get Big Tests

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (AP) — The big test comes today for America's two leading tennis personalities, Pancho Gonzales and Arthur Ashe Jr.

Old Pancho, 41, his bones and muscles still aching from a tough tennis campaign, got an extra day of rest because of rain and goes against third-seeded Tony Roche in a delayed fourth round of the U.S. Open championships.

SORE ELBOW

Ashe, fighting a tennis elbow, meets 34-year-old Ken Rosewall in one of two men's quarter-finals on the West Side Club schedule. The other sends favorite Rod Laver, unbeaten in his last 27 matches against fellow Australian, Roy Emerson.

Three other players advanced to the men's quarter-finals yesterday.

They were second-seeded John Newcombe of Australia, who had to fight off five set points in the fourth set and survive a five-hour marathon in beating Marty Riessen of Evanston, Ill., 4-6, 6-3, 6-4, 25-23; Fred Stolle of Australia, who beat Britain's Roger Taylor, 6-4, 6-2, 2-6, 6-3, and Earl "Butch" Buchholz of St. Louis, who upset 11th-seeded Andres Gimeno 4-6, 6-3, 6-1, 5-7, 6-3.

SCHEDULE

Newcombe plays Stolle and Buchholz faces the Gonzales-Roche survivor in the men's quarter-finals tomorrow.

Finalists were to be decided also today in the women's singles.

Mrs. Margaret Court, the favorite, opposes Virginia Wade of Britain, the defending titleholder, and Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, takes on Nancy Richey of San Angelo, Tex.

Ryder Cup Team Preps For Journey

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (UPI)—Dave Hill and five other Ryder Cuppers prepared today for a marathon international journey which will take them as a team against the British in England and then over the pole to become opponents in the Alcan Golfer of the Year championship at Portland, Ore.

Hill will go to England for the Ryder Cup matches at Royal Birkdale, Sept. 18-21, and then will fly back to Portland along with team members Billy Casper, Frank Beard, Dan Sikes, Lee Trevino and Gene Littler.

SEVEN OTHERS

There at the Portland Golf Club on Sept. 25-28 they will join seven other Alcan qualifiers in a head to head battle for the golfer of the year championship and the year's richest individual prize, a $55,000 first-place payoff. Joining them will be seven other Alcan hopefuls—Deane Beman, Bob Lunn, Lou Graham, rookie Grier Jones, Kermit Zarley, Bert Greene and two-time winner Gay Brewer, Jr.

5 BRITONS

They will have more than each other to combat, however, because facing them at Portland will be five Britons as well as individual players from Canada, Europe, the Far East, Kel Nagle of Australia and young Graham Henning of South Africa.

The Ryder Cup is for glory. But when they tee it up in the Alcan "World Championship" it will be every man for himself and Hill wasn't selling himself short.

Raiders Cut QB Dickey

SANTA ROSA (AP)—Eldridge Dickey, who hoped to become the first Negro to be a first-string quarterback in professional football, has been placed on waivers by the Oakland Raiders.

But coach John Madden said the former Tennessee A&I star quarterback — the club's No. 1 draft choice in 1968--would be recalled from the waiver list if he is claimed by another club.

"Eldridge is still in our plans," Madden said yesterday. "The thing is that it takes a long time to become a professional quarterback and we plan to work with Eldridge on it."

If Dickey isn't claimed, Madden said, he would be put on the taxi squad.

Dickey was impressive in the first two exhibition games but lost further playing time behind Daryle Lamonica and George Blanda. He has missed curfews and practice and his attitude has deteriorated as his playing time decreased, Madden said.

Also waived were six-year defensive back Howie Williams, linebacker Dave Ogas, wide receiver John Eason and center Tom Freeman as the Raiders reached the player limit of 44.

The Raiders must cut four more men before the first season game and the last four can't be recalled.

Eason was drafted No. 8 two years ago from Florida A&M as a tight end, and lost 30 pounds to reach wide receiver weight of 215. But he had too much competition from Fred Biletnikoff, Warren Wells, Rod Sherman and rookie Drew Buie.

In another development, the Raiders sent veteran offensive lineman Ernie Park to Cincinnati as part of the deal that brought Sherman back to Oakland. The Bengals got Sherman in the expansion draft.

HICKE SIGNS; NO HOLDOUTS FOR SEALS

OAKLAND (UPI) — The Oakland Seals will open their National Hockey League training camp in Oshawa, Ontario, Canada, Sept. 12, with all 20 players on their protected roster under contract.

They signed their last man yesterday with the announcement that veteran wing Billy Hicke had come to terms.

Seals coach Fred Glover predicted a big season for the popular star and commented that "until Bill was hurt just after the all-star break, he was playing the best hockey of his career."

Hicke, 31, finished second to Capt. Ted Hampson in club scoring last year despite the time he spent on the sidelines. Hicke had 25 goals and 36 assists.

Stanford Runner Sprains His Ankle

STANFORD (AP) — Running back Bubba Brown suffered a slight ankle sprain yesterday in Stanford football workouts.

Coach John Ralston termed the Indians' two drills "a little rusty after four days of conditioning, but there was good progress on offense, particularly sweeps, pass offense and draws."

Ron Hunt Rejoins Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With Ron Hunt out of the hospital and ready once again to serve as a target for opposing pitchers, the San Francisco Giants resumed their National League pennant drive today.

Juan Marichal, 16-9, was scheduled to pitch for the Giants against Mike Wegener, 4-11, of the Montreal Expos.

Hunt, who set the modern major league record by being hit by pitched balls 25 times last season, was plunked for the 20th time this season by Tom Seaver of the New York Mets Sunday.

CLEARED

Hunt spent 24 hours in the hospital but was cleared for duty today.

The second baseman crowds the plate and has been accused by pitchers of moving in close on purpose to get a free trip to first.

Says one pitcher: "Ron is like a self-sealing automobile tire. You puncture him and the rest of his skin forms an immediate patch."

Perhaps Hunt should be credited with being hit 21 times. He was scoring a run in Philadelphia when Tony Taylor's throw hit him in the forehead. He spent 24 hours in the hospital and soon was back in the lineup.

The Giants, who were off yesterday, announced they will conduct part of their spring training in Japan next March.

The club has been invited to play nine exhibition games against the Orions Baseball Club of Tokyo. Four games will be in Tokyo, two in Osaka and one each in Hiroshima, Fukuoka and Nagoya.

A's Have Tough Job Facing Them

BOSTON (UPI)—Now, the Oakland A's really have their work cut out for them.

Because of rain last night, they had to play a doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox today, then fly cross-country to meet the Minnesota Twins at home tomorrow night.

PITCHERS

Fred Talbot (5-8) and Jim Nash (7-7) were to pitch for the A's today and Jim Lonborg (7-8) and Ray Culp, if he's able, or Mike Nagy (10-2) for the Red Sox. Culp, the Red Sox' top winner with a 17-8 record, was supposed to pitch last Sunday but came up sore and Lee Stange replaced him.

The A's have lost three in a row and six of their last seven to fall six games behind the Twins in the American League's Western Division race.

They now are in the position of having to play about .800 ball the rest of the way —meaning they have to win 25 of their 31 remaining games —to overhaul the Twins.

NOT EASY

A four game sweep of Minnesota this weekend would cut the deficit appreciably and make things that much easier. It's no simple task though, because the Twins are playing pennant winning ball of late and show little signs of cracking.

Boxing World Pays Rocky Last Respect

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — About 750 persons, some of them from the boxing world, filed into the Hickey Funeral Home last night to pay their last respects to retired heavyweight boxing champion Rocky Marciano.

A light rain fell on those who had to wait outside the funeral home before filing past the closed casket.

The champion's parents, his wife, daughter and brothers sat beside the casket which was banked with floral tributes. A picture of Marciano was placed on the casket.

Marciano was killed when a small plane he was in crashed on an Iowa farm Sunday night, the eve of his 46th birthday.

Boston promoter Sam Silverman, who first promoted Rocky, was there last night.

Former middleweight champion Paul Pender also was there, as was Irish heavyweight champion Pat Stapleton, and Peter Fuller, a former boxer and owner-manager of Tom McNeely, former heavyweight contender.

"He was a terrific hitter," said Sharkey Buonanno of Providence, R.I., who refereed "30 or 35 of the Rock's fights."

"I had to grab his arm once to stop a fight," Buonanno said, standing outside, reflecting on Marciano's career.

Former champions Joe Louis and Sonny Liston were expected to arrive here today and remain for the funeral Mass tomorrow at St. Coleman's Church.

Other services are scheduled for Friday in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where Marciano made his home for the past several years.

Burial will be in Queen of Heaven Cemetery, Fort Lauderdale.

Dave Bing To Switch Leagues?

DETROIT (AP) — Reports were current today that Dave Bing, Detroit Pistons' pro basketball star, would switch over to the Washington Capitols of the American Basketball Association, but Pistons' general manager Ed Coil said, "It's all news to me."

Coil scheduled a hasty meeting sometime today with Bing, who reportedly left Washington by auto yesterday enroute back to Detroit.

Coil said the Detroit National Basketball Association club has a contract with Bing which has one more year to go. "After that, if he wanted to become a free agent, he would have to sit out a season and that would mean he could not play for Washington for two years from now," he said.

Asked about reports that Bing wanted to move to Washington so he could open an auto dealership, Coil said, "I know nothing about that."

Marichal Can't Beat Cardinals This Year

Juan Marichal customarily beats every team in the National League at least once a season. But this year he can't complete the cycle because the Cardinals beat him 2-1 July 24 in his only decision with them. And now the 1969 book is closed between the Giants and Cardinals.

Marichal has had more trouble with the Cardinals than any other team in his brilliant 10-year major league career. They are the only club that has beaten him as many times as he has beaten them (16-16).

THE JULY 24 defeat was personally dealt Marichal by Nelson Briles who not only pitched brilliantly but stroked a sidearm curve off Marichal into centerfield to score the winning run in the seventh inning.

At the time Marichal was comfortably on his way to sixth 20-game season with a 13-4 first half record. The July 24 game was the first after the All-Star break. It sent the ace of the Giants into a four-game skid, the first time in his career that he ever lost four in a row.

MARICHAL finally stopped the skid Aug. 15 with a four-hit 3-0 shutout of the Cubs. Next came a tough 1-0, 14-inning loss to the Mets after which he encountered considerable trouble in a 6-4 win over the Expos in Montreal. He balanced accounts with the Mets when he shut them out 5-0 on a four-hitter in Candlestick Park in the opener of the four-game Labor Day weekend series.

The victory over the Mets was his 16th of the season against nine losses and gave him a career record of 186-86, precisely 100 more wins than losses.

A BREAKDOWN of the 186-86 record shows Marichal with decisive marks against all clubs except the Cardinals. It dispels any notion that Marichal fattened his career record against weak clubs. Indeed, it shows just the contrary. Here it is.

Braves 19-13, Cubs 17-6, Reds 18-8, Astros 18-9, Dodgers 28-12, Mets 22-3, Phillies 21-11, Pirates 22-7, Cardinals 16-16, Padres 3-1, Expos 2-0.

THE BREAKDOWN of Marichal's 16-9 record this season: Braves 2-0, Cubs 1-1, Reds 1-1, Astros 1-1, Dodgers 3-1, Mets 1-1, Phillies 1-1, Pirates 1-1, Cardinals 0-1, Padres 3-1, Expos 2-0.

With six or seven starts between now and the end of the season, Marichal should get his sixth 20-game season even though he can't complete the cycle this year.

London Vs. Quarry In Oakland Tonight

OAKLAND (AP) — Brian London, ready for another payday at 35, and Jerry Quarry, trying to prove he isn't over the hill at 24, meet in a 10-round heavyweight bout tonight at 8:30 in the Oakland Arena.

It will be London's first U.S. appearance since he lost a decision to Quarry in Los Angeles two years ago.

For Quarry, it will be his first major test since losing a title fight to Joe Frazier earlier this year. Last month, Quarry scored a first-round knockout over Phoenix, Ariz., heavyweight John Carroll in St. Paul, Minn.

LAST

The Bellflower resident once said the fight with London would be his last, but he apparently has changed his mind. One thing that might have helped was a firm offer of $50,000 to fight Sonny Liston here if he beats London.

"My purpose in boxing was to reach the highest goal," says Quarry," which is the heavyweight championship. I tried twice and I lost both times. If there's no opportunity to fight for the title again, I had better start a new career."

London, with a record of 37 victories, 18 defeats and one draw, has had two title fights—with Floyd Patterson and Cassius Clay — and was knocked out both times.

"I didn't bring him all the way over here from England to lose to a mug like Jerry Quarry," says his manager, Laurie Lewis.

"When I asked Brian if he would meet Quarry in Oakland, he replied he would fight him on top of the Empire State Building if necessary to get another chance at him."

That London went all the way with Quarry in their last meeting was something of a wonder because his tongue was cut in a workout before the fight and needed eight stitches.

"I let not only the fight public down," said London, "but myself as well. I'm going to beat Quarry this time."

PREDICTS KAYO

Quarry, who flatly predicts a knockout, probably needs one if his career is to move forward after the setback Frazier gave it.

What he would do if boxing finally does appear to be too much for him is anybody's guess. He has talked about an acting career and also of entering the University of Southern California in February to take mechanical engineering.

"I have some financial investments that will keep me living comfortably for a while," Quarry says. "But I'd have to get out and do something. I'm not the type who can sit around and do nothing."

Giants Sell Infielder Gutierrez To Tigers

The San Francisco Giants yesterday sold infielder Cesar Gutierrez, 26, to the Detroit Tigers.

Gutierrez, who has spent most of his time with the Phoenix Pacific Coast League farm club of the Giants, was used early this year for the parent team as a backup infielder and hit .238. He hit .300 and had 29 stolen bases at Phoenix.

Details of the purchase were not announced.

Heavy Scoring Erupts In C-11 Softball Play

Some heavy pounding went on in the C-II division of the San Rafael Recreation Department's Adult Softball League yesterday at Albert Field as a pair of games produced 58 runs.

Twins Hike Their Lead Over A's

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Baltimore Orioles have been making a mockery of the American League East race for the past two months, and now, all of a sudden, their West Division counterparts are starting to do a dandy imitation.

The Minnesota Twins clubbed Cleveland and hard-luck Luis Tiant 5-2 last night for their third straight victory, their sixth in seven games and ninth in 11 games.

That triumph, combined with Oakland's rainout at Boston, widened the Twins' lead to a fat six games over the A's with just a month left in the season.

SINCE JULY 5

The Twins have held first since July 5, but the A's were only two games off the pace only a week ago. However, Oakland has lost six of its last seven games during the Twins string of success.

In other American League activity, Chicago mauled Baltimore and Dave McNally 10-3, Kansas City whipped Detroit 6-2, New York nipped Seattle 5-4 in 15 innings and Washington took a doubleheader from California, 2-0 and 3-2.

Tiant, who won 21 games last year, had checked the Twins on three hits in a 1-1 tie in the fifth, when Minnesota exploded for two runs and then drove him from the mound in the sixth with two more. It was Tiant's 18th loss and the seventh straight for the Indians.

15 GAMES

Ted Uhlaender drove in one of Minnesota's sixth-inning counters with a single that extended his hitting streak to 15 games. Harmon Killebrew produced an earlier run to boost his RBI total to 117.

The Twins, meanwhile, stopped Tony Horton's hitting streak at 19 games.

McNally, who won his first 15 games, suffered his sixth loss in his last eight decisions as the White Sox erupted for nine runs in the sixth inning to top Baltimore for the first time this year in their last meeting of the season.

Chicago paraded 13 men to the plate during the outburst, with Bill Melton and Bobby Knoop each slamming two hits.

Boog Powell homered for the Orioles, his 35th of the year.

EIGHTH LOSS

Joe Joy and rookie Lou Piniella each had a pair of RBIs as Kansas City handed World Series hero Mickey Lolich his eighth loss in 25 decisions.

Tom Tresh and Jim Northrup hit consecutive homers off winner Roger Nelson in the fourth.

Jim Hannan pitched a three-hitter in going the route for the first time this season and Frank Howard, No. 43, and Lee Maye, No. 8, backed him with solo homers as the Senators won the opener.

Ken McMullen knocked in two runs with a single and scored the other in leading Washington to victory in the nightcap, called after California batted in the sixth because of rain.

Bears Banged Up In First Contact

BERKELEY (AP) — California's football team came out of the first contact drills a bit banged up yesterday.

Defensive lineman John Kobzeff, a two-year letterman, suffered what was thought to be a broken arm.

Another defensive lineman, Richard Wagner, strained a previously injured knee.

Defensive end Chris Beck banged up a shoulder.

On the offensive side, split end Geoff DeLapp split a finger catching a pass.

Bob Lunn, who took the $20,000 first prize Monday in the Greater Hartford Open in a four-hole, sudden-death playoff with Dave Hill, zoomed from 34th place a week ago to 25th with a year's total of $62,974.

Frank Beard, who has played in 25 weekly PGA stops, remains No. 1 with $159,859. He has finished in the top five of nine tourneys, winning two of them.

Cubs Take Two From Cincy Reds

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took 78 days, but Paul Popovich's only homer of the season finally caught up with the Cincinnati Reds.

On June 15 in the second game of a doubleheader, Popovich sparked a three-run third inning and, with Popovich singling home another run, the Chicago Cubs built up a 5-4 lead over the Reds before the game was suspended after seven innings.

Last night, the two clubs resumed the game in Cincinnati, and when it was over it was still 5-4 Chicago.

WIDEN LEAD

Then the Cubs went out and pounded the Reds 8-2 in the regularly-scheduled game and built their lead in the National League East to five games over the New York Mets, who beat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-4.

The twin defeats left the Reds 1½ games behind idle, first-place San Francisco and a half game back of Los Angeles in the N.L. West.

Houston nipped St. Louis 7-6 in 11 innings and Philadelphia edged San Diego 2-0 in the only other scheduled National League action.

19TH WIN

Oscar Gamble, Glenn Beckert and Don Kessinger keyed Chicago's second victory—Ferguson Jenkins' 19th against 11 defeats —over Cincinnati. Gamble singled in a run and tripled in two more, Beckert produced two more with a pair of singles and Kessinger drove in two with his fourth homer and a double.

Los Angeles' Willie Davis broke the Dodger record for a hitting streak set by Zack Wheat and became the first in the majors to hit in 30 straight since Stan Musial in 1950. But he struck out with two out and men on first and third in the ninth after the Dodgers had scored three times to make it 5-4.

Davis kept his streak alive by doubling in the sixth. He then scored the first Los Angeles run.

TWO HOMERS

New York built up its five-run lead when Donn Clendenon hit his 10th and 11th homers, Ron Swoboda cracked a two-run double and Clendenon singled, stole second and scored on Ken Boswell's eighth-inning single.

St. Louis built up a 6-1 lead before Houston came back on Joe Morgan's three-run homer, Doug Rader's solo shot and Jesus Alou's seventh-inning RBI double.

The Astros then won it in the 11th when John Edwards raced home from third on Alou's infield hit. The Victory left Houston five games back of San Francisco.

Rookie Billy Champion pitched a three-hitter and was backed by Richie Allen's run-scoring single and Cookie Rojas' sacrifice fly in Philadelphia's victory over San Diego.

FANTASTIC FISHING

Lake In Idaho Produces Stringer Of Large Trout

By RALPH CHATOIAN

If anyone ever tells you some fish stories about Henry's Lake in Idaho, a short ways from West Yellowstone, man, you better believe him.

I was there, and the fish are big and plentiful.

It was the final leg of a nine-day fishing trip through Montana's mountainous expanse of land and couldn't have ended on a better note.

I'm used to California fishing for little trout — on flies and bait — so hauling three and four-pounders out of Henry's Lake was nothing short of fantastic.

It was a three-man safari out of California — junior college track coach Dick Cristofani and high school biology teacher Barry Rannells, both of Sacramento, and your friendly sports writer. It was the last week of August.

The stop at Henry's Lake was our only fishing in Idaho, the rest of it in Montana. Fishing is legal all night in Idaho, so that's when we went after the cutthroat-rainbow hybrid trout. It's a big lake, but all the big fish seem to be congregated in one small patch.

All the fishing for them is done with wet flies on sinking lines, or with spinning gear. They just won't hit a dry fly. Since we were all equipped with dry flies and floating lines, we kept the flyrods in the camper and pulled out the spinning rods and reels.

Barry, an avid dry fly man, took one look at the swarm of boats a few yards from shore and said, "That's not my kind of fishing. It's just too crowded out there."

But Cristofani and I got in our boat and paddled out to join the virtual navy of anglers. We were told by the natives there were two methods of catching the lunkers. One was with a wooly worm wet fly, the other with a Mickey Finn streamer fly, with nightcrawler worms impaled on the hook. We found the latter method worked best.

Between 9:30 p.m. and midnight, we had seven fat trout in our boat. Among my catch of five were a four-pound beauty and two which weighed three and one-half pounds.

Montana is the fourth largest state in the union — area wise — but has a population of only about 700,000. So instead of subdivisions and highways and cement, you see a lot of hills, mountains, plains and nature's pure beauty.

In addition to all the fast fly fishing we wanted in some major streams in the southern portion of the state, it was great floating down the rivers in Cristofani's 12-foot aluminum boat. We floated the Big Hole River by Melrose and floated the wide and fast Madison River near the little town of Ennis, dodging and skirting the big boulders midstream. (We did crack into a few of the rocks, causing the boat to spring a slow leak. But a little bailing out never hurt anybody.)

We caught many trout — rainbows and German browns — in both rivers, releasing most of them and saving just enough of the bigger ones for dinner. Cristofani brought in a 19-inch brown.

Then we moved on to Yellowstone National Park and the Yellowstone River. I think it was the most beautiful part of the trip. With the warm springs throwing off their aqua and green colors, the geysers spouting up their spray, the trees stretching toward the sky, you knew you were in the middle of part of nature's wonderland.

Driving through Montana and fishing in short-sleeved shirts under the warmth of the sun you wondered why more people didn't live in Montana. Then you're told that it gets 40 and 50 degrees BELOW zero in the snow-filled winters. You shiver a little and then appreciate California and Marin County just a little bit more.

Giants, Dodgers Are Co-Favorites

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Oddsmaker Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder yesterday made the San Francisco Giants and Los Angeles Dodgers 9-5 co-favorites to win the close National League Western Division race.

Snyder listed the Cincinnati Reds at 2-1, the Atlanta Braves at 10-1 and the Houston Astros at 20-1. The Chicago Cubs are 1-6 favorites in the N.L. East.

A's Must Win Three Games From Twins

OAKLAND — For the first time in two decades, the Athletics have a crucial series on their hands. Maybe.

The four-game set that starts with Minnesota at the Coliseum tomorrow night is the whole megillah for 1969 as far as the A's are concerned. Unless they take at least three of those games, the Finley fellows are dead. The remaining schedule takes care of that.

After the big Minny series, it's stumblebum time for both clubs. And the Twins play the dullards more often. They'll have 13 of their remaining 24 games left against Seattle and Kansas City, both fast a'crumbling. The A's play those two expansion clubs only nine times.

BUT AT LEAST if the race is still tense by month's end, Oakland has the satisfaction of closing with three against Seattle while Minny must face the occasionally competent White Sox three times.

Yet Oakland can't depend on anyone else to help them. Because nobody has. The A's took a one-game lead into Minnesota the last time the two teams met. It was over the July Fourth weekend. Minny took three straight, and the A's left town two down. And that's about as close as they've been to the top of the American League's Western Division lead since. It's also possible they'll never be that close again.

STILL, THERE are those enamored of Charlie Finley's hocus-pocus act who believe the A's will win the flag. They point out that Oakland took three straight from Baltimore at the last home stand here. So why can't they grab at least three straight from Minny?

Why can't they? A crisis mood in Oakland for one reareason; an exhausted A's bullpen; an ailing John Odom; a silent Sal Bando bat; the susceptibility of A's pitchers to home runs merged with the Minny muscularity; the wit and wisdom of Billy Martin.

AT LEAST, though, the A's will have some fresh blood in town for the showdown series. The Sept. 1 roster relaxation enabled the Oaklanders to recall, among others, relief pitchers Ed Sprague and Marcel Lachemann from Iowa. And from Seattle they obtained another bullpenner in Fred Talbot.

Minny, meanwhile, relies on graybeards Ron Perranoski and Al Worthington from an otherwise undistinguished relief corps. They're plenty and, when right, worth a dozen Talbots.

THE BULLPEN well might be the keystone of this series, for the A's and Twins both will be playing tension baseball. Neither club's starters are going that well either. Only Chuck Dodson of Oakland and Minny's Tom Hall have been consistently good over the past few weeks. But the Twins have been bailed out by the bullpen and the A's haven't. Consistently that is.

And now the A's need four days of consistency from everybody. Otherwise, 15 grand goes bye-bye; it is green and sinks behind the sun in the west.

MARIN COUNTY FOOTBALL PROSPECTS

Varsity Debut For San Marin

(Second in a series on Marin County high school football prospects.)

It's entirely likely that San Marin High School's team will lose a game this season.

But not very many people expect coach Bob Martin's Mustangs to be a mediocre flop when they make their varsity debut in the Marin County Athletic League this fall.

In the Novato school's first season last year, the Mustangs, with a squad madeu p largely of graduates off an undefeated Hill Junior High School team, competed strictly as a junior varsity team. They proceeded to reel off another undefeated season, this time piling up a 9-0 record.

Nobody expects the Mustangs to do it again once they start knocking heads with bigger, and sometimes better people, but Martin sees a very representative showing in the offing. He's not figuring on being the league doormat, a breathing spell once provided by Marin Catholic, before the Wildcats of Kentfield moved out of the league as far as football was concerned.

Martin does have the distinction of having his entire team back from last year, since the Mustangs consisted of only juniors and sophomores then. Some of the material available sounds top drawer, although it lacks size and depth.

All-around athlete Ken Gnoss again will be at quarterback on a team that will mainly concentrate on coming up with a varied running game.

Gnoss, a varsity basketballer and baseball ace, can throw, when necessary. He can also run well and often.

"He's an adequate thrower," Martin said. "But we're going to be doing a lot of running."

The Mustangs will be relying on a trio of scooters, in addition to Gnoss. They'll be Steve Francis, whom Martin considers probably his most versatile back, Jack Burnam and Urbano Boucisiequez.

Burnam is a solid 180-pounder who likes to hit and is not afraid of close action. He'll be doubling up as linebacker, a position in which Martin ranks him right on top of the league.

Boucsiequez has not come out for practice yet. He's still in La Paz, Mexico, with his ailing father. But Urbano, also a soccer-style kicker, is probably the fastest man in the backfield, although he played only the first and last part of the year in 1968, when an injury sidelined him.

Some of the other players whom Martin considers top-drawer are tackle Kerry Atkinson, tight end Bob Fowler, center Denny Miller, guards Tom Fowler and John Kinnear and split end Scott Stewart.

Most of the offensive players will be doubling up, but some defensive help will come from ends Mike Kassenbrock and Bill Eckoff.

Martin, although he's not predicting anything, is fairly sure his young Mustangs will not fold under the pressure of varsity competition.

"We're young, but we're tough," he said. "We have good spirit, we hit hard. Nobody's going to humiliate us. Some of these boys have been playing together on winning teams all the way back to Pop Warner football."

Martin's main problem seems to be a practically empty bench.

"We have pretty good people starting for us," he said. "But there's practically nobody on the bench. We're awfully thin."

Still, Martin isn't ruling out a crack at a title.

"It could be possible," he said. "We haven't lost yet."

Packers Dominate All-1960s NFL Stars Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Thirteen players who at one time or another were members of the Green Bay Packers, including quarterback Bart Starr and running back Paul Hornung, were named today to an all-1960s team commemmorating the 50th anniversary season of the National Football League.

The all-1960s team is the last of five all-star teams spanning the five decades of NFL history commemorated by the NFL, in conjunction with Simon and Schuster, in a book called "The First Fifty Years." The decade teams lead to an alltime all-star team to be announced shortly.

That the '60s are the era of Vince Lombardi and the Packers is attested to by the fact that almost one-third of the selections on the 40-man, all-1960s team are past or present players who did things the Green Bay way.

On offense that includes Starr and Hornung, tackle Forrest Gregg, guard Jerry Kramer, center Jim Ringo, flanker Boyd Dowler, running back Jim Taylor and punter Don Chandler. On defense the line-up shows end Willie Davis, linebackers Ray Nitschke and Dave Robinson, halfback Herb Adderley and safety Willie Wood.

All were part of the tradition Lombardi instilled during the Packers' reign at the top—a tradition based in power and precision plus total emotional committment.

They are, however, not alone in gaining distinction. Also earning spots on the team were two other quarterbacks—Sonny Jurgensen and Johnny Unitas—and running backs Jim Brown, Leroy Kelly, Gale Sayers and John David Crow.

The receiving corps is bolstered by Del Shofner, Charley Taylor and Gary Collins, plus the peerless tight end John Mackey.

Among the defensive standouts named were Deacon Jones, Alex Karras, Merlin Olsen, Bob Lilly, Dick Butkus, Tommy Nobis, Lem Barney and Larry Wilson.

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 3, the 246th day of 1969 with 119 to follow.

The moon is in its last quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1783 the Revolutionary War officially ended with the United States and Great Britain signing the Treaty of Paris, America had won its independence.

In 1916 the Allies turned back the Germans at Verdun in World War I.

In 1939 Great Britain declared war on Germany and France made the same declaration six hours later, followed quickly by Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Canada.

In 1943 Allied forces invaded the Italian mainland in World War II.

A thought for the day: In his first statement to the House of Commons after becoming Britain's wartime prime minister, Winston Churchill said, "I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat."

Hungarian Youths Are Heavy Readers

BUDAPEST (UPI)—A survey of Hungarian youth shows that all read books, 97.5 per cent read newspapers, 92.1 per cent weekly periodicals and 69.4 per cent magazines, according to the news agency MTI.

Of the book readers, 31.2 per cent prefer modern novels, followed by historical and biographical novels and travel books. There was very little interest in poetry.

WORD-A-DAY

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Always Try To Get Opponent To Waste Ace On Your Low Cards

A sensible opponent will try to get value for his high cards. When he plays an ace, for example, he will try to capture one of your honors. Your object in a certain kind of hand is to make him waste his ace by playing it on low cards.

TILL THIRD ROUND

West opened the deuce of spades, and you wait until the third round to take your ace. By this time, you are convinced that each opponent started with four spades. You are sure to lose three spades and the ace of clubs, so that you cannot afford to lose any other trick.

You can make your contract if you get three club tricks to add to the three hearts, two diamonds and one spade. This will be easy if each opponent has three clubs, since then dummy's last club will become established. Your problem is to develop three club tricks if the six missing clubs break 4-2.

GOOD START

You should start by leading a low club from your hand toward dummy. West plays low and you win with dummy's queen. This is a fortunate start. You would be in trouble if East had the ace of clubs.

Many a player would continue the clubs by returning a low club from the dummy. This play involves giving up the jack to West's ace. Now, you get only two club tricks. Down one.

LOW CLUB

After winning the first club trick with dummy's queen, return to your hand with a heart and lead the other low club. As it happens, West must play his ace, and now you can play a low club from dummy, saving your high cards. You get club tricks with the king, queen and jack, making your contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with 1 no-trump (16 to 18 points), and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ K 9 7 2
♥ 9 8 5 4
♦ Q J 5
♣ A 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention, asking partner to bid a major suit of four or more cards.

If partner bids spades, you will raise to four spades; if he bids anything else, you will bid 3 no-trump.

New Zealand Still Likes Beer

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — New Zealanders drank 24.3 gallons of beer per capita in 1968, reports the government statistician.

This compares with the 24.2 gallons in 1967 and 23.6 gallons in 1966.

The increase maintains New Zealand's position as one of the world's most vigorous beer-drinking nations.

The Reason Behind Cuts In Dividends

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Several companies have recently cut dividends. Is this because the economy has been successfully cooled? — B. B.

A. Since July there has been a noticeable increase in the number of dividend cuts and omissions: Directors of four companies chose to reduce their cash payments; one board elected to substitute stock for a cash dividend; another reduced cash and supplemented it with stock, and eleven others omitted their dividend altogether.

I would hesitate to cite the effectiveness of the Nixon administration's hard-line policy on inflation as the underlying cause of these dividend declines. A study of the 17 companies referred to above reveals in most instances earnings difficulties of several years' duration.

While the high cost of credit and other inflationary pressures may have triggered the immediate action and at the same time provided a more palatable explanation for stockholders, stagnant, erratic or declining earnings were at the root of these several decisions. And Wall Street, long aware of earnings erosion, had discounted the bad news well in advance of the actual event.

A few surprises, such as Potomac Electric's declaration of a stock dividend in place of its 27.5-cent quarterly cash payment, resulted in immediate and decisive market reaction. Shares, trending lower all year, dropped an additional 18 per cent in the ensuing sessions. Shareholders, primarily income-oriented and accustomed to a generous 6 per cent yield, were simply not interested in retaining Potomac Electric and receiving additional shares.

Trans World Airlines gave up 8 points a share following the announcement of its dividend omission and a probably operating deficit.

Other companies may be impelled to make overdue, unpopular dividend decisions if a recessive economic climate persists. But a company which has been recording a healthy growth pattern would rarely cut its dividend because of a temporary earnings reversal. Forty companies which have been operating in the same economic climate as the 17 that cut or omitted dividend payments have elected to increase their dividend rate.

Prices Fall Along Broad Market Front

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices fell along a broad front on the New York Stock Exchange today in light turnover.

Inflationary concern, tight money and Vietnam uncertainty pressured the list most of the session, although trading was suspended briefly during the noon hour because of a power failure in downtown Manhattan.

Oils dominated the most active list, with many of these issues in retreat. Occidental, down more than 3 yesterday, continued to lose ground. The concern has considerable holdings in Libya which was taken over by a military group. The new regime, meantime, has pledged that "oil interests are safe."

Other heavily traded issues included Benguet Aatlantic Richfield, Natomas, American Telephone, Goodyear, City Investing and Phillips Petroleum.

Motors traded narrowly. Ford, a fractional mover, said it will drop its Falcon compact line at the end of the calendar year.

Copper shares also moved narrowly, although several producers jacked up primary copper prices four cents a pound to 52 cents, which is the highest level in this century. It was 55 cents a pound during the Civil War.

Electronics ranged to more than a point lower, with most other stock groups also in retreat.

New Terminal

TORONTO (UPI) — Canadian General Electric Co. has announced it will build a $25 million high voltage direct current terminal on the Eel River in New Brunswick. The terminal will transfer 32,000 kilowatts of power from the Churchill Falls generating station in Labrador through the Quebec hydro system to New Brunswick.

Japan GNP Problem

TOKYO (UPI)—The most important problem faced by Japan's economy is the fact that the nation's gross national product is third highest in the world while per capita income is far down the list in 21st place, according to Shigeo Horie, former president and chairman of the Bank of Tokyo.

Honduras relies heavily on bananas. Plantations along the nation's hot Carribbean coast account for 60 per cent of its foreign trade.

Novato Firm Plans Area To Show And Sell Mobile Homes

Within the next two months, Young Brothers, Novato home furnishers, will clear away some old cabins on adjoining property at Highway 101 north of Olive Avenue and use this area to show and sell mobile homes.

The Youngs have about one and one-half acres which will be paved. On display will be Viking, Scandia, Cambridge and a number of other models.

This is a second mobile home venture planned by the Youngs. They already have 68 acres in Petaluma between the 101 Highway and McDowell Avenue which is destined to become an elaborate Youngstown Mobile Home Park. Construction is expected to get under way shortly and some of the homes may be ready by the first of the year, depending upon the weather. More are scheduled to be completed next spring.

A AND E MOTORS, San Rafael agent for the NSU Wankel rotary engine automobile and also Prinz automobiles imported from Germany, is planning to move to larger quarters at Grand Avenue and Francisco Boulevard within the next month.

The company has been at 725 Lincoln Avenue for the past 10 years. There already is a building at the Grand and Francisco location which is undergoing remodeling for a service department — which will also engage in body and fender work. But there will be additional construction of a new salesroom to show off forthcoming 1970 models.

A COMPARATIVELY NEW BUSINESS in the Sierra Building, 1368 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, is Bradley Enterprises.

The company, although headquartered in Santa Rosa and engaged in other activities, has acquired the Marin County franchise for the new RoboMatic burglar alarms. Sales are made to all types of stores, restaurants, service stations and other commercial enterprises — as well as to homeowners.

Sales manager for the local office is Roy Del Bianco of San Rafael, who formerly had his own business in San Francisco.

HERB DUBIN, Sausalito architect, artist and sculptor has opened an unusual shop in the remodeled Purity Building at 660 Bridgeway to display his custom-designed jewelry.

Craftsmen work right in the shop to the accompaniment of soft music. Dubin has been designing and making ring sculptures for 13 years and also exhibits his paintings at the Bolles Gallery in San Francisco.

ROBERT URBAN of Mill Valley has joined Dailey and Associates in San Francisco as vice president and account supervisor. He was previously nine years with Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample, San Francisco, and before that with McCann Erickson and Helene Curtis.

OWNERS Mrs. Maxine Ernst and Lawrence Luidi of Flowers, Inc., in the Bon Air Shopping Center have become a member of the flowers-by-wire organization Florafax Delivery, Inc. which offers service anywhere in the free world.

INSURANCE: Eight Marin agents of New York Life Insurance Co. have qualified as members of the company's 1969 Star Club: Jack De Bruin, James R. Grant, James D. Neubert, Rolland R. Pieper and Mitchell Spangler — all of San Rafael; Donald P. Sands Jr. of Lucas Valley, Jeffrey Leigh Bailey of Mill Valley and Burney C. Sheeks of Belvedere. . . . San Rafael Farmers Insurance Group agent Fred W. Temps and district manager James Bartley will attend the company's Topper Club convention at Palm Springs next month.

Trucking Industry Again Trying For Road Takeover

The trucking industry is at it again, with another attempt to convert the public highways into rights of way for commercial carriers.

Last year it was Senate Bill 2658, which would have allowed trucks to be a foot wider than now permitted on federal highways and would have placed no limit on their length. The truck people were so sure it would pass that Pullman Inc.'s Trailmobile Division placed advertising for triple-trailer trucks that would be legal under the bill's provisions.

This year it is House Resolution 11870, which limits truck length to 70 feet but otherwise is the same proposal.

Last year's SB 2658 passed the Senate, was promptly reported out by a House committee, but then was buried on the floor as the result of an outcry of indignation from throughout the country. Apparently, it will take the same kind of outcry to stop HR 11870.

WHY SHOULDN'T truckers be allowed to run any size and weight vehicle they desire over the public roads?

The reasons are clear and simple.

Trucks pay a miniscule part of the cost of building and maintaining highways through gasoline tax, yet each heavy truck takes up an amount of highway equal to several cars.

Trucks add greatly to the cost of road maintenance, since their heavier weight results in much greater road wear than does the passenger auto.

Wider trucks inflate the already-high cost of highway building by requiring wider traffic lanes, stronger and wider bridges, and generally heavier road construction.

The highways are built for the use of the public. Incidental commercial use is an added value, to which nobody objects. But when trucks take up the roads, the public use becames secondary to commercial use. This is contrary to the whole idea of highways built for the motorist from the taxes he pays.

WHAT THE PROLIFERATION of trucking has done already is evident any time you go out for a drive. Wide trucks block the view and lead to traffic accidents. Slow trucks cause unnecessary congestion on up-grades. High trucks require interchange structures that are both unsafe and unsightly.

The trucking industry has done a lot of advertising to "improve its image," and particularly to make the public believe that trucks are safer than private cars. That is not what the statistics show.

The trucking industry's own figures prove otherwise. They disclose that heavy trucks comprise only 1.54 per cent of total vehicle registrations, account for 5.33 per cent total vehicle-miles of travel, yet are involved in 11.6 per cent of the accidents.

Further, U. S. Bureau of Carrier Safety figures show that whereas half the accidents involving trucks also involve passenger cars, only 2 per cent of those injured in such accidents are truck drivers. The other 98 per cent are occupants of the cars.

Add to all this that the trucks are producers of an inordinate amount of air pollution, and there are ample reasons why HR 11870, and the whole idea it represents, should be consigned permanently to the legislative wastebasket.

"Y'know, Harry—this stuff about all that Army nerve gas is downright scary!"

New Teachers — New Trend?

The list of new teachers at San Rafael High School for the school year opening tomorrow indicates what we hope is a trend.

Of 13 new teachers, three did their student teaching at San Rafael High, and five are transferring from other schools in the San Rafael system. Only five come from outside.

We think this is good. The three teachers who did their student teaching here became acquainted with the school through it. Moreover, the school administration had a chance to see them at work and gain a better idea of their abilities before hiring them. The five transferring from other San Rafael schools help keep ideas circulating within the district, rather than having any school become too "ingrown."

At the same time, there is need to bring a few new teachers from outside — to keep the system itself from becoming "ingrown."

Maybe this all happened accidentally. But we hope it was intentional, and denotes a trend.

New Tax Bill Leaves Unions Secure In Exempt Category

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Now that the fanfare and celebration of Labor Day for 1969 is over, it might be well to point out some of the tax advantages labor organizations enjoy at the expense of the general public.

Recently, the House of Representatives took action to wipe out the tax-free status of profits used by certain private foundations, including churches, to carry on propaganda or otherwise influence legislation and the outcome of elections.

IT IS CLAIMED by the National Right to Work Committee that this legislation, now before the U.S. Senate, "preserves the favored tax status of private labor unions, while imposing new taxes on churches and other previously exempt organizations."

In other words, while the churches would pay taxes on the funds they receive to keep their lobbyists in Washington, the labor unions would have a tax exempt status.

The committee holds that as a result of this house action, it is evident the Congress does not plan to do away with the favored status of the labor unions, nor provide equal tax treatment for all the citizens of the United States.

THE TAX-EMEMPT status of various organizations which pose as charitable foundations has been under question for a long time.

It has long been a custom of the country to exempt religious organizations from paying taxes at all levels, a custom which began in the early days when the churches were poor, and more of community centers than they are at the present time. Now many of them, which engage successfully in profit making enterprises, are willing to pay taxes on their profits.

But through their fraternal status, the labor unions can contribute millions of dollars to political campaigns.

It is this inequity which will be attacked before the U. S. Senate committee handling the House legislation. And the attack will be strong for the simple reason that the people are beginning to catch up with tax inequities.

Experimental School Should Be Stressed

In regard to your editorial of Tuesday, Aug. 26, let me offer these four comments.

First, the board of trustees of the Marin Junior College District did not hide from its responsibility and did not shirk its duty. The board firmly and clearly affirmed its support of the free expression of ideas and its policy to maintain an open forum for all ideas. At the same time the board also pointed out that the civic center portion of the Education Code guarantees the use of college facilities by community groups when those facilities are not needed for college purposes.

Second, the Experimental College is in no way a part of College of Marin. Although it began in 1967 as an activity sponsored by the Associated Students, its establishment as an activity required no formal board action or approval. On Feb. 27, 1969, the College Cabinet accepted a recommendation from the Associated Students that the Experimental College no longer be directly affiliated with the Associated Students as a student activity. The purpose of disassociating was to give the Experimental College greater flexibility and to make it clear that their offerings did not come under the purview of the district.

However, like other community groups the Experimental College would be permitted to apply for the use of college facilities under the civic center provisions of the Education Code.

Third, the editorial writer recognizes that there is no particular danger in the class itself. What also should be recognized is that the board of trustees does not, and should not, pass judgment on the content of programs or courses sponsored by community groups. To do so would force the board to appoint itself the censor for Marin County.

Fourth, it should be clear to everyone that it is far better to have ideas, however radical or unpopular, aired publicly where they may be debated than to force them underground. Ideas cannot be suppressed, but they can be tested — and discarded if invalid.

(If, as the letter states, the college cabinet took it upon itself to divorce the experimental college from the College of Marin without approval of the board of trustees, the editorial appears to be even more to the point.—Editor.)

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

IF THE GARBAGE workers in your community ever go out on strike you might like to know how a wise New Yorker disposed of his refuse for the 11 days the sanitation workers were off the job last spring. Each day he wrapped his garbage in gift paper. Then he put it in a shopping bag. When he parked his car, he left the bag on the front seat with the window open. When he got back to the car the garbage always had been collected.

THE DRUMMONDS

New Chief Justice More Than Just A Law-And-Order Man

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — We think you'll want to get to know the new chief justice of the United States and the direction of his influence.

This man Warren E. Burger simply can't be pigeonholed. He is showing that his views are much too broad for that. This is evident even before he has written a single opinion for the Supreme Court.

One mold into which some commentators wanted to fit Mr. Burger even before he was sworn in was that here for sure was a strict law-and-order man who felt that being toughter both on criminals and the accused was the best way, if not the only way, to cope with rising crime.

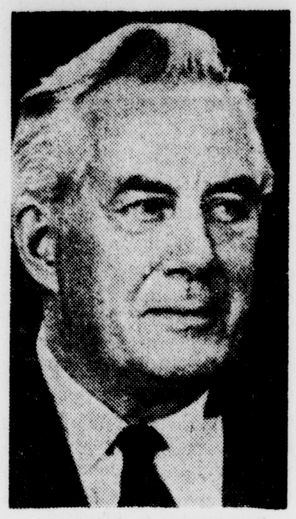
But the chief justice has no one-track approach. His opinion as a federal judge on the District of Columbia Court of Appeals indicates that he feels at some point the courts have underprotected the safety of society by overprotecting the rights of the accused, but he also believes that better laws mean better obedience to law and that just law is absolutely crucial. He put it this way in a recent address to the American Bar Association:

"IN THE COMPANY of leaders of the legal profession of America, it hardly needs saying that an organized society with ordered liberty must be based on something more than a stern system of criminal justice in which lawbreakers are swiftly caught and promptly punished and where the streets are safe."

What else, then? His answer:

"It is also a society in which the ruthless and greedy are restrained from exploiting the weak; it is a society in which the simple — and sometimes the foolish — are protected by rules of law from oppression and exploitation by the cunning of others."

JUSTICE BURGER sheds more light on his own thinking in stressing that "ordered liberty must be evenhanded justice for all," and he told the lawyers that he wants to see them serving "as highly important cogs in the machinery of such a society." He holds that this role today is "far more important than in the pioneer days when our rough-and-ready philosophy was one of 'dog eat dog and the devil take the hindmost.' Neither the harsh frontier philosophy nor the crucial attitude of 'let the buyer beware' is suited to the kind of society which the restive new generation is seeking."



WARREN E. BURGER
Can't be pigeonholed

Here the chief justice comes to the central reason he believes some revolutionary changes are needed in most law school educations. His view is that today "lawyers are more important to the functioning of an orderly, organized society than the police or the courts who are the coercive instrument . . . because as lawyers you could exercise the crucial function of 'peacemakers,' providing the solvents and lubricants which reduce the frictions of our complex society."

But Burger bluntly warns that the law schools are not turning out lawyers qualified to perform this function and that new teaching methods are needed.

ANOTHER EVIDENCE of the breadth of view of the new chief justice is that he wants to see much more innovative attention given to rehabilitating the criminal, which he believes has been neglected. There is certainly no single-minded law-and-order attitude behind his proposals to the ABA:

"We must explore more fully a limited confinement and work release. We must explore teaching methods adapted to the abnormal psychology of the habitual offender. We must search for new incentive programs to permit reduction of sentences for those who will educate and train themselves in skills which give a man pride and identity."

Chief Justice Burger is showing himself a creative and uninhibited advocate of change. He is seeking to move the cautious, conservative American legal system into active self-reform.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

McGovern Buys Mansion, Raising Some Eyebrows

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — Sen. George McGovern is not only hitching his political wagon to a star, but his standard of living also is taking a sudden skyward spurt.

The ambitious South Dakotan, already a busy aspirant for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination, is causing a lot of eyebrow raising by buying a $160,000 home in a choice residential area near American University.

The seller was Chief Judge David Bazelon of the U. S. Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. The asking price was $177,000.

CUSTOM BUILT by the Bazelons home 12 years ago, the house has 10 rooms, spacious grounds and garden. On the ground floor is a large living room that leads into a sizable dining room; also a good-sized study. Upstairs are a big master bedroom, and four other bedrooms and baths.

The custom-made furniture, drapes and decor are contemporary Japanese.

All were included in the purchase. Close Bazelon friends say they left everything except their own personal belongings. They are now living in a newly built fashionable apartment on the Potomac.

PREVIOUSLY, McGovern and his family resided in a modest suburban six-room frame house.

A next-door neighbor was former Vice President Hubert Humphrey —until he moved into one of the Capital's ritzy new cooperative apartments. Another neighbor was Sen. Eugene McCarthy, who last year rented a large mansion opposite Washington's noted National Cathedral on fashionable upper Wisconsin Avenue.

Several weeks ago McCarthy, estranged from his wife of 24 years, took up residence in a small apartment in a leading Washington hotel.

THE BIG PUZZLE in capital circles, particularly Democratic, is where McGovern got the money to buy a $160,000 home.

He had given no indication of such means before. He and his family had always lived on a modest scale and did little entertaining, and then nothing elaborate. Knowledgeable friends say his previous frame residence could not have brought more than $40,000 even at today's inflated prices.

FAR DIFFERENT ERA — Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey is apparently learning quite a bit as well as teaching — particularly about the much-discussed "generation gap."

The 1968 Democratic standard bearer is illustrating that with the following story:

"When I was working my way through college, a student when asked what he was 'taking,' would reply, law, premed, political science, art, or whatever he was majoring in. Recently, I met three students on the campus of the University of Minnesota and in the course of a chat, asked them what they were 'taking.'

"To which one replied, 'Well, tomorrow we're thinking of taking the Administration building, and the next day the Library. After that, we haven't decided just what we'll take. We'll see how the situation shapes up.'

"I guess that's what is meant by the 'generation gap'," grinned Humphrey.

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Trouble On Campus Here —But Look At Berlin

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

With opening of the new school term, the public can look forward to another year marked by campus unrest.

Both the Students for a Democratic Society and the Black Student Union have disclosed plans to carry their revolutionary activities into high schools to a greater extent this year than in the past.

Integration schemes involving busing of pupils to schools away from their neighborhood can be expected to continue to encounter opposition from parents, both white and black.

Teacher dissatisfaction will make itself felt again. For instance, the American Federation of Teachers local in San Francisco served notice of strike plans even before opening of classes.

THE CONTEST over who controls the schools — trustees, faculty, students, or the citizenry that pays the bills — has not been resolved and will contribute to further unrest during the new school year.

Besides all these, some parents are worried over what they consider excessive permissiveness and lack of discipline in schools, over what is being taught under the guise of family life education, and over the surreptitious introduction of "sensitivity training" into the classrooms.

Those who are worried over these last, however, may at least take comfort that innovators in California education have not yet gone so "far out" as some in Germany did this summer.

A BERLIN report in the New York Times recently recounted that free love, drugs, and teaching of Mao Tse-tung's brand of communism had featured two "summer abroad "youth camps operated under auspices of the West Berlin Social Democratic Party.

The scandal broke at a camp near Beyreuth, Lebanon. Said the Times story:

"Seventy boys and girls aged 12 to 14 years from underprivileged Berlin families were rushed home from the Oberwarmsteinach Youth Hostel near Beyreuth after they fought a three-hour battle against 20 policemen called to restore order.

"The children, shouting 'Mao Tse-tung!' and 'freedom for all children!' bombarded the policemen with stones and vegetables.

"They were protesting against the removal of their left-wing counselors, recalled because they were said to have tolerated sexual activities and encouraged the boys and girls to paint the walls with quotations from 'the little red book' of Chairman Mao."

Berlin authorities charged the counselors — five men and five women from the Free University of Berlin — with procuring.

SIMILAR SCANDAL involved a camp for 1,700 Berlin children and youth from 8 to 23 years in Sweden. Like the Beyreuth camp, it was run by the Falken Youth Organization, a Social Democratic Party subsidiary, and was financed in part by the West Berlin government.

On returning from that camp, the dispatch related, "some girls said they had been encouraged to tolerate or take part in sexual intercourse. The reports led a number of parents to sue the youth organization for breach of contract, negligence, and procuring.

"The Falken organization was accused of having tolerated misuse of drugs and alcohol at the camp."

ALTHOUGH the Swedes are notably permissive with youth, the behavior of the German youngsters was too much for them, according to the Berlin story, resulting in complaints of indecency, drunkenness, and vandalism.

Peter Bischoff, head of the Falken Youth Organization, who was discharged from that post as result of the disclosures, was quoted as acknowledging that sexual indoctrination was part of the Falken camp program. "A special team of young doctors and medical students, who called themselves the 'Sexual-Political Center' or 'Sexpol,' accompanied the youths to Sweden where they organized discussions about sexual relations and antiauthoritarian education. The team also handed out contraceptives," said the Times account.

Could it happen here?

Righetti Logging Halt Until Cleanup Finished

An Oregon lumber firm has voluntarily halted all logging on the Ethel Righetti ranch on Bolinas Ridge until fire hazards have been removed as required by the county. Assistant County Administrator John F. Barrows announced yesterday.

George Walker of the Matthews, Humber and Walker Timber Co. agreed that no further logging will be done until cleanup work has progressed to the satisfaction of Director of Public Works Donald R. Frost and Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom.

The assurance came at a meeting Friday of county officials, Walker and his attorney Albert Bianchi.

Walker agreed to the following conditions:

Beginning today, trucks will begin removal of all felled logs along hauling roads. This is to be completed by Sept. 26.

Beginning this week a water truck will be used over all roads used on the property, and will continue in operation while the roads are dry.

All concentration of slash will be placed on nearby roads within the Righetti property or in a clear area as directed by the fire chief and will be burned prior to April 1, 1970 or when directed by the fire chief.

Re-seeding will be accomplished during October under direction of the county engineer and the most northerly road on the property near the entry from Shoreline Highway will be restored and re-seeded before the end of October.

Glue produced by barnacles has twice the strength of any commercial glue now on the market, the National Geographic Society says. The natural adhesive hardens in salt water and withstands more than 7,000 pounds of force.

Tryouts Planned For Novato Show

Tryouts for "Far Out Fling," the fall production of the Novato Community Players will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday and at 8 p.m. Monday in the Novato Community House.

The show will follow the usual tradition of the Flings and have parts for many people, singers, dancers and actors as well as stage hands.

The play was written by Lei Mann who also will direct. Further information may be obtained from Elaine Jacob at 35 Cleo Street, Novato, or Lei Mann, 420 Golden Gate, Belvedere.

New Tests Planned On Safer Cigarettes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tobacco industry has arranged for independent tests of a new chemical process which its backers say will produce less hazardous cigarettes.

Nine cigarette manufacturers made the offer to finance the testing of the process called Chemosol, and Chemosol officials have accepted, an industry spokesman said yesterday.

The process was described to the House Commerce Committee last April by Dr. Perry B. Hudson, president of High Tor Foundation, Inc., Palisades, N.Y. He said it was researched in his laboratories and reduces what he called a cancer producing substance he identified as benzo (a) pyrene.

Hudson said the chemical is applied to tobacco before the cigarette manufacturing process and doesn't affect the taste or aroma.

The testing will be done at the Hazleton Laboratories of Falls Church, Va., and will be monitored by both industry and Chemosol officials.

The testing is expected to go on for at least a year and involve batches of treated and untreated cigarettes on smoking machines. The concentrates of smoke then may be tested on mice. The cost is expected to be something in excess of $100,000.

William Kloepfer, public information director of the Tobacco Institute, said the decision to sponsor the testing did not mean that the tobacco industry has changed its position that there is no proved relationship between cigarette smoking and cancer. He said there is no evidence that filters affect health but there is a public taste for them.

Six of the nine companies sponsoring the testing are members of the Tobacco Institute. They are Reynolds, Philip Morris, Brown & Williamson, Liggett & Meyers, United States Tobacco and Larus & Brothers. The others are American, P. Lorillard and Stephano Brothers.

Bicycle Clinic Set In Novato

The sixth annual bicycle inspection and repair clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to noon Tuesday at Marion School, sponsored by the Novato Moose Lodge.

The bicycles will be inspected and minor repairs made on them free by members of the lodge, according to chairman John Young.
